MADISON PLANS TO HAVE SEWAGE SYSTEM.

Councilmanic Committee Decides on a Plan After Careful Investigation.

NOW BEFORE STATE BOARD.

IF APPROVED WILL GO BEFORE THE PEOPLE FOR A VOTE.

Details of the Plan—It is an Improved Method of Intermittent Filtration—Will Be of Special Interest to All Boroughites.

The improvements to Plainfield's sewage dispcsal plant are well along towards completion. North Plainfield is now talking of some disposal system and a meeting of a citizens' committee, appointed by the Borough Council, will soon be held to consider the most advisable method. Over in the borough of Madison, the subject of sewage disposal is being acted upon and the Borough Council there has formulated a plan which, if approved by the State Sewage Commission, will be put to a vote in that municipality.

There has been a long and careful investigation of the subject, and the committee declares that its proposed system is the best available for Madison. With North Plainfield about to consider the same question, the result of the Madison committee is of timely interest.

The proposed plan is as follows:

"This system is an improved method of intermittent filtration sewerage, coupled with certain devices for preliminary purification of the mass before filtration takes place.

"The sewage to be treated is passed from the outfall of the sewerage system of a town or city, either by gravity or pumping into the disposal plant, and discharged through a trough or sluice.

"The sewage is passed directly from the sluiceway into a series of receptacles called clarifying tanks. Starting the flow of sewage into the first clarifying tank, the sewage is passed from tank to tank until it reaches the flush tank. The flush tank is so arranged with proper appliances that, when the flow in the tank rises to a certain specified level, the outlet gate at the bottom of the tank is raised and the whole contents allowed to flow into the filters, or a siphon may be used.

"The object of the clarifying tanks is to remove by sedimentation as much as is possible of the heavy and light solid matters occurring in the sewage. The tanks are so constructed that space is allowed at the bottom of the tank for the accumulation of the solid matters that precipitate or settle out, and the lines of flow into the next tank are from a specified point above the bottom of the first tank and upward through a passage discharging upon the surface of the next tank. In this way, it is readily observed that the light solids, etc., floating on the surface of the first tank, or the solids that sink to the bottom, cannot pass to the second tank, and so on.

"From the flush tank the sewage is passed by sluice to the filter. The filters are built by first starting from the lower part of the under filter. The material is distributed upward as follows: Broken stone or coarse gravel laid on a concrete base, medium coarse gravel, fine gravel and medium coarse sand, then a layer of coarse gravel, and on bottom and middle layers are placed, loosely laid, round pipe with open joints, constituting the double internal aeration. Continuing upward is medium coarse gravel, fine gravel, medium coarse sand, with the sand forming the upper layer of the filter.

"When the flush tank is discharged, a layer of pure air is passed ahead of the flow downward through the sand. At the same time air is supplied to the bed below the surface by the internal aeration system, and in very large quantities, thus supplying every part of the bed with a large supply of oxygen, which is necessary for rapid oxidation.

"The water, after filtering, passes by pipe or conduit from the base of the filter, and is conveyed to any adjacent stream or outlet. The effluent of this filter is better than most drinking water now in use, and will aid toward their purification.

"This system enables the placing of a plant in close proximity to a residential community without causing a nuisance or menace to public health. The building is perfectly ventilated, and, as every part of the system is under cover, the odor and gases are controllable."

COMPLIMENTARY CONCERT.

Will be Given at Mountain Park Inn This Evening.

Plainfielders who desire to have an enjoyable time this evening will be afforded the opportunity by attending the complimentary concert and vaudeville entertainment, which is to be held at the Mountain Park Inn. The bill includes many features. Among the numbers are a laughable "darky" sketch, and some solos by the Black Prima Donna, Miss E. Ray Tucker, of New York. Songs, banjo selections, comic recitations and piano numbers will be a part of the programme. A trifling admission is charged, inasmuch as the affair is given as a complimentary entertainment in honor of Madame Cortada.

SACRED CONCERTS TOMORROW

WILL BE GIVEN AT THE INN AND THE HOTEL NETHERWOOD.

Vocal Numbers Will Compose Programme at the Inn—Selections by the Orchestra at the Hotel.

Sacred concerts will be given at both the Hotel Netherwood and the Mountain Park Inn tomorrow. As has been the custom the concert at the Inn will commence at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, while that at the Hotel Netherwood is arranged for 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

There will be no regular programme at the Inn, but all of the selections will be of a sacred nature. Madame Cortada, of New York, will have charge of the programme and assisting her will be a number of singers, who have heretofore contributed to the sacred entertainments at the Inn.

The programme for the Hotel Netherwood concert is much varied. It includes popular, classical and sacred airs. While the music at the Inn will be entirely vocal, that at the Hotel will be purely instrumental. The programme, which will be rendered by the Orpheus Club orchestra, is as follows:

Secene—From "San Toy"..... Jones
a. "Traumerei"..... Schumann
b. "Am Comni"..... Schumann

NO CLAMBAKE.

Members of Company K Give Up Their Proposed Fall Outing.

The idea of the members of Company K to hold a clambake has been abandoned. It had been planned to make this occasion a sort of general outing for the soldier lads, but as some opposition arose, it was deemed best to give up the idea.

One of the commanding officers has suggested that the members hold a mid-winter reception at the Casino instead of the originally proposed affair, but it is not likely that this will be done, inasmuch as it does not meet with general favor. Just what kind of social affair will be determined upon is a debatable question with the members of the company at present.

WORK AT SEWER BEDS.

Alterations Are Progressing Rapidly But Date For Completion Not Set.

The alterations at the city disposal beds, being made by Gleason & Kiely, are progressing rapidly, although the exact date when they will be completed cannot yet be determined.

With the exception of a few finishing touches, the concrete work is all in place and the men are now engaged in putting in the filling material in the various beds. Slag is used in the lower set and crushed stone in the upper. The roof on the septic tank is partially completed and the remainder of the work is all or nearly finished.

Weekly Prayer Meeting.

The regular weekly prayer meeting at Warren chapel last evening was unusually well attended. The address was made by Francis E. Whiteside who chose for his topic, "The First Evangelist, St. Philip." He dwelt at some length on the career of the evangelist and the work he accomplished and drew a lesson from his life.

VETERANS PREPARE FOR G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

It Will Be Held at Cleveland During Second Week in September.

NEW JERSEY WILL BE THERE.

STATE HEADQUARTERS WILL BE AT HOLLENDEN HOTEL.

Railways Will Give a Special Rate of a Cent a Mile—Winfield Scott Post Will Probably Be Represented.

The Civil War veterans in this vicinity, as well as those scattered everywhere throughout the Union and in foreign lands, will turn their attention to the G. A. R. encampment, to be held during the second week in September at Cleveland. Although no definite arrangements have been made, there will be in all probability a representation from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73.

It is expected that fully 100,000 old soldiers will attend the reunion. The railroads have agreed to charge but one cent a mile for this excursion and it is believed that this low rate will draw at least 200,000 visitors to the encampment in additon to the veterans. All railroad tickets will be good for one week with privilege of a thirty days' extension, thus affording an opportunity to visit the Pan-American Exposition before returning home.

The encampment begins September 9, but the opening day is not till September 10, when there is a great naval parade on Lake Erie in honor of Oliver Perry's great victory, which occurred September 10, 1813. Frederick E. Haskins, commodore of the Naval Association of Brooklyn, expects to have all the lake vessels of the revenue cutter service, six in number, in the parade.

The city will be decked in holiday attire, flags will float, banners wave and multitudinous electric lights turn night into day. There will be three grand stands erected; one for the President of the United States, vice-President and other distinguished guests senators, representatives and generals; the second grand stand will be for the school children of Cleveland, who to the number of 7,000, will give daily open air concerts, while the third grand stand will be for the general public.

Besides these arrangements for accommodating the people in general, free quarters will be provided for the veterans at the school houses and public halls. It is estimated that between 25,000 and 30,000 soldiers will be cared for at the free stations. Vacant business rooms and halls will be utilized for resting places, where the soldiers may read, rest and indulge in war reminiscences to their heart's content.

As many of the soldiers will bring their wives, the women will receive every attention. The Woman's Relief Corps, the Ladies' of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Daughters of Veterans will have charge of the entertainment and welfare of the women, and nothing will be left undone to make their guests comfortable while in Cleveland.

The business sessions of the encampment will be held in the Euclid Avenue Opera House, Thursday and Friday, September 12 and 13. Headquarters of the commander-in-chief will be in the Hollenden Hotel. The executive committee of the National Council of Administration will meet at headquarters Monday afternoon, September 9, at 2 o'clock, and the meeting will be followed by a session of the council. Aides-de-camp on the staff of the commander-in-chief are directed to report for duty to Edward N. Ketchum, senior aide de-camp and chief of staff, at the Hollenden Hotel. No aides from New Jersey are named in the orders.

During the week of the Grand Army encampment the naval veterans of the Civil War will have a reunion in Cleveland, with a convention at the Weddell House on September 12, and a parade on Tuesday, September 10, the anniversary of Perry's victory on Lake Erie.

In general orders No. 3, for the Department of New Jersey, Department Commander Lawrence urges a large attendance from this State at the encampment.

New Jersey's headquarters at Cleveland will be in the Hollenden Hotel, where all Jersey veterans are requested to report and register. A department meeting will be held at headquarters on September 12 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, at which the official badges will be distributed.

In the same orders Commander Lawrence names as the departmental committee on legislation for the year: Quartermaster General R. A. Donnelly, Col. E. C. Stahl, F. G. Cole, George Barrett and E. V. Richards. The committee to inspect the Kearney Soldiers' Home is Charles Burrowe, Samuel Hufty, C. H. Houghton, John Shields and Samuel G. Hayter, and upon the Vineland Home for Soldiers, Sailors and Their Wives, the committee named consists of George Barrett, Joseph B. Durell, A. S. Washington, G. W. McPherson and L. H. Parkhurst.

Among the aides appointed to assist the commander in strengthening the order in their own posts and immediate neighborhood, is Israel Compton, of this city.

DRAKE HAS PURCHASED THE TOWN OF LINCOLN.

Is Going to Attempt to Make Its Former Successful Career a Permanent One.

BOUGHT AT SHERIFF'S SALE.

S. D. DRAKE STARTED THE TOWN AND BOOMED IT FOR A TIME.

Was Ousted From Realty Company—Then The Town Began to Droop—Company Went Into Hands of Receiver and Town was Sold.

Actuated by an impulse to vindicate his reputation as a successful land promotor, S. D. Drake has personally purchased in full the little town of Lincoln, which was recently sold by sheriff's sale after it had gone into the hands of a receiver. He now proposes to rejuvenate the place, settle in full with all creditors and stockholders and complete the plans he formulated when at its head before.

Lincoln sprang into life four years ago, mainly through Drake's efforts. He was at the head of the realty company which owned it, until in 1899 a number of the stockholders disagreed with him in several matters and ousted him entirely. From the time Drake ceased to be a member of the company, the town became tardy in its growth, finally dropping backward until last spring the owners were forced to apply for a receivership. This was granted, W. W. Smalley, of Bound Brook, being appointed, and the affairs of the company were wound up.

Being the founder of the town, Drake naturally came in for considerable criticism over its failure, although he had had nothing to do with the company for two years. He still adhered to the belief that the place could be made a permanent success and informed his unbelieving friends that he would be instrumental in doing so, if given a chance. The opportunity came a few days ago, when out of a large number of offers for the place, Drake's was accepted and the entire holdings of the old company were sold to him.

He has already taken up the plans where he left off two years ago and will devote considerable time to locating new factories at the place and promoting its growth. He will also take steps to have the boulevard from Dunellen to the eastern end of Dewey Park, completed through Lincoln to East Bound Brook and later to Somerville, making a continuous telford road from the latter place to Jersey City. Plans are also under way for the erection of a number of new houses.

CHILDS' BARNS BURNED.

Big Stock Barnes Near Basking Ridge Struck by Lightning.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Basking Ridge, August 24.—During the heavy thunder storm Wednesday evening, lightning struck the large stock barns of S. S. Childs, the New York restaurant man, at Lyons Station, near here. The buildings were totally destroyed, entailing a loss of $6,000.

The heat from the conflagration was so intense that the dairymen were unable to ship the evening's supply of milk from the usual station on the D. L. and W., and it had to be carried some distance beyond.

New Water Company.

The Watchung Water Company, a new corporation, has leased the store on North avenue, formerly occupied by Warnock, the baker, and will open an office there.

Council Meeting.

As Monday, September 2, is Labor Day, the Common Council will not meet in regular session until the following evening.

TALKED OVER WATER WORKS FOR WESTFIELD

Citizens Advisory Committee Held a Session to Discuss Situation.

NO DEFINITE ACTION TAKEN.

TALK OF BUYING PIPES OF UNION WATER COMPANY.

Will Try to Get a Law Passed Allowing Township to Build and Own a Water Works—Other Details Were Discussed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, August 24—The water situation in Westfield, with the end in view of securing municipal ownership, is still the subject of much discussion.

The water advisory committee appointed by the township committee and known as the water advisory board, which reported to the township committee against the proposed contract to furnish water to the township as made by the Westfield Water Supply and Power Company, and in its stead recommended that the township purchase or acquire its own distributing pipes, held a meeting Thursday evening at the township room.

President A. N. Pierson of the Westfield Water Supply and Power Company, the concern which sought a contract, was in attendance at the meeting and explained all the little details which the committee desired to know about. After he left the question of distributing pipes was discussed, it being thought that this plan would be the nearest the township could get to municipal ownership under the law. The meeting ordered Chairman Salter S. Clark to appoint a committee to interview the Union Water Company of Elizabeth, and ascertain if the township could purchase the pipes of the company now being used in the streets to furnish the water supply, the pipes to be used by the township as distributing pipes, the township to make a contract with the lowest bidder for water which will be furnished the public.

Chairman Dennis, of the Westfield township Committee, who was in attendance at the meeting, stated that he believed the Union Water Company would sell its pipes to the township, but not to a corporation or individual. Chairman Clark was also ordered to appoint a committee on law to seek legislation, to have the law changed so that it would permit townships building and operating water works the same as with cities.

Earlier in the evening Mr. Pierson was asked if his company would furnish water to the township if it owned its own distributing pipes, to which Mr. Pierson replied that his company would providing there was a guaranteed sum of money each year, and the contract was for a stated term of years.

During the evening it was stated that the Westfield company proposed getting water from driven wells in the northern section of the township near Garmantown, where, it is said, tests have been made and the water found to be softer than that furnished by the Union Water Company. These tests were made some time ago, and paid for by H. C. Sargeant, who organized a company to furnish water to the town and talked of purchasing the Union Water Company's pipes.

GOING TO CLAM BAKE.

Delegates of Trinity Commandery Went as Guests of Clinton Commandery.

Members of Trinity Commandery No. 17, K. T., are guests today of Clinton Commandery, No. 4, K. T., of Brooklyn, at a Rhode Island clam-bake given at College Point. The Knights will first enjoy a sail up the Hudson and on their return will stop at College Point. This outing is a return of the compliment paid Clinton Commandery, recently, when Trinity Commandery entertained the Brooklyn Knights at Pedelious'.

Among those who went from Plainfield are Dr. J. B. Probasco, E. K. VanAuken, Edward Nelson, B. Frank Coriell, Henry Woodland, Jacob Kirkner, Guy D. Peck, Frank W. Miles, Dr. J. T. Fritts, Caspar Bolsterli, I. D. TenEyck, James F. Buckle, A. D. Findlay, Dr. D. C. Adams and Alonzo F. Brokaw. As there are three physicians in the party, a safe return is predicted.

Will Preach in Somerville.

Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, formerly pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach in the First Baptist church, Somerville, tomorrow.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

Now Being Made to Home of Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph's Parish.

Many improvements are being made to the home of the Sisters of Charity, connected with St. Joseph's parish. The large house occupied by the sisters on Manning avenue is being considerably enlarged. To the east of the present structure, an extensive addition is being erected. The new part will be as large as the present house and will be two and a half stories in height. While these improvements are being made the interior of a considerable part of the interior of the original dwelling will be overhauled. When finished the new building will present an imposing appearance.

ITS FINANCES ARE ALL RIGHT.

REV. E. E. JACKSON DEFENDS ACTION OF BENEFICIAL ASSOCIATION.

Says That Story Published in New York World Was Not Correct—No Attempt to Defraud.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church and president of the Plainfield and New Jersey Mutual and Beneficial Association, writes to The Daily Press to correct some statements that appeared in yesterday's issue of the New York World, relative to the beneficial organization.

He makes an emphatic denial of three allegations: First, the association has not defrauded one of its members; second, the association is not insolvent, and third, he has not resigned, nor intends to resign, the presidency of the organization.

The claim, which has not been paid by the association and which forms the basis of the rumors concerning the organization, is one presented by a woman in New York. She claims sick benefits. Rev. Mr. Jackson says that she delayed three weeks in transmitting the regular blank and that when it was received a number of mistakes were found in it. Had it been returned in proper shape, the president states that it would have been paid. He proposes now to wait until after the annual meeting of the board, which will be held in the near future.

Rev. Mr. Jackson declares that the secretary, William A. Kline, keeps the accounts correctly and the books will bear inspection. The association, says he, has paid out over $200, since November, in sick benefits. The expenses of the first year were but seventy-five per cent. of the income and Mr. Jackson declares that the first year of any business concern is more burdensome in expenses than any that follow.

GOSPEL CRAFT.

Passed Through Raritan Canal Bound For Harbor of New York.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, August 24—A fine little craft, named the Ilene, with G. E. Been, as captain, passed through the canal yesterday bound for New York. The boat is used for the purpose of distributing Bibles and wholesome literature to seafaring men in and about the harbors of the principal seaports of this country.

The vessel has been lying in the harbor of Philadelphia for a year and while there over 108,000 copies of the New Testament, printed in a variety of tongues, were given freely to the sailors. The work is conducted under the auspices of the Mission Yacht Association of the Mission to Seamen, of London, England. Many philanthropic persons in this country have made donations to the charity and the work is bearing fruit.

POISONING DOGS.

Unknown Continues to Wage War on Canine Population.

The unknown dog poisoner, who began his work in the East End a few days ago, still continues to wage war against innocent canines. One of the latest victims was a dog belonging to William Alberts, of East Fourth street, which had been a pet in the family for some time and which was valued highly by the owner. Several dog owners in the vicinity of Kensington avenue, have lost their canines in the same manner.

LOCATION WHERE NEW FACTORY WOULD GO.

Exceptional Advantages Of The Tingley Tract For Site For Manufactory.

PRESENTED AT BOARD OF TRADE MEETING BY J. T. VAIL.

No Action Expected on Part of Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company For Some Time to Come—This Property Favorably Considered.

The question of a change of location of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company plant is now in statu quo. Most of the officials of the company are on their vacations and nothing can be done until they return home. It can be truly said, however, that Plainfield stands a most excellent chance of getting the industry, the proposition made by the Board of Trade, through Joseph T. Vail, of North avenue, being considered favorably by the company.

This property consists of nearly two hundred acres of land and is located just the other side of Rock avenue. It is enclosed by Rock avenue on the east, the road from Dunellen to New Market on the west, and is situated exactly between the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central Railroads.

This land offers many advantages not to be found in other properties. Being situated just outside the Plainfield limits, the taxes would necessarily be low, and Plainfield would not be burdened with any unnecessary expense. At the same time this city would get the trade of the people brought here by location of the plant. The officials are desirous of getting close to a good-sized city. They do not want to locate in the woods, but just near enough to have plenty of land and yet have the advantages of city life.

A complete map of this property is now in possession of the company, and as soon as the officials return the matter will be taken up. They are not in any particularly rush about making a change and they propose to take their time in selecting a site.

Another strong advantage in the property under consideration is that the company would have the use of two railroads and would undoubtedly succeed in getting cheap transportation for their machinery. This is considered a very strong point in favor of Plainfield. There are other advantages to be presented, and in the course of a short time they will be properly presented to the company.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Manager F. F. Proctor now has three of his New York City theatres in active operation, and Saturday afternoon, August 31, the opening of his Fifty-eighth Street Theatre will make the list complete. The One Hundred and Twenty-five Street and the Twenty-third Street Theatres opened last week, and the crowds in attendance denoted a prompt renewal of the interest shown in the work of the F. F. Proctor Comedy and Vaudeville Stock. For the forthcoming week all three of Manager Proctor's houses are provided with attractive programmes. The Fifth Avenue Theatre will continue to be his only continuous performance theatre. Neil Burgesses' early success, "The Widow Bedotte," will be staged by one division of the Proctor Stock as the dramatic offering. It will be preceded by the unique and interesting curtain raiser, "In a Dressing Room." At the Twenty-third Street Theatre, Chas. Dickson's best starring piece, "Incog," will be offered with vaudeville between acts and preceded by the pretty little curtain raiser, "Meadow Sweet." At the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre, "Young Mrs. Winthrop" is scheduled for next week. This play goes to Harlem direct from a week of emphatic success at the Fifth Avenue. Preparations are going forward for the opening of the Fifty-eighth Street Theatre, Saturday afternoon, August 31, with a scenic revival of Harry P. Mawson's military drama, "A Fair Rebel."

—In case of cough or croup give the little one One Minute Cough Cure. Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be all right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take, always safe, sure and almost instantaneous in effect. L. W. Randolph.

—B. W. Barnes, of Staten Island, is in Plainfield for a few days looking after a new house that he is building in the West End.

—Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

AFFAIRS IN CHINA.

Delay In Signing Protocol Causes Uneasiness.

PEKING, Aug. 24.—The delay of the Chinese plenipotentiaries in signing the protocol is causing some uneasiness in the foreign community here, although the ministers of the powers do not think that China intends to defy the powers by ultimately refusing to sign. Indeed they believe China is anxious to wind up the negotiations speedily.

Decrees reciting the punishments and suspending the examinations will be issued before the Chinese signatures are affixed.

Prince Ching, at the request of the empress dowager, telegraphed to her verbatim the restrictions as to the importation of arms.

Li Hung Chang, having practically conducted all the active negotiations, has retired into the background, leaving to Prince Ching the responsibility of consummating the work. Earl Li finds himself in the same precarious position that he occupied at the close of the negotiations following the war with Japan. The native press is unanimous in violently denouncing him for what is called his surrender to the foreigners, and a number of officials have petitioned the emperor to punish him for betraying his country.

Is China Preparing to Fight?

LONDON, Aug. 24.—"Immense quantities of arms and ammunition are being manufactured in the arsenals of China," says the Peking correspondent of The Times, "and immense quantities are also being imported, mainly by way of the Yangtsekiang."

"Apparently there is a movement on foot on the part of Great Britain, Japan and the United States," says a dispatch to The Morning Post from Chefu, "to force Russia to evacuate Newchwang."

PRESIDENT AT CANTON.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Give a Reception at Their Home.

CANTON, O., Aug. 24.—President and Mrs. McKinley are entertaining Captain and Mrs. Lafayette McWilliams of Chicago for several days. Mrs. McWilliams was formerly Miss Mary Goodman of this city. She is Mrs. McKinley's cousin and was one of her most intimate associates in her girlhood days. The president and Mrs. McKinley entertained informally last night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams and their other house guest, Mrs. Rand of Washington. A dozen Canton relatives and intimate personal friends were invited for dinner.

Hon. Volney W. Foster of Chicago, president of the Union League club, accompanied by his son, had a short conference with the president yesterday. Mr. Foster is a member of the Pan-American congress appointed to be held in the city of Mexico in October, and some matters in connection with that congress were talked over.

FIGHTING YELLOW FEVER.

Experiments With Infected Mosquitoes In Havana.

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—A nonimmune has been inoculated with the serum which Dr. Caldas, the Brazilian expert, alleges to be a preventive against yellow fever and has been bitten by two infected mosquitoes. The period of inoculation is from four to five days.

Major Havard, the chief surgeon, discussing the Caldas and other experiments, says that the yellow fever commission and himself have carefully considered the question of applying infected mosquitoes to nonimmunes and have reached the conclusion that in view of all the circumstances—the fact that persons voluntarily undergo the experiments and also the importance of the matter from a scientific point of view—the experiments are justifiable.

GETS READY FOR WAR

Colombian Government Takes Steps For Self Defense.

AN OFFICIAL DECREE IS ISSUED.

It Is Addressed to the Governors of Various Departments, Bidding Them Prepare For Hostilities. An Additional Tax Levy.

COLON, Colombia, Aug. 24.—An official decree, dated Bogota, July 18, and addressed to the governors of the departments was published yesterday. It says:

"A new aspect of the war, which seems to kindle anew with the help of foreigners, who threaten the frontier, places the government under the necessity of assuming a different attitude from that maintained hitherto and forces it to proceedings which it has previously tried to avoid.

"It has been resolved, firstly, to suspend the payment of all accounts for war material pending and to limit the expenses to the payment of the armed force and administration.

"Secondly, to proceed to expropriate all the necessary elements for the feeding, equipment and mobilization of the army.

"Thirdly, to levy forced and voluntary loans according to circumstances and to impose war contributions in order to meet the expenses of each department without depending on the national capital.

"The governors are hereby amply authorized to proceed in these matters according to the requirement of circumstances without the need of approval from the government, and each governor must assume the responsibility in order to save the situation within his territory."

Bricklayers on a Strike.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Thirty bricklayers employed in the construction of new buildings at the Washington navy yard struck for $4.50 per day, the union scale fixed by the bricklayers of the District of Columbia some time ago. The bricklayers at the navy yard have been receiving $4 per day. When the scale was advanced, they laid the matter before the navy department, but Acting Secretary Hackett refused to grant the advance, basing his refusal upon the ground that the rate of wages paid by the government was fixed semi-annually by a board of naval officers, who would not meet again until Jan. 1. The strike was reported to the navy department and is in process of adjustment on the basis of the regular union rate of wages.

Cuba's Cigar Trade.

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—Gustav Bock, in the course of a report to the Cigar Manufacturers' union regarding the outlook of the cigar and tobacco industry, expresses the opinion that there is no danger to be apprehended from American competition so far as Cuban cigars are concerned. He takes the ground that even if Cuba sent all her cigars to the United States—and she produced 200,000,000 last year—that could not seriously affect the American producers and manufacturers, who last year sold 5,500,000,000 cigars in the United States. Even if Cuba were to more than double her present output and to send all to the United States this would not change the situation.

Killed by Locomotive.

HUDSON, N. Y., Aug. 24.—William Davis and Mary Forbes, colored, of Chatham, while returning from a picnic at Kinderhook Lake park, were struck by a train when crossing the Boston and Albany railroad tracks in the village. Their wagon was demolished, and the woman was carried on the cowcatcher of the locomotive a quarter of a mile to the station. When the train stopped, she was dead. Davis was instantly killed, his body being badly mangled. The horse was unhurt. Davis, who was 35 years of age, lived in New York, where he has a wife. The woman was 18 years old. Both were employed as servants in Chatham.

Negro Hanged For Murder.

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 24.—John Fugate, a negro, 21 years of age, was hanged at Wise, Va., for the murder, near Toms Creek, Va., on June 6, of Martha Wells, a colored woman. Fugate displayed great nerve on the gallows, confessing his guilt. The execution was private, and but few persons in the crowd were admitted. Fugate and his victim had lived in the same house, but had quarreled, and Fugate, true to his threat, shot and killed her a few days later.

Taking Over Indian Lands.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 24.—Plans are announced to secure the opening by congress of the Spokane Indian reservation to mineral locations. The reservation is 25 miles northeast of this city and contains about 200,000 acres. The mineral wealth is unknown, but surface indications are said to be promising. The reservation is now occupied by about 350 Spokane Indians with Chief Litt at their head.

Soap Makers Combine.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 24.—According to a report current here western soap manufacturers are planning to form an association to buy their supplies, such as tallow, resin, etc., at cheaper prices. This was the decision of a secret gathering here of representatives of several large firms in and west of Chicago. No attempt, it is said, will be made to control the prices of these commodities.

Butchers on a Strike.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 24.—Because two union beef butchers employed by the Cudahy Packing company at Armourdale, Kan., were discharged 125 butchers struck, causing that department to be shut down. The strikers allege that the men were discharged without cause. The company superintendent says it was following out a plan to reduce the force in all departments.

Officers Sent to Pierce City.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—Governor Dockery has ordered Adjutant General Damocen and Brigadier General Clark to repair to Pierce City at once to protect the property of the state there against the mob. There is talk of disbanding the militia company at Pierce City on account of the company's rifles being used by the mob that lynched three negroes.

To Attend Good Roads Congress.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Captain H. N. Chittenden, corps of engineers, has been detailed to attend the good roads congress to be held at Buffalo Sept. 16.

CZAR TO TAKE A HAND

SULTAN RECEIVES AN ULTIMATUM.

M. Constans Sends a Peremptory Note to Abdul Hamid — French Cabinet Indorses the Action of Embassador to Turkey.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—A dispatch from Vienna says:

"According to advices from Galatz, 20 Russian torpedo boats and several dispatch boats have arrived at the Dniester delta, and Russian troops are commencing to mobilize along the Turkish frontier."

This is taken here to mean that the czar of Russia may be counted upon to aid France in her contention with Turkey.

A dispatch from Constantinople says: "The French embassador, M. Constans, has sent a letter to the sultan personally, informing him that he would leave Constantinople with the entire staff of the embassy if the matters in dispute were not settled immediately. The letter has the nature of an ultimatum. It accords the sultan the briefest delay within which to comply with the demands."

While the officials of the French foreign office decline to confirm or deny the dispatches from Constantinople announcing that the French embassador has sent the sultan a letter which has the nature of an ultimatum, they admit having received a telegram from M. Constans, which was laid before the council sitting at the Elysee palace.

Only three ministers were absent, the premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau; the minister of agriculture, M. Dupuy, and the minister of public works, M. Baudin, being away from Paris.

The correspondent learns that to M. Constans has been given a free hand. Any step he finds proper to take will be fully indorsed.

The foreign minister, M. Delcasse, if he deems it necessary, will withdraw the French embassy from Constantinople, and Munir Bey, the Turkish embassador, who is now in Switzerland, will be notified to return to Paris, in which case he will probably withdraw the legation to Berne, as he is also accredited as minister to Switzerland.

No naval demonstration is yet contemplated, but the sultan will probably be seriously inconvenienced by the closure of the Turkish embassy here, which is the center of the espionage maintained to watch the numerous Young Turks and other dissatisfied Ottoman subjects and voluntary exiles who make their headquarters in Paris and who will have a free hand in diplomatic relations between France and Turkey are completely broken off.

It has been suggested that the French government issue orders for the bourse to cease dealing in Turkish securities, but it is not likely that this step will be taken, as it would only injure the French bondholders. The entire Turkish group fell on the bourse, in some cases going down 10 to 12 francs.

According to a special dispatch received here from Berne, Munir Bey has already leased a villa there for the use of the Turkish embassy.

Released, Then Arrested.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., Aug. 24.—William Favors, the negro held here on the charge of being connected with the murder of Gazelle Wild at Pierce City, Mo., was released on a writ of habeas corpus, but was immediately arrested by the sheriff of this county as a fugitive from justice. A telegram was received here from the governor of Missouri, stating that requisition papers for Favors are on the way here. He will be held pending the decision of Governor Jenkins in regard to the requisition. It is believed the governor will not honor the requisition unless assured that the negro will be protected.

Unsuccessful Lynching Party.

LEBANON, Ky., Aug. 24.—An unsuccessful attempt was made here to lynch Dan Hotten and Charles Shipp, who are confined in the Marion county jail, charged with murder. The mob called at the house of Jailer Clayton, but his wife refused them the keys to the jail. They then went to the jail and began to batter the doors, when Officer Brent, who was secreted in a coal shed, opened fire upon them. The mob returned the fire, but no one was hit. They then dispersed.

Turmoil In Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 24.—Winnipeg is in a state of turmoil, due to the presence of several thousand angry harvesters, who claim they were brought here from every part of eastern Canada under the promise of big wages and employment for several months. About 600 who came here from Minnesota and Dakota say that if they are not given work or free transportation to the United States they will make an appeal to the American consul. The situation has caused much worry to the provincial government.

Duke of York's Reception.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 24.—The government has received a telegram from the Duke of Cornwall and York, filed at Cape Town, announcing that he will attend the two state dinners to be given in Government House, St. John's, on the two evenings of his stay in Newfoundland. The children of Newfoundland will present to Prince Edward, oldest son of the Duke of Cornwall and York, a Newfoundland dog.

Bryan Not Going to Chicago.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 24.—The rumor that W. J. Bryan will soon move to Chicago to make that city his home is without foundation. Mr. Bryan is out of the city, but his brother, Charles W. Bryan, said the report was news to him, and he was satisfied there was no truth in it. He said William J. Bryan would continue to live in Lincoln and publish his paper there.

Alleged Forger Caught.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—A man believed to be John Moran, wanted in Indiana for pension frauds, who was surrounded by a sheriff's posse in the woods of Lewis county, has been captured at Worthville, this county. He obtained money from several farmers in this section by means of forged cheese checks.

A Statue to Poet Whittier.

AMESBURY, Mass., Aug. 24.—A statue as a memorial to Poet John G. Whittier to cost $10,000 will be put up here, his home, as soon as the funds are in the hands of the committee in charge.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Comments of Dun & Co. on Past Week's Business.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Though there are some drawbacks, notably the labor troubles in the iron and steel industry, business is of well sustained volume, to which fact payments through the country's clearing houses, railroad earnings and the strength of prices of staple and partly manufactured merchandise offer ample testimony. Bank clearings at New York for the week increase 42.8 per cent over the same week of last year and 3.9 per cent over 1899, while at leading cities outside of New York the gain is 25.6 per cent over 1900 and 25.1 per cent over 1899. Railroad earnings increase for August thus far 11.4 per cent over 1900 and 22.6 per cent over 1899. Except in certain branches of the textile markets sellers of merchandise have an advantage over buyers, and distribution is as large as stocks will permit.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Plate Workers succeeded in enlisting the sympathy of other workmen, with the result that the output of merchant bar and wire rods is curtailed to the extent of about 40,000 tons monthly. Many idle mills resumed during the past week, and even in the tin plate region there is a moderate output. Plates have begun to arrive from abroad, and prices in the London market sharply advanced. Hoop and sheet mills increase production daily, and there is no loss in the rail division, but some anxiety is felt regarding supplies of cotton ties, as the picking season has begun in many states. Decreased consumption tends to weaken pig iron, and tin is similarly affected.

Failures for the week numbered 205 in the United States against 171 last year and 35 in Canada against 29 last year.

UNITED MINE WORKERS.

Reports as to Their Strength In Anthracite Regions.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 24.—There are at the present time, according to the figures just made public, 184,000 United Mine Workers in the anthracite region represented by the three districts, as follows: No. 1, Scranton, 63,000; No. 7, Hazleton, 16,000, and No. 9, Shamokin, 55,000.

The reports from the various unions this month show an increase of about 4,000 members since the last card inspection was made. Considering that many of the 142,000 mine employees in the anthracite region are foremen, who are not organized, and engineers, firemen, carpenters, blacksmiths and drivers, all of whom have their own unions, the mine workers represent the great majority of men in and about the collieries.

Strike Settled by Compromise.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Aug. 24.—By a compromise arranged with H. P. Noble, president of the North & Judd company, the 250 molders who have been out of that company's foundry since July 1 will return to work Sept. 3. Two months ago the molders refused to sign a wage schedule for a year, and the company thereupon locked out the men. During their idleness they have had union support.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The strike of 250 machinists which has been in force here for 14 weeks has been declared off by a vote of the strikers. The shops affected were: The New York Airbrake company, Bagley & Sewall, makers of paper machines; Harmon Machine company and the Watertown Engine company. The men yielded every point for which they struck.

Well Babies Are Good Babies

MOST LITTLE BABIES DIE, either from bowel troubles or from diseases which they contract because they are in a weak and feeble condition from bowel troubles.

Mothers who are seeking the ideal and proper medicine to give their little ones for constipation, diarrhœa, colic and simple fevers will find LAXAKOLA the great family remedy.

It is the best and most effective laxative for children. BEST because it is safe and made entirely of harmless ingredients. BEST because it is non-irritating and never gripes or causes pain or irritation. BEST because it is sure and never fails. BEST because "Children like it and ask for it."

It is a dangerous thing to give little babies violent remedies that rack and rend their little bodies. DON'T DO IT—give them LAXAKOLA.

A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, and will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it, and it also will check simple fevers, break up colds and clear the coated tongue.

Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhœa, accompanied with white or green evacuations, from the fact that LAXAKOLA neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of fermentation, aids digestion, relieves restlessness, assists nature and induces sleep.

LAXAKOLA FOR WOMEN. It is a gentle and safe remedy to use during all conditions of health of the genital organs whenever their peculiar and delicate constitutions require a mild and efficient laxative and tonic, and is invaluable in assisting to relieve obstructions which otherwise would lead to more or less severe pain or illness. It improves the complexion, brightens the eyes, sharpens the appetite, quickens the circulation, removes muddy and blotched condition of the skin and cures sick headache to a certainty by removing the cause. To women suffering from chronic constipation, headaches, biliousness, dizziness, sallowness of the skin and dyspepsia, Laxakola will invariably bring relief and a speedy cure.

At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 356 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

THE FLYING OF KITES.

Some Interesting Experiments at Boston.

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—The feat of elevating kites with meteorological instruments in the artificial wind caused by a rapidly moving tugboat was successfully performed over Boston bay Thursday by A. J. Rotch, director of the Blue Hill observatory.

It was the first attempt of the kind. From several years' study of the atmosphere at Blue Hill it had been determined that kites could not be flown in wind less than 12 miles an hour. Accordingly an apparatus was placed on the tug Confidence and flights made in a light breeze. The kites were very sensitive to alterations of the course of the tug and began to fall whenever the course varied 30 to 50 degrees on either side of the mean direction of the wind.

Complete meteorogical records were obtained during both flights. This experiment demonstrated that meteorological records at great heights may be easily obtained during calms or very light winds by means of kites flown from a rapidly moving steamer and that it is now possible for the observer and student to work uninterruptedly under almost all conditions of wind and weather.

BAD STORM IN JERSEY.

Lightning and Heavy Rains Cause Much Damage.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 24.—During the thunderstorm here yesterday afternoon lightning splintered the flagpole of the Quackenbush & Co. building and badly damaged the chimney of the Scott mill. The rainfall of the past 48 hours amounted to .91 inches. Thus far this month 7.79 inches of rain is the record.

The result of the storm in Orange was one man, an Italian workman in a sand pit, killed, name not known. He was employed by Charles Musk. A new house in South Orange was fired by lightning, and a barn was destroyed.

The first storm in Orange came on at 1 o'clock p. m. An hour later a second storm followed, and it was this which killed the workman. Street car lines were flooded, and transportation was delayed.

At Tremont avenue, in Orange, railroad trains were blocked by debris which was washed down upon the tracks.

The Hilton fire department in South Orange was called out to rescue live stock in a barn which was afterward destroyed.

The Rahway river in the valley overflowed, and cellars were flooded.

The Pittston Silk Strike.

PITTSTON, Pa., Aug. 24.—An attempt was made to resume work at the Sterling Silk mill yesterday morning, when some trouble ensued. The mill, which is operated by a Paterson firm, has been idle for a year. Thursday applications for work were received from 11 operatives. While the girls were on their way to work they were stopped by the pickets, who induced five of the girls to return to their homes. The other six girls went into the mill. It is claimed some boy threw a stone at one of the non-union girls, but no one was hurt. For a while, however, there was more or less excitement. Late yesterday afternoon the union workers induced the six girls at work to quit, and they left the mill. Operations then had to be suspended. The owners of the mill now say they will remove the machinery to Paterson.

Wrestler Jenkins Falls.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 24.—Tom Jenkins of Cleveland, champion catch as catch can wrestler of the world, failed to throw Hjalmar Lundin of Hartford twice in an hour's wrestling at the Coliseum last night. The first bout, catch as catch can, was won by Jenkins in 11m. 2¼s. The remaining 48m. 57s. was spent by the champion vainly trying to best Lundin in Greco-Roman style.

Laborers Killed by Gas.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 24.—George Twasic and W. Kubas, Slavs, were asphyxiated in an overhead gas flue at the Cambria Steel company's blast furnaces, this city. The men were at work cleaning the flue. The bodies of the men were in a sitting position when found. The supposition is that they sat down in the flue to rest and were overcome by gas from the furnaces.

CONDITION OF STRIKE.

Statement as to the Situation at the Various Mills.

THE LABOR LEADERS' CONFERENCE.

They Are Extremely Reticent Regarding Their Action, but Express Satisfaction as to the Progress of the Strike.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 24.—A summary of the steel strike situation last night shows about the following conditions:

Pittsburg.—Star plant—Two mills running; strikers say five more men left the plant and joined their ranks, but the management positively deny the statement. Painter plant—Four mills running; fires lighted in bar mill furnaces, but failed to start as expected. Pennsylvania Tube works—Mill idle; machinists say they will quit. All Carnegie mills running full.

McKeesport.—Demmler plant idle, and no attempt will be made to start it before next week. Everything else is closed down.

Irondale.—Mill running with the same force as yesterday, making two turns, and assurance from the manager that more men will be added today.

Wellsville.—Situation unchanged; 12 mills running.

Lisbon.—Fires started in tin plate plant. Manager George Evans says that everything is in readiness for a start soon with plenty of men. The strikers voted yesterday to remain out, and the mill is strongly picketed.

Wheeling.—Everything is tied up, and there is no apparent indication of an attempt to start any of the mills.

Bellaire.—The National Steel company's idle plant will, it is said, be started early next week by a full force of men.

No late advices have been received by the Amalgamated officials from either Bayview or Joliet, and the situation at those points is considered by them to be unchanged.

The conference of the labor leaders at the offices of the Amalgamated association has been the leading feature of the strike during the past 24 hours. The officials of the organization all seemed pleased with the way things were moving, and one of them said somewhat mysteriously, "In another six days you will see a decided change in the strike that will tell with greater effect on the trust and aid in hurrying the final outcome of this struggle." Just what this change is to be was not said, but it is inferred strongly that the coming event hinged upon the conference that was taking place.

Two sessions were held by the conferees behind closed doors. After the adjournment of the first session none of the participants would give out any information of the proceedings further than to say that the leaders had been called together for the purpose of having the situation thoroughly explained to them and to have some action taken looking to the aid of the strikers, morally and financially, by all of the organizations represented.

There were present at the conference besides the Amalgamated officials John Mitchell, president of the National Mine Workers of America; J. W. Jenks, member of the industrial commission; Grand Master Sargent of the Locomotive Firemen, Ralph M. Easley, secretary of the National Civic federation, and Henry M. White, general secretary of the United Garment Workers.

The strikers make the claim that very little actual work has been done by the combine in any of its plants since the strike began and that what product has been turned out has been of an inferior character. Notwithstanding this the steel officials declare themselves well pleased with the conditions of affairs and say all the mills started are working satisfactorily and turning out good product. The postponement of the attempt to start the Demmler plant of the American Tin Plate company until next week, the officials say, was for the purpose of putting the plant in perfect order before the men started to work. They say plenty of men will be on hand when the time comes to operate the plant.

Attention was called to a former statement made by the officials of the corporation that while delays would necessarily occur in operating the idle plants that it would not deter the officials from proceeding along the same lines and that they were prepared to spend all the time and money necessary to fight the union and make all of the plants nonunion in the end.

The Leader says that at the labor conference yesterday afternoon Professor Jenks proposed that some disinterested person should convey to C. M. Schwab, president of the steel corporation, the information that a settlement might be effected provided the Amalgamated officials should sign the wage agreement for the mills they controlled last year. The mills that have been organized since the Milwaukee convention are to be operated on a provisional scale. Those that are fully organized will ask for the Amalgamated wage scale and conditions. Those that desire to stay out of the organization shall have the privilege of doing so.

DES MOINES, Aug. 24.—About a score of the Middle of the Road Populist persuasion assembled in state convention here and nominated this ticket: Governor, L. H. Weller, Nashua; lieutenant governor, Perry Engle, Newton; judge of the supreme court, J. R. McDonald, Des Moines; railway commissioner, Luke McDowell, Shelby county; state superintendent of public instruction, J. C. Harland, Woodbury county. All the nominations were by acclamation. The resolutions adopted indorse the Omaha national platform, denounce trusts and political rings, demand the cessation of grants of public franchises to private corporations, extend sympathy to the Boers, indorse direct legislation, demand equal taxation and favor state printing and binding under state supervision.

Supposed Yellow Fever Case.

Bound to Prosper.

If the other circumstances are satisfactory, there appears to be no doubt but that the site suggested at the meeting of the Board of Trade, Monday evening, is well fitted for the purposes of the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company. To begin with, there is ample room. More, in fact, than the company has asked for. It is convenient to the city and is directly on the line of the Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley Railroads, connecting at Bound Brook, only six miles away, with the Philadelphia and Reading.

Furthermore there does not appear to be any attempt made to ask an exorbitant price for the property in question. While the company is undoubtedly willing to pay a good price, it certainly will not buy any land at far above its actual value. It seems, without doubt, the most available property here which can be utilized for that purpose.

Whether Plainfield secures the coveted manufactory or not, there is no doubt but that this city will continue to grow steadily. Of course the addition of so many new men would mean substantial increase to the population of Plainfield, but the city is growing.

Those of us who make our homes here do not fully realize the advantages and beauties of this city until a comparison can be made with another city. It is the stranger, however, who is quick to see what an ideal town this is to live in. Not a day passes but some word of tribute is paid to Plainfield by a visitor from some other part of the land. Many of them are so pleased that they eventually find their way back here and become permanent residents.

Everybody, who has the interests of the city at heart, hopes to see the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company located here but, aside from that, there is a bright future for Plainfield. It is destined to grow in size and attractiveness, and the twentieth century will mark its steady advance.

This discovery made by Mayor Smalley that there is an ample supply of water to be found in the vicinity of Greenbrook road and Harrison street is a really important one in that it may mean the establishment of a water works under borough control. The Mayor is thoroughly in earnest in this attempt to establish municipal control of water works and he may by counted on to advance the plan as fast as possible. Now that he has demonstrated that water is to be had, it will serve to give the project added force.

When the late Robert Dunlap, the famous hatter, started in business he had only $2,000, and his conditions were no better than those of hundreds of hatmakers relates the Philadelphia Record. A part of his little capital he used for small newspaper advertisements. Of every dollar of profit he took half for newspaper publicity until his name became known in all the leading cities. He often said that without newspaper aid he could never have made more than a living from his business.

If there was any hard feeling between the Elizabeth and Plainfield police, it was so thoroughly covered up at the baseball game Wednesday that the most powerful microscope would have failed to detect it. The Plainfield police were treated in most delightful fashion and returned well pleased with their treatment despite the fact that they were defeated.

Labor Day will mark the resumption of activity at the local golf links. Both clubs have arranged a programme of events for that day which will serve to attract many players. Many of the summer vacations will end with August, and there will be a host of Plainfielders home ready to enjoy any pleasures which may have been arranged.

For the first time since the Carr-Swift controversy began, Governor Voorhees has made a statement regarding it for publication. The statement did not explain his action, however, but simply served to make clear the fact that Franklin Murphy had absolutely nothing to do with it simply following the usual course in the matter.

An innocent resident of New Brunswick came very near serving a term in States Prison for passing worthless banknotes as legal tender. The chain of circumstance was complete. But that citizen was able to explain it all and the secret service men found that they had not discovered a great criminal after all.

Madison is in the throes of the sewage disposal question and has a plan which, if approved by the State Sewage Commission, will be put to the voters of the borough to secure their opinion of it. Its success or failure will be of particular importance to the people of North Plainfield who will soon have to solve the question for themselves.

Sneak thieves are reported to be working near Watchung and the farmers are preparing to give them a warm welcome. A load of buck-shot would surprise one of those marauders in a wonderfully eloquent fashion.

And now there has been a call issued for a meeting of the Republican State committee to fix the date for the State convention. It will be held at Trenton, probably some day during the last week in September.

Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, will be represented at the great gathering of that Masonic order at Louisville next week.

Judging from Mayor Smalley's experiment well, the borough will have no trouble in securing a supply of water if it is desired.

Even at Elizabeth, the story of Patrolman Higgins and his "Carrie Nation" episode has become famous.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

A New York newspaper of last evening's edition, makes the statement that Mayor Jenkins is a puzzle fiend and delights in giving callers at his office, difficult puzzles to work out. In their anxiety to solve them, the callers generally lose sight of the object which induced them to call on His Honor.

LITERARY.

Scribner's Magazine for September begins a notable series of three articles, to run through the fall numbers, giving a condensed and graphic way the history of "The United States Army" as a fighting-machine, from Washington's assuming command at Cambridge to the capture of Aguinaldo. The announcement of Major General Francis V. Greene as the author of these articles will particularly commend them to well-informed readers.

The illustrations for this series have been made on the same generous plan which made noticeable the "Cromwell" and the "Revolution" in this same magazine. They include pictures by Howard Pyle, F. C. Yohn, Zogbaum, Remington, and other military artists.

Frederick Irland has gained a wide circle of admiring readers by his annual article in Scribner's Magazine describing some adventure in the wilderness. This year Mr. Irland writes on "The Beguiling of the Bears," describing a spring journey to the most remote and inaccessible stream in New Brunswick, the North Pole Branch.

The terrible heat of the present summer will call unusual attention to the article on "The Poor in Summer," by Robert Alston Stevenson, whose investigation of the problems of the poor has extended in many directions.

A great variety in fiction is offered in this number. George W. Cable, who is a supreme artist in the short story, tells a tale of slavery days full of poetry and imagination, entitled "The Clock in the Sky." It is illustrated by Howard Chandler Christy.

The incomparable Raffles reappears in the magazine in an adventure as a burglar which culminated in "The Wrong House." Raffles for the first time uses in this adventure his famous electric billy and torch. Illustrated by Yohn.

Cyrus T. Brady tells the amusing tale of "A Vaudeville Turn," with pictures by Glackens.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

It may be quite safely assumed that the Carr-Swift fight in Union will go over on one pretext or another until after election. The controversy is loaded with too much dynamite, to be exploded during the campaign. Every possible technicality will be availed of to secure posponement. It is believed that certain people who are egging on the fight are prompted by a mischievous desire to bend Franklin Murphy's back under the load.—New York Herald.

This is horrifying news that comes from Ocean Grove. At a meeting there the other night Col. Hadley, the evangelist, is reported to have declared "that in all the thirteen years he has been coming to Ocean Grove he had never seen so much evidence of drink as he had this summer. He had seen more Christians smoking here this summer than ever before, and he had detected more breaths saturated with liquor than ever before in Ocean Grove." Evidently Asbury Park's continued progress in the direction of worldliness has not been without its influence upon its neighbor. There may have been some truth, after all, in the story published some months ago about scavengers carting away wagon loads of empty whiskey bottles from Ocean Grove.—Newark News.

* * * * * * *

The non-progressive element seems to be in the preponderance in Hunterdon county. The Board of Freeholders has withdrawn from the tax budget the appropriation of $20,000 for county roads. The only county in the State which shows an actual decrease in population refuses to adopt any methods to even make it attractive to its own people. We have been wondering whether Bryanism, which has proved so fatal to everything which it touched, has hurt Hunterdon with its blight. It has had a strong foothold in that county, and the farmers have held to it tenaciously. Hunterdon has had a great history in the State, and there ought to be enough progressive spirit there to repudiate a policy which cannot help but repel outsiders, and is likely to drive out its own citizens. The Newark News says rather truculently, "It has been a battle between the quick and the dead in Hunterdon, and the dead have won."—Somerville Unionist-Gazette.

SIGNALING MARS IMPOSSIBLE

It Is Entirely Beyond the Power of Human Resources to Accomplish.

The very largest city that this earth has ever known would be altogether too small to be visible to a being dwelling on the planet Mars, even if that being were endeavoring to see it with a telescope as powerful as the greatest and most perfect instrument in any observatory on this globe, says Sir Robert S. Ball, in the Independent.

If the whole extent of Lake Superior was covered with petroleum, and if that petroleum was set on fire, then I think we may admit that an inhabitant of Mars who was furnished with a telescope as good as that which Mr. Percival Lowell uses at Falkstaff might be able to see that something had happened. But we must not suppose that the mighty conflagration would appear to the Martian as a very conspicuous object. It would rather be a very small feature, but still I think it would not be beyond the reach of a practiced observer in that planet. On the other hand, if an area the size of Lake Superior on Mars was to be flooded with petroleum and that petroleum was to be kindled, we would expect to witness the event from here not as a great and striking conflagration, but as a tiny little point of just discernible light. The disk of Mars is not a large object, and the conflagration would not extend over the three-hundredth part of that disk.

It is sufficient to state these facts to show that the possibility of signaling to Mars is entirely beyond the power of human resources.

QUEER CATS IN MAINE.

One Tabby That Has Acquired the Hot Water Habit—Profit in Raising Coon Cats.

The cats of Maine have been making new records for queer doings lately, says an eastern paper. A Portland woman owns a striped tabby that cries for hot water and is not appeased until a saucer of water as hot as anyone could drink is poured out for her. The cat has been drinking hot water for six weeks, and seems to thrive upon it. How she acquired the habit no one knows.

A Biddeford man has a two-legged cat that he raised from a kitten. Tom is big and has a beautiful black coat, but was born without fore paws. On the right shoulder a small bone protrudes, and on the left there is a small stub. The cat walks erect and goes about with ease, not seeming to mind his deformity.

A Bar Harbor cat fancier says there is great profit in raising coon cats, so-called, if one has good luck to help out tireless industry in caring for the animals, but that it does not pay to attempt to raise them on a large scale. Until a year old coon cats are very delicate and subject to many diseases, such as pneumonia, fits, spasms and dysentery, and more die than survive. Seal brown and pure white cats are most prized, and the man who can raise to maturity any considerable number of these colors is sure of big profits.

USE OF PRIVATE CARS.

Many Handsome Railway Coaches Are Now Owned by Men Not Millionaires.

Private railway cars have always been associated in the popular mind with great wealth, but a plan has been developed which makes it possible for even a vaudeville actor or a business man in ordinary circumstances, or anybody else reasonably well to do, who wishes to make a display or to enjoy the luxury of travel, to own a private car built according to his own specifications, according to the World's Work.

A car-refitting company in New York city buys old Pullman coaches, tears the inside furnishings out and refits them according to the wishes of its customers. Whatever kind of private car a man may wish he may order—parlors, handsomely carpeted, sitting rooms, dining rooms, sleeping compartments, smoking rooms—all with equipment more or less perfect according as the price. And cars are refitted in this way and sold for prices varying from $1,500 to $15,000.

Very handsome and serviceable cars have been built from the old "castaways," and the man of moderate means can travel privately and comfortably in a home of his own. It is an interesting evidence of American manufacturing thrift and of the growth of wealth.

UNDER-PRICE OFFERING OF DWIGHT MILLS ANCHOR BRAND SHEETS AND PILLOW CASES.

We thus are enabled to offer these fine sheets and pillow cases to you at prices considerably under the regular rates.

Dwight Anchor Bleached Muslins combined; in a remarkable degree, the qualities essential to secure the best service. The tendency of fine heavy bleached goods to become hard, to crack and to turn yellow in washing is well known. This is because water cannot easily penetrate and cleanse the fabric.

THE DWIGHT ANCHOR CLOTH is readily washed, will remain soft and pliable, and consequently it will retain its clear white color, and will not crack.

These qualities, with the extraordinary weight and durability of the fabric, have given the Dwight Anchor fabrics deserved popularity wherever known.

During this Introduction Sale the following prices will prevail:—

MARRIED IN A BUGGY

Eloping Couple Foils Obdurate and Bellicose Papa.

International Love Episode with a Romantic Ending—A Wedding on Country Road, Performed in a Few Seconds.

Nettie Savoie was a nice-looking young woman who lived with her parents in Crescent City, Ill. Nettie's papa did not like the kind of young men they raise either in Crescent City or in Gilman, which is the town where the citizens of Crescent City visit when they want to see a circus or attend court.

Papa Savoie declared that Nettie should not wed any of the young men who plow corn for a living around Crescent City, and especially was it given out by Savoie pere that Nettie should not smile upon the suit of one Peck Salgeld.

Nettie's papa is a Frenchman, says the Chicago Tribune, and he disliked Peck because Peck is a Teuton whose father and all his near relatives helped yank Alsace and Lorraine away from "la belle France."

"A bas dis man what ju call Salgeld," Savoie pere was wont to remark. "He is of the German—he is canaille. He my Natalie shall he wed not. Conspuez Sal-geld."

Peck was too hardy a Teuton to be daunted by the vaporings of Savoie pere. He bided his time and kept closer watch on Crescent City than his ancestors did on the Rhine. Whenever opportunity offered the German forces would enter Crescent City and drive about waiting for a chance to win a smile from the dark-eyed Nettie. Nettie absolutely wandered out of church one bright Sunday morning somewhat in advance of the rest of the family. She was confused by the glare of the sun and absent-mindedly clambered into the buggy which Herr Salgeld was driving. Herr Salgeld, remembering the injunction to gather your rosebuds while you may, started to drive away, but the French army came up on the double quick and swung on the horses' heads, and Nettie had to descend and return to her family.

The next day a constable wearing chin whiskers and a tin star came down and arrested Mr. Savoie on the charges of inciting a riot, disturbing the peace, retarding traffic, breaking a bridle strap, lacerating the feelings of Herr Salgeld's horses, and committing numerous other offenses and misdemeanors, all connected with the church incident of Sunday morning. M. Savoie, filled with righteous indignation, made haste to appear before the justice of the peace at Watseka.

While Savoie pere was thus busily engaged Herr Salgeld drove over to Crescent City in a buggy and started to drive away with the fair Nettie. A farm boy working in a field near by unhitched his fleetest roan mare from the plow and rode post haste to Watseka, and soon M. Savoie was thundering back to Crescent City.

Herr Salgeld had wasted considerable time driving around Crescent City looking for a minister, but could find none. Suddenly he spied a justice of the peace mending a barbed wire fence by the roadside. At the same moment he saw afar the cloud of dust which heralded the approach in hot haste of Savoie pere.

There was no time to lose. Peck and Nettie clasped hands as they sat in the buggy and responded to the words hurled at them by the justice on the other side of the barbed wire fence. Nearer and nearer approached the hurrying hoofs of papa's steed.

"I do pronounce you man and wife," said the justice.

The happy couple turned their horses and drove away. M. Savoie said things in French to the justice of the peace.

Cat Sticks to Old Home.

It is a well-known fact that cats form their attachments not so much for persons as for localities and surroundings. A Pittsburgh family recently vacated a house inhabited for many years, and for some reason neglected to take along the household cat. Now every night about ten o'clock the cat appears about the deserted premises, stays around, very disconsolate, until midnight and then disappears, nobody knows where. On her nightly arrival she goes first to the front door, where she scratches and mews, as though calling for some one to come and open it. Then she makes a round of the cellar windows and finally climbs over the back fence. The cat looks half starved, and so the neighbors who knew her in more prosperous days now feed her every night when she returns to her old home.

"As a gentle, pleasant laxative I consider Ripans Tabules superior to any medicine I ever used." This is the declaration of a well-known New York advertising agent, who goes on to relate that on one occasion, in company with a newspaper publisher and another gentleman, he spent a most pleasant evening. They all freely indulged in refreshments of so many kinds, that next morning the agent in question had "a double coating on his tongue that was almost sea green." "I was bilious," he continued, "and was advised by one of my companions, who had been through the mill before, to try Ripans Tabules, which I did with most pleasant and surprising results. The distressed feeling in the pit of the stomach speedily disappeared after taking two Tabules." When a copy of this testimonial was shown to him, so as to make certain that there was no mistake about it, he read it carefully through and said: "Well, that was just exactly the way it was."

PIQUE GOWNS.

Some Simple and Dainty Ways of Making Them.

Well dressed women are becoming tired of the present overornamented styles, and there is a rumor that we are to have plainer effects. Especially during the warm weather simpler frocks are in demand. Some charming effects can be obtained in linen and pique, and these costumes can either be made very plain or quite dressy. Very smart little gowns are made of striped pique with blouse waists and rather wide collars edged with Russian lace. With these there is worn a soft front of the same coarse lace. A favorite way of making the skirts consists in tucking them on the hips and finishing them at the bottom with a wide gored flounce. The latest idea for a linen gown is to have a plain collarless bolero trimmed with fancy buttons.

An ordinary morning costume is made of white pique dotted with pink. Both waist and skirt are unlined. The former is made with three box plaits stitched flat and bishop sleeves terminating in cuffs of plain white. There are a white turndown linen collar and a full tie of pink taffeta. The belt is of pink taffeta embroidered with gold dots and fastened by means of a gold buckle. The skirt is made with a gored ruffle headed by a strapped effect.

The original little boating hat is of white straw trimmed with two black and white quills and a band of black velvet.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONABLE WRAPS.

Dust Cloaks Are Made Elaborate and Traveling Coats Simple.

Dust cloaks are very smart accessories to one's wardrobe. The best are three-quarter length, semifitting and cut with big cape sleeves. Some black taffeta models are very smart made with triple capes and hoods of fine embroidery and cutwork. These garments do not afford much protection from the dust, but such details do not concern the woman of fashion. Many traveling cloaks are made to be both artistic and sensible. These coats are made of fine cloth cut in the empire style and trimmed with bands of stitched silk, with perhaps a big jabot of lace at the closing of the collar. As for the yachting coat, it is smartest made of rough blue pilot cloth faced with plaid and cut in ulster fashion.

A serviceable three-quarter length cloak is shown in the sketch. It is made of black and gray checked golfing cloth and is lined with bright red silk. It is made absolutely loose fitting, with a narrow man's collar and broad cuffs. It is single breasted and fastens down the front with three or four smoked pearl buttons.

The hat is of gray stitched taffeta, and it is faced with red felt and trimmed with soft black satin ribbon and a red quill.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Whole Truth.

"Is this the family Bible?" inquired the young man of his best girl's little brother.

"Yes," replied the youngster. "That's the new one. The old one, that's got sister's real age in it, is up stairs."

CHAPTER XIV.

Mid October. The Queen of the Fleet, the finest transport of the Pacific service, thronged with boys in blue at last ordered on to Manila, lay at the wharf at Honolulu, awaiting her commander's orders to cast loose. In strong force and with stentorian voices, the Primeval Dudes joined in rollicking chorus to the crashing accompaniment of their band, and, when they could take time to rest, the crowd ashore set up a cheer. The Hawaiian national band, in spotless white, forming huge and melodious circle on the wharf, vied with the musicians from the states in the spirit and swing of their stirring airs "Aloha Oe! Aloha Oe!" chorused the surging throng, afloat and ashore, as wreaths and garlands—the leis of the islanders—were twined or hung about some favorite officer or favored man. The troops still held to service in Hawaii shouted good-will and good-by to those ordered on to the Philippines. The Dudes of the Queen, and the lads from the prairies and the mountains on other transports anchored in the deep but narrow harbor, yelled soldierly condolence to those condemned to stay. The steam of the 'scape pipe roared loudly and belched dense white clouds on high, swelling the uproar. Dusky little Kanaka boys, diving for nickels and paddling tireless about the ship, added their shrill cries to the clamor. The captain, in his natty uniform of blue and gold, stepped forth upon the bridge to take command, and raised his banded cap in recognition of the constant cheer from the host ashore and the throng of blue shirts on the forecastle head. Then arose another shout, as a veteran officer, in the undress uniform of a general, appeared upon that sacred bound, and, bowing to the crowd, was escorted by the captain to the end overlooking the animated scene below; and then the signal was given, the heavy lines were cast off and hauled swiftly in, the massive screw began slowly to churn the waters at the stern, and gently, almost imperceptibly at first, the Queen slid noiselessly along the edge of the dock, to the accompaniment of a little volley of flowers and garlands tossed from eager hands, and a cheer of godspeed from the swarm of upturned faces. And then there uprose another shout, a shout of mingled merriment, surprise and applause; for all on a sudden there darted up the stairway from the crowded promenade deck to the sacred perch above, defiant of the lettered warning: "Passengers are not allowed upon the bridge," a dainty vision in filmy white, and all in the next moment there appeared at the general's side, smiling, bowing, blowing kisses, waving adieux, all sparkle, animation, radiance and rejoicing, a bewitching little figure, in the airiest, loveliest of summer toilets. The Red Cross nurses on the deck below looked at one another and gasped. Two brave army girls, wives of wounded officers in the Philippines, who by special dispensation were making the voyage on the Queen, glanced quickly at each other and said—nothing audible. The general, lifting his cap, but looking both deprecation and embarrassment, fell back and gave his place at the white rail to the new arrival, and colored high when she suddenly turned and took his arm. The captain, trying not to see her or to appear conscious of this infraction of a stringent rule and invasion of his dignity, grew redder as he shouted rapid orders and swung his big, beautiful ship well out into the stream. The guns of the Bennington boomed a deafening salute as the Queen turned her sharp nose toward the open sea; and almost the last thing Honolulu saw of her human freight was the tiny, dainty, winsome little figure in white, waving a spotless kerchief in fond farewell. Once clear of the narrow entrance the big troopship headed westward toward the setting sun, shook free the reins, as it were, and, followed by less favored craft, sped swiftly on her way, Witchie Garrison, the latest addition to the passenger list, entirely at home, if not actually in command.

Leaning on the general's arm an hour later and deftly piloting that bewildered veteran up and down the breezy deck, she came, just as she had planned to come, face to face once more with Stanley Armstrong. Well she knew that under the escort of that exalted rank she was safe from any possibility of cross question or interference. Well she knew that had he heard of her sudden determination to go to Honolulu she could not have escaped stern interrogation, possibly something worse; and her heart failed her when she realized that the man who had gauged her shallow nature years before, now held a lash over her head in the shape of the paper that mad vanity had prompted her to write and send to the officer of the guard the day that Stewart sailed. What madness it was, indeed, yet how could she have dreamed it would fall into the hands of the man of all others she feared and respected—the one man who, had he but cared, could years ago have had her love, the man who, because he cared not, had won her hate! And, now that he held or had held this paper—nothing less than a forged order in her husband's name as aide-de-camp to Gen. Drayton, she could have cowered at his feet in her terror of him, yet braved him with smiles, sweetness and gayety, with arch merriment and joyous words, quitting for the moment the general's arm that she might extend to him both her little white-gloved hands. Gravely he took the left in his left while with the right he raised his forage cap in combined salute to the woman and to his superior officer. Gravely and almost instantly he released it, and listened in helpless patience to her torrent of playful words; but his eyes were on the general's face as though he would ask could he, the general, know the true character of the woman he had honored above all her sisterhood on board, in thus taking her to the bridge whereon neither officer nor man nor nurse nor army wife had presumed to set foot in all the six days' run from San Francisco; as though he would ask if the general knew just what she was, this blithe, dainty, winsome little thing that nestled so confidingly—indeed, so snugly—close to his battered side, and who had virtually taken possession of him in the face of an envious and not too silent circle of her own sex. Truth to tell, the chief would rather have escaped. He was but an indifferent sailor, and the Queen's long, lazy roll over the ocean surges was exciting in his inner consciousness a longing for cracked ice and champagne. He had known her but the few days the Queen remained in port, coaling and preparing for the onward voyage across the broad Pacific; but a great functionary of the general government had told him a pathetic tale the very day of his first peep at the Royal Hawaiian hotel, had given him a capital dinner at that famous hostelry, whereat she appeared in charming attire, and in a flow of spirits simply irresistible. Her sallies of wit had made him roar with delight; her mimicry of one or two conscientious but acidulated dames who had come over on the Queen, bound as nurses for Manila, had tickled him to the verge of apoplexy; but when later she backed him into the coolest corner of the "lanai" with the plash of fountain close at hand, and the sweet music of Berger's famous band floating softly on the evening air, and told him how her father had loved to talk of his, the general's, dash and daring in the great days of the great war, and led him on to tell of his campaigns in the Shenandoah and the west, listening with dilated eyes and parted lips, the campaigner himself was captivated, and she had her will. A great senator had told him how she had come thither to nurse a gallant young officer in her husband's regiment, how she had pulled the boy through the perils of brain fever until he was now convalescent and going on to rejoin his comrades in Manila, and she, she was pining to reach her husband now serving on Gen. Drayton's staff. Other women were aboard the Queen; could not Gen. Crabb find room for her? It is hard for a soldier to refuse a pretty woman or a prominent member of the committee on military affairs. There was not a vacant stateroom on the ship. Officers were sleeping three or four in a room, so were the Red Cross nurses; and the two army wives already aboard had been assigned a little cubbyhole of a cabin in which only one could dress at a time. There were only two apartments on the big craft that were not filled to their capacity—the room occupied by that sea monarch, the captain, and that which, from having been the "ladies boudoir," had been fitted up for the accommodation of the general. The piano had been wheeled out on deck, the writing table stowed away, and a fine new wide brass bedstead, with dainty white curtains and mosquito bar, a large bureau and a washstand had been moved in, and these, with easy-chairs, electric fans, electric lights and abundant air, made it the most desirable room on the ship. Even Armstrong, colonel commanding the troops aboard, was compelled to share his little cabin with his adjutant, and the general's aides were bundled into a "skimpy" box between decks. There really seemed no place for Mrs. Garrison aboard, especially when it was found that the passenger list was to be increased by three, a surgeon and two officers going forward from Honolulu; and one of these was our old friend and once light-hearted Billy Gray, now nearly convalescent, but weak and, as all could see, feverishly eager to get on to Manila.

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

SEEING HOW 'TWAS DONE.

But The Boys Were Found Guilty of Tresspassing on Railroad Property —Three Were Fined.

On complaint of Freight Agent J. A. Haynes, five boys, Charles and Howard Post, Edward Marcellus, Harry and Alva Bowser, the latter three colored, were arranged before Mayor Jenkins this morning. They were charged with tresspassing on the property of the Central Railroad and with annoying the workmen at the Richmond street freight yards.

The boys admitted being in the yards, but claimed to be watching the loading of a car of pigs when Patrolman McCarthy appeared and placed them under arrest. As Marcellus and the Post boys had been in court once before, the Mayor imposed a fine of $5 or ten days and on the others, $3 or ten days. The fines were afterward suspended on condition that they give the railroad property a wide berth in the future.

EXPRESS STRUCK STRANGER.

DEATH FOLLOWED A FEW MINUTES AFTER ACCIDENT.

Man Killed on Lehigh Valley Near South Plainfield—Rain Hid Him From View Until Too Late.

An unknown man, apparently a mechanic by trade, was killed by a Lehigh Valley express one mile west of the South Plainfield station at 10:40 o'clock this morning. The victim of the fatal accident, at the time of the occurrence, was walking westward on the track in a driving rain. Apparently he was unaware that an express was thundering down the track and was undoubtedly struck before he saw the train.

It was impossible for the engineer to see the man on the track ahead of him, because of the heavy pour of rain. The man was hurled in the air and thrown to the side of the track, cut, mangled and bruised. As quickly as possible the engineer stopped his train, and the train hands rushed to the aid of the man, who was found in a dying condition.

As tenderly and speedily as possible the man was removed to the station at South Plainfield. Before medical aid could be summoned, he expired in great pain. The ambulance had been sent for, but did not arrive until after the man passed away. Notice has been sent to the coroner of Middlesex county and the corpse will remain where it is until after the official arrives, and gives a permit for its removal.

There is no clue as to whom the man may be, excepting what is contained on a slip of paper. This piece of paper was found in one of his pockets and is in the nature of a receipt. It runs thus: "Received from P. Schlers, $.50, for dues. W. E. Woodruff, financial secretary." In the man's possession at the time of the accident was a kit of tinsmith's tools. He was probably about forty-five years of age and wore a light mustache. The man was short in stature.

IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

F. S. Runyon Is Very Ill and Dr. Zeglio is at His Side Constantly.

Francis S. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank, lies in the Muhlenburg Hospital in a critical condition. His life hangs in the balance, but Dr. Zeglio, his faithful attending physician, hopes for a change for the better.

During the whole night, Dr. Zeglio was at the bed side of the sick man, and did not believe he would live until morning. The doctor has been with him all day, and at the time the Press is issued, Mr. Runyon's condition is reported to be a trifle better than it was during the night.

MISS VANHERWERDEN RECEIVED FIRST HONORS.

Only Two Members of Hillside Club Played in Women's Competition Saturday.

RAIN DID NOT STOP THEM.

C. WESLEY ABBOTT WAS FIRST HONOR MAN WITH 89.

Frank Reinhart Finished Second With a Net Score of 114 and Frank Talmage Third With 122.

The great downpour of water Saturday did not prevent play for the Mellick cup, women's competition, on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, for two faithful members of the club, Miss Lida vanHerwerden and Miss Daisy Eisberg, made the round of eighteen holes and scored for the cup. Miss Maude VanBoskerck, another faithful member, started to play and when she reached the seventh hole she remembered failing to post her name before playing, and she was disqualified. By the time Miss vanHerwerden and Miss Eisberg reached the seventh hole the rain was falling in torrents. This did not deter them, however, and they decided to finish. Considering the weather and the fact that some parts of the course were inundated with water, the scores were remarkable.

Miss vanHerwerden received first honors with a net score of 101, while Miss Eisberg made a net score of 103, finishing second. As for third honors it is quite likely that one point will be counted out. There is no one to claim it, and there is nothing left to do. Regarding the standing for the cup a slight error has been made. Several weeks ago Miss vanHerwerden was given three points, when she disqualified for failing to post her name before play. This change gives her at present 21½ points, counting in the three points won Saturday. Miss Maude VanBoskerck also failed recently to post her name and she lost three points, as she finished first. This gives her a total of five points and makes her tie with Miss Margaret Goddard for fourth place.

The scores for the Mellick cup are as follows.

	G.	H.	N.
Miss L. vanHerwerden	105	4	101
Miss Daisy Eisberg	117	14	103

The standing for the trophy is as follows:

	Points.
Miss Daisy Eisberg	14½
Miss Adelaide Ball	5½
Miss Margaret Goddard	5
Miss Maud VanBoskerck	5
Miss Margaret Tracy	3
Miss May Holly	2
Miss May Evans	1
Miss Mary Whiton	1

At last a break occurred in the standing for the Golf Committee cup, for despite the terrible condition of the course and the fact that rain came down in torrents, three players visited the course in the afternoon and made the 18 holes. They were F. O. Reinhart, C. Wesley Abbott and Frank C. Talmage, three of the crack players of the club. This was the smallest attendance of the season, but large enough to make the change in the standing. All three contestants have been putting up a fine game, and the weather was no barrier to them when a possibility of making additional points was considered. On some parts of the course it was almost necessary for the contestants to swim, so much water being present.

C. Wesley Abbott was first honor man for the day, making the capital net score of 89, giving him three points with a total of 8 1 2. This places him in the lead, passing Mrs. Rogers, who has led the contestants for several weeks with 6 points. Frank Reinhart finished second with a net of 114. The two points won by him gives him a total of 3 5 6 and brings him nearer the top, while Frank Talmage, who received the point by finishing third with a net score of 122, is now tie with Townsend Bushmore for eighth position. The changed positions will give added interest to the competition and no doubt bring out more players.

The scores for the Golf Committee cup are as follows:

	G.	H.	N.
C. Wesley Abbott	97	8	89
Frank O. Reinhart	114	0	114
Frank C. Talmage	122	0	122

"DEACON" CONWAY FINED.

Convicted in City Court of Having Violated Health Ordinance—Dumped Garbage Contrary to Ordinance.

Still protesting that he was innocent, even after his own testimony had convicted him, "Deacon" Spencer Conway was fined $3 in the City Court this morning for violating the health ordinance. The full penalty prescribed by law for such an offense is $25.

Complaint against Conway was made by Health Inspector Addis, who in turn had been notified by residents in the vicinity of West Eighth street and Monroe avenue that ashmen had been dumping offensive matter on the property of Mrs. John Brown, at that place. Conway was detected, dumping ashes mixed with corn husks and potato peelings, by S. F. Randolph, of West Eighth street, who remonstrated with him to no effect. Conway denied dumping the garbage mentioned, but admitted leaving the ashes. This in itself was a violation of the ordinance, as all carters had been notified not to use any dump but the city's, in the East End, during the hot weather. Further testimony was added to Mr. Randolph's by A. D. Thompson, who related what a nuisance the Brown property had become to his tenants who live in the vicinity.

DISTINGUISHED OFFICER DIES IN THIS CITY.

Brigadier General Williams, U. S. A., Retired, Succumbs to Short Illness.

ONE TIME ADJT. GENERAL.

ROMANCE IN HIS MARRIAGE TO WIDOW OF STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

Leaves Family of Six Children, Two of Whom Are in the Army and One in Navy—To Be Buried in Washington, D. C.

Gen. Robert Williams, U. S. A., retired, who has been spending the summer at the Hotel Netherwood with his three daughters, died very suddenly at that place Saturday evening at 11 o'clock. During the past year he had been in feeble health and death was due to apoplexy. However, his condition was not considered so serious, for plans had been made for his return to Washington today.

General Williams died while the Saturday evening hop was at its height. When the sad news reached the ballroom all festivities came to an end and a spirit of gloom prevailed. Gen. Willims was popular at the hotel and was highly esteemed and respected by all. His demise is sincerely mourned by all at that resort.

General Williams was born in Culpeper county, Virginia, in 1829. He was appointed a cadet to West Point July 1, 1847, graduating four years later. When he left the Academy he was made brevet second lieutenant of the First Dragoons. On July 15, 1853, he was made second lieutenant, and was promoted June 7, 1855, to first lieutenant. The distinguished officer was again promoted August 3, 1861, to captain and adjutant-general. He fought in the Civil War, serving from October, 1861, to October, 1862, as colonel of the First Massachusetts Cavalry. He was engaged in the Battle of Antietam. His war record shows that he was a brilliant and able cavalry officer.

From 1863 on he continued as assistant adjutant-general until July 5, 1892, when he was made a brigadier-general and adjutant-general. He was retired November 5, 1893, at the age of sixty-four years. After this he lived in retirement in Washington. During the past two summers he spent most of his time at the Hotel Netherwood with Generals Sickles, Ruger and other retired army officers. During the past three weeks he had been in bed under the care of Dr. E. W. Hedges.

In connection with the marriage of Gen. Williams there is a very pretty romance. While he was a cadet at West Point he courted Miss Addie Cutts, a famous belle of Washington. Stephen A. Douglas, also paid attention to Miss Cutts, and finally won her hand. The turn in affairs was a great disappointment to Gen. Williams, but he did not dispair. After the death of Mr. Douglas, Gen. Williams renewed his attention and was finally successful. Mrs. Williams was a very beautiful woman. Her history is to be found in the "American Belles," a book giving the portraits and history of famous beauties. She died in 1899.

Three sons and three daughters survive Gen. Williams. The sons are 1st Lieut. Robert C. Williams, of the 13th Cavalry, now stationed in Montana; 2d Lieut. J. C. Williams, of the 12th Infantry, now at Manila, and Lieut. Phillip Williams, U. S. N., also at Manila. The daughters are Mrs. J. B. Patton, wife of Lieut. Patton, U. S. N., Miss Addie C. Williams and Miss Mildred Williams, all of Washington.

The remains were taken to Washington yesterday afternoon and a military funeral will be held at that place. Interment will be made in Arlington cemetery. Immediately after the death and up to the time the remains were removed from the hotel, an American flag was suspended at half-mast from the flagpole at the resort.

What You Get.

Eight hours of enjoyment and recreation at the seashore. That's what you will get by attending the annual excursion of Warren chapel to Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, which takes place Thursday. The train leaves Plainfield at 8 o'clock and returning leaves the shore at 6 o'clock.

Labor Day Outing.

D. C. Ivins, the Watchung avenue coal and lumber dealer, has issued invitations for about eighty personal and business friends to accept his hospitality Labor Day and enjoy a sail on his steam yacht, the "D. C. Ivins."

SATURDAY'S STORM WORKED DESTRUCTION

Elizabeth, Jersey City And Newark Felt Full Force of Downpour of Rain.

DAMAGE WAS SLIGHT HERE.

IN SIX HOURS RAINFALL MEASURED 3.83 INCHES.

Green Brook And Cedar Brook Overflowed—Streets Flooded And Some Damaged—Trolley Cars Unable to Move.

One of the most destructive rainstorms which has visited this vicinity in years, was that which came Saturday, ending with a perfect deluge in the afternoon. From every part of the State and particularly in the northern counties, reports of the damage continue to come in and it is estimated the money loss will amount to thousands of dollars. There were also a number of lives lost from the subsequent effects of the storm.

Elizabeth seems to have gotten a full share of the storm, the downpour resembling a cloudburst. The Elizabeth river overflowed its banks and rose to the tops of the arches of the various bridges which span the stream at that place. The basements of numerous houses, situated near the river, were flooded and the families were forced to remove their effects. The dam of the Elizabeth Water Company gave way, allowing two million gallons of water to escape. Water pipes in Union street were unable to withstand the high pressure and burst.

At Passaic the tracks of the Erie railroad were covered to a depth of ten feet in some places and traffic was greatly interfered with. An engine which tried to get through had its fires put out by the water. It is thought the damage in that city will amount to $10,000.

Similar reports come from Newark, Jersey City, New Brunswick, Rahway and Westfield. At Jersey City there was a veritable hurricane and several large buildings were unroofed.

As usual, Plainfield came out of the storm very luckily, the damage here being very slight compared with other places. The worst result seems to have been with the washing out of roads. In many places the macadam was washed off and it will necessitate a large outlay of money to replace them in their former condition. The storm wrought havoc with crops in this vicinity and it is thought the farmers will suffer greatly.

Under most of the railroad bridges the streets were flooded for several hours, a number of them being impassable. Under the Richmond street bridge the water was very high and it was with difficulty the trolley cars got through. The traffic between this city and Elizabeth was at one time suspended for two hours owing to the storm. Owing to the repairs being made on Somerset street, the storm sewers on that thoroughfare were unable to work properly and in many places it was inundated. The volume of water which passed over Tier's dam was the heaviest that has been known in years, and by some it was feared the structure would not withstand the strain.

In many places Greenbrook overflowed its banks, but so far as is known there was practically no damage.

While the storm lasted in this city, a trifle more than six hours, a total of 3.83 inches of rain fell.

At Watchung the damage was confined to the roads, whose condition was considerably injured by the rush of great volumes of water.

East Front street, in the vicinity of Farragut road, was covered with water. For some time it could not be determined what caused the trouble until it was finally discovered that Greenbrook had overflowed and was sending the water down the street. North avenue, near Berckman street, was badly washed out owing to Cedar brook getting beyond its confines.

Probably the streets to suffer most from the storm was Watchung avenue, near the hill, and Hillside avenue. Both were torn up, the latter in particular. Street Commissioner Gavett placed a repair gang at work on them this morning.

Friendship Lodge, Daughters of Rebecca, will hold a watermelon social at the home of Mrs. Rittenhouse, of 318 New street, tomorrow evening.

FRANK RUNYON DIED AFTER SHORT ILLNESS.

Cashier of First National Bank Passed Away Early Sunday Morning at the Hospital.

NOTABLE IN COMMUNITY.

BEGAN AS A BLACKSMITH AND SERVED IN CIVIL WAR.

Connected With Bank for Thirty-Four Years and Lately Held Responsible Position of Cashier—Underwent a Serious Operation.

In the death of Francis S. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank, which occurred at Muhlenberg Hospital early yesterday morning, Plainfield has lost one of her most prominent citizens. It was about three weeks ago that Mr. Runyon was taken suddenly ill while leaving the bank one evening for his home. His illness was of such a serious nature that he was unable to reach home. He was assisted back to the bank and physicians summoned at once.

After treatment Mr. Runyon was removed to his home, where he remained until taken to the hospital last Friday morning. Dr. Zeglio, the attending physician, decided early in the week that the treatment given was not producing the proper results, and a consultation was deemed best. Dr. Johnson, a specialist from New York, was called, and it was then determined that an operation was unavoidable and that death would soon follow, if it was not performed. His chances for recovery with an operation were considered good.

Up to last Monday Mr. Runyon was steadily improving. That day he suffered a severe attack on the right side of his stomach. From that time on he suffered the most severe pain. An examination disclosed an intestinal obstruction and neither the intestines nor the kidneys were performing their proper function. Unless relief could be given the result would be fatal. Friday morning the operation was performed by Dr. Johnson, assisted by Dr. Zeglio and other physicians.

The recovery from the operation was rapid and conditions were favorable. It was discovered at the time that the kidneys were much diseased, and it is believed that this fact had much to do with the death of the patient. He was only partially conscious prior to death and he passed away quiet and peacefully. When the news of Mr. Runyon's death became known, yesterday, it cast a gloom over the city and many expressions of sincere regret were heard everywhere. There are probably few men in the city who will be missed more than Mr. Runyon, and his countless acts of kindness will always be remembered by those who were recipients of them. Always quiet and unassuming, he applied himself strictly to business.

In the bank, where for nearly thirty-four years he has served, he was always accommodating and willing to advise those who sought his opinion in matters of finance. To those associated with him in the bank he always exhibited that kindly spirit and he had the highest respect of everyone who knew him. He was a Christian in the true sense and he lived his profession every day.

Francis Saurin Runyon was born November 20, 1835, at Greenbrook, one mile north of Dunellen. He was the ninth of twelve children born to Squire and Mary Runyon, six of whom are now living. The first break in the family circle occurred when Elizabeth, wife of William Peters, died in 1869, when Mrs. C. K. Compton, the youngest of the children, reached womanhood. Mr. Runyon, together with the other children, attended the district school at Greenbrook, and at the age of seventeen years he came to Plainfield to learn the blacksmith trade in the building on West Second street, formerly owned by Morris Randolph, but now the property of John Darling. He served his time there. In this business his specialty was that of doing the iron work in the building of wagons.

After learning his trade he went to Newark, where for awhile he was employed by his brother-in-law, William Titus, in the latter's famous bakery. It was not a great while afterward before the Civil War broke out and Mr. Runyon had a strong desire to serve his country. He was sworn into service at Flemington September 3, 1862, and entered Co. H, 30th Regiment, which was composed of many Plainfielders, including J. Frank Hubbard, who was captain of the company.

A peculiar coincident at the time was the fact that three other Runyons were sworn into service. They were Theodore I. Runyon, of West Fourth street; Alfred B. Runyon, who a few years ago died in Illinois, and Nelson Runyon, of the law firm of Nelson and W. N. Runyon. Alfred B., Nelson and Francis S. Runyon were brothers. The 30th Regiment went out for nine months. Mr. Runyon was selected as a corporal, and owing to his peculiar qualifications therefor, he was appointed as a nurse, in which position he rendered excellent service to many Plainfielders. During that time there were in the hospital Nathan Vermeule, son of George B. Vermeule; William Ayers, son of the late W. C. Ayres and Aaron F. Randolph, all of whom were nursed during their fatal illness by Mr. Runyon.

On June 30, 1863, Mr. Runyon was honorably discharged from the service and he returned to Plainfield. Some little time afterward he secured a position at the First National Bank as a bookkeeper. This position together with that of paying teller, he held up to the time of the death of Cashier Carman Parse. Following the latter's death, Mr. Runyon was made cashier and this position he held up to the time of his death, serving constantly and faithfully every interest of the bank. It has been said that during the past fifteen years Mr. Runyon never took a vacation, although often urged to do so by his friends and officials of the bank. He was wedded to his business and preferred to confine himself strictly to it.

Mr. Runyon was married in May, 1869, to Miss Esther A. Runyon, daughter of the late Randolph Runyon, of this city. His wife died in February, 1872, and their son, Freddie, died in July, 1871, but a few weeks old. Mr. Runyon never remarried. Since the death of his wife he lived with his wife's sister, Miss Martha J. Runyon at 536 West Front street.

The deceased was a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church and was a faithful attendant there until late years. His health was not the best and he did not feel able to walk so far, so he attended services at the First Baptist church. He was very fond of music and, having a fine bass voice, at various times he was associated with different musical societies. He was also a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and although he scarcely ever found time to attend the meetings he was greatly interested in Grand Army matters.

Mr. Runyon leaves five sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. J. B. Martin, of the borough; Mrs. Mary H. Titus, and Mrs. Margaret Kinsey, of Newark; Mrs. J. B. Morrison and Mrs. C. K. Compton, also of the borough, and Nelson Runyon, of this city.

The funeral services will be held from the late home Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and an opportunity will be given those who may desire to take a last look at the body of their friend, between the hours of 11 o'clock in the morning and 1 o'clock in the afternoon of that day.

PARK AVENUE BAPTISTS CELEBRATED FLAG DAY

Service Conducted Under the Auspices of Sunday-School of Park Ave. Baptist Church.

U. S. COLORS UNFURLED.

PATRIOTIC HYMNS AND ADDRESSES FEATURES OF PROGRAMME.

Superintendent George E. Hall Was in Charge—Each Person Attending Service Was Presented With a Flag Badge—Church Decorated.

The service at the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning under the auspices of the Sunday-school was entitled "Flag Day," and it was the most interesting of the series held during the month. Superintendent George E. Hall was in charge. The subject of the lesson was "Abraham und Isaac," and the golden text "By Faith Abraham, When he was Tried, Offered up Isaac."

After the opening exercises there was a vocal solo by Miss Elsie Giles, followed with a prayer by Theodore I. Runyon. Then there was a salute to the flag, after which the school sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Columbia." During the lesson period the following papers were presented: "Abraham's Test Illustrated," Mrs. Robert Wyckoff; "An Illustration of Trust," Walter Harris; "Story of Shah Abbas," Miss Florence G. Hawkins; "Lesson Application," Mr. Krause, of Cranford. After the presentation of the above topics the school sang "Hail Columbia."

One of the features of the programme was a selected choir from the Sunday-school which conducted the singing of patriotic hymns, and in addition sang the "Star-Spangled Banner," while the entire school saluted the flag, which at a given signal was unfurled and then draped about the superintendent's desk. At the close of the lesson Mr. Krause, of Cranford, gave an interesting talk on "Loyalty," and applied the truths brought out in the study of the lesson.

There was an unusually large attendance, including many visitors, and each one present was given a satin badge made of the American flag, and a very pretty souvenir programme with red and blue lettering, to which was attached an American flag, both the gift of the superintendent. American colors were extensively used in decorating the Sunday-school room, a large number of flags of all sizes adding a beautiful effect. The elaborate programme was arranged by Mr. Hall and was the most interesting of any thus far given.

A LONG SWIM.

Attempt to Equal Captain Webb's Feat Ends In Failure.

DOVER, England, Aug. 26.—Mr. Holbein, who on the anniversary of Captain Webb's swim from Dover to Calais started from Cape Gris-Nez, between Boulogne-sur-Mer and Calais, in an attempt to swim to Dover, narrowly escaped drowning. He covered the course to a point within six miles of Dover and then collapsed after having been in the water 12 hours and 46 minutes.

The tug which accompanied him took him from the water and brought him to Dover. He was carried to a hotel in a semiconscious, precarious state and subsequently, on the advice of his medical attendants, was removed to a hospital, where he lay for some time in a serious condition. It was found that his eyesight had been badly affected by the salt water.

His exploit was very remarkable, considering the roughness of the sea, and has established a record. He wore a white cap that covered his head and partially his face and also a mask from brow to nose in order to protect his eyes. He found it impossible to take solid food without swallowing sea water, and he therefore subsisted mainly on raw eggs, as he was able to suck these while lying on his back. He also took hot milk from a feeding bottle.

The sea was heavy, and there was a nasty swell. His attendants became seasick.

He swam with a powerful stroke, alternately on his back and on his breast, making a good pace. The first six miles from Cape Gris-Nez were covered in 2 hours and 25 minutes. At sundown he found great difficulty in keeping a straight course. Much of the time he swam with his eyes closed owing to the irritating effects of the salt water.

Instructions to Holbein were shouted through a megaphone, and powerful acetylene lamps were lit to guide him. In the middle of the channel the wind was fresh and the water very rough. At the end of the sixth hour he was swimming well, but he began to complain of an injury to his left hip sustained on the rocks at Cape Gris-Nez, but not mentioned before.

Allowing for his zigzag course, it is estimated that he swam 28 miles. When he was taken from the water, Dover was about five miles north-northeast.

His next attempt he promises to make next year.

Schooner Beached.

FIRE ISLAND, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The three masted schooner Eliza A. Scribner of Philadelphia, in command of Captain Silas Dodd, was beached on Fire Island bar yesterday to prevent her from sinking. The vessel was struck by the storm and sprung a leak. As the water gained rapidly and the pumps were unable to keep it down Captain Dodd decided to beach the schooner. She had ten feet of water in her hold when she was put on the bar. The wrecking tug I. J. Merritt came to the stranded schooner's assistance. A boiler and a pump have been put on board. Anchors have been laid, and an effort will be made to float her at high tide.

New Phase of a Brooklyn Mystery.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—John J. Kletchka, the central figure in a bomb mystery which has puzzled the Brooklyn police for a month, has disappeared. He was living at 39 Maujer street until Friday. His wife had obtained a summons for his appearance in the Manhattan avenue court on that day, but he neither appeared to answer it nor did his wife appear against him. It is not known what was the nature of the complaint she intended to make. Inquiry at the address in Maujer street was met with the information that he had moved on Friday, the day he should have gone to court, and all trace of him was lost.

A Bomb For Brazilian Governor.

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 26.—A dispatch from San Pablo announces that a dynamite bomb has been found in the garden of the governor's palace. As Governor Rodrigues Alves is a presidential candidate and is backed by President Campos-Salles, it is believed that the bomb was placed there by his political adversaries. The minister of foreign affairs has announced that the government has received an official note to the effect that Argentina and Chile have agreed not to increase their army and navy.

A Baby the Prey of Mosquitoes.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 26.—While her face swollen from mosquito bites a 2-month-old girl was found in the commons near this place by Thomas Maher, a newsboy. Apparently the baby had been lying there the greater part of the night. The little one was modestly dressed, but there are not marks on the clothing to give any clew to the identity of the parents.

Young Roosevelt Recovering.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Quentin Roosevelt, the 4-year-old son of Vice President Roosevelt, who was operated upon for an abscess of the ear in Roosevelt hospital, is reported as recovering rapidly at that institution. No further information was given out, as it had not been intended to allow the fact of the operation to become public.

Engine Plant to Be Sold.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 26.—The plant of the Corliss Steam Engine company has been ordered to be sold by the sheriff on an execution obtained upon a judgment for about $2,000 granted to James S. Kenyon, doing business as Burrows & Kenyon of this city.

"I suppose," said the admiring father to his daughter just before graduation day, "that there are very few branches of human learning in which you do not feel well-informed."

GUARD FOR MANILA.

Present Force to Be Slightly Increased.

THE CITY NOW PERFECTLY ORDERLY.

But It Is Thought Best to Prepare for All Possible Contingencies—Further Surrenders Are Reported.

MANILA, Aug. 26.—In the city of Manila there are now fewer than 1,000 effective soldiers, and it has been decided to increase the number by four companies of infantry. The official reason for the increase is that the guard duty is too heavy for the present force. As a matter of fact, however, there is a feeling that, although there is no apparent prospect of trouble, nevertheless in the event of an uprising in the future, such as is always possible among the Malays, it would be better to have a sufficient body of troops available for such an emergency.

General Chaffee says he considers the city of Manila to be perfectly orderly, and he can see no prospect of an uprising. Commissioner Wright thinks the people "extremely peaceable." He is satisfied that, although among a certain class there is some discontent on account of the land tax, which is not yet understood, this class is not likely to foment trouble.

Many army officers express themselves as gratified at the increase in the military force. They think that with the military guard withdrawn from the prison another uprising there might result in the release of some 1,800 prisoners. This possibility is regarded as a menace to the city by those who take that view of the case, as they regard the white guard as insufficient.

Civil officials look upon this contingency as unlikely, inasmuch as the 600 white police could mobilize at the prison before any of the prisoners could escape and become dispersed throughout the disaffected districts.

Word was received yesterday that the insurgent colonel Lorcel, with 17 officers and 13 men, surrendered Saturday to Captain Brown of the Fourth infantry at Talisay. The surrender of numerous other smaller contingents last week brings the total to more than 100.

Governor Taft is expected to return to Manila tomorrow after having appointed civil officials throughout all northern Luzon.

Accused of Smuggling Chinese.

PHENIX, A. T., Aug. 26.—William M. Hoey, collector of customs at Nogales, has been called to that place by McLean Lemoore, special assistant to Attorney General Knox. It is understood that Lemoore holds warrants for the arrest of Hoey and B. F. Jossey, Chinese inspector, charged with smuggling Chinese from Mexico into the United States. He was accompanied by Assistant United States District Attorney T. D. Bennett. When shown the Washington dispatch stating that a big conspiracy for smuggling of Chinese, in which he and Jossey are implicated, had been unearthed, Hoey declared that there was no truth in the charges. The implication of Hoey caused a big sensation. It has long been known that secret service officials were laboring to stop the smuggling of Chinese, but with little success. Several Chinamen have been captured and deported, but many more and many Chinese girls have been brought across the border. There has been no public opinion that the customs officials were implicated.

General McArthur In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Major General Arthur MacArthur, who has just returned from the Philippines, will leave for Washington on Wednesday to report to the war department. He expects to stop at Canton on his way east to pay his respects to President McKinley. On Sept. 11 he will return to his home in Milwaukee. Seventeen members of General MacArthur's old regiment, the Twenty-first Wisconsin volunteers, paid their respects to their former commander at his hotel. It was their first meeting with General MacArthur since the close of the civil war in 1865.

Injured While Driving.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart of the Pennsylvania national guard met with a serious accident while driving with a party of friends on a country road near this city. The harness on one of the horses broke, and in attempting to jump from the carriage the adjutant general fell and broke his left leg below the knee. The remainder of the party escaped injury. General Stewart has been spoken of as a prospective candidate for commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the coming encampment.

Russian Forest Fires Costly.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—"The total losses from the recent forest fires, which have partially destroyed several towns, are estimated at £10,000,000," says a dispatch from St. Petersburg to The Daily Mail. "The fires have been mostly incendiary and are attributed to the Jews. It is estimated that 250,000 acres of forests have been destroyed and 187 villages completely or partially wiped out."

Most Beautiful Woman Dead.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 26.—A private telegram from Charlottesville, Va., announces the death of Miss Maude Coleman Woods in that city. Miss Woods was pronounced the most beautiful woman in America by a committee from the Pan-American exposition, and her profile adorns all of the medals issued by the board of award.

Boers Still Game.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated at Pretoria: "Delarey has issued a counter proclamation warning all Boers against my latest proclamation and declaring that they will continue the struggle."

A Male Saloon Wrecker.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Lewis Wanner, a local politician and G. A. R. man, wrecked the saloon of Moritz Slegman because the proprietor sold liquor to Wanner's wife after being notified not to do so.

McEachern Wins From Frenchman.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—Archie McEachern of Canada beat Champion, the French rider, in a 25 mile paced race at Queen's park, winning by half a wheel's length in 39m. 19s., a Canadian record.

PHILIPPINE SCHOOLS.

The Report of Superintendent Atkinson Shows Changes.

GOOD SCHOOL BUILDINGS NEEDED.

The Education of Girls Is an Important Feature—The Question of Religious Instruction Settled Amicably.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The division of insular affairs, war department, has received a copy of the annual report of Professor Fred W. Atkinson, the general superintendent of public instruction for the Philippines, which covers the time from the enactment of the Philippine school law to the close of the last fiscal year, June 30, 1901.

The school law mentioned authorized the appointment from the United States of 1,000 schoolteachers, of whom Professor Atkinson states 781 had been appointed either absolutely or provisionally. That there was no scarcity of material from which to make the selection of those appointed direct from Manila is shown by his testimonials appended showing that more than 8,000 personal written applications had been filed. Four hundred and eighty-seven soldier applicants for positions as teachers have taken the examinations prescribed, of which 79 passed satisfactorily and were assigned to schools.

The next step in the organization of the educational system was the districting of the archipelago into 18 divisions, the school work of each being placed in charge of a division superintendent.

In speaking of the general conditions Professor Atkinson says:

"The greatest present need is that of adequate and suitable school buildings. All school buildings occupied by soldiers or in any way used for military purposes should be vacated and turned over to the school authorities at the earliest practical moment, and arrangements should be made for the rent or vacation of all convents or other church property now used for school purposes.

"Nearly all the buildings that have been used for military purposes are in poor condition. It will be necessary for the municipalities to spent money for their alteration and repair. Present school buildings consist generally of one or two large rooms, with several teachers carrying on work in each room. These rooms are everywhere overcrowded, and many have no windows or floors. Sometimes one teacher has 1 to 200 pupils.

"The education of girls has not been thought as important as that of boys. Wherever a school for boys is established it will be the policy to establish one for girls, either in a building near the boys' or under the same roof as the boys' school, but completely separate, with its own entrances and playground.

"The question of religious instruction in the schools has also been settled and without friction or any loss in the attendance of pupils. Upon receipt of an official copy of act No. 74 of the Philippine commission, which forbids any religious instruction by the teacher, a comprehensive order was issued forbidding the practice of religious devotions or their employment as means of punishment, the discontinuance of all teaching of the catechism or religious doctrine and the removal from the schoolhouse of all books containing such matter and the removal from schoolrooms of crucifixes, religious emblems, sacred pictures, placards, etc. These orders were complied with. There was no protest from either parents or teachers and, as above stated, no diminution in the attendance, the school year closing with the largest attendance in the history of these public schools. To many of the teachers the change was apparently welcome."

Armour Being Taken Home.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Kirk B. Armour, head of the extensive Armour enterprise in Kansas City and who was recently stricken with a critical illness at Watkins Glen, N. Y., passed through Chicago on his way to his Kansas City home. He was in a private car and was attended by Dr. Griffith of Kansas City and trained nurses. To those who made inquiry while the car was in this city as to his patient's condition Dr. Griffith stated that Mr. Armour was resting comfortably. The party arrived in Chicago over the Lake Shore road at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and went out over the Santa Fe road at 6 o'clock last evening.

Bank Robbers Catch Spies.

PETERSBURG, Ind., Aug. 26.—Six burglars broke into the Citizens' bank here and stole about $250 in cash. Two men discovered the burglars at work and when they attempted to give the alarm were confronted with loaded revolvers in the hands of two men who stood guard while two others were doing the work inside. The burglars had broken into a carhouse and got tools and then attacked the bank. Nitroglycerin was used for wrecking the safe. The explosion attracted a crowd, but the robbers escaped with their booty. A posse started on their trail, but the robbers are still at large.

The Flagler-Kenan Nuptials.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 26.—The marriage of Mr. Henry M. Flagler and Miss Mary Lily Kenan in the bride's home in Kenansville was a great event for the town and also for this city. The main streets of Wilmington were crowded with sightseers hurrying to the railroad station to watch the departure of the special train carrying the wedding guests to Magnolia, where carriages had been provided to take them to the old village of Kenansville, eight miles from that point. Mr. Flagler's gift to his bride was a certified check for $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 in registered government bonds.

To Swim From Boston to New York.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—To swim from Boston to New York is the feat that Peter S. McNally will attempt, making the start next Sunday, the entire distance to be covered within 30 days. Mr. McNally hopes to arrive at the Battery in New York before noon on Monday, Sept. 30. The actual distance is 282¾ nautical miles, but the swimming course will be very little less than 400 miles.

Hope For the Protocol.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—"Li Hung Chang has notified the ministers of the powers," says a dispatch to The Times from Peking, dated yesterday, "that edicts necessary to the signing of the protocol by the Chinese plenipotentiaries are now en route from Sian-fu and are expected to arrive here Wednesday."

THE PAN-AMERICAN.

This Week's Programme at the Buffalo Exposition.

BUFFALO, Aug. 26.—Officially this week at the Pan-American exposition is designated as grange week and as furniture manufacturers' week. The 4,000,000 mark in attendance has been passed, and the average attendance of August has been 50 per cent greater than any previous month. The average attendance for the past week exceeded that of the previous week by 11,000.

Today is municipal day. The programme presented in the Temple of Music includes addresses by the Hon. Randolph Guggenheimer, acting mayor of New York and president of the Greater New York council; Thomas G. Hays, mayor of Baltimore; J. A. Johnson, mayor of Fargo; Raymond Prefontaine, mayor of Montreal; Samuel L. Jones, mayor of Toledo, and James K. McGuire, mayor of Syracuse.

The Tennessee Press association will also be in evidence, but aside from attending the exercises already arranged for will pay strict attention to business and "do" the exposition.

The Porto Rican society began its sessions this morning also. General Miles made the response to the address of welcome, which was delivered by the director general, W. I. Buchanan. In the evening a reception will be tendered to General Miles and other visiting officers in the Temple of Music, the programme closing with a great campfire in the New York state building.

Wednesday will be New York state grange day. Ceremonies will be held in the Temple of Music.

Cuba day will be Thursday, Aug. 29. Senior Estrada Palma will be the principal orator of the occasion.

On Saturday the red fez will be in evidence, for this will be Shriners' day. The programme for the occasion is now in course of preparation.

The swine and dog shows, which will take place during the week, will undoubtedly attract much attention not alone on account of the numerous entries which have been made for the same, but also because of the high grade stock entered. The prizes offered aggregate $2,600 in value.

The West Point cadets will remain here until Thursday, drilling in the stadium twice daily.

Scottish games will take place in the stadium on the 27th, and Irish sports will occupy the four days following.

Knights Templars at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 26.—Commanderies of Knights Templars are in Louisville from the four corners of the United States. The city is filled with its plumed guests, although the triennial conclave proper will not begin until the grand parade tomorrow morning. Imposing religious services were held yesterday afternoon, and these were the only formal events of the day. At 1 p. m. the knights assembled at their various commanderies and marched to the Galt House, where the general formation was made for the march to the Broadway Methodist church, where the services were held at 3 p. m. Today was taken up with the reception and escorting to their quarters of arriving commanderies. From 8 p. m. to 12 o'clock the grand commandery and the subordinate commanderies of Kentucky held a reception at Kentucky headquarters at the custom house in honor of the officers and members of the grand encampment of their ladies. Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge of Lexington will deliver Kentucky's welcome to the Knights Templars at the opening meeting of the grand encampment tomorrow afternoon.

Penn Earns Cycle Laurels.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Seven thousand people saw the cycle races at the Vailsburg (N. J.) track. W. S. Penn of Waterbury, Conn., added fresh laurels to his list. After a hard struggle in the half mile open for professionals he started out with a little army of 33 other riders in the five mile handicap for professionals. With such a crowd ahead of him it looked as if he would never get through, but he started off at a clipping pace and mowed down his rivals one at a time. McFarland had 100 yards on the youngster, but this did not bother Penn a bit. Entering the home stretch Penn had the speed and fairly ran away from the others, winning by about five lengths. His time was 10m. 15s. The world's record for the distance was 10m. 33 2-5s.

Assistant Commissioner Richards, who has had general charge of the sales, estimates that the disposition of the remaining lots will bring the grand total up to $700,000.

THE SCHLEY-SAMPSON TROUBLE.

Captain Forsyth Gives His Opinion of the Controversy.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 26.—Captain James McQueen Forsyth, U. S. N., who had charge of the naval station at Key West during the Spanish-American war, spent Sunday in Kansas City on his way from San Francisco to his home at Philadelphia. To a Times reporter Captain Forsyth talked of the Sampson-Schley controversy, and that paper quotes him as saying:

"While we have been instructed by the navy department not to discuss the merits of the case, every one knows that the navy looks upon the controversy as an unfortunate affair. We believe there was plenty of glory for all concerned. The fact that a junior man was placed in command above his seniors is responsible for the whole business. Sampson was a captain and the seventeenth ranking officer of the navy. No one ever thought of him as the successor of Admiral Sicard, and I don't believe he ever thought of it himself, but he was familiar to the people of Washington, and they decided to place him in command. Of course the officers who outranked him did not like it. It is not to be expected that they would, but Washington said Sampson, and that settled the matter. Schley was among the officers outranking Sampson, and he was thrown directly under the junior's command. He naturally felt the promotion more than any of the others.

"The battle of Santiago was one of the most brilliant in history. Regardless of who was responsible for such effective execution, there was glory enough for both Sampson and Schley. The controversy only serves to dim the brilliancy of the victory, and it is greatly to be deplored. That any one should question the bravery of either of the men is particularly unfortunate and wholly unjustified."

Captain Forsyth, who will be retired on Sept. 25, has been associated with Admirals Schley and Sampson at different times during his long life in the navy. When he left Key West, he took command of the battleship Indiana. Later he was chief of staff to Admiral Watson in charge of the Asiatic squadron, and for the past several months was second in command at the Mare Island yard at San Francisco. Captain Forsyth left for St. Louis last night, where he will remain a few days before proceeding to Philadelphia.

TURKEY YIELDS.

Sultan Grants the French Demands Entire.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 26.—M. Constans, the French embassador, sent a note to the porte last Thursday to the effect that he would leave Constantinople Aug. 26 unless the French claims were settled.

Thereupon Tewfik Pacha, the Turkish minister of foreign affairs, called at the French embassy and informed M. Constans that the porte had abandoned the idea of purchasing the quays, first, because convinced that the purchase would be a bad speculation for Turkey, and, second, on account of the financial difficulty involved, as the Ottoman government had no hope that the Paris market would take up a loan to cover the purchase.

M. Constans then gave the Ottoman government until today to issue an irade granting the Quays company full rights and indemnity for the two years during which the company had been deprived of these rights.

Thereupon the following imperial irade was issued:

"In consequence of the declaration made to the porte by the French embassador that he acts under instructions from the minister of foreign affairs an imperial irade has been issued declaring that no obstacle shall be opposed to the free exercise by the Quay company of the rights resulting from their concession."

Negro Porter Shot.

MACON, Aug. 26.—L. C. Merriwether, a baggage master on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, shot and killed Will Freeman, a negro porter on the same train, shortly after the train left Valdosta. Bad blood had existed between the two men for some time, which caused the railroad officials to place them on different runs. Saturday the two men accidentally met on the "Shoo Fly" train. A few minutes after the train left Valdosta the negro entered the baggage car and, uttering an oath, exclaimed, "I have got you where I want you, and I am going to throw you out of this car!" The negro sprang upon Merriwether, who is a small man. A tussle ensued, and Freeman was shot through the head, dying instantly.

Queer Charge Against a Minister.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The Rev. Mr. Fredenburgh of Liberty has been held under bonds to appear before the grand jury on a peculiar charge. The complaint against Mr. Fredenburgh is that he took the refuse from the tables at a sanitarium for consumptives and fed it to his hogs. This is in violation of the rules of the board of health of the village. The accused clergyman has given a bond of $200 for his appearance before the grand jury, Dr. Startup and H. Y. Severance furnishing security.

Fourteen Injured In a Collision.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—Fourteen persons were injured here in a collision between a Greenfield Interurban car and a freight train on the Belt road. The conductor of the car signaled the motorman to go ahead, and when on the railroad it was struck by the train, which was moving at moderate speed. The car was thrown to one side, but not crushed, and each of the 12 passengers was more or less injured. The conductor and motorman were also badly bruised and were taken to their homes.

PLANS OF STEEL MEN.

The Great Trust Promises New Developments.

A PROGRAMME TO BRING PEACE.

Amalgamated Officials Have Consented to Have Certain Proposals Made Through National Civic Federation to the Trust.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 26.—Some remarkable changes in the strike ridden mills of the United States Steel corporation are promised for the present week that will change the aspect of affairs considerably if carried out. It is stated on good authority that before the end of the week those of the plants that have been operating on single turn would be run with a full force and for the usual three full turns each day. Men enough have been secured for this purpose, the officials say, in spite of the claims of the strikers that the companies could not get enough men to operate their plants, and the managers of the various mills say they will be ready with all the skilled men required to start up the machinery and turn out a heavy tonnage.

The most interesting situation is the Star mill of the American Tin Plate company, in Twelfth street. This plant was until this summer considered as doomed. The tin plate company had, it is said, decided to abandon the mill and move the machinery elsewhere. Since the strike has come on them and it was demonstrated that the operation of the mill with nonunion men was possible under the protection of a well equipped police force the officials decided to keep this mill, make extensive improvements in its equipment and make it a permanent fixture of the company. The most significant feature of this plant has been carried out during the past week. This consists of fitting the mill in the same manner as that of the Monessen plant in Monessen, Pa. The former eight mills have been changed to four double mills. Other improvements have been added that will give the plant a larger capacity, increase its force of men and make it one of the most modern of all the tin plants of the company.

With the completion of these improvements the company will be prepared to place a sufficient number of men in the plant to work the four double mills three full turns. This is said to be expected to take place during the present week. Before Saturday, according to Superintendent Piper of the Star mill, the plant will be operated to its full extent.

Outside of the Star plant there was a large number of strikers on picket duty. They were quiet and orderly, but had their eyes and ears open for any signs of newcomers. The peculiar feature of the strike about the Star plant is the good feeling displayed between the strikers and the manager of the plant. There is no signs of bitterness up to the present time, and when Superintendent Piper left the buildings early yesterday morning he met the strikers and laughed good naturedly at them.

There is no change in the situation regarding the tube mills. The mills were all quiet, and the former employees remained away from the plants. It is understood that the officials of the National Tube company have practically determined not to start these plants for the present.

Everything at McKeesport is reported quiet. Pickets are around the Demmler tin plate mill in large numbers, but they are orderly and are determined to be on hand this morning, as they believe an attempt will be made to start the plant. While the fires are lighted and the mill apparently in readiness for a start, it was impossible to get any of the officials to name the exact time when the attempt will be made.

In furtherance of the "peace" programme which is said to have been in course of preparation for several days it is given out by one on the inside and one who should know that the Amalgamated executives have consented to have certain propositions made to the officials of the United States Steel corporation through members of the conciliatory committee of the National Civic federation, which proposals are expected to bring about a settlement of the great strike. Those interested in the matter are waiting for word to proceed with the programme as outlined at the conference of the Amalgamated executives and the conciliatory committee of the Civic federation last Friday. The propositions which are to be taken to New York carry certain concessions by the Amalgamated officials which it is hoped will pave the way for the reopening of direct negotiations between the association and the company. The proposition carries much of the terms under which President Shaffer and his advisers stand willing to settle. What these terms are and the mode of their presentation are carefully guarded secrets.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 26.—The Florida and Metropolitan limited train of the Seaboard Air Line was totally wrecked seven miles south of Cheraw, S. C., due to a sand bank washout. Fireman Rosemond was crushed to death and three train hands injured. The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. Neither of the conductors was hurt. The engine and four front cars left the track and were turned completely over. The engine was a mass of debris. The tender fell 20 yards away. The track was torn up for 150 yards, and every car was off the track.

Shirt Waist Hands Win.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—It is announced by the executive board of the striking shirt waist girls that Max Rotelenger, the largest of the manufacturers against whom a strike was ordered, has given in, granting all the union's demands. His employees returned to work this morning. Of the 5,000 who went on strike a week ago only about 1,500 are now out.

Solution Of Mosquito Annoyance.

The press of New York and New Jersey has found no end of amusement in poking fun at State Entomologist Smith and his proposition to rid the State of that great pest, the mosquito. While some of these sayings have been quite amusing, there really is no joke in either Mr. Smith or his work. Seriously, he is a very efficient State official and some of his accomplishments have been of the greatest value to the farmer and the fruit grower. With these classes his name is known and greatly respected all over Jersey but the general public had heard but little of him until his plan of exterminating the mosquitoes was so thoroughly advertised.

There isn't any doubt but that the mosquito has seriously affected the prosperity of a large part of the low lands of New Jersey and that its extermination would mean a remarkable advancement for these same sections. Prof. Smith has given this subject some careful attention and he is beginning to be able to talk with some authority on the subject.

In a recent utterance he declared that by draining off stagnant water and spraying with oil such pools and marshes as could not be drained, the number of these little pests can be greatly reduced. His investigations have convinced him that it will not be possible to wholly exterminate them for a long time to come but he believes that their inroads can be materially reduced.

He points out that local boards of health can greatly assist in this work by compelling owners of vacant lots and fields where pools of stagnant water form to drain them or spray them with petroleum where drainage is impossible. Municipalities, he says, should also drain all marshes within their borders by cutting open ditches through them.

Except when the wind swings round to the east, Plainfield is but very little troubled with mosquitoes. It would be possible, however, to have even fewer than there are. This plan of draining stagnant water appears to be particularly practical and there is no reason why the Plainfield Board of Health should not act in this matter. There is no doubt that everyone would greatly appreciate any action which will tend to do away with that pesky little insect which has often proved so annoying.

Under the existing laws, it is impossible for Westfield to build and run a water supply plant. The nearest approach to municipal ownership which it is possible for that township to come is to own the system of pipes in the streets and purchase the water supply from the lowest bidder. That is the project which is being discussed down at Westfield. It is likely, however, that an attempt will be made to get a law through the Legislature, this fall, which will give a township the right to go into the water business on its own account.

A number of small merchants in Chicago have combined to establish a big night department store to meet the needs of the 40,000 people who work at night downtown, tells the Philadelphia Record. The leading promoter of the enterprise paid a sincere tribute to the value of newspaper advertising when he said: "We shall advertise heavily in the leading newspapers. That is the one reason why we are small merchants now—we cannot afford to advertise in the newspapers sufficiently."

The men who fought through the Civil War on the Union side will gather this year at Cleveland, O. This annual encampment of the G. A. R. has become an important yearly feature. The men who gather each year are getting older. Many faces, once familiar, are missing, and many a head, once dark, is now covered with grey locks. The veterans are growing old and the time is slowly, but surely coming, when there will be but a corporal's guard to be mustered each year for this annual reunion. Many have died since they met last year, and many others will pass away ere the time comes for the next encampment.

It was a great mistake that the Common Council did not compel the street railway company to build a station on private property instead of practically appropriating all of Watchung avenue for a block. There is only one consolation and that is that the company has to pay almost the entire bill for the repairing of Watchung avenue.

The public is well pleased at Company K's decision to give up the proposed clam bake. While everybody was quite anxious to see the field day, which was first proposed by the company, there was no interest manifested in a gastronomical display by the citizen soldiers.

Although St. Swithin may have missed a day or two during the last two score of days, the period of forty days' following that saint's day came to an extremely damp end Saturday. It certainly was wet.

Although it seems assured that there is water to be had in the borough, Mayor Smalley has not yet outlined his plans to secure municipal ownership of the water works for North Plainfield.

If policemen are not wonderful successes as baseball players, they certainly have won a high reputation as hosts, both here and at Elizabeth.

S. D. Drake is in command of Lincoln once more. It is now to be expected that the town will take a new lease of life.

After much delay the telephone wires are now going underground on Somerset street. It is a great improvement.

Never has the sentiment in favor of municipal ownership been so general throughout the country.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Gov. Voorhees has made a frank statement in relation to the reappointment of Mr. Carr as a member of the Election Board in Union county. He says that Franklin Murphy sent in the name of Mr. Swift in the regular manner and did not send in Mr. Carr's name. This statement takes away the wind of the men who have been abusing Mr. Murphy for refusing to send in the name selected by the Union county faction that opposes the Governor.—Jersey City Journal.

In certain localities it is unfortunately characteristic of some people to be continually maligning whatever city in which they may happen to reside. The majority of Dover's people are not, and ought not to be, of that kind. We have a fine location and nearness to New York, Newark and other big cities and the town ought to grow in business and population if it is given half a chance. But the few kickers against Dover and its people who haven't a dollar invested in any enterprise in the town should be boycotted forthwith.—Dover Index.

The Hunterdon county Freeholders have decided to remove the $22,000 appropriation made for roads. This county is about twenty years behind the times, the poorest roads in the State are there. In the handsome town of Flemington the majority, in fact about all the streets are full of holes, making driving at a faster gait than a walk dangerous to horse, vehicle and driver. The people of this town alone should set the county an example and macadamize their own roads. A new board of trustees is necessary. Wake up brothers!—Bound Brook State-Centre.

DUNELLEN.

Dunellen, August 26.—The heavy rains Saturday washed a quantity of sand and gravel upon the trolley tracks between Bound Brook and Dunellen. The crew was forced to shovel the obstruction from the tracks before the cars could be moved. People to the number of fifty were kept waiting an hour at the Plainfield trolley terminal house Saturday afternoon because the great quantities of water interfered with the running of the cars.

An empty hay wagon, driven by Winfield Smalley, of Lincoln, was struck by a trolley car at 9 o'clock Friday evening. The driver escaped uninjured, but the wagon was considerably damaged. The accident occurred in front of Taylor's Hotel.

Baseball enthusiasts were greatly disappointed because the rain prevented the ball game being played Saturday. It is expected, however, that arrangements will be made to meet the Raritan team Saturday.

New Market, August 26.—A number of New Market people are making arrangements to be present at the festival and concert to be given in Washington Hall, South Plainfield, tomorrow evening.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence.)

Scotch Plains, August 26—Owing to the storm Saturday, the game of baseball between the local team and the Rutland College nine was cancelled. This makes the second time this summer that a game between these two teams has been cancelled on account of the weather. Manager Johnston will make one more endeavor to arrange a game with this nine on a day when it is hoped the elements will be favorable.

Rev G. M. Shott occupied the pulpit in the Park Avenue Baptist church, Plainfield, yesterday morning, Mr. Shott's pulpit being filled by Rev. Mr. Main, of Paterson. In the evening at the close of the regular 7 o'clock young people's meeting, a meeting in the interest of the fresh air work at Westfield was held. An interesting programme of song, prayer and addresses together with several papers which were read pertaining to the work done at Camp Woolfe. Arthur Pierson, vice president of the association, made the address of the evening, and asked all to become identified with the grand work which is being done for the poor of New York city slums. At the conclusion a generous collection was taken for the benefit of the camp.

One of the heaviest rainfalls in years passed over this section Saturday. Fortunately, but little damage was done. Some alarm was felt during the afternoon about the rapid rise of Green brook, which ordinarily is but a little stream, but during the afternoon the banks were overflowed and the water rose nearly to E. M. Johnston's house. The roadbed was washed out in several places in town. The electric light circuit was crippled and travel by trolley was very uncertain. But when the rain abated these small inconveniences were remedied and the residents congratulated themselves that no more serious damage was done.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Nancy Townsend, were held from the residence of her nephew, Alfred McKeown, Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Rev. G. M. Shott conducted the services, which were private. Interment was made in the family plot in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

The Saturday evening dance at Anderson's pavilion was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by the young people. Dancing continued until 11:30 o'clock.

Harry Flannery, who has been enjoying a short vacation, has returned to business.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence.)

South Plainfield, August 26—The old corps of teachers has been secured for the coming term at the local school. The principal will be Miss E. May Higgins, of Bound Brook. Miss Matta Soper, of Metuchen, and Miss Imogene Smith, of Dunellen, will instruct the lower classes. School will open September 3.

Water overflowed the road across the mill dam Saturday night to the depth of several inches, and extended for nearly a hundred yards. If this condition of things is allowed to occur after every storm the township will soon be at the expense of constructing a new road. If the gates of the mill pond had been opened a few hours earlier last Saturday the great overflow would have been avoided.

Preparations are being made to accommodate a large attendance at the peach and ice cream festival in Washington Hall tomorrow evening. The committee has been fortunate enough to secure Mr. Taylor, of Perth Amboy, to furnish music with his zonophone-grand. It is claimed that the music furnished by this machine is equal to that of a brass band in volume and quality.

FESTIVITIES AT THE INN.

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR AT MOUNTAIN PARK INN SATURDAY EVENING.

Given in Honor of Madame Cortada and Were well Attended by Plainfielders—Sacred Concert Yesterday.

The entertainment given at the Mountain Park Inn Saturday evening was well attended by Plainfielders, although the facilities for transportation between the trolley terminus and the resort are not what they should be. A special effort had been made on the part of the management to give a programme surpassing any rendered at the inn this season.

The affair was in the nature of a complimentary concert in honor of Madame Cortada, who has had charge of the musical entertainments at the resort this summer. Miss E. Tucker, "The Black Prima Donna," Miss Mather, Madame Cortada, Westley Woods and Francis Cortada were the principal participants. Miss Tucker sang an aria from a French opera and was heartily encored. She responded by rendering a recitation entitled "The Painter of Seville." Solos by Madame Cortada and Westley Woods were well applauded.

Francis Cortada sang "My Dearest Heart" with considerable expression. After Miss Tucker had given some exhibitions in art posing and Miss Mather and Madame Cortada had played a pleasing piano duet, the programme was concluded with a particularly humorous recitation on "apples." This was given by Madame Cortada in costume. The quaint looking garb, which Madam Cortada assumed, consisted of a dress of the pattern of 1840. Her poke bonnet and hoop skirts made a ridiculous appearance adding to the humor of the piece.

During the latter part of the evening the guests and their friends danced. Miss Mather contributed to the enjoyment of the evening by numerous piano selections.

Another event was the sacred concert given yesterday afternoon. It consisted of vocal and instrumental solos rendered by a number of the guests.

REV. W. L. JONES ACCEPTS CALL

Well-Known Boroughite Becomes Pastor of an Ebensburg, Pa., Church.

Rev. W. L. Jones, of Craig place, having received a call to the Baptist church, of Ebensburg, Pa., he and his family have taken up their residence at Ebensburg, much to the regret of many warm friends in Plainfield. Yesterday morning Mr. Jones occupied the pulpit at Grace M. E. church, and his discourse on the "Second Coming of Christ," Matt. 24-44, was greatly enjoyed by all who heard him.

Locust Porridge.

The every-day life of a Basuto village is a very simple affair when compared with the life of a British village. Porridge is made of mealies, and thickened and flavored with sour milk (mafi) or herbs, and it is seldom that a Mosuto—Basuto in the singular becomes Mosuto—comes to his meal leaving his appetite behind him. Another standard dish is locust porridge, a plentiful supply being kept up by the constant showers of locusts, which are veritable godsends to the natives in a country where food is very scarce. The Basuto collect tons and tons of these insects, and carefully store them, first pulling off the heads and wings. As occasion requires, they place quantities in large pots and boil them until soft and pulpy, flavoring the porridge with fat, and making it savory with salt. The locust to an unprejudiced European is not unpalatable, closely resembling the shrimp in taste, though scarcely so nice. Greatly as the Mosuto appreciates stewed locust, he likes still better the green maize stewed and served with melted butter, and certainly not the most fastidious could desire a more delicious food.—Chambers' Journal.

Quality Folks.

Since bacteriologists have attributed the dissemination of yellow fever in Cuba, and of the deadly malaria in Italy, to the mosquito, that creature has emerged from the general host of insects into a place of individual importance.

For other reasons than these, however, an old Cornish woman lately pronounced upon the mosquito's aristocracy. She had asked her parish priest to read to her a letter from her son in Brazil. The writer's orthography was doubtful, but the vicar did his best to read phonetically.

"I cannot tell you how the muskitties torment me. They pursue me everywhere—even down the chimney!"

The fond mother's eyes grew large with mingled pride and amazement.

"Ezekiel must be rare handsome," she said, "for the maidens to be after him. And I reckon the Miss Kitties is quality folks, too!"—Youth's Companion.

No Italian Literature for Girls.

What is absolutely wanting to the completion of a girl's education in Italy is reading. There is no Italian literature for girls, and only the more fortunate, who have studied foreign languages, read at all. As for the poorer classes, this privilege is denied them because books are expensive and circulating libraries unknown. A young lady is allowed to read pretty much what English and American girls read of light literature, provided it is strictly moral.—Marchesa Theodoli, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Why He Kicked.

Milkman—Say, do you know where the family that used to live here have moved to?

Policeman—No. What do you want to know for?

"Because they have gone away without paying me $11 that they owed for milk."

"Well, I suppose there was about six dollars' worth of water in that bill, anyway."

"No, there wasn't; that's what me so blamed mad. They were new customers and I hadn't begun to water the milk."—Boston Herald.

Ecclesiastical Snuff.

Pope Leo XIII. is still addicted to the habit of taking snuff. It is not generally known that the snuff used by the head of the Roman Catholic church is made especially for his use in America. This particular kind is the highest priced made anywhere in the world, and before being packed is flavored with the costly attar of roses.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Card.

Mrs. Gushington—Come, I want you to meet the new literary light, Mr. Hobnail.

Miss Polkadot—How strange! I've never heard of him.

"Oh, no, it isn't! His picture doesn't appear in all the literary magazines until next month, but I've secured him in advance."—Brooklyn Life.

Social Obligation.

Little Elmer—Papa, why is it more blessed to give than to receive?

Prof. Broadhead—Because, my son, if you permit yourself to receive you are compelled to give about three times as much in return in order to properly express your gratitude.—Smart Set.

Florists' Lives Are Short.

"It is commonly supposed that the men who work in the mines or those whose occupations necessitate the breathing of poisonous fumes and gases are the shortest-lived," said a prominent physician. "This is a mistake, and it will surprise many to learn that the highest death rate is found among a class who breathe in the sweetest odors—florists. The reason is a simple one. The florist lives at once in torrid and the frigid zone. From a greenhouse atmosphere of nearly 100 degrees in the winter months he must step out into one that is nearly always below freezing point and often below zero. In summer he has changes to encounter, too, as in the spring and fall. By force of habit he grows careless and often works without his coat in the hot, artificial atmosphere, and this increases the danger to which he is exposed. Lung and throat and stomach diseases, as well as rheumatism, find in the florist the least resistance."—Chicago Chronicle.

Snails as Window Cleaners.

An old colored woman selling snails occasionally makes her appearance on South street, and sometimes she may be found along Front street or Second street, up in the district that used to be known as the Northern Liberties. She carries an old basket, in which the snails repose on freshly sprinkled leaves. These are not sold as food, but for cleaning the outside of window panes—an old practice still in vogue in Kensington. The snail is dampened and placed upon the glass, where it at once moves around and devours all insects and foreign matter, leaving the pane as bright and clear as crystal. There are old established business places in Kensington where the upper windows, when cleaned at all, are always cleaned by snails. There is also a fine market for snails among the owners of aquariums, as they keep the glass clean and bright.—Philadelphia Record.

Voice as a Revealer of Character.

There is no greater revealer of character than the human voice. It is the first thing that strikes us in a stranger, or in a new acquaintance. If it has that spontaneous ring of truth that no training can impart we recognize its appeal for confidence. Some voices have the jar of falsehood, and are as full of warning as the hiss of a serpent. The unconscious natural voice is to be regarded as the index of character. To speak promptly and positively is generally to act promptly and positively; to speak politely is to act politely, and to speak gruffly and rudely is a good way to make rude action easy.—Amelia E. Barr, in Ladies' Home Journal.

He Had to Meet All But One.

"Well," asked the professor, "did you attend our commencement and meet our graduates?"

"No," answered the editor, "I didn't attend, but I've met them all, I guess. How many young men did you graduate this year?"

"Two hundred and twelve," answered the professor.

"Then one of them must be ill," said the editor. "Up to date, 211 have been around to strike me for a job."—Indianapolis Sun.

Athletic Clergyman Needed.

An illustration of the growing demand for athletic clergymen was recently given by a country curate, who received notice to quit because he was not a good cricket player. Though unexceptional in other respects, his vicar declared that "what this parish really needs is a good, fast bowler, with a break from the off."—London Telegraph.

From Lords' to Commons.

As an instance of new energy in the government whips' room, it may be mentioned that in view of the divisions on the civil list bill the secretary of Lord's cricket ground was requested by wire to send back all unionist M. P.'s watching the play. The result was the dispatch of a dozen in fast hansoms.—East Anglican Times.

Unprofessional.

"I can't dramatize this cook book," said the playwright in disheartened tones.

"Pray, why not?" queried the great author, in surprise.

"Well," said the playwright, "these recipes which require carrots, eggs and other deadly stage missiles hardly seem to me to be professional."—Boston Post.

COL. MORGAN'S BAIT.

Both It and His Famous Retriever Dog Prove Unruly.

Famous Arkansas Genius Tries New Method of Fishing, But Will Hereafter Confine Himself to Hook and Line.

Ike Morgan, who lives down near Tulliver, Ark., does not believe in any new-fangled ways of fishing. Ike says that now and forever afterwards the good old way with rod and line is good enough for him. Ike keeps a hotel down near Tulliver and one day, says the Chicago Tribune, he was boasting to a lot of traveling men of a new and improved way he had of fishing. Ike said:

"A want to tell yo' gen'men that th' ole way yo' all hev' of fishin' is too slow. A fren' of mine told me if evah Ah got in a hurry for a good mess of fish thet th' only way to do would be to jest tek er stick of dinahmite an' throw it into the river an' blow the fish up, sah, and have enough fish fer the hotel for a week, sah."

The traveling men told Col. Morgan they did not think much of his scheme. They said the dynamite might make a good deal of noise and all that, but all the effect it would have on the fish would be to stun them perhaps momentarily and that then they would swim away. If any fish should happen to be caught right near the exploding dynamite the traveling men declared that that particular fish would be blown so high he wouldn't come down for two weeks, and when he did he would be so dead that he would not do for a nice fry. Col. Morgan became quite heated by the argument and declared he should experiment the very next morning and invited everybody to come down and watch his triumph.

That day Col. Morgan drove over to a mine near Tulliver and secured a big dynamite cartridge which was to be fired with a fuse. The next morning Col. Morgan, with the dynamite cartridge carefully carried in a basket and attended by his guests and most of the male population of Tulliver, went down to the river to make the test. Col. Morgan carefully ignited the fuse and then, straining every muscle, threw the cartridge with all his might into the river. Unfortunately he threw too far and the cartridge, instead of going into the water, fell on a sandbar in the center of the stream. In a moment there was a splash in the water. One of Col. Morgan's neighbors shrieked in alarm: "Ike, Ike, there goes that $100 retriever dog of your'n and he's a-going to retrieve thet ther ole cartridge."

Col. Morgan rushed down to the edge of the river and besought his faithful dog to return. But the retriever was a retriever that retrieved. He knew his business. He swam as hard as he could for the sandbar, and in spite of the frantic calls of the colonel and the citizens of Tulliver grabbed up the cartridge and swam back to lay it at his master's feet.

"Drop thet ca'tridge, yo' heah me," shrieked the colonel. "Drop thet, Majah, yo' wuthless fool dawg; drop thet yer ca'tridge."

But the retriever only interpreted the colonel's impassioned language to mean that he was to hurry back with that peculiar sputtering bird he carried in his mouth, and he only swam the harder.

"Drop, yo' fool dawg," shrieked the colonel. "Drop thet ca'tridge. Keep away, yo' heah me."

But the dog did not hear. At any rate he swam straight for the colonel. The traveling men turned and fled in wild dismay, followed by the citizens of Tulliver. The dog sprang out on to the bank and made for his master. Col. Morgan turned and ran with all the speed that a 250-pound man unused to running can muster. He went puffing up the hill like a locomotive, with his dog close at his heels.

"Drop it," yelled the colonel. "Drop it, sah; keep away; drop it; keep away; drop it, sah."

The colonel came to a rail fence and went over it in a manner that would have delighted a professional athlete. The dog gathered himself for a spring, and just then the cartridge exploded. Pieces of that dog were picked up for a half mile around.

"He was a good dawg," said Col. Morgan, sadly, "but he cud'nt discriminate between a burd and ca'tridge, sah, and it cost him his life. An' he cost a hundred dollars, and there wasn't his beat in the country. An' if any fool man tells me any moah new ways to catch fish, sah, I am a-goin' ter kill him; yes, sah, kill him where he stands, sah."

MARRIAGE A FAILURE.

Parson Had to Do the Family Cooking and Perform Other Love-Killing Duties.

Rev. William S. Brandon, of the Second Baptist church, Detroit, Mich., has commenced proceedings for a divorce against his wife, Ora Brandon, whom he married September 10, 1891, at Colorado Springs. He alleges cruelty; says she frequently locked him out of the house and threw a shoe at him when he tried to climb in the window.

He alleges in his bill that after Sunday morning sermon he was frequently compelled to wash the clothes and get dinner. He appeared as a witness the other morning, and said:

"I had no peace of mind, no happiness at home. I was in a constant state of nervousness, and I could not endure it. My life was made bitter.

FORCED TO DO THE WASHING.

"For six long years I prayed for guidance in the matter, and after her last outburst last Christmas I informed her that after six years of praying for Divine guidance I could no longer live under the same roof with her. Rather than do that I would give up the ministry."

After their marriage they went to live in Colorado Springs, the home of his bride's parents. About six months afterward, he said, he began to prepare for the ministry, and then his wife, he declares, began a course of brutal treatment which continued until they separated January 1.

In 1895 Rev. Mr. Brandon was called to a church in Ann Arbor, his wife following him soon afterward. Three years after he was called to Detroit, where he remained until his resignation a few months ago.

He would often come home and find himself locked out, he said to a Chicago American reporter, and once during a quarrel he averred his wife went to get the ax. Fearing violence, he locked her out. Mrs. Brandon, however, knocked the door in with the ax, and when Brandon restrained her from striking him she grabbed a bread knife, it is charged, and took several gouges out of the fingers of one hand.

PLUCKY LITTLE FELLOW.

Although Only a Newsboy He Had the Courage to Reprove a Thoughtless Citizen.

He wasn't very big, says the Denver Times, but he was a sturdy little chap with a face that bore the marks of much thinking and premature responsibility. I learned afterward that he was supporting a crippled mother and an invalid sister who had been left helpless in the world by the death of her father. He might have run away from home and evaded the responsibility, but he didn't think of it. He just sold papers.

At the loop on Fifteenth street a crowd was gathered, waiting for the evening cars. A ragged young girl was selling flowers at the Fifteenth street end of the waiting station when a man, rushing to catch his car, knocked her against the side of the building. Without stopping, probably not having noticed what he had done, he continued his rush, when the boy stepped in front of him, defiantly.

"Say, what do you want to knock a girl down for? Hit me; I'm big enough."

The man paused in surprise, and then glanced around. He saw the flower girl picking up her wares, and understood. Without a moment's hesitation he went back to her, gave her enough money to make her eyes sparkle with joy and said:

"I'm sorry, my dear, that I hurt you. I didn't see." Then, turning to the boy, he continued: "You said you were big enough, young man, but you're a great deal bigger than you think. Men like you will have a lot to do with keeping the old world in a condition of self-respect."

Then he caught his car and the boy and the girl stood there wondering what he meant.

A Professional Gymnast Has This to Say of the Efficacy of R·I·P·A·N·S.

"The Tabules are nowhere so popular as aboard ship, whether on the Atlantic or on the coast steamers. Last time we sailed from New York, Elton and myself took a fairly good stock with us, and when the passengers found out we had them there was a run on our stock in no time. We were more in demand than the ship's doctor. Ripans, you know, are an excellent thing for seasickness and the dizzy headaches from which some people suffer. And I'll tell you another thing—there's another sort of headache in which they act like a charm. When a fellow has a 'vacant date'—isn't working for a week, you understand—he is apt to do a little extra drinking. Now a headache coming from that cause is easily knocked out with Ripans. I've tried 'em, and I know."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S for agents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce st., New York.

KHAKI AND GRAY.

Smart Muslin and Pique Dresses Are Made of These Shades.

Khaki colored frocks are as much in vogue this year as they were last. The prettiest grass linens, with a thread of silk in them, come in this shade, and they undoubtedly make very smart dresses, especially when trimmed with oriental embroidery or narrow black velvet ribbons spotted in gold or silver.

KHAKI COLORED MUSLIN.

Khaki, however, is a very trying shade, and it should be relieved by a bow or two of pink or pale blue.

Gray muslins and linens are very much the style. The piques are trimmed with white embroidery, and the muslins are made up with faint touches of yellow to relieve the dull, smoke-like effect.

The flat hat is still seen everywhere, and in a bright geranium shade it will be a prime favorite for early fall wear. The hat of the moment is thoroughly charming, and fruits and blossoms trim it profusely. On the other hand, the typical shirt waist hat trimmed with a simple bow of ribbon or a huge rosette of spotted foulard is equally dear to the heart of the summer girl.

The illustration shows a gown of khaki colored silk muslin trimmed with bands of black chantilly lace. These lace insertions are so arranged that they form curves low in the front and high in the back. A wide ruffle gives fullness to the lower part of the skirt, and this in turn is edged with two narrower ruffles. The place where these ruffles join is concealed beneath the lines of insertion. The waist is made with a full blouse, a sailor collar edged with a ruffle and shirred elbow sleeves. The chemisette is of pale blue chiffon, and the narrow belt is of blue velvet ribbon.

The hat is a creation in ecru mousseline trimmed with autumn leaves and white roses.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FLANNEL SUITS.

Smart Tailors Are Reviving Them This Year.

Very practical and at the same time pretty outing suits are made of striped flannel. A gray flannel finely checked makes a stunning costume when fashioned into a loose, seamless bolero and a tailor made skirt with strapped seams and a circular flounce. A softening touch is afforded by a collar of heavy lace dyed gray or a deep coffee shade if contrast is preferred. The edges of these loose fitting boleros are often ornamented with scallops of heavy lace. Of course it goes without saying that the loose sleeves are made in the prevailing bishop style.

flannel with a narrow hairline of red. The jacket is made in the Russian blouse fashion, with a stitched belt of the same and a little pocket on the left side. It fastens with four mother of pearl buttons. The skirt is cut with a gored flounce, and the stripes run horizontally on this flounce, although they are perpendicular on the rest of the skirt. There is a pretty soft vest of red louisine.

The continental hat is of white straw trimmed with a scarf of white silk.

JULIC CHOLLET.

[Copyright, 1899, by F. Tennyson Neely.]

All this was explained to the senator. It was even suggested that there was room for Mrs. Garrison on the Louisiana, a safe old tub, if she was slow; but Mrs. Frank looked so pathetic and resigned when this arrangement was suggested that no one had the hardihood to actually dwell upon it, and the senator said it was a shame to think of it. With whom of her own sex could she associate on that long, hot voyage ahead of them? Why not transfer some of the Red Cross nurses to the Louisiana? Mrs. Garrison had no objections, but they had; and the surgeon in charge made prompt and vigorous protest. He knew Mrs. Frank, and she knew him and did not in the least despair. She still had a plan. There was a cozy dinner one evening—just the evening before the departure of the Queen, and the gallant captain of the ship, the veteran general, the quartermaster in charge of transportation, the member of the senate military committee, some charming girls—but none so charming as Mrs. Garrison—were of the party. There was some sentiment and much champagne, as a result of which, at one a. m., the big-hearted sea monarch aforementioned swore by the bones of his ancestors in the slimy grasp of Davy Jones that that sweet little woman shouldn't have to go a-begging for accommodations on his ship. If the general would condescend to move into his room, by thunder, he'd sleep up in his foul-weather den next the chart room, and Mrs. Garrison—God bless her!—could take the general's room, and be queen of the ship—queen of the Queen—queen of queens—by Jupiter! and here's her health with all honor! A soldier, of course, could be no less gallant than a sailor, especially as the captain's room was a bit better than the "Boudoir," and had an ice chest and contents that the veteran campaigner was bidden to consider his own. The agreement was clinched that very night before the party broke up; and little Mrs. Frank shed tears of gratitude upon the general's coat sleeve and threw kiss after kiss to the handsome sailor as she hung over the balusters of the broad veranda and waved them away in their swift-running cabs, and then danced off to her room and threw herself on the bed after a mad pirouette about the spacious apartment, and laughed and laughed until real tears trickled from her eyes, and then gave orders to be called at seven o'clock. She meant to be up and aboard that ship with all her luggage before sense and repentance could come with the morning sun—before either soldier or sailor could change his mind.

To the amaze of the women already aboard, to the grave annoyance of Col. Armstrong, to the joy of poor Billy Gray, and the mischievous merriment of several youngsters on the commissioned list, Mrs. Frank Garrison, the latest arrival, became sole occupant of the finest room on the ship; and it was a bower of lilies and tropical fruit and flowers the breezy day she sailed away from the bay of Honolulu.

No time need be wasted in telling the effect of this "assignment to quarters." Prolific a source of squabble as is the custom ashore it becomes intensified afloat, and, when coupled with it came a shaking up and rearrangement of seats at table, all hope of harmony vanished on the instant. The two brave young army girls still retained their seats at the captain's table; but two most estimable young women, Red Cross nurses, were dropped therefrom and transferred to that of the second officer on the port side, much to the comfort of a rather large percentage of their sisterhood who had regarded their previous elevation with feelings of not unmixed gratification. Then officers who had been seated with the general's staff had to vacate in favor of Mrs. Frank and Dr. Prober and Lieut. Billy Gray, whose father and the chief were long-time chums, and the Red Cross nurses who had been at the first officer's table fell back to that of the third. It was every bit as good as the other, but it didn't sound so, and they couldn't see it; and there were faces sour as the product of the ship's baker when that evening all hands went down to dinner, and the silence maintained, or the ominously subdued tone of the talk, at the other tables was in marked contrast with the hilarity that prevailed where sat the gray-haired, ruddy-cheeked old chief and the laughing coterie that listened to the fun that fell from the lips of Witchie Garrison. Armstrong, silent and somber, at the captain's right, looking forward from time to time, saw only one face at the general's table that was not lighted up with merriment; it was the face of the boy he envied, if envy of this kind ever entered into his heart, and he wondered as he looked at Billy's curly head what could have come over that glad young life to leave so deep a shadow on his handsome face.

One night, just one week later, Armstrong's eyes were opened. More than once in the meanwhile he had invited the young officer's confidence, and Billy, who three months earlier had been all gratitude and frankness, protested there was nothing on his mind. He had been very ill, that was all. As to

He knew Gray's voice at once.

Canker's charges they were simply rot. He hadn't the faintest inkling what had become of the purloined letters any more than he had of the whereabouts of his Delta Sig friend, young Morton, now officially proclaimed a deserter. But Armstrong heard more tales of Witchie's devotions to him in his illness, and the slow convalescence that ensued, noted how the boy's eyes followed her about the deck, and how many a time he would seek her side, even when other men were reading, walking or chatting with her. Armstrong looked with wonderment that was close allied to incredulity and pain. Was it possible that this blithe lad, who had won such a warm interest in the heart of such a girl as Amy Lawrence, could be forgetful of her, faithless to her, and fascinated now by this selfish and shallow butterfly? It was incredible!

But was it? The days had grown hotter, the nights closer, and the air between decks was stifling when the sea rolled high and closed the ports. Officers had taken to snoozing up on deck in steamer chairs. By an unwritten law the port side of the promenade deck was given up to them after 11 at night; but the women folk had the run of the starboard side at any hour when the crew were not washing down decks. Armstrong had been far forward about two o'clock one breathless night to see for himself the condition of things in the hospital under the forecastle. The main deck was crowded with sleeping forms of soldiers who found it impossible to stand the heat below; so on his return, instead of continuing along the gangway, he decided to climb the iron ladder from the main to the promenade deck. It would land him at the forward end of the starboard side. There he could smoke a cigar in peace and quiet. It was high time everybody was asleep.

But as his head and eyes reached the level of the deck he became suddenly aware of a couple huddled close together in the shelter of a canvas screen, and under the steps leading aloft to the bridge. He knew Gray's voice at once, and Gray was pleading. He knew her tones of old, and she was imperative, and listening with obvious impatience, for, almost at the instant of his arrival she spoke, low, yet distinctly: "Do as I say; do as I beg you when we reach Manila, and then come—and see how I can reward."

CHAPTER XV.

Manila at last! Queen city of the archipelago, and Manila again besieged! The loveliest of the winter months was come. The Luneta and the Paseo de Santa Lucia, close to the sparkling waters, were gay every evening with the music of the regimental bands and thronged with the carriages of old-time residents and their new and not too welcome visitors. Spanish dames and damsels, invisible at other hours, drove or strolled along the roadway to enjoy the cool breezes that swept in from the beautiful bay and take wistful peeps at the dainty toilets of the American belles now arriving by every boat from Hong-Kong. All the Castilian disdain they might look and possibly feel toward the soldiery of Uncle Sam gave place to liveliest interest and curiosity when the wives and daughters of his soldiers appeared upon the scene; and there was one carriage about which, whenever it stopped, a little swarm of officers gathered and toward which at any time all eyes were directed—that of the White Sisters. Within the old walled city and in the crowded districts of Bimondo, Quiapo and San Miguel north of the Pasig, and again in Paco and Ermita to the south, strong regiments were stationed in readiness to suppress the first sign of the outbreak so confidently predicted by the bureau of military intelligence. In a great semicircle of over 20 miles, girdling the city north, east and south, the outposts and sentries of the two divisions kept watchful eyes upon the insurgent forces surrounding them. Aguinaldo and his cabinet at Malolos to the north had all but declared war upon the obstinate possessors of the city and had utterly forbidden their leaving the lines of Manila and seeking to penetrate those broader fields and roads and villages without. Still hugging to its breast the delusion that a semi-Malaysian race could be appeased by show of philanthropy, the government at Washington decreed that, despite their throwing up earthworks against and training guns on the American positions, the enemy should be treated as though they never could or would be hostile, and the privileges denied by them to American troops were by the American troops accorded to them. Coming and going at will through our lines, they studied our force, our arms, equipment, numbers, supplies, methods; and long before the Christmas bells had changed their greeting to that universal feast day, and the boom of cannon ushered in the new year, all doubt of the hostile sentiments of the insurgent leaders had vanished. Already there had been ominous clashes at the front; and with every day the demeanor of the Philippine officers and men became more and more insolent and defiant. Ceaseless vigilance and self-control were enjoined upon the soldiers of the United States, nearly all stalwart volunteers from the far west, and while officers of the staff and of the half-dozen regiments quartered within the city were privileged each day to stroll or drive upon the Luneta, there were others that never knew an hour away from the line of the outposts and their supports. Such was the case with Stewart's regiment far out toward the waterworks at the east. Such was the case with the Primeval Blades on the other side of the Pasig, lining the banks of the crooked estuary that formed the Rubicon we were forbidden to cross. Such was the case with Canker and the —teenth in the dense bamboo thicket to the south, and so it happened that at first Armstrong and Billy Gray saw nothing of each other, and but little of the White Sisters, probably a fortunate thing for all.

The Correct System of Raising Children

Sad Awakening of a Lady Who Knew All About It, or Rather Thought She Knew

Now, behold, there came a time in the land when all the women belonged unto clubs, writes Josh Wink in the Baltimore American.

And every club was devoted unto the solving of problems which were better tackled single-handed, or might as well have been left alone in the first place.

And great was the sale of encyclopedias, for all the women had to write papers about things of which they had never heard.

Verily, they asked more questions than a conundrum social.

Now, it came to pass that certain of the women of the land said one to another:

"Let us have a mothers' convention."

And the others answered with one voice: "Won't that be cute? Let's."

And it was so.

Now, when they had gathered in the place of the convention there arose one among them with a paper.

And the heading of the paper was: "The Only Real Tip on the Correct Mode of Raising Children."

And the woman who had the paper was a maiden of uncertain age, if you took her word for it.

But, verily, if you took a look at her there was neither uncertainty nor doubt in thy mind.

And she read from the paper, and told them all about it, even all.

So that, when she had finished, one among them rose up and said:

"Behold, there is nothing more to be said or to be written. Let us go hence and go to the mark-down sales and the places of the soda fountains."

So they all departed, and the woman who had read the paper awoke the next morning to find her picture in the dailies.

WITH A GAD IN HER HAND.

For she had sent it unto the men that are called editors.

Now, it also came to pass that this woman had a sister, who was married, and who furthermore had four children.

And the married one was going away for a journey and would fain leave the children at home.

So she called unto her maiden sister, saying:

"If it seemeth fair in thy sight, it would be real nice of you to take care of the little darlings while I am away."

And the sister smiled a glad smile and vowed that she would be happy to do it.

And when she took charge of the children she took also with her the paper that she had read.

Behold, in two minutes the first paragraph thereof was rendered null and void.

For the children yielded not unto her singing, nor would they sit themselves still and listen unto the stories which she had advised being told unto them.

When she sought to inculcate good principles by means of a tale of noble actions, she was asked to "Cut it out."

When she suggested that the children play the game that is called "Ring Around a Rosey," she was asked to go back to the woods.

When she sought to tempt them with "Puss in the Corner" she was urged to get an alarm clock and come to herself, for she was in an apparent slumber.

When she tried moral suasion upon them they continued to eat from the jam jar and to wipe their fingers upon the lace curtains.

When she endeavored to get them to desist from their ways, which she called "naughty," they beseeched her to go and get a reputation.

And she took the paper that she had read unto the convention and tore it into fragments.

And threw the fragments into the street.

And she went out into the yard and selected some long, vigorous switches from a peach tree which grew there.

Behold, when the mother returned unto her home she found her children eating from off the mantelpiece and behaving with much obedience.

While the maiden aunt sat in the midst of them with a gad in her hand and a grim look in her eyes.

Now, there is a large and valuable moral attached unto this tale, which the same is:

It Is Always Easy to Raise Other People's Children, Until You Try to Do the Trick.

HYPNOTIZED HIMSELF.

Seventeen-Year-Old Boy Exerts Influence Over Himself Which Is Beyond His Control.

Self-hypnotized while looking into the eyes of his reflection in a mirror, William J. Spinney, of Fitchburg, Mass., is beyond his own control. He is in a state where medicine will not affect him in producing much-needed sleep, and the power of the ordinary hypnotist to "suggest" things to him will not avail. He has been for days in a condition where he obeys his own "suggestions," and these have been always to set himself new tasks. Just where it will end no one can say, though his family hope that when his condition has worn upon him sufficiently he will say to himself: "Lie down and recover your normal faculties."

"When he does that," says an elder brother, "William will come to himself, and he is the only person who can cause that result."

Spinney is only 17 years old, but he has been interested in hypnotism for a long time. A traveling operator worked on him for a headache a few weeks ago and cured the ailment. Immediately afterward Spinney exerted the influence on some of his companions, and that night, believing that he might be able to hypnotize himself, he stood before a full-length mirror, and succeeded.

When under his own influence he is said to have assured himself that he could bend backward to the floor and not be injured, and he did so. Then he threw himself backward on his head and neck, and did not seem to suffer from the heavy fall.

In the night he disappeared, and toward morning was brought home suffering from a badly cut forefinger. He had been found in the dead of night at Cleghorn, two miles away. He had broken a window pane in a residence, and was sawing his finger across the ragged glass to prove that it could not hurt him. In explanation he insisted that he was Jesus Christ.

This was a week ago. Nearly a month ago he assured himself that he need not sleep, and since that time he has not closed his eyes. Morphine, injected with a view to forcing him to rest, is said to have nearly killed him. He eats little, and is never still a moment.

Physicians are inclined to believe the boy is crazy. His brother, who is a student of hypnotism, insists that the boy is only under his own spell, and that he will come out of it in time.

Made Insane by Noise.

At the age of 13 Mrs. Helen Mannwarren, of Binghamton, N. Y., was married. Now, at the age of 36, she has 14 children, and they are so noisy that they drove the mother insane.

M. D. Can't Treat Animals.

A regular physician has no right to practice as a horse doctor. This is the decision of Judge W. G. Cochran, of Arcola, Ill.

JOSH BILLINGS SAYS:

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

There was a decided contrast in the size of the attendance at the policemen's base ball game played in this city and that played in Elizabeth. The crowd at Elizabeth was not a third as large as it was in this city.

There is some talk of a third game being played between the police force nines of this city and Elizabeth. Both the games played have been captured by Elizabeth, the result of the first contest being, 19 to 14 and the second being 13 to 10. It seems that some of the Elizabeth people want a third contest, not so much for the game itself but for the good time which attends the affair.

The heavy rain of Saturday interfered with the plans of both local ball teams. The St. Mary's were scheduled to go to Brooklyn and cross bats with the Prospect Park Y. M. C. A., but on account of the storm, the game was called off. The Hope chapel nine left for Asbury Park early in the morning, intending to play a team at that place in the afternoon. They spent the day at the shore but were unable to play.

GOLF.

So far as known the only event at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Labor Day will be be play for the Holiday cup. No doubt there will be a large field of players out for play.

No Permit For Boxing Match.

A recent request from Conrad Knoth, of North avenue, to hold a boxing tournament in this city, met with a refusal from Mayor Jenkins. In a communication sent to Knoth, in regard to the matter, Mayor Jenkins states that in his belief, a boxing or sparring match in Plainfield would have a demoralizing effect upon young men. Being desirous, as mayor of the city, to allow only such entertainments as would elevate its morals, he refused to grant Mr. Knoth's request.

Death of Walter Sellers.

Grand Foreman V. W. Nash, of the A. O. U. W., received a letter this morning informing him of the sudden death of Walter Sellers, former chairman of the finance committee of the A. O. U. W. Mr. Sellers died at his home in Camden, Saturday, of heart failure. He has many friends in Plainfield who will regret his demise.

Fined for Drunkenness.

Charley Campbell, of the borough, came into the city last night, for the purpose of having a little "fun" with the boys. He caused a disturbance while in a drunken condition at the trolley waiting station. He was gathered in by Patrolman Flynn and this morning Mayor Jenkins thought Charley's fun was worth a $3 fine.

HOTEL NETHERWOOD DOINGS.

DEATH OF GENERAL WILLIAMS AT RESORT CASTS GLOOM.

Sacred Concert Given Last Evening Enjoyed By Many—New Guests Sojourning There.

When the customary festivities at the Hotel Netherwood were at their height Saturday evening, the sad news of the unexpected death of General Williams, one of the guests at the resort, was brought from the death chamber. Immediately the gaiety in the ballroom ceased, and the strains of the music of the Orpheus Club orchestra terminated. The scene was transformed from one of merriment to gloom. The General and his daughters, who have resided at the resort for the past two seasons, were held in high esteem by the guests, and not until long after the body of the distinguished officer was taken to Washington, D. C., by the daughters, was there much sign of life about the hostelry.

Last evening a sacred concert was given which was particularly edifying. The orchestra, under the direction of William Stanton, rendered a number of sacred and classical selections, interspersed with which were a few popular airs. Among the number were the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, Wagner; "Persiflage," Francis; Intermezzo, "Russe," Franke; "Traumeri" and "Am Comni," Schumann; "I Would That My Love," Mendelssohn, and "Gondeliere," Nevice. A cornet solo, "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," and a violin solo, "Serenade," were also among the selections.

The registery shows that the following guests have augmented the number already sojourning at the resort: Miss Helene G. Warman, Charlotte M. Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. V. Hybrutte, Miss Norton, Miss Eva Coventry, Miss E. Grace Coventry, Leroy Coventry, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Lutkins, Mr. and Mrs. William Pistor, Quincy Ward Boese, Mrs. J. K. Bogardus, Miss Bogardus, Miss de Lathenitrie, Ross Taylor, E. Hallock, T. C. Jones, F. Lewis, E. L. Allen and F. P. Wharton, of New York; Mrs. J. H. MacMannus, Miss MacMannus and B. Lefferts, of Brooklyn; Miss Annette M. Eckert, of Orange; Miss Gertrude M. Smith, of Somerville; Mrs. E. M. Anderson, Miss Pauline Anderson and Mrs. A. Paul, of Boston, and H. H. Kalish, of San Francisco, Cal.

Trolley Car Jumps Track.

A trolley car on the Somerset street line jumped the track yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, opposite Martin's blacksmith shop. The car was going toward the mountains and left the track entirely. It struck the curb with considerable force. One man, standing on the rear platform, became excited and jumped off. He rolled a considerable distance in the street, but was uninjured.

CAUSE OF DEATH.

Examination of Body of Francis S. Runyon Revealed That Death Was Due to Kidney Trouble.

With the consent of the relatives an autopsy was held yesterday afternoon by Dr. Zeglio, Dr. W. H. Murray, Dr. J. B. Probasco and Dr. Norman L. Probasco for the purpose of ascertaining in detail the cause of death of Francis S. Runyon.

The examination proved that Mr. Runyon had kidney trouble in a severe form. One of the kidneys was practically out of use, and the other one was badly diseased. This was considered the direct cause of death, but in addition to this trouble, four distinct partial kinks or obstructions were found in the intestines, which contributed in making the kidney trouble more serious.

They extended far up into the intestines and no doubt would have caused serious trouble sooner or later had not the other trouble been present. The kidney trouble was probably of long duration considering the condition of these parts, and the fact that Mr. Runyon had not been well for a year or more and had been subject to stomach trouble, proves this.

The physicians are fully convinced that no matter what was or was not done, Mr. Runyon's death would have resulted in a short time. The operation had nothing to do with his death. That was successful and not the slightest inflamation followed. All that could be, was done to save life, but the peculiar conditions baffled the medical and surgical skill of physicians.

Malaga Grapes.

Malaga is supposed to be the home of Malaga grapes, but in that particular it is largely a misnomer. Malaga grapes used to flourish in that vicinity many years ago, but there was a blight that killed off most of the vines, and that special brand of fruit is now chiefly grown elsewhere in Spain.—N. Y. Sun.

PROGRESS IN LUZON.

Substance of Gen. MacArthur's Report Is Encouraging.

Greater Part of the Philippine Archipelago He Declares to Be Under Civil Home Rule and Thoroughly Pacified.

Gen. MacArthur's report on retiring from command in the Philippines is a record of advancement all along the line. He found guerrilla warfare still raging in many districts. He leaves only a few bands in the hills, the greater part of the archipelago under civil home rule, and at peace, with industry and education advancing rapidly.

Gen. MacArthur rightly regards Funston's capture of Aguinaldo as the most important event of his administration. "The capture," he says, "dispelled the growing tendency to idealize Aguinaldo's personality, which millions of natives believed ultimately would insure success for the rebellion." Aguinaldo at large and rarely visible was a demigod to the superstitious natives. Brought within constant sight and touch, he has shrunk to his normal and commonplace dimensions.

Gen. MacArthur approves Col. E. H. Crowder's plan for reforming the Philippine currency upon the gold standard. This proposes as the standard of value a gold peso of 12.9 grains, just half the value of the American gold dollar, to be coined in convenient multiples, and a subsidiary coinage of subdivisions of the peso, these coins to be exchangeable for American at two pesos for $1. This is practically the plan successfully followed by Japan in changing from the silver to the gold standard. Whether it would be better than the plan used in reforming the Porto Rican currency need not now be discussed.

The opinion of so many European observers, that the Filipino will never make a steady worker, is not shared by Gen. MacArthur. "The Filipino," he says, "will work when properly paid, and the Chinese are not necessary, as has been asserted." He advises "the gradual decrease of the Chinese now in the islands," and evidently favors the application of our exclusion law. Thus the British doctrine that the islands will never amount to anything industrially unless the Chinese be allowed to overrun them is overthrown by American experience, just as many other British "colonial precedents" are being overthrown.

GEN. ARTHUR MACARTHUR.
(Until Recently American Commander in the Philippines.)

The much-debated "friar question," Gen. MacArthur believes, will easily be settled by the straightforward application of our principle of the absolute separation of state and church. "Properly speaking and in broad scope," he says, "there is no church question." Common-sense Americans have long held Gen. MacArthur's evident view. That is, to give the friars exactly the same protection given others, and let the people have such priests as they wish. Then let controversies over property be settled by the courts in the ordinary way.

"To doubt the wisdom of the United States' remaining in the islands," says Gen. MacArthur, in conclusion, "is to doubt the stability of republican institutions, and amounts to a declaration that a nation thus governed is incapable of successfully resisting strains that arise naturally from its own freedom and productive energy." That is why the United States stays in the Philippines and will there remain. Their future will depend chiefly on the fitness of the natives for self-government, and to some extent on the construction of our constitution by the supreme court.

Mammoth Found in Siberia.

The St. Petersburg Academy of Science has received a telegram from the leader of the expedition which is shortly to bring the mammoth found in Siberia to St. Petersburg. The telegram, which is dispatched from Yakutsk, reports that the expedition was at that place on June 14. It is proceeding by steamer up the river, and will then journey overland to Kolymsk, which is 1,000 versts off, and where it expects to arrive in two and a half months. The mammoth found is unique of its kind. Its hair, skin and flesh are entirely preserved and there are remains of undigested food in its stomach.

The members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., who were the guests of Clinton Commandery, No. 4 K. T., of Brooklyn, Saturday, on a sail up the Hudson and a Rhode Island clambake at College Point, had a delightful time. It rained part of the time while the knights were out, but not enought to mar the pleasures of the trip. At College Point a bountiful collation was served. It was about 10 o'clock when the Plainfield Knights reached home, all thoroughly pleased with their day's outing.

REINHART STILL HOLDS THE RECORD

Made Score of 74 on July 16 And it Has Not Been Beaten.

PLAYED ON HILLSIDE COURSE

W. L. GLENNEY ALSO PLAYED A REMARKABLE GAME.

Reinhart Has Been Devoting Much Spare Time to Golf And Hopes to Lower The Score Before End of The Season.

Still further attempts have been made to lower the record for the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course, and Frank O Reinhart, who, early in the season, made the eighteen holes in 75, still holds the record for the course, having made a 74 on July 16. As in the former play, Reinhart followed bogey with remarkable closeness. He has been devoting a great deal of his spare time this season to golf and his playing shows that he is entitled to first honors. His previous score of 75 was equaled August 15 by W. L. Glenney, who also played a remarkable game. Reinhart hopes to get below 74, and his steady playing is likely to bring him still further honors soon.

As an evidence of his superior playing July 16, a comparison of his score with bogey, shows that going out he was two below bogey at the end of the first nine holes. On the seventh and ninth holes he was one better than bogey, finishing with a thirty-eight. Coming in he was one behind bogey making the last nine holes in thirty-eight. On the eleventh hole bogey beat him one, while he beat bogey on the twelfth hole, making matters even. Reinhart's card, as compared with bogey, follows:

F. O Reinhart-out..4 4 4 4 5 3 4 4 4

When W. L Glenney contested against bogey August 15 he succeeded in playing even with the general on the first nine holes, but on the last nine holes he finished even with bogey, although on the tenth hole he was beaten one. He made up for this on the twelfth and thirteenth holes by beating bogey one. On the fifteenth hole bogey again beat Glenney one, but the latter succeeded in coming out even. His card, together with that of bogey, follows:

Mr. Brokaw had the ligaments of his left arm badly sprained and he had to be attended to by Dr. Clawson. The wagon was partially wrecked and the horse was somewhat cut.

UNIQUE IDEAS OF MR. HALL.

ORIGINAL METHODS TO PROMOTE INTEREST IN SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

Gives Away Soda Water Checks—The Teachers Enjoy Themselves.

George E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday school, has devoted much time this summer to ways and means of maintaining a large attendance at the sessions of the school. Various programmes of much interest have been arranged and they have attracted a large number of people. There is no doubt as to the success of the effort put forth by Mr. Hall, who is a person of many original ideas.

Last Sunday morning the souvenirs given by the superintendent to the teachers of the school were checks entitling the holder to a glass of ice cream soda. Last evening over thirty young people of the Sunday-school, together with the superintendent, met at the home of Mrs. Hawkins, La Grande avenue, and proceeded in a body to Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street, where they redeemed their checks. The soda was very refreshing, and all thoroughly appreciated the courtesy extended by the superintendent.

The company afterward returned to Mrs. Hawkins' home and spent the remainder of the evening with games and music. At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, having enjoyed a delightful time.

NO MEETING OF HOSPITAL BOARD.

Owing to Absence of a Quorum no Business Was Transacted.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital had a regular meeting scheduled for last evening, but owing to the fact that only three members put in an appearance, no meeting was held. It was expected that some action might be taken regarding the new hospital. Matters, however, are not in such shape that any action can be taken at present. It was also expected that Dr. Norman L. Probasco, who recently began practice in Plainfield with his father, Dr. J. B. Probasco, would be appointed pathologist at the hospital. This appointment will probably be made at the next meeting.

FRESH AIR CAMP MEETING.

C. E. Society of Park Avenue Baptist Church to Hold Service at Camp Woolfe.

A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The former visited friends in Brooklyn and other places, while Lunger rusticated among the peach orchards of Hunterdon county. Rev. Mr. Shott to Speak.

Rev. Gideon M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, will lead the combined mid-week and Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow evening. The subject will be "Spiritual Acquaintance," references, Job 22: 21-23. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

COMPETED FOR HONORS FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP

W. R. Faber and Henry C. Wells Were the Two Contestants at Park Club.

TRAVERSED COURSE TWICE.

FABER TIE WITH FOUR OTHERS FOR SEVENTH PLACE.

Wells Now in Ninth Place—On Lone Point Lost as There is No One to Claim It—The Standing for the Cup.

The five members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club were not the only ones to engage in play last Saturday when the rain was falling in torrents. At the Park Golf Club course there were two members who traversed the course twice and competed for honors for the President's cup. W. R. Faber and Henry C. Wells were the two contestants, and while their scores were not anything to brag of, they succeeded in improving their positions in the standing for the cup.

The fact that their scores were high was due in a large measure to the terrible condition of the course. The grounds were soaked, while at many places there were miniature lakes that were not easily overcome. Faber by finishing first with a net score of 120, receives three points, which makes him tie with four others for seventh position. Wells made a net score of 140. He receives two points, with a total of four points, and is now in ninth place. The one lone point is lost as their is no one to claim it.

The standing for the cup is now as follows:

Charles A. Reed	9
H. D. Hibbard	8
Joseph H. Howell	6
H. G. Phillips	6
George T. Rogers	5½
Allan B. Laing	5½
Charles W. McCutchen	5
Morgan T. Townsend	5
Charles B. Morse	5
William A. Townsend	5
William R. Faber	5
S. St. John McCutchen	4½
Henry C. Wells	4
James B. Simpson	3
Joseph L. Myers	3
Arthur H. Serrell	2½
William J. Buttfield	2
Lesley W. Hallock	2
Samuel Townsend	2
Frank Rogers	2
Fred P. Taylor	1
Henry Studdiford	1
W. de la B. Anderson	½
Herbert S. Rogers	½

	G.	H.	N
William R. Faber	139	9	120

QUESTION RIGHT TO OFFICE.

Two Writs into Proceedings Instituted to Oust Mayor of Orange.

(Special to the Daily Press.)

Newark, August 27.—The counsel for the National Electric Light, Heat and Power Company, of Orange, has asked Chief Justice Depue, of the Supreme Court, for a rule to show cause why a writ of quo warranto should not issue to test the right of Mayor John Seymour, of Orange, to hold office.

The contention made by the counsel for the company is that the act under which Mayor Seymour holds office has been declared to be unconstitutional. Chief Justice Depue declared that he has no power to grant the rule asked for, but that the matter will be referred to the attorney-general of the State.

IN THE BOROUGH SCHOOLS.

No Meeting of Board Held Because Too Many Members Were Away.

The Borough Board of Education did not hold a meeting last night, as there was not a sufficient number of members present. However, there was no special business, and will not be until Superintendent Homer J. Wightman returns from his vacation.

The borough schools will reopen Tuesday, September 10. S. St. John McCutchen, president of the Board, returned home from his summer outing to attend the meeting, but his trip was in vain.

Trip to the Park.

But one more day and the last excursion to Asbury Park from Plainfield, this season, takes place. It is that of the Wesley chapel and it is intended to make it one of the most successful which has yet been conducted. Eight hours will be allowed for enjoyment at the shore, the train leaving this city at 8 o'clock in the morning and returning from the beach at 6 o'clock in the evening.

—Street Commissioner Gavett's men are now engaged in work of repairing on Hillside avenue.

SITES ARE DESIRED FOR INDUSTRIES.

Communications Received Daily From Companies Looking For Locations.

SOME NEW PLANTS LIKELY.

NEW YORK TYPEWRITER FIRM MAY DECIDE TO COME HERE.

Taylor Iron Works Company Are Hunting New Site—All Modern Conveniences to Be Found in Plainfield.

Plainfield's desirability as a manufacturing center still continues to be spread broadcast and hardly a day passes but what H. C. Runyon, the secretary of the Board of Trade, received a communication from companies wishing to secure a desirable site for building purposes. Most of them are from very large concerns and there is a possibility of the number of Plainfield's factories being increased within a very short time.

The latest request for facts in regard to this city is from a typewriting concern in New York, which controls a patent machine for printing books. The machine is already being manufactured, but its promoters wish to increase the output, and with that object in view desire to secure larger quarters. A desirable site has already been suggested, and the officers of the company have promised to send a representative to this city to make investigations. If everything is found satisfactory, it is not at all unlikely that the ground will be purchased, as the company has the necessary capital to commence building operations at once.

It is a well-known fact that the relations between the Taylor Iron Works Company, of High Bridge, and the officials of that town have become somewhat strained of late over the question of school appropriations and there is a possibility of the company removing its plant. For some time past officials have been investigating the factory and school facilities of cities along the line of the Central Railroad and Plainfield has been carefully considered. As one of Mr. Taylor's concerns is already located here, the Hibbard-Rodman Ely Works, it is good evidence that the company is favorably impressed with its advantages.

The trouble at High Bridge has been with the refusal of the town officials to provide higher educational advantages, which the workmen demand. Several times the Taylor company has agitated an increased appropriation for school purposes, but each time it has been voted down by the rural element which claims the present accommodations to be ample.

As the modern skilled mechanic wishes to give his children a good education he will generally remain at the place where it is to be had, otherwise they will remove to larger cities. For this reason, the Taylor company often loses some of its best employes and they wish to obviate the trouble. Once located in Plainfield, the difficulty would be permanently remedied in addition to having the plant situated in one of the most conveniently located cities in the State.

Change of Date.

The testimonial dance to be given by the guests of the Hotel Netherwood to the orchestra at that popular resort, will be held Saturday evening, September 7, and not this week as previously announced.

CAPTURE OF WIRE THIEVES BY LOCAL POLICEMEN

Three of the Gang Alleged to Have Stolen Copper Wire at Lincoln Behind Bars.

STILL HUNT OF CHIEF KIELY

MIDDLESEX COUNTY AUTHORITIES HAVE SOLE JURISDICTION.

Patrolman Higgins Arrests Two of the Men, and He and Patrolman McCarthy Land a Third.

After one week's detective work, starting practically without a clue, Chief Kiely placed behind the bars at police headquarters last evening three of the gang which, he alleges, stripped 400 pounds of copper wire from the poles of the Central Electric Company at Lincoln Sunday night, August 18.

The men describe themselves as Michael Meyer, of Newark, Lawrence Ayers, of West New York, and John Fream, of Westfield. Two more of the alleged thieves are said to be in this vicinity, and the police entertain hopes of capturing them within a short time.

Ever since the theft took place Chief Kiely has received information from various sources, which led him to believe the men were hanging about this city. He had positive proof of this when, the Monday following the theft, half of the wire was recovered from a car on the Central Railroad, where it had been placed by the men at Fanwood. At the same time a young lad named Stodowiske, of Jersey City, was arrested on suspicion of being a member of the gang. He afterwards established his innocence before Justice Nash and was subsequently released.

All yesterday morning Chief Kiely and Patrolmen McCarthy and Higgins searched about the East End, certain rumors indicating that the men were in that vicinity. They were unable to catch them, but a Netherwood junkman, who was visited, admitted that he had warned the men away when they had approached him in regard to selling some of the wire.

The junkman furnished a minute description of the three culprits and from this Chief Kiely recognized them as habitues of the tramps rendezvous at the Fanwood cut. Thinking they would return there in the evening he despatched Patrolman Higgins to the spot. The officer had been there but a short time when Meyer and Ayers put in an appearance and were placed under arrest. They made no resistance.

Later in the evening, Patrolman Higgins and McCarthy went to Westfield and, from the description furnished, arrested Fream. He is well-known along the Central Railroad and is familiarly called "Dunn." While as yet none of the men have been arraigned, Chief Kiely asserts that they are the men who committed the theft. They will be turned over to the Middlesex authorities for trial, the crime taking place outside of this jurisdiction. All of the stolen wire has been recovered and returned to the company.

DIRECTORS TAKE ACTION.

DIRECTORS OF THE BANK PASS RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

To Attend Mr. Runyon's Funeral in a Body—President J. Wesley Johnson Summoned Home.

Those of the directors of the First National Bank, who are in the city, held a meeting this morning at the bank and appointed a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. Wm. M. Stillman, N. B. Smalley and J. A. Smith, to draft suitable resolutions concerning the death of Francis S. Runyon, late cashier. The resolutions were drawn by the committee before noon today. It was announced that the directors would attend the funeral services tomorrow afternoon in a body and that they would act as honorary pall-bearers.

Two telegrams have been sent to J. Wesley Johnson, president of the bank, who is in the Thousand Islands, notifying him of Mr. Runyon's death. Although there has been no response, it is expected that Mr. Johnson will return home in time for the funeral. At the meetng this morning no action was taken regarding changes in the bank employes, and none is likely to be taken until a full board meeting can be held.

There is no necessity for an immediate change and the directors are willing to let matters remain as they are at present. W. R. Codington, a director, is out of town, and J. Frank Hubbard, another official, is obliged to leave the city today. It is likely that there will be at least five of the eight directors present at the funeral.

LAND FOR RAILROAD.

Jersey Central Has Track Owned by Senator Wetmore Condemned.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 27—For use in connection with its new car shops at Elizabethport, the Central Railroad is endeavoring to obtain a tract of land at that place, said to be owned by Senator Wetmore, of Rhode Island. A commission appointed by the court to fix the value and condemn the tract completed its labors yesterday.

The commissioners fixed the price at $15,000. The tract comprises about six acres. The railroad company offered $12,000 for the property, but Senator Wetmore demanded $21,000.

It came out in the testimony before the commissioners that Senator Wetmore owns 125 acres of land in Elizabeth, yet through some oversight has only been assessed for twenty-five acres. Next year his tax bill will be larger than it has been in the past. The court, it is believed, will ratify the findings of the commission, whose report was filed yesterday afternoon with the county clerk.

CEILING FELL.

Tons of Concrete Fall in New Court House at Paterson, Injuring Two Workmen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Paterson, August 27—The ceiling of the court room of the new courthouse at this place fell with a crash yesterday, bringing down tons of concrete. Four men who were working on it at the time narrowly escaped death. Two of the workmen, whose homes are in New York, were injured. One had an arm broken and was hurt internally.

The ceiling was almost completed. The men were filling up the last spaces with concrete when the whole ceiling, which was then the floor for the men, took a plunge. Below heavy timbers and temporary scaffolding gave the next floor strength to withstand the tremendous weight. The ceiling that fell was suspended to the roof by rods five-eights of an inch thick. The ends of these were broken off.

DROWNED WHILE FISHING.

Son of a Widow Loses His Life at Elizabeth Although a Good Swimmer.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 27—While fishing for eels at this place, Sunday evening, Dennis Sheehan, a painter by trade, fell off a coal wharf and was drowned. Sheehan was reputed to be a good swimmer, but the current was too strong for him. A companion threw a rope to him, but it was of no avail. The dead man left a widowed mother.

NEW JERSEY'S DAY AT THE EXPOSITION

Arrangements to Make the Occasion of Special Interest to Jerseymen.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 13, THE DATE

GOVERNOR VOORHEES AND STAFF TO ATTEND.

Events of the Day to Be Announced Later—Trip to Be Made in Special Car—Speeches by Prominent Men of the State.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 27.—Final arrangements for New Jersey Day at the Pan-American Exposition have been made and the occasion promises to be one of the features of the big fair. Governor Voorhees and the special commission have been busily engaged perfecting all details in the matter, and has enlisted the support of the manufacturing element as well as the citizens generally throughout the State. The date agreed upon by the Exposition managers and the New Jersey officials is Thursday, Sept. 12.

Undoubtedly a large number of Jerseymen intending to visit the Exposition before the gates are closed will select this time as it will be of more than ordinary significance. As yet the programme in detail for the day has not been given out. It is known that the Governor, his staff and the State officials will leave Jersey City at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, September 12, by the Erie railroad. The trip will be made in a special train, furnished by the Erie railroad, and will consist of a parlor car, dining car, baggage car and observation car, and will reach Buffalo at 7 o'clock Thursday night. Carriages will await the arrival of the train and will convey the party to the Hotel Iroquois, where they will remain during the visit to the Exposition.

It is expected that there will be thirty in the Governor's party, which will consist of the official family of the Governor, members of the New Jersey commission and prominent State officers. The names of the party have not all been selected, and until the list is complete it will not be given out for publication.

Friday, September 13, the party will drive to the Exposition grounds in carriages and go direct to the Temple of Music, where at 12 o'clock the formal exercises will be made by some of the Pan-American officials, Governor Voorhees and others. Music will be provided by the orchestra band of the Exposition company.

The public reception will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, after lunch has been served. The evening will be spent in viewing the electric display, and the entire party will embark aboard launches and sail about the lakes and canals.

Saturday, the party will make a thorough inspection of the Exposition, and at night a formal banquet will be served in the State building. Sunday has been set aside for a visit to Niagara. The return will probably be Tuesday, so as to allow the party plenty of time to look over the Exposition.

R. C. Jenkins, president of the New Jersey State Commission, has already arranged with the Exposition officers all the plans for the entertainment of the New Jersey official visitors, and he has been assisted by Director-General Hon. W. P. Buchanan, who has promised him to do all he can to make New Jersey Day a great success.

LITERARY.

"Miss Alcott's Letters to Her 'Laurie,'" now printed for the first time, and edited by "Laurie" himself, form one of the strongest features of The Ladies' Home Journal for September. "With Seton-Thompson in the Woods" shows the great animal-story teller in his element, and "Some College Scrapes We Got Into," as told by "A Graduate," give good cause for laughter. There are also interesting articles about "Cats That Draw Salaries," "Famous People as We Do Not Know Them," and "How a Village Changed its Name." Mr. Bok's editorial on "The School Question Again" is a strong arraignment of American parents for not taking the proper part in the education of their children. In addition to many other literary and pictorial features, twice the usual amount of space is devoted to the coming styles, for this is the "Special Autumn Fashion Number" of The Journal. The new dresses, hats and wraps are all shown. There is also a double page of photographs of "The Handsomest Laces in America," and a striking cover design by Miss Ellen Bernard Thompson. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Do the right thing at the right time.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.
Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.
Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Mrs. Margaret Reville, of 752 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame and weak back, I never found anything which gave me any relief until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began to use them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back pained me and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend and when I had a cold or overexerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies, but got little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvement. I think they are a fine medicine for a lame back."

THE PLAGUE IN CHINA.

It Appears to Be More General Than in Former Years.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The last issue of the weekly publication of the marine hospital service contains a number of reports concerning the prevalence of plague in the vicinity of Canton, most of which are made by missionaries and American physicians connected with hospitals in Canton and neighboring cities. The reports agree that the disease is epidemic in only a few places in Canton, but that it is widespread throughout the province of Kwangtung. One missionary says it is much more general than in years past and that "instead of being confined to a few large centers it is heard of in villages as well as in market towns and cities."

Another reports that the plague travels along the great trade routes, and he says that "at present we find the plague from Hongkong all the way along the West river for 400 miles, and the larger the plague center the more the plague exists."

"Some places are practically depopulated, all the people having fled to other towns or to temporary shelter in the fields or on the hillsides. In one town back of Swatow numbering over 3,000 there are said to be only 200 or 300 people now in the place. The plain over across the bay is full of mat sheds, where the poor people are taking refuge from this dread invader. Some weeks ago I passed a village some 60 miles from here where the people were living in boats or in the fields. Last week a young man whom I sent to the town of Nam-leng, where they tried to use us to open a market and failed, came in with the news that he was the only person left in the village. He urges them to bury the rats that died in their houses, but it is absolutely useless to attempt sanitary regulations with a lot of uninstructed people here. They threw the rats into the drains or any place that was convenient."

Shamrock II Takes a Spin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Shamrock II, after a light weather sail stretching spin of six hours, returned to her mooring in Sandy Hook bay at 4:35 p. m. yesterday. During the day five jib topsails were tried. The last one was a beautiful ballooner of light white linen and silk. The Shamrock, accompanied by the steam yacht Erin, sailed to a point about two miles east of the Sandy Hook lightship and then turned back. It was almost a flat calm for three hours. Then a light breeze from the southeast came along which gave the yacht a chance to maneuver. Sir Thomas Lipton, George L. Watson and J. B. Hilliard were on board the challenger during her trial.

Handler Knocks Out Corrigan.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Aug. 27.—Jimmy Handler of Newark made easy work of Patsy Corrigan of San Francisco before the National Athletic club, winning on a clean knockout in the second round. The men entered the ring at 128 pounds to go 15 rounds, and Handler, who had the better of the condition, rushed matters from the start. The end of the first round saw Corrigan groggy, and early in the second Handler landed one on the jaw that settled matters.

Walthour Breaks Records.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Bobby Walthour of Atlanta in his match race, motor paced, against Johnny Nelson of Chicago defeated the latter and in doing so smashed all previous indoor paced bicycle records from 1 to 15 miles inclusive. Walthour jumped into the lead at the start and rode rings around the plucky little Chicagoan, who had the misfortune to lose his pace frequently and have one of his motors break down.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A Chicago policeman shot fatally the son of Rev. Mr. Lindskog, alleging self defense.

Haffen, the big monkey in the New York Zoological park, was operated on for toothache.

A special train on the Baltimore and Ohio railway was wrecked near Barnesville, O., and the engineer was killed.

Messrs. Whipple and Adams made a new automobile record of 15h. 11m. running time to Boston from New York.

Announcement was made of the engagement of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to Miss Abby Aldrich, the senator's daughter.

BRITISH SUFFER LOSS

A Company Surrounded and Taken by Superior Force.

STEYN AND DE WET STILL GAME.

They Inform Lord Kitchener That the Fight For Freedom Will Go On—Surrenders Have Increased of Late.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria, says: "Three officers and 65 men who were sent north of Ladybrand, Orange River Colony, on the right of Elliot's columns, were surrounded on unfavorable ground and captured by a superior force Aug. 22. One man was killed, and four were wounded. The prisoners were released. Am holding an inquiry.

"Have received a long letter from Steyn containing an argumentative statement of the Boer case and saying he will continue to fight; also a short letter from De Wet to the same effect.

"Botha writes acknowledging the receipt of my proclamation and, protesting against it, states that the Boers intend to go on fighting. On the other hand, the surrenders lately have increased considerably."

Another dispatch from Lord Kitchener says:

"Since Aug. 19 32 Boers have been killed, 139 have been made prisoners, and 185 have surrendered, including Kruger, a nephew of the ex-president.

"The columns are meeting with no appreciable opposition in Cape Colony. The rebels and armed bands are hiding and avoiding our columns with some success, General Beatson alone having been in contact with the command of Scheeper, whom he is driving north."

United Mine Workers Meet.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 27.—In pursuance to a call issued several weeks ago by the district executive boards the United Mine Workers of the anthracite coalfields are holding a convention here, at which nearly 1,000 delegates, representing 365 local unions, are present. The convention will continue for three or four days. Refusal of some of the coal companies to countenance the card inspection system at the collieries, alleged failure of others to pay the 10 per cent increase supposed to have been granted by every mine owner last spring, local grievances and the amalgamation of the stationary firemen, engineers, blacksmiths, carpenters and teamsters with the United Mine Workers will be the most important matters considered. What the outcome of the convention will be none of the leaders will predict. None of the delegates will discuss the situation.

The Turkish Settlement.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 27.—The amount of the indemnity which the sultan agrees to pay the Quays company is 700,000 francs for interference with its rights. The sultan will also pay 600,000 francs to a Frenchman on account of the seizing of his lands in Albania. The Quays company renounces for a year the clause in its concession regarding the transfer of the quays to Turkey, only, it is believed, to save appearances for the sultan. M. Constans, the French embassador, after making farewell calls on his colleagues, has left here on board the Vautour for Stamboul, where he will take the train.

Russia's Crops Promise Well.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Russia had a spring this year, an unusual occurrence in that country, and as a result her harvest of cereals will be the largest for many years past. In a report to the state department Consul Heenan, at Odessa, says that the gradual rise in temperature, instead of the sudden change from cold to heat, has been most favorable to all crops, and wheat, rye, oats and barley will give more than the average yield this year.

The Case of Neely.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The war department has directed Attorney H. C. Lewis, special agent of the department in the prosecution of Charles Neely, accused of postal frauds in Cuba, to turn over to General Wood the testimony of 24 witnesses if the department of justice has no objection. Among the witnesses whose testimony has been taken is that of the president and cashier of the Seventh National bank of New York.

Torpedo Boat Launching.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The torpedo boat Wilkes will be launched at the yard of the Gas Engine and Power company, Morris Heights, N. Y., Sept. 28. Miss Elizabeth Wilkes, daughter of Rear Admiral Wilkes, after whom the craft is named, will christen her. Admiral Wilkes was in command of the San Jacinto when Mason and Slidell, the Confederate commissioners, were taken from the British ship Trent during the civil war.

High Water Closes Collieries.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Aug. 27.—Owing to heavy rains the Henry Clay, North Franklin, Bear Valley and Big Mountain collieries, operated by the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, were forced to shut down, 2,000 men and boys being temporarily thrown out of employment. Owing to the high water a number of other collieries belonging to individual operators were operated with great difficulty.

Still Buying Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The secretary of the treasury yesterday purchased $32,600 short term 4 per cent bonds at $113.2317 and $53,800 threes at $108.5105. Under instructions from the secretary of the treasury the assistant treasurer at New York will buy short term bonds for the sinking fund at prices furnished by the department at the beginning of each month.

Rockhill's Departure Delayed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Commissioner Rockhill has agreed to delay his departure from Peking until he has closed up the present negotiations. He says that the Chinese envoys, as already reported in the press dispatches, are daily expecting their authorization to affix the final signatures to the protocol, and as soon as this is done Mr. Rockhill will withdraw.

Sir Knights on Parade.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 27.—The twenty-eighth triennial conclave of the grand encampment of Knights Templars opened here today with a grand parade. About 40,000 Sir Knights were in line. This pageant extended over a route of four miles. Knights from nearly every nook and cranny of the country, including Honolulu, were in line.

AID FROM NICARAGUA

Colombian Town Threatened by Rebels From Bluefields.

GUNBOAT MACHIAS REACHES COLON.

Uneasiness at Panama Increases, as That City Is Believed to Be the Objective Point of Insurgent Forces.

COLON, Colombia, Aug. 27.—A report is circulated here to the effect that the rebels now threatening the town of Boca del Torro hail from Bluefields, Nicaragua. The United States gunboat Machias anchored yesterday in Colon harbor.

The censorship here prevents the transmission of political news or news unfavorable to the government.

The revolt of the Liberal Colombian rebels, now two years old, lately assumed a more serious aspect by the Liberals' concentration on the isthmus. It is believed they are contemplating aggressive action. Consequently uneasiness prevails at Panama, the Liberal objective, which was nearly captured a year ago. It is not believed the rebels will molest the railroad or interrupt traffic.

The recent rebel activity along the railroad amounted to bloodless raiding and the robbery of Chinese storekeepers, which the presence of a few government troops apparently stopped. There is a report that the government is bringing troops to protect the isthmus. This will be difficult without exposing to rebel attacks the points whence they are taken. The area of the revolt is extensive.

A noticeable, distinguishing feature of the revolution is the actual moral support the Liberals are receiving from Venezuela, Ecuador and Nicaragua, in which countries Liberal governments prevail. Colombia's Conservative government is not popular with the governments of the countries mentioned, but it is popular with the revolutionary elements in the same countries. The situation can be likened to a disrupted federation, composed of Venezuela, Ecuador, Colombia and Nicaragua, in which Liberal and Conservative partisans are helping each other and intriguing together. But, being separate nations, the political and armed intrigues threaten international trouble. It is reported that the Conservative revolt in Venezuela is receiving actual support from the Colombian Conservatives. Nicaragua's threatened revolt will probably be similarly aided on the occasion arising.

The conditions give ground for the reports of actual or threatened international complications between the countries mentioned, in which the Liberals are generally opposed to Colombia's Conservative administration, whose prophesied downfall is accompanied by talk of a federation or consolidation of some or all of the countries mentioned under the idea of a "Gran Colombia." The Colombian government is in straits financially at present.

Track Walker's Odd Disappearance.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—James H. Dietrick, track walker on the Cayuga lake division of the Lehigh Valley railroad, who failed to flag the passenger train from Auburn on Friday night in time to avoid a wreck and consequent death of Fireman Fitzgerald, has disappeared. Searching parties out all day looking for him have been unsuccessful. After going to the landslide instead of setting the signal he went to the station to telegraph ahead to the train then out of reach. He was sent back to the place of danger and has not been seen since. His handcar and lantern were found near the wreck.

Tennessee River Rampant.

HAMBURG, Tenn., Aug. 27.—The Tennessee river is higher than ever known at this season of the year. There is at least 75 per cent of this county's corn crop under water. What corn is not covered is that which stood on high ridge land and, being on dry land, was burned up during the hot weather. The river has backed up the creeks and sloughs for five miles in some places and killed both corn and cotton. A large number of people here have their whole crop of corn and cotton destroyed. Their condition is serious.

Engine and Express Train Collide.

HALIFAX, Aug. 27.—The Flying Blue Nose engine, with tender attached, crashed into the Intercolonial railroad Maritime express from Montreal yesterday evening at a point a mile from North street station. The Maritime express engine, tender and baggage car were piled in a heap on the track, while the Blue Nose engine and tender went to pieces a quarter of a mile away after rebound from the impact. There were 52 passengers on the Maritime express, and all escaped injury. Three trainmen were injured.

Lawson Yacht to Be Destroyed.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—With high tide this morning the Boston yacht Independence left Newport in tow of the tug Gladiator for Boston. Mr. Lawson, the owner, has reiterated his statement that after Sept. 3 the yacht will be broken up. He is to have her sailed on Sept. 2 in Boston harbor to give Bostonians a chance to see her, and then she will go to the junk shop.

Accidentally Shot.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 27.—Howard McGham, aged 18 years, of Northfield, N. J., while gunning was accidentally killed. The march hen season opened yesterday, and he was out on the meadows in a small boat. In trying to lift his gun, muzzle toward him, the trigger caught the seat. An explosion followed, and McGham dropped dead with the whole load in his breast.

Fatal Powder Explosion.

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—John Hudson, an employee of the Ottawa Powder company's factory, about five miles from the city, was blown to pieces in an explosion which wrecked the packing house and the mixing room of that establishment. James Fulford and John Cyra, two other employees, were badly injured.

Hot In Kansas.

TOPEKA, Aug. 27.—The last two days in Kansas have been excessively warm. The weather has been as oppressive as during the drought. The thermometer here registered 94. In the southern part of the state the temperature was higher, reaching 110 degrees in Wellington.

Miners Killed In a Shaft.

BLOOMINGTON, Ills., Aug. 27.—Four miners were instantly killed at a mine at Chenoa, this county, by the snapping of the cable supporting the cage. The men fell 247 feet.

FOUR BOYS DROWNED.

Huge Wave Sweeps Long Branch Bathers Out to Sea.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 27.—Four boys were drowned here. Two of the bodies were recovered soon after the accident. They were Harold Sherman, the 12-year-old son of H. B. Sherman, Jr., cashier of the Citizens' bank, and Leon Gaskill, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gaskill.

The boys missing are Walter and Raymond Blakeslee, sons of Professor Charles W. Blakeslee of the Long Branch High school.

The four boys, in company with Leon Bouse, went bathing. The current was strong, a number of bathers being carried beyond the life lines and rescued.

But few of the hundreds of persons who were bathing were aware of the wholesale drowning until the Bouse boy rushed out and gave the alarm. A seine was quickly got out and taken to sea by Captain Charles H. Van Dyke and his crew.

Hundreds of anxious persons awaited the result of the drag. None of the missing boys was in it.

A few minutes later the body of the Sherman boy was washed ashore about 200 yards from where the boys went down. Although every effort was made to resuscitate him it was to no avail.

His father arrived just in time to see him carried from the breakers. While the crowd gathered around the Sherman boy another dark object was seen afloat near by. It proved to be the body of Leon Gaskill. He, too, was hurried to the shore and every effort put forth to resuscitate him, but it was useless.

The two Blakeslee boys are still missing. Faint hopes are entertained that they may be safe, as it has been their custom to bathe, leaving their clothes on the sand.

TRAITOR HOWARD TAKEN.

A Deserter From American Forces Captured and Bound.

MANILA, Aug. 27.—A dispatch from Mindoro describes how Lieutenant Hazzard of the Third cavalry, commanding a troop of Macabebe scouts, captured the American deserter Howard, who as a leader of the Filipinos had been annoying the Americans for many months.

Ferguson, one of Lieutenant Hazzard's civilian scouts, disguised as an insurgent, with eight Macabebes, penetrated into the camp of Colonel Atlensa, commanding 240 riflemen and 200 bolomen, at night. They found Howard, bound and gagged him and led him away without disturbing the camp.

Captain Harold L. Jackson of the First infantry recently surprised General Lukban at Pamujan, in the mountains of the island of Samar. Three of the general's guard were killed, and Lukban, who escaped, was wounded. His family was captured. A captain and a lieutenant were also made prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The bids for supplying postal cards to the government for the next four years were opened yesterday in the office of the third assistant postmaster general. There were seven bids, the lowest being that of the present contractor, Albert Daggett, whose works are located at Piedmont, W. Va. He agrees to supply 3,000,000,000 large size cards at the rate of 21.75 cents per 1,000, the small sized cards at 17.50 cents per 1,000 and the double cards at 42 cents per 1,000.

Poolroom Raided.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 27.—Sheriff Miller again raided the poolroom at Newport, Ky. The officer seized all the tickets, record sheets and all the fittings of the poolroom. With an ax the blackboards were torn down and, with the other plunder, loaded into a patrol wagon. The paraphernalia will be held for evidence. The proprietors of the poolroom declared that today would find them at the same place, again equipped and ready for business.

Mrs. Smith Died From Fright.

GENEVA, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Ella Velsor Smith, wife of William Wickham Smith, a New York lawyer, whose death occurred in the Alps Friday, had visited an ice grotto on the Rhone glacier, near Velvecere, on the Furka road. Some blocks of ice fell near Mrs. Smith, but did not touch her, and she died from heart disease induced by the shock. Her remains will be shipped to New York.

Kurdish Atrocities Reported.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Special dispatches from Odessa and Vienna give unconfirmed reports of the Kurdish atrocities in the hill districts of Armenia and of fighting between Turks and Bulgarians in Macedonia, several persons being killed at Pawsonwitz. Another dispatch says that the Bulgarians seized five Turks, drenched them with petroleum and burned them alive.

SHAFFER NOT FOR PEACE.

Denies All Reports Regarding Efforts For a Settlement.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—While representatives of the National Civic federation are working zealously for peace between the steel workers and the United States Steel corporation, President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association declares that his organization has given no authority to any one to make a settlement and that any effort that may be made in that direction is being done by outside parties on their own responsibility. He announces that so far as the officials of the organization are concerned they are satisfied that attempts of officials of the trust to operate plants in Pittsburg have been futile and that while there is apparently a lot of men at work and machinery is in operation practically no product is being turned out.

The officials of the various plants that have been started during the past week in Pittsburg say they have made gains in all of them. More men have come to work, and the output in every case is increased. The Painter plant of the hoop combine has started two additional mills, and the officials say that before the end of the week these mills will be working double turn. The Star mills are being operated by nonunion tin workers, and two double mills are turning out satisfactory black sheets. Manager Arthur Piper claims the mills will be operated three turns before the end of the week. The Lindsay-McCutcheon mills in Allegheny have two mills running, and it is expected they will be put on double turn later in the week. The Clark hoop mills in Lawrenceville are operated in full for a single turn, but the officials say every one of the six mills will be on double turn before the week ends.

Officials of the upper and lower Union mills of the Carnegie company claim that there is no difficulty in operating their mills. They deny that the refusal of some of their men to return to work has affected the plants in any way. To all outward appearances the lower mills are running as usual, though the company has issued strict injunctions against entrance to the mills or the offices by any one not employed there.

At Amalgamated headquarters there is little of interest transpiring.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Four Killed by a Fall of Bridge Girders.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 27.—An accident at the new bridge which the Southern railway is constructing across the Congaree river caused the death of four men. One other was fatally and two more seriously injured.

The accident was caused by the falling of two steel girders about seven feet long weighing 14 tons each. The two girders were hoisted about midway of the river above the bridge. The rains of the night previous probably had caused the ropes holding them in place to slip. The crash came without the slightest warning. There were 75 people on the bridge, spectators and workmen.

Three of the men were pinned to the bridge and killed instantly. Four more were knocked into the river, two of whom were rescued by a government tug, which came up from the Congaree locks a quarter of a mile away.

Illinois Storm Does Much Damage.

CARBONDALE, Ills., Aug. 27.—A storm approaching a cloudburst passed over this city, doing much damage. Ripening fruit was blown from the trees, and in many instances the trees were uprooted or completely destroyed. In this city fully 6,000 birds were drowned by the downpour of rain. In the Illinois Central railroad park over 1,500 dead birds were found. Rodents and other animals were drowned by the hundreds. The storm was the most destructive that has occurred for years.

India's Famine List Still Large.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The India office has received the following dispatch from Lord Curzon, viceroy of India: "The rains are irregularly distributed. They are particularly deficient in the rice districts, while excessive rains have caused damage to crops in the northern and central provinces. Prices are generally falling. There is a slight decline in the number of persons on the famine relief list, the total now being 507,000."

Colonel Haverly Dangerously Ill.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 27.—Colonel J. H. Haverly, whose fame in minstrelsy is world wide, is dangerously ill at St. Mark's hospital in this city of heart trouble. His wife has been telegraphed for, and she is now on her way from New York. Colonel Haverly recently moved to Salt Lake. Since his retirement from the show business several years ago he has been devoting his time almost exclusively to mining.

Former Governor Stone Out Again.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Former Governor William J. Stone, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, who has been seriously ill, appeared at his office yesterday for the first time in five weeks. In an interview the governor declared himself a candidate for the United States senate to succeed the Hon. G. G. Vest and said he still believed silver should be coined into standard money.

Machinists' Strike Settled.

DANBURY, Conn., Aug. 27.—The strike of the machinists at the Turner Machine company's factory, which has been in progress three weeks, has been settled, and the men returned to work. Fifteen machinists were involved, and the dispute was over one hour a week. The men have agreed to work 53 hours until Oct. 1, after which they will work 54 hours.

Will Impeach Sheriffs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Governor Durbin will impeach sheriffs who neglect to stop prizefights. Governor Durbin's new tack is not to talk militia, but to exercise his executive power through sheriffs. If he finds they willfully fail to do their duty, it is understood to be his plan to have the attorney general bring impeachment proceedings to relieve them from office.

Caught by a Landslide.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—By a land subsidence at the Donibristle colliery, in Perthshire, ten men were entombed. A rescue party of four descended, but these also have failed to return, and it is feared that all have perished.

BITE FATAL TO THREE

Infected Mosquitoes Caused Death In Havana.

INTERESTING YELLOW FEVER TESTS.

Thus Far This Month Only Two Have Died From the Disease as Compared With the August Average of Fifty.

HAVANA, Aug. 27.—Of the eight persons bitten by infected mosquitoes in connection with the experiments conducted by the yellow fever board during the last three weeks three have died. Three others who took the fever are expected to recover. One has not developed the disease. The eighth person as yet has not developed yellow fever, although it is too early to say what will happen in that case.

Surgeon Major Reed intends to continue the investigations. Major Gorgas, chief sanitary officer, says the idea of the yellow fever board was to subject to mosquito infection as many as would volunteer. Sixteen persons had been bitten, and all had recovered, and the theory of the board was that if some hundred or more persons could have been bitten with similar results a report could have been published showing how apparently safe and easy it was to become immune. After this had been published the entire population might have been immunized. In many cases save mild results that the impression was created that the danger was not so great as it has turned out to be.

Thus far during August there have been two deaths from yellow fever in Havana, as compared with an average of more than 50 for the month of August during the previous 11 years. Major Gorgas regards the experiment in mosquito infection as of immense service to science.

The man who was bitten by an infected mosquito after inoculation with the serum of Dr. Caldas, the Brasilian expert, has developed what seem to be symptoms of yellow fever. The yellow fever board calls the case a suspect.

E. C. Westall, chief of the money order bureau of the Havana postoffice, left the office as usual with the surplus remittance to pay into the treasury. The amount was $4,000. He took an omnibus and, according to his statement, placed the packet containing the money on the seat by his side. He read a newspaper until he reached the point where he wished to alight, and when about to leave the omnibus he found that the packet was missing.

Two boys who were in the omnibus at the time say they saw a mulatto throw a packet to a negro in the street. Mr. Westall is under a bond of $10,000. The matter will be left to the courts for decision.

Martin de Castro, a well known Cuban newspaper man, has been killed at Manzanillo. About three months ago he published articles attacking the rural guard of Manzanillo and was shot at. He came to Havana and complained to Governor General Wood, expressing a fear that his life was in danger. General Wood ordered the local authorities to afford him all the rights and protection guaranteed by the law.

Castro thereupon returned to Manzanillo only to be shot dead by a member of the rural guard with whom he had quarreled. The offender is being vigorously pursued.

Russia Our Great Rival.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The state department has received from Consular Agent Harris, at Eibenstock, a report showing the extent of Germany's grain importation from Russia and from the United States. In 1897 Russia sold Germany $27,302,410 worth more of grain than did the United States, but in 1900 the United States was only $4,947,250 worth behind her European rival. Mr. Harris says the competition between Russia and the United States to supply the nonproducing grain countries of Europe will become sharper every year. New railroads and canals building in Russia will enable her to move her crops with more ease toward the German frontier than formerly, and when Austria has completed her network of canals a direct water communication from Russia to the heart of Germany will be established. The only thing which will enable the United States in the future to compete successfully with Russia in the grain markets of Germany will be cheaper ocean freight rates, says Mr. Harris.

British Steamer Lost?

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27.—It is feared here that the British schooner Victory, Captain Kelly, which left this port July 10 for Tarpun Bay, has been lost. Nothing has been heard from her since she passed out Cape Henry. A terrific hurricane swept the coast soon after she got to sea, in which numerous small craft were lost. The Victory was one of the large fleet which brought pineapples to this port during the recent season and had made many successful voyages between the Bahamas and Baltimore. When she left here, she had a general cargo consigned to Nassau, near Tarpun Bay.

Turnpike Raids In Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 27.—The turnpike raiders have broken loose in the vicinity of Goodlettsville, and attempts were made to wreck bridges on the Dickerson pike. Dynamite was used, and the abutments of the bridges were disturbed. About half the population was awakened by the explosion, which was sent off early in the morning, and people ran instinctively to the Goodlettsville bank, under the impression that burglars were trying to effect an entrance into the vault. The raiders made their escape, but before leaving set fire to and destroyed two old unoccupied gatehouses.

Farmer Robbed on a Car.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Nicholas Krans, a German farmer living near Aurora, Ills., was robbed of over $5,000 in notes, $155 in checks and $33 in currency on a Cottage Grove avenue cable train here. He carried the money and notes in a large leather pocketbook in an inside pocket of his coat. He believes his valuables were taken by two men who jostled him on the car and who alighted shortly before he discovered his loss. The robbery was reported to the police, who are now working on the case.

An Ohio Bank Failure.

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 27.—The Bank of New Metamoras, Washington county, a private institution, has closed its doors. It is said the bank had deposited $50,000 with the Superior Street Savings and Banking company, Cleveland, which closed last Friday.

COMING EVENTS

August 29—Celebration of promulgation of Emancipation Proclamation. Colored citizens at Vail's Grove. Afternoon and evening.

September 1—Alexander F. Irvine, of New Haven, Conn., will address the meeting at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association at 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Vocal selections will be rendered by Madame Cortada.

The Death of Frank Runyon.

After years of honorable and loyal service to the bank, with which he was connected, as well as to the community at large, the life of Francis Saurin Runyon has come to an end. Held in high regard by the citizens of this city, his name will go down in local history as a man whose devotion to duty cost him dearly. In his death, Plainfield has lost a public spirited citizen, and the First National Bank has lost an energetic and valuable servant.

The major part of Mr. Runyon's career was spent in this city and in his time he had made a legion of friends by his kindly acts, unassuming manner and business methods. His judgment was sought by many and it was invariably found to be wise and just. He had attained distinction as a man whose life was consecrated to the trust reposed in him. The Christian life of Mr. Runyon was without a blemish and his public actions spoke for themselves.

Connected for a period of thirty-four years with this single financial institution, he had received an education in a practical school of finance, that few today possess, and he will be missed not only by the directors and depositors of the bank, but by a large body of citizens. It was Mr. Runyon's tireless efforts to promote the interest of the concern, with which he was identified, that was responsible largely for his untimely death. Although frequently urged by the directors to do so, he never absented himself from the bank for a single day in the past fifteen years, and hence found no needed rest. When illness at last overcame him, his physical strength was much exhausted, and the end came rapidly.

What Advertising Does.

It is the opinion of The Grocery World, says the Philadelphia Record, that advertising is news, since it tells the people of the existence of some desirable article and from whom and at what price said article may be obtained. As news the proper place for advertising is in the newspaper; and it is to the newspaper that people look for it. While advertising does not create needs it does often make people aware of their needs. The news which calls attention to an article also makes the reader realize that he wants it.

The action of Congressman Littlefield, of Maine, in criticising the decisions of the Supreme Court in the insular cases, at the meeting of the American Bar Association, Thursday, has caused much newspaper comment. Surely so eminent a statesman and profound a lawyer is qualified to discuss the subject in a dignified manner. If it is not the privilege, or rather right, of the bar to soberly discuss the statutes and the decisions thereon, whose is it?

The death of Brigadier-General Robert Williams, the former adjutant-general, who passed away at the Hotel Netherwood Saturday evening, brings to mind the great debt the Nation owes servants of his type. For forty years he served the Government, the major part of the time in the war department offices, and had only been retired eight years.

The framers of a political platform in a neighboring State felt compelled to declare that the party is deeply sensible of the great debt which that commonwealth owes to a notorious United States Senator. Perchance had the platform committee balanced accounts before expressing itself, conditions would have been reversed.

A report comes from London that an Englishman is on his way to this country prepared to stake $150,000 on Shamrock II. Considering that American heiresses have been carrying hordes of gold to England in recent years, the announcement that British coin is coming this way will be hailed with delight.

According to Weather Observer Neagle, the rainfall Saturday amounted to 3 83 inches, making a total of 10 05 inches for the last three weeks. With one week yet to be recorded, the month of August promises to be a record-breaker so far as rain is concerned.

Street Commissioner Gavett placed his men at work early yesterday morning repairing the damage done to the macadam on the city streets by the rainstorm of Saturday. This is but an instance of the street commissioner's uniform despatch in attending to his duties.

The students of the University of Aberdeen are fostering the candidacy of Andrew Carnegie for rector of the institution. It would be quite an innovation to have a man of figures instead of a man of letters at the head of that famous seat of learning.

According to current reports, the estate of the late Jacob S. Rogers, the locomotive king, has been appraised at $5,667,000. It is too early to say that there will be a fund for distribution when the pending litigation is ended.

Mayor Smalley has not commenced digging graves for rival candidates for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Somerset county. He is tearing up the ground in search of pure water.

Mayor Jenkins' refusal to permit a boxing tournament to be held in this city will meet with the approval of all citizens having at heart the interests of the municipality.

Another Parisian has constructed an "air-ship" If you want to get lots of free advertisement these days, make any sort of a contrivance and call it a flying-machine.

The foolish people at the present time are those of the usual hot weather variety; the political cranks will be heard from when the campaign becomes warm.

The season for shooting reed, and rail birds, snipe and marsh hens has opened. "Didn't know it was loaded" stories are now in order.

An exchange states that half of New Jersey is forest land. Some are inclined to think that the other half is mosquitoes.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and its Citizens.

The inheritance tax on the Rogers estate may amount to nearly a million dollars. Of this New Jersey will receive about $300,000, which is 5 per cent of the whole estate.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

New Brunswick has raised nearly $5,000 toward a fund of $12,500, for the purchase of a site for the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company, of Easton, Pa. It has been stated that the company is backed by millions and does not want any charitable donations. It is strange the company does not so inform the citizens of New Brunswick.—Trenton Times.

Farmer Orator James E. Martine, who has been missed lately, is still in politics. He was up in Flemington last week at the Farmers' Alliance picnic, and he gave the trusts and corporations some awful jabs. The farmer orator will probably be heard from again when the Democratic State convention meets. The Union county delegation will be a small fry affair if Mr. Martine is not among the number.—Jersey City Evening Journal.

TEA TABLE TALK.

Short and Gossipy Sketches That Are Not Always News, But Just as Interesting.

Charles Schamp, of West Front street, has earned quite a reputation and the sobriquet of "Samson" through showing the extent of his muscular strength at the clam bake of the Jolly Outing Club Sunday. In exploiting his lifting abilities he seized a heavy weight with one hand and sought to steady himself by grasping a porch for support with the other. The weight came up, but the support was unable to stand the strain and collapsed, bringing down the entire porch in true Sampsonian style. Schamp paid for the damage, but no one dares dispute his claims to strength.

Rev. G. W. Gardner and family, of Park place, are expected to return home soon from the Thousand Islands, where they have been spending the summer.

HUYLER'S CANDIES FRESH

SIDEWALK EPISODE.

Blightly Inebriated Chicagoan Made Himself at Home and Amazed All Who Saw Him.

All sorts of household goods and chattels were piled upon the walk and back of the curbing in front of a Dearborn avenue boarding house in Chicago the other morning preparatory to the usual spring moving. An individual who looked much the worse from overindulgence in late hours and strong drink came unsteadily down the avenue. He was passing the array of furniture when he happened to glance into the mirror of a big chiffonier that stood on the sidewalk.

He surveyed his soiled countenance for awhile with every expression of deep disapproval. Then, says the Chicago Tribune, he looked unsteadily around until his eyes rested on a washbowl and then walked up to a hydrant that stood in the center of the little lawn in front of the house. He turned the tap, filled the bowl with water, and, setting it down on a chair, proceeded to take off his coat and necktie and collar.

The proprietor of the household goods stood on the steps, watching the proceedings in silent amusement. Four or five passersby stopped to see what was happening, but their gaze did not disconcert the inebriated individual in the slightest. He washed his face and neck and wet his hair. He looked around, as though in search of a towel, but a tablecloth spread over a basketful of dishes answered the purpose just as well.

Then the man walked back to the mirror and put on his collar and carefully adjusted his necktie and combed his hair with a shoebrush that lay on the chiffonier. Then he put on his coat and, with a parting look in the mirror, ambled away.

"Well," said the amazed owner of the furniture, "did you ever see such nerve in your life? But I'm in luck he didn't see the gas range. He would have hunted up the groceries in the icebox and cooked himself a meal."

JOHN FELL FROM GRACE.

Chinese Cook Lost His Mistress' Confidence Because He Washed His Feet in the Dishpan.

Chinese servant stories are epidemic. Here's one, and it's true, from the Milwaukee Sentinel:

A West side woman a few days ago was boasting to a caller of the virtues of her Mongolian cook, and she emphasized the latter's systematic methods as his special strong point.

"John finishes his work at precisely the same minute every evening," said she, proudly. "I always know exactly where he is and what he is doing at any time of the day."

"Well, what is he doing now?" was asked.

"Let me see. It is seven o'clock. Well, he has just finished putting the dishes away, and at this moment is sweeping the kitchen. Come, let's go out and see if I'm not right."

They started through the dining-room, and found everything in its place, as prophesied. In the pantry the dishes were neatly arranged in their customary place. Then they opened the kitchen door.

There in the center of the room was John, and he was—complacently washing his feet in the dishpan!

The embarrassed mistress and her convulsed guest retired in haste. And the servant problem was dropped.

A Case of Corruption.

A voter in Galway, Ireland, received from a candidate just before election day a rather strong-smelling hare. He objected to taking it, but the donor begged him to have no misgivings, as there was no possible question of bribery in the matter. "Shure, 'tis not bribery I'm fearin' at all," said Pat; "it's"—and he sniffed the hare—"just a matther of corruption."

BOY COMMITS MURDER.

A Case Which Is Attracting the Undivided Attention of Criminologists All Over Europe.

Criminologists of Europe are stirred by a five-year-old murderer in Vienna. Johann Karpisek is the name of the youngest slayer in the world and his victim was Ludwig Schmidt, the three-year-old son of a barber. There was a motive for the crime and neighbors say that the deed was thoroughly premeditated. This last assertion seems certainly incredible, considering the age of the slayer, but such specialists in criminology as Dr. Thomas, of the Vienna university, assert that even at that age the human mind is capable of such criminal conceptions.

Like any adult criminal, the boy was arrested and in company with his mother was put in jail. Both are incarcerated to this day and Austrian justice is greatly puzzled how to dispose of this odd case. The consensus of public opinion has from the start been to give freedom to mother and child, but it seems that there has been a long-standing grudge between the Schmidt and Karpisek families and the Frau Karpisek is accused of having partly instigated the crime. She is at least charged with having often uttered dire threats against the Schmidt child.

The murder, if it may be called so, occurred in front of the Schmidt house. Little Ludwig had just received a piece of cake from his father. Johann came to him and asked him for a piece of cake. The boy refused and screamed when an attempt was made to take it away from him. Unable to secure the cake by force, Johann took a knife which he happened to have in his hand and stabbed his three-year-old playmate. The little boy died the same day. There is much speculation as to the fate of the boy murderer and his mother.

BURIED WITH A SNAKE.

Hypnotized Man and Reptile Have a Lively Underground Struggle at Wheeling, W. Va.

The Wheeling (W. Va.) correspondent of the St. Louis Republic is authority for the statement that "Prof." Charles Cooper is a very successful hypnotist, and James "Cannonball" Morris is an unusually susceptible subject. For several years they have added to their regular income by giving exhibitions, many of which caused physicians and learned men to marvel.

One successful scheme was for Cooper to hypnotize Morris and bury him underground in the local parks and resurrect him the next day for the edification of public picnickers.

As a public attraction mere burial and resurrection became commonplace, so the other night Cooper hypnotized Morris, then hypnotized a five-foot black snake and buried them in one box at Mozart park, to be dug up next day at the butchers' big picnic. An air pipe was let into the coffin-like box and a guard stationed on the surface.

Shortly after daylight the guard was roused by muffled cries coming up from the bowels of the earth. He put his ear to the air pipe and Morris told him the snake had come from under control and was getting entirely too friendly. Morris begged to be dug out.

The guard ran for help and tools. When he got back Morris was hardly able to talk. He said the snake was wound about his neck and was choking him to death. Fortunately the earth was soft and Morris was released in a few minutes. He was black in the face, the friendly serpent being thrice wrapped about his neck.

"Cannonball" had the reptile's head in one hand and the tail in the other, thus saving his life. He has lost faith in Cooper's power over snakes.

HOUSE GOWNS.

Many of Them Show a Tendency Toward the Picturesque.

There is a rising fancy for tabbed effects which are reminiscent of the Stuart period. A charming dress recently imported was treated after this manner. The edges of the tabbed waist were outlined by narrow black ribbon passed through slides of green enamel on either side of the front. The decolletage was cut square, and there was a square tabbed collar, which fell well over the shoulders.

Some of the newer tea gowns show skirts gathered into a long pointed bodice effect in front. The neck is cut out to form a slight decolletage in the front only. For such a gown flowered silk is the most picturesque material, although louisine is a great favorite on account of its graceful folds.

shell pink panne appliqued on net. A wide ribbon of pink panne comes up under the arms and fastens in front in a big bow. The sleeves and the body part are made of accordion plaited white liberty silk. The ruffles and the lower edges of the negligee are finished with a tiny full ruching. This little lounging jacket is very pretty when worn with a much ruffled black taffeta skirt.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NECK RUFFLES.

Fancy Ones Should Only Be Worn on Dressy Occasions.

Very much bedecked neck ruffles are not worn in the daytime by well dressed women. The simple ruffle of black, white or pale gray is largely in evidence, and the elaborate confections bristling with bows, laces and millinery are decidedly in the minority. For evening and dinner wear, however, many beautiful flower creations are being worn to match the different gowns.

Tulle ruffles are so ethereal that, although at first they are inexpensive, yet in the long run they prove very costly, while a ruffle made of more enduring materials can acquire new life at the hands of the cleaner. Ruffles with long tails are most awkward for carriage wear, which accounts for so many having merely bows or ribbon ends.

Bead chains are not items which can be admired by the woman who dresses well. They are as a rule tawdry, and they spoil the appearance of a handsome gown. These chains and dangling ornaments are but a fad which promises to pass soon.

The illustration shows a dainty French gown, which is worn with a full ruffle of black liberty silk. The dress itself is of pale lavender cloth, trimmed with an applique pattern in pale gray cloth and black satin cording. This applique runs along the bottom of the skirt in such a way that it gives the overskirt effect so dear to the French heart. The little bolero becomes a mere strap in front, where it is joined over a blouse of pale lavender embroidered chiffon.

The Spanish turban is of braided taffeta in two shades of lavender. It is simply trimmed with a big rosette of black tulle and a white bird with long pointed wings.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Ever since that memorable night on the Queen of the Fleet, Gray had studiously avoided his whilom friend and counselor, while the latter's equally studious avoidance of Mrs. Garrison had become observed throughout the ship. The dominion and power of that little lady had been of brief duration, as was to be expected in the case of a woman who had secured for her undivided use the best, the airiest and by far the largest room on the steamer—a cabine de luxe indeed, that for a week's voyage on an Atlantic liner would have cost a small fortune, while here for a sea sojourn of more than double the time under tropic skies, and while other and worthier women were sweltering three in a stuffy box below, it had cost but a smile. The captain had repented him of his magnanimity before the lights of Honolulu faded out astern. The general began to realize that he had been made a cat's-paw of and, his amour propre being wounded, he had essayed for a day or two majestic dignity of mien that became comical when complicated with the qualms of seasickness. There was even noticeable aversion on part of some of the officers of the Dudes who, having made the journey from "the bay" to Honolulu with the women passengers, army wives and Red Cross nurses, naturally became the recipients of the views entertained by these ladies. Quick to see if slow to seem to see, Mrs. Frank has lost no time in begging one of the young soldier wives to share her big stateroom and broad and comfortable bed, and the lady preferred the heat and discomfort between decks to separation from her friend. Then Mrs. Garrison tendered both the run of her cabin during the day and evening; suggested, indeed, that on hot nights they come and sleep there, one on the bed and one on the couch; and they thanked her, but—never came. She coddled the general with cool champagne cup when he was in the throes of mal de mer, and held him prisoner with her vivacious chatter when he was well enough to care to talk. But, after all, her most serious trouble seemed to consist in keeping Billy Gray at respectful distance. He sought her side day after day, to Armstrong's mild amaze, as has been said; and when he could not be with her was moody, even fierce and ugly tempered—he whose disposition had been the sunniest in all that gray, shivery, dripping sojourn at the San Francisco camp.

But once fairly settled in Manila, the White Sisters seemed to regain all the old ascendency. Col. Frost had taken a big, cool, roomy house, surrounded by spacious grounds, down in Malate and close to the plashing waters of the bay. Duties kept him early and late at his office in the walled city; but every evening, after the drive and dinner, callers came thronging in, and all Witchie's witcheries were called into play to charm them into blindness and to cover Nita's fitful and nervous moods, now almost painfully apparent. Frost's face was at times a thundercloud, and army circles within the outer circle of Manila saw plainly that all was not harmony betwixt that veteran Benedict and that fragile, fluttering, baby wife. The bloom of Nita's beauty was gone. She looked wan, white, even haggard. She had refused to leave Hong-Kong or come to Manila until Margaret's arrival, then flew to the shelter of that sisterly wing. Frank Garrison had been occupying a room under the same roof with his general, but both general and aide-de-camp were now much afield, and Frank spent far more days and nights along the line of blockhouses than he did at home. The coming of his wife was unannounced and utterly unlooked for. "Did I consult my husband!" she exclaimed in surprise, when asked the question one day by the wife of a veteran field officer. "Merciful heaven, Mrs. Lenox, there was no time for that except by cable, and at four dollars a word. No! If any doubt of what Frank Garrison will say or do exists in my mind I go and do the thing at once, then the doubt is settled. If he approve, well and good; if he doesn't—well, then I've had my fun anyway."

But it made little difference what Frank Garrison might think, say or do when Nita's need came in question. It was for Nita that Margaret Garrison so suddenly quitted the Presidio and hastened to Hawaii. It was for her sake, to be her counsel and protection, the elder sister had braved refusal, difficulties, criticism, even Armstrong's open suspicion and dislike, to take that long voyage to a hostile clime. That she braved, too, her husband's displeasure was not a matter of sufficient weight to merit consideration. She was there to help Nita; and until that hapless child were freed from a peril that, ever threatening, seemed sapping her very life, Margaret Garrison meant to stay.

For the letter that came by way of Honolulu had told the elder sister of increasing jealousy and suspicion on the colonel's part, of his dreadful rage at Yokohama on learning that even there—the very hour of their arrival—when the consul came aboard with a batch of letters in his hand, he had one for Mrs. Frost. She had barely glanced at its contents before she was stricken with a fit of trembling, tore it in half, and tossed the fragments on the swift ebbing tide, then rushed to her stateroom. There she added a postscript to the long letter penned to Margaret on the voyage; and the purser, not her husband, saw it safely started on the Gaelic, leaving for San Francisco via Honolulu that very day. That letter beat the ordinary mail, for the Queen was heading seaward, even as the Gaelic came steaming in the coral-guarded harbor, and a little packet was tossed aboard the new troop ship as she sped away, one missive in it telling Witchie Garrison that the man whose life had been wrecked by her sister's enforced desertion was already in Manila awaiting her coming, and telling her, moreover, that the packet placed in Gen. Drayton's hands contained only her earlier letters. In his reckless wrath Latrobe had told her that those which bound her to him by the most solemn pledges, those that vowed undying love and devotion, were still in his hands, and that she should see him and them when at last she reached Manila.

Three mortal weeks had the sisters been there together, and never once in that time did Nita venture forth except when under the escort of her black-browed husband or the protection of her smiling, witching, yet vigilant Margaret. Never once had their house been approached by anyone who bore resemblance to the dreaded lover. All along the Calle Real, where were the quarters of many officers, little guards of regulars were stationed; for black rumors of Filipino uprising came with every few days, and some men's hearts were failing them for fear when they thought of the paucity of their numbers as compared with the thousands of fanatical natives to whom the taking of human life was of less account than the loss of a game chicken, and in whose sight assassination was a virtue when it rid one of a foe. Already many officers who had weakly yielded to the importunity of a devoted wife was cursing the folly that led him to let her join him. The outbreak was imminent. Anyone could see the war was sure to come—even those who strove to banish alarm and reassure an anxious nation. And when the call to arms should sound, duty, honor and law would demand each soldier's instant answer on the battle line; then who was to care for the women? The very servants in each household, it was known, were in most cases regularly enrolled in the insurgent army. The crowded districts in the city, the nipa huts surrounding the wealthy homes in the suburbs swarmed with Filipino soldiery in the garb of peace. Arms and ammunition, both, were stored in the great stone churches. Knives, bolos and pistols were hidden in every house. Through the clergy, in some instances, and foreign residents in others, the statement was set afloat that every American officer's residence was mapped and marked, that the Tagals were told off by name—so many for each house in proportion to the number of American inmates—and day after day, awaiting the signal for their bloody work, were native devotees greeted with servile bows and studied the habits of the officers they were designated to fall upon in their sleep and slay without mercy. Even women and children were not to be spared; and many a woman, hearing this grewsome story, trembled in her terror. For a time, in dread of this new peril, Nita Frost almost forgot the other; but not so Margaret. She scoffed and scouted the rumor of Filipino outbreak. She laughed at Frost, who all too evidently believed in it and was in hourly trepidation. He begged that the guard at his quarters might be doubled, and was totally unnerved when told it might even have to be reduced. Not so Mrs. Frank. She made friends with the stalwart sergeant commanding; always had hot coffee and sandwiches ready for the midnight relief; made it a point to learn the name of each successive non-commissioned officer in charge, and had a winsome smile and word for the sentries as she passed. It wasn't Filipino aggression that she feared. The men wondered why she should so urgently bid them see that no strangers—Americans—were allowed within the massive gates. There were tramps, even in Manila, she said. When the sisters drove, their natty little Filipino team flashed through the lanes and streets at top speed, the springy victoria bounding at their heels to the imminent peril of the cockaded hats of the dusky coach and footman, if not even to the seats of those trim, white-coated, big-buttoned, top-booted, impassive little Spanish-bred servitors. The carriage stopped only at certain designated points, and only then when a group of officers stood ready to greet them. Not once had they been menaced by anyone nor approached by any man even faintly resembling poor Latrobe; and Witchie Garrison was beginning to take heart and look upon that threatening letter as a mad piece of "bluff," when one day the unexpected happened.

The men of the house, Frost and Garrison, were accustomed, when the latter was at home, to breakfast together quite early. Then the colonel would drive off to the Ayuntamiento in the walled city, and Frank would mount his pony and ride away to his long day's duties. Later the sisters would have their leisurely breakfast, secure in the protection of the guard, would give their Chinaman chief his orders for the day, and send him off to make such purchases as were possible in the now scanty market. Then reading, writing, receiving callers of their own sex would fill up the morning. There would be a brief siesta after luncheon, an hour or so on the broad veranda overlooking the sparkling bay, then dress and the inevitable drive. Of Armstrong they had seen nothing, heard next to nothing. He was busy with his men over toward East Paco. Of Billy Gray of late they had seen rather too much. On one pretext after another he was now forever coming to the house, and Witchie was beginning to wish that Canker had had his way; but Canker had failed dismally. The witnesses he counted on proved dumb or departed, and it had pleased the general-in-chief to send him with a regiment of infantry and a brace of guns to garrison an important point on an adjacent island, and to tell him that in view of the impossibility of his substantiating his charges against Gray the youngster had some shadow of excuse for his violent outbreak. Rather than bring up a scandal it was best to drop the matter entirely. Gray had been sent to duty with the—teenth before he was thoroughly well, and a good-hearted battalion commander, taking pity on his obvious chagrin for the worse, had found occasion after the first ten days at the front to send him back to quarters in Malate, instead of incessantly on duty along the threatened line toward Singalon church; and while he seldom came in the evening when numbers of visitors were present, the boy had a way of dropping in between three and four, when he could generally count on a few moments, at least, alone with Mrs. Frank. She had nursed him well in his slow convalescence, had made deep impression on his boyish heart, lacerated as he conceived it by a disappointment at home. She had won him to her service, as she thought, until she felt sure he was ready to do almost anything for her sake, then she had put him to the test, and he had failed her. Believing, as she did, that the boy well knew the whereabouts of the alleged deserter, Morton, and his friend, Nita's reckless lover, she had counted on him to wring from them the letters poor Latrobe declared he still possessed; but the three weeks had passed without a sign, and it was becoming evident to her that Gray had lost track of them entirely.

KISSING BY TELEPHONE.

Novel Performance in Which a Woman Seemed to Find Considerable Satisfaction.

When the woman at the soda water fountain turned round to pay her bill she saw the fat clerk braced back against the perfumery stand, fanning himself limply, says the New York Sun.

"Did you hear that?" he asked.

"Hear what?" said the woman.

"What?" he repeated, incredulously. "It doesn't seem possible that anybody could become so absorbed in a glass of ice cream soda as to miss that. I am talking of the osculatory performance of the woman who just went away from the 'phone.

"Honestly, that custom is a new one on me. I've been working in drug stores, one place and another, a good many years, and have heard several millions of women talk through the 'phone, but this is the first time I ever heard one of them kiss over the wire.

"Sure, didn't you hear it? Why, the smack sounded like a pop gun. I'll bet the fellow at the other end of the line caught it, all right. He couldn't miss it, even if he was away out in San Francisco.

"I wonder if this thing of ending a telephone conversation is something new, or is it an old fad that I am just catching on to because I am so mortal green? I'm used to hearing pet names slung over the wire by the dictionary full, but this is my first kiss, figuratively speaking. It's funny. Long-distance kisses may be old style in other parts of the town, but I tell you they're a novelty here."

SENTENCED TO BE SPANKED.

A New York Magistrate's Queer Method of Dealing with a Troublesome Boy.

On the back-yard fence of the home of the Foote family at 653 Linwood street, Brooklyn, the other afternoon, says the New York Times, were perched a grinning and expectant group of urchins. They were the playmates of 12-year-old "Heney" Foote, and with chuckles of glee they were waiting to hear him wail and howl from within.

"Heney" had been arraigned in the morning in the Myrtle Avenue police court. He was charged with committing a slight offense, and Magistrate Naumer was puzzled as to just how to punish him. Finally the court had an inspiration.

"I'll sentence you to be soundly spanked by your mother," decided the magistrate, looking severely at the small prisoner. "Will you promise to carry out this sentence, madam?" turning to the lad's mother.

Mrs. Foote promised, and led "Heney," who wore a look of utter dejection, out of court.

Whether or not the sentence had been executed could not be positively learned. One of the urchins who had been perched on the back fence observed, however, with a finger laid along his nose and a deep wink of his left eye, that there had been "somethin' doin', all right."

Tried to Lose His Office, But Couldn't

Had to Hold On at Sixteen Cents a Day Until the Miser Post-Office Was Abolished

An Indiana correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune writes that A. L. Fox, for many years postmaster at Mier, 15 miles southwest of Wabash, has at last succeeded in breaking away from that post of trust and profit after a heroic struggle that has covered a decade. Mr. Fox never sought the office—it was an honor thrust upon him; and the reason he has not relinquished it long before is that no one else would assume the burden. The job pays 16 cents a day, even though the office is surrounded with free rural routes which cut the emoluments.

Mr. Fox is 56 years old, and says he began resigning 20 years ago and began to grow demonstrative in his resignations last winter. "Life in Mier was too high for me," said Fox the other day. "There was too much dash and roar and all-round hurly-burly for a man of weak nerves and a high-gaited heart. Just to give an instance of my trials: I was sitting in my office a few days ago brooding over my hard lot and the tyranny of an ungrateful republic when I heard a shuffling step on the threshold of a native who consulted his comfort and saved his shekels by going barefooted. He asked the stereotyped question: 'Any mail for me?' I was confident there was no mail for him because there was no mail for anybody, and hadn't been for some weeks. He was not discouraged, but naively inquired: 'Any postal keards?' and I wearily answered in the negative. He was not to be crushed, and plumped another one at me, this scarcely official: 'Know anybody that wants to buy a tortle?' Again I replied in the negative, and he evidently thought me rude and unkind, for he went away with a look of pain on his honest face, and I fell to musing, unhappier than before.

"A few weeks ago the inspector came. He found the office there, but the postmaster absent. He began to circle about for the trail, and at last found me in a wet goods palace across the way telling my sorrows to the booze clerk. He assumed an air of authority and suggested I was out of my sphere, and that the contents of the office might be stolen. I laconically informed him there was nothing to steal. He grew indignant at once at my flippancy, and, in a cold, hard tone that would have curdled the blood of a man who valued his job, demanded to know whether I appreciated the importance and dignity of my position, and whether I was treating the government right in deserting my post to waste my time and substance in a saloon. He became violent at once and said he would suspend me. But when I begged him to recommend my removal and that I had been trying for years to quit he changed his manner and begged me to forget his rash words and continue. He begged so hard I relented.

"I once got one of my bondsmen in the office with the fell design of skipping out and leaving him in charge, but when I looked on him and thought of my martyrdom the best in my nature rebelled, and I allowed him to go in peace. Lately my son was deputized and tried to run the office while I went back to the farm to support my family. Tuesday he sent for me in hot haste to come up and show him how to cash a two-dollar money order. I lost one dollar making the trip, and arrived in time to see a neighbor's perspiring baby wrapping a sheet of stamps worth five dollars around his person. I have begged and threatened all my neighbors in ineffectual attempts to get them to take the office, but they are satisfied with the service and selfishly refuse. The government has finally taken the step I urged years ago—to close the office, and I am at last a free man."

Fox is an all-round man of the world. He has been a comedian, lecturer, musician with a circus band, farmer and postmaster, and is very popular in his neighborhood.

BABY STARVES IN COURT.

Pitiful Tragedy of Neglect, Drunkenness and Depravity Ends at Bar of Justice.

Of all stories from that weekly scene of human wreckage, the Chicago juvenile court, there was never one so pitiful as this. In the ante-room of the court a mite of a baby died the other morning of starvation.

The scene was the most distressing chapter in a long story of rum and consequent depravity. William Roebuck is a tinsmith at 4032 State street. His wife, from whom he is separated, has lived at 4002 Armour avenue since April. There were four children—Fred, eight years old; Arthur, six; Elsie, five, and the eight-months-old baby. Following the separation the children lived with their mother.

"THAT BABY IS STARVING."

The family affairs of the Roebucks came up for official settlement at the juvenile court. The father, a well-dressed man, was there with the children.

The mother sat in the ante-room with the baby in her arms. She said little; the baby's pinched face, worn to the bone by lack of sustenance, was half hidden under the mother's arm.

Dr. C. W. Behm, who knew something of the story, glanced at the child and then felt its pulse.

"That baby is starving," he said to the mother. "If you don't give it nourishment immediately it will be dead within a few minutes."

"I have got no nourishment for it," she said with cold indifference.

The woman repeated her refusal. Dr. Behm sent for nourishment and assistance. Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, matron of the Bethel mission, and Miss Susan Clark came. The little ante-room was made into a hospital. The starving baby was placed on a table with a law book for a pillow. The mother did not leave her chair.

It was too late; the little spark of life was out before nourishment was received. The two brothers and the sister stood by the table and wept heart-breaking tears. Curiously enough there is no law to punish a mother for starving her baby.

Italian and Rattlesnake.

An Italian laborer working on the railroad at Keating, Pa., saw a rattlesnake coiled under a stone. Not knowing anything about snakes he picked the reptile up to throw it aside, when the snake struck its fangs in the man's hand. The Italian continued working, when his hand began to swell, which attracted the attention of his fellow-workers. He explained the matter sententiously in these words: "Worma bit ma hand. Hurts like hella. What do?" An investigation showed that the "worm" was over four feet long, and a deadly black rattler. The Italian's wrist was tightly encircled by a heavy piece of cord and about half an hour later he was taken to the office of Dr. J. K. Gilmore, at Westport. Dr. Gilmore did all he could for the Italian, and the other day he was reported out of danger. The hand had swollen to eight times its normal size.

Must Be a Human Crab.

A young British officer in the Transvaal is either a great romancer or he possesses some of the peculiarities of the crab, and is a wonder at producing legs. He wrote this letter to his dad: "Dear Father: Kindly send me £50 at once; lost another leg in a stiff engagement, and am in hospital without means." The answer was: "My Dear Son: As this is the fourth leg you have lost according to your letters, you ought to be accustomed to it by this time. Try to wobble along on any others you may have left."

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Manager Thompson, of the Hope team, has arranged a game with a team from Stirling, to take place Saturday on the former's grounds. It will be called in the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The St. Mary's next scheduled game is with the Garwood A. C., the crack organization of the organ town. At their last appearance in this city, the Garwoods were defeated by the Hope team after a very exciting contest. The game will take place on the St. Mary grounds.

Captain Overbaugh, of the policemen's baseball team, has received a challenge from the local letter carriers to play them a game on Labor Day. As the coppers are now in good shape, Captain Overbaugh will in all probability accept. If it can be arranged, the game will be played on the St. Mary's grounds in the afternoon.

From appearances it seems as if the elements have combined to prevent the St. Mary team from playing off the home grounds. Out of four games scheduled for out of the city, not one was played. One game which took place on the Hope grounds was played in a drizzling rain, rendering it impossible for any good work to be done. The only game played out of the city this season which was not in the regular schedule was the one at High Bridge, in which the local team was defeated by one run. There are two more games slated to be played out of town, and it remains to be seen if the team will be pursued by the hoodoo.

ROD AND GUN.

After encountering considerable difficulty in making the journey, Alex. Manning and Charles Remsen, of this city, spent Saturday afternoon crabbing at Elizabethport. Most of the time on the water was spent in driving rain and a young tornado, but in spite of these difficulties they returned home in the evening with a good catch.

The Ocean City Daily Ledger has the following to say of Charles H. Schermerhorn, of the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, who has returned from his summer vacation spent at that place: "Charles H. Schermerhorn, of Plainfield, who has been visiting his nephew, C. H. Schermerhorn, at Thirteenth street and Central avenue, is one of the most successful fishermen of our summer visitors. During the past two weeks much of his time has been spent on the yacht "Frolic" and he has frequently returned from his fishing expeditions with 40 or 50 weakfish, some of the fish weighing between five and six pounds each."

CYCLING COMMENT.

FLEET-FOOTED MARSHAL.

Prisoner Could Not Evade Chief Marshal Campbell.

Christopher Rose, of the borough, imposed upon the confidence placed in him by Chief Marshal Campbell, when that official arrested him this noon and, awaiting a favorable opportunity, dashed down Chatham street. He forgot to inquire into Campbell's sprinting abilities and did not learn the extent of his speed until the heavy hand of the law was laid on his back after he had gone a few hundred feet. He was then jerked back rather suddenly and escorted to the lockup without getting another chance to run. Rose was arrested for causing a disturbance at DeMott's stables. He will be given a hearing this evening.

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

Dr. Hedges, who was summoned, found the lad more frightened than hurt. The runaway was captured over the mountains late yesterday afternoon with the remnants of the harness and wagon dangling at its heels.

JERSEY CENTRAL'S NEW MACHINE SHOPS.

Large Plant at Elizabethport Nearing Completion and Soon to Be Occupied.

IT IS THOROUGHLY EQUIPPED

ROUND-HOUSE AFFORDS ROOM FOR TWENTY-FIVE LOCOMOTIVES.

Power House Finished and Fires to be Started—Four Traveling Cranes, Two of Fifty Tons Capacity—Extra Men to Work.

The progressive Jersey Central Railroad Company will in the course of a comparatively short time take possession of the new machine shops now in course of construction at Elizabethport. For years past the company has been handicapped somewhat in not having a suitable place to do repair work, and when it was decided to build machine shops it was wisely determined to make the shops modern and thoroughly up-to-date. When the shops are completed they will be completely equipped in every department and will equal the finest shops in the country.

The largest building under construction is the machine shop, says The Railroad Employe. It is parallel with the main line and is over 600 feet long. It is expected that the removal of the heavy planers, lathes and drill-presses from the old shops at Elizabeth will commence in about two months. Three of the four traveling cranes are now in position. Two of these will be of fifty tons capacity and will handle easily the largest locomotives and move them to any part of the erecting floor. In the first bay at the north will be placed a number of the heavy tools, while in the second bay will be placed the lighter machinery. All tools will be supplied with self-contained electric motors and will do away entirely with overhead shafting. Compressed air tools, such as chippers, will also be extensively used.

The new blacksmith shop and oil-house are nearing completion, and when finished will be models of their kind. The electric turntable will be placed in position in a short time. The foundations for the roundhouse are finished and the framework is being built for the concrete side walls. This roundhouse will afford room for twenty-five locomotives. If the capacity should be found too small the circle may be completed and thus afford room for twenty-five additional locomotives.

The new powerhouse is completed and fires will be started in the near future. The power is distributed throughout the plant by 2,000 feet of concrete tunneling, four feet wide and six feet high. In this is carried all the steam, water and air pipes and electric light and power wires.

The store and office building is up to the second story, and it is expected to be finished in a month's time. The company's stores at Somerville will then be removed there.

The concrete foundations have been laid for the electric transfer table which is parallel with the Newark branch track and between the roundhouse and the south end of the machine and blacksmith shops. It will be used to transfer the locomotives and cars from one shop or track to another. This will effect a great saving in time and space occupied by the ordinary system of switching.

When in running order the shops will give employment to a large additional force of mechanics.

For Asbury Park.

All aboard for the Warren chapel excursion. It takes place tomorrow and the weather man has promised clear skies. The committee promises all a good time, so don't fail to grasp the last opportunity to visit Asbury Park this season. The train leaves Plainfield at 8 o'clock, and after eight hours at the shore will start for home at 6.

NEEDLE IN BOY'S BODY.

Operation to Remove Foreign Matter Proves Unsuccessful—To Try Again.

Hugh Flaherty, the four-year-old son of Patrick Flaherty, of Pond place, underwent a difficult operation, Sunday, for the removal of a needle which has become imbedded in his stomach. It was performed by Drs. Tomlinson and Hedges, and while the steel was not removed, its exact location was determined upon, and as soon as the boy recovers a second operation will be necessary. The needle accidently pierced the boy's side some time ago and rapidly worked its way inward. It has become very painful of late, and it was decided to have it removed before it reaches a vital part.

HALE AND HEARTY AT FOUR SCORE.

Augustus Frazee Passes His Eightieth Anniversary.

Augustus Frazee, one of Plainfield's oldest residents, who lives with his son, Whitney Frazee, of South avenue, Monday celebrated the eightieth anniversary of his birthday. The joyous event was observed quietly, although Mr. Frazee is hale and hearty and can outromp many of his younger acquaintances. In spite of his being ten years over the age allotted man, his looks would not betray the fact and he jocosely replies to queries that he is a trifle over twenty-eight.

Harvest Festival.

Ensign and Mrs. McLeod, of the local corps of the Salvation Army, assisted by members of the corps are busily engaged in completing arrangements for the annual harvest festival which will be celebrated this year from September 7 to 10. It is expected that this year's effort will surpass anything of the history of the Plainfield corps. This festival is especially for the benefit of the home work. Donations of most everything will be gratefully received by the local members of the army.

Wheels Too Noisy.

Residents along the lines and patrones of the trolley are beginning to think it is time flat-wheel cars are taken out of the service. Besides being a nuisance and making hideous noises, they are not a comfortable means of conveyance.

OPEN AIR BAND CONCERT SET FOR FRIDAY EVENING

Intended to Be Given at Later Date, But Circumstances Compel Change.

AN ELABORATE PROGRAMME

CONTRIBUTIONS COMING IN SLOWLY AND MORE MONEY NEEDED.

To Be Held in City Park as Usual—No Public Collection—Private Subscriptions Are to Be Taken.

Although it was not Leader Ben LaVere's intention to do so, circumstances have made it necessary for him to hold the next open air band concert, Friday evening. It will take place in the City Park under the same conditions as the two previous ones. From present indications it will be the most successful.

As most of the members of Mr. LaVere's band reside outside of Plainfield, they frequently secure engagements with other organizations and for this reason it is not always convenient for them to play in this city. Concerts at which they play are held at odd intervals in Rahway, Summit and other places. By reason of the lateness of the season, these cities are hurrying the concerts through and the time of the players is rather limited. Mr. LaVere found it impossible with the exception of Friday evening, to secure an early date with them and, although without a sufficient amount of funds, he decided to grasp the opportunity and give the concert this week. Another date cannot be had until the last of the season.

While a number of contributions have been made for the purpose of defraying the cost of an evening's musical entertainment, the amount is inadequate and Mr. LaVere would urge all those intending to do so, to contribute at once. The two previous concerts were successful as far as entertainment and enthusiasm were concerned, but the financial end was decidedly in arrears. The expedient of taking a popular collection was inaugurated, but even this plan has met with a chilly reception, and Mr. LaVere has decided to abandon them at the concert. Hereafter all expenses will be born by private subscription. The latest additions to the list of donators are as follows: Mrs. J. T. VanBuren, $3; Craig A. Marsh, $3; Miss E. C. Morrie, $2; Mrs. Herbert, $3; A. W. Day, $1; Cash, $1.

The programme for Friday evening is comprised of numbers carefully selected in order to give it the same degree of excellence as the others. They will be the usual number of classical and popular selections and a cornet solo by the popular Al Sweet. In detail it will be as follows:

March—Brothers in Arms.....Chambers
Melange of Popular Melodies.....Tobani
Waltz—Don't be Cross.....Keller
From Opera—Master Miner.
Cornet Solo—Inflammatus.....Rossini
From Stabat Mater.
Al. C. Sweet.
Sextette—From Lucia.....Donizetti
Intermezzo—La Rusee.....Franke
INTERMISSION.
March—Hail to the Spirit of Liberty.....Sousa
Selection—Robin Hood.....DeKoven
Mazourka—Amoroso.....Navarre
Romance—Love's Declaration.....Engel
Duet for Baritone and Cornet.
March.....The Jolly New Yorker

FINED FOR VIOLATING GAME LAWS.

John N. Entwistle Found Guilty of Breaking State Laws.

John N. Entwistle, of Piscataway township, was given a hearing before Justice Mattison last evening on the charge of violating the game laws. Game Wardens Ayers, of Perth Amboy, and Hawkins, of Metuchen, declared that they found Entwistle walking in the fields with a gun and two dogs on Sunday, April 14.

At the hearing, the testimony of the two wardens was corroborated by three witnesses, J. H. Randolph, J. B. Striker and Aaron Brower, who also testified to having heard two shots fired.

Entwistle was fined $20 and costs amounting to $6. The hearing has been delayed because of the alleged inability of the game wardens to attend at an earlier date.

BIG DAMAGES ASKED FOR CARELESS ACT

Guardian of Victor Schofield Brought Suit Against Halstead Compton.

$10,000 DAMAGES CLAIMED.

COMPTON AFTER BOYS STEALING APPLES FIRED A GUN.

Shot Penetrated Boy's Leg—Under Medical Treatment Since—Case In Supreme Court—To be Tried in October.

Isaac E. Houston, of 935 West Front street, as guardian for Victor Scofield, has commenced a suit in the Supreme Court, through his counsel, Lawyer Winfield S. Angleman, against Halstead C. Compton, of 1014 West Front street, for $10,000 damages.

The action is brought as a result of a disturbance which occurred on Mr. Compton's property about two years ago. Some young men had been visiting Mr. Compton's orchard and, as he had been troubled more or less with the loss of apples, he started after the young men with his gun.

Close to the orchard is Mr. Houston's home and it happened that Victor Scofield, who lives there, was in the vicinity at the time. It is not known that he was personally taking any apples.

The lad, however, was in range of Mr. Compton's gun, and when it was discharged partial contents of the barrel struck the boy. The shot entered the leg and upper part of the body, inflicting peiuful injury.

The affair happened about the noon hour, and at once a crowd of men and boys congregated, at the same time threatening to mob Mr. Compton. Mr. Houston soon heard of the shooting and he hastened to rescue the boy. The lad was carried to the house and Dr. J. T. Fritts summoned.

He succeeded in getting some of the shot from the boy's leg, but it is now claimed that some shot lodged under the knee and that owing to the fact that it could not be removed, the boy has been under medical treatment practically ever since the shooting occurred.

It is claimed that attempts have been made to settle, but to no purpose. Hence, the suit. A week ago Mr. Angleman succeeded in having Mr. Houston appointed as a representative of the boy, pending the suit, and it is believed that it will be called during the October term of court. Mr. Compton is represented by Codington & Swackhamer.

It is said that the injured man contemplates bringing suit against the owner of the ice wagon, as, it is alleged, the driver was clearly to blame.

SANITARIUM FOR DUNELLEN.

BUFFALO PHYSICIAN TO OPEN INSTITUTION IN NEAR FUTURE.

Sutphen Property The Site For Establishment—To Open at Early Date.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, August 28—Dr. Bennett, a prominent physician of Buffalo, N. Y., has purchased the S. O. Sutphen property, situated near Green brook, and will locate a sanitarium here. He will erect the necessary buildings in the immediate future and open the institution at an early date.

The sanitarium will employ at the start four nurses and two attendants. Nervous troubles and derangements will be treated. If the number of patients warrent it, the building will be enlarged sufficiently to meet the increasing patronage.

The Sutphen farm is located in the heart of Dunellen and is considered an ideal spot for a sanitarium. The land is so situated that the buildings will not be a detriment to any adjoining property, and besides, it is not proposed to conduct it along any objectionable lines. This property has been idle for a long time, although it is considered to be among the most desirable in Dunellen for building purposes. The news concerning the establishment of a sanitarium has been kept very quiet, and it is only yesterday that the fact became public.

CELEBRATION AT LINCOLN.

Flag-Raising Exercises—Some Improvements to Be Made—Miss Oller as Postmistress.

In honor of the return of Lincoln to its former owner, Silas D. Drake, a celebration was held at that place yesterday afternoon, when a flag-raising was the feature. Mr. Drake and Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook, were in charge, and both made enthusiastic addresses relative to the change of ownership. When the flag was raised the whistles in the various factories screamed and there was a loud hurrah from the people, who gathered to witness the event.

Under the new management, the streets of Lincoln are now being regraded, and other improvements are in progress. Edgar Grauett, superintendent of the steel works, announces that he has placed a contract for an extension 200 feet long to the works, and in a short time ground will be broken for a new steel works 60x400. Mr. Drake is negotiating for two factories which are to locate at Lincoln. It is proposed to extend Lincoln from Dewey Park to Bound Brook. J. D. Loizeaux broke ground yesterday for three new houses which he will build for the Middlesex Land Improvement Company. In a short time other new houses will be started in that vicinity.

Mr. Drake has appointed Miss Ida Oller, as "postmistress" at Lincoln.

The occurrence took place last Sunday at Lambert's home, when McDede became abusive after being told to leave the premises. The defendant at first denied the charge and demanded an examination at once. He afterward changed his plea to guilty and paid a fine of $5 and costs.

John VanOrden, of Jerusalem road, also appeared before the Justice. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by Coustable Allen, who found him on the streets acting in a disorderly manner. He paid a $7.50 fine.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE; CAUSE, WORRIMENT

Mrs Charlotte A. Gisser Tried to End Her Existence This Morning.

SHOT HERSELF IN BREAST.

IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION AND FATAL RESULT EXPECTED.

Imaginary Financial Difficulties Preyed Upon Her Mind—Last Rites of Church Administered—Dr. Pittis the Physician.

Weighed down by imaginary financial difficulties, Mrs. Charlotte A. Gisser, attempted to take her life this morning by shooting herself in the left breast while seated in the hallway of her home at 87 Somerset street. The bullet failed to kill her instantly, but death is expected to ensue. The report of the revolver attracted the attention of Mrs. Charles Emmons, who resides upstairs in the same building. Rushing to the hall she found Mrs. Gisser's unconscious form.

Dr. Pittis was summoned but upon his arrival he said that the woman's life was ebbing away, a wound having been inflicted. With the aid of stimulants she was revived sufficiently to receive the last rites of the Roman Catholic church, which were administered by Rev. Father P. E. Smyth.

From the statements of Mrs. Emmons, who seems to have been Mrs Gisser's confidant during her stay of two months in the flat, she had deliberately planned her self-destruction. At intervals during the past few weeks she frequently announced her intention of doing so and set about making her shroud. It is also said she made arrangements with Undertaker Kennedy, of South Fifth avenue, New York, to take charge of the funeral services.

Mrs. Gisser was the widow of the late Christopher Gisser, well known to the older residents of this city as the traveling butcher, whose shop was on South avenue, near Leland avenue. On the death of her husband she was left considerable property, among which was an interest in a butcher stand in Washington Market.

Some time ago she got the idea that the other owners were trying to defraud her of her share and she continually brooded over the fact. Her step-daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Meyers, of Netherwood, sought to dissuade her from the belief but all to no purpose. She afterward refused to stay at Mrs. Meyers' home and two months ago moved to the apartments on Somerset street.

Mrs. Gisser is fifty-one years old and has lived in this city for many years. Beside Mrs. Meyers she has no other relatives in this city but has several nieces in New York.

BURGLARS AT WORK.

Enter Cycle Store of F. L. C. Martin Company and Steal a Wheel—Leave Money Untouched.

Some time during last night burglars entered the store of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company on Park avenue by prying open a side window in the rear of C. Y. Willie's laundry.

While the money drawers were thoroughly ransacked, no coin was taken and it was at first thought the burglars were after valuable papers. A thorough search afterward revealed the fact that a new Cleveland wheel had been stolen. The firm describes it as follows: Model 64, No. 322,431, twenty inch black enamel drop frame, fitted with Goodrich tires.

That it was not the intention of the thieves to secure money, was plainly evident from the fact that a large sum in bills and postage stamps was in the opened drawers, but not a penny is missing. Chief Kiely is working on the case and already has important clues.

TOUR TO THE PACIFIC COAST.

Another Opportunity to Visit California Under the Auspices of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Personally-Conducted System.

In view of the great popularity of transcontinental travel under the Personally-Conducted System, as evinced in the recent Pennsylvania Railroad Tour to the Pacific Coast and Canadian Northwest, that company has decided to run another tour to the Pacific Coast, including in the itinerary a visit to the world-famous Grand Canon of Arizona, in the early Fall. The tour will leave New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and other stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburg, on Monday, September 23, and reach New York on the homeward trip Tuesday, October 22.

As in former tours to California under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a special train, composed of the highest class of Pullman equipment, will be utilized during the entire trip. Excellent meals will be served in the dining cars attached to the train during the entire journey, except during the stops at San Francisco and in Chicago. An observation car will appeal to all who delight in scenery. Few trips afford so great a diversity in Nature's beauties as the one outlined below. Westward bound, the tourists will pass through the wild slopes of the Colorado Rockies, around the Great Salt Lake, and over the fastnesses of the Sierra Nevada. After visiting all the beautiful resorts on the sunny California slopes, the eastward journey will be through the Arizona desert to the Grand Canon of Arizona. Its beauties cannot be painted in mere words. Magnificent in coloring, awful in its depths, it stands amoung the natural wonders of the world. Thence across the plains to St. Louis, and eastward through Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, the tourists reaching their destination just thirty days after leaving home.

The various transcontinental lines having made low rates on account of the General Triennial Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is enabled to offer this superb vacation trip at the low rate of $185 for the round trip from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, or any point on Pennsylvania Railroad east of Pittsburg, one in a berth; and $165 for the round trip, two persons occupying the same berth. The rate from Pittsburg will be $5 less.

Diagrams are now open, and as the number who can be accommodated will be strictly limited, names should be registered immediately.

For further information and descriptive pamphlet, apply to George W. Boyd, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

LITERARY.

One of the happier tendencies in the life of today is the increasing intimacy of people with woods and animals, and fields and flowers. The opening article of Leslie's Monthly for September is upon the art of photographing birds, written and beautifully illustrated by A. H. Verrill, who is himself past master of the art. Booker T. Washington, whose recent autobiography bids fair to become a classic, contributes an important paper on "How Work is Done at Tuskegee." It tells the whole secret of his success. The fiction of the number is notable. It includes a capital story of the wilder west "The Bad Man," by E. Hough, "To Her!" a story of sentiment, "Hot Winds," a pathetic story, and the amusing tale of a successful defeat entitled "The Flight of the Victor," by Henry L. Mencken. Marginalia contains several brief and taking stories.

—"Why I am a Baptist" will be the topic of the Endeavor Society meeting at the First Baptist church Friday evening.

—William H. Abbott will erect a $5,000 residence at the corner of West Fifth street and Lee place, and not on West Front street.

—Lawyer William Newcorn was called to New Brunswick yesterday, where he represented Mintz Bros., in an action against S. Lederer & Son, manufacturers of fertilizing materials.

—In case of cough or croup give the little one One Minute Cough Cure. Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be all right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take, always safe, sure and almost instantaneous in effect. L. W. Randolph.

—Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow evening and a full attendance of members is desired.

—Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. L. W. Randolph.

DRIVEN TO CANNIBALISM.

Party of Klondike Gold Seekers Nearly Starved.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 28.—A letter just received from William C. Brown, a Klondike gold seeker, relates a startling story of starvation which drove the members of a party to the point of preparing to become cannibals.

Brown relates that George Dean, Jack Huston and Joseph Thierry, prospectors, started several months ago from their camp on Portage creek in an endeavor to reach civilization. Their progress was impeded by swollen streams, and they left that route to seek another. Their provisions gave out, and for 22 days they subsisted on snails, grass, roots and the eggs of wild fowl. Finally Dean became sick and was not able to eat anything. He died of starvation. The party had at this time reached the bank of Aigapuk river, 12 miles from Teller City, within the arctic circle.

The day after Dean's death Louis Reich and George Wood, who were prospecting in the neighborhood, were attracted by peculiar cries as of some one in distress. They made their way to the river bank and there discovered Huston and Thierry, who had cut flesh from the body of Dean and were about to cook it. The rescuers were just in time to prevent this.

Big Race Called Off.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 28.—The match race between Cresceus and The Abbot scheduled for today at Charter Oak park, Hartford, has been called off because George Ketcham, owner of Cresceus, refuses to abide by the terms of agreement. Mr. Ketcham said that he feared in case of the race going against him he would not be given a return match. Oakley park, Cincinnati, has offered $15,000 to the winner in a match race between Cresceus and The Abbot if they would put up $2,500 a side.

Nebraska Republicans.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 28.—The Republican state convention which met today will, from surface indications, be a short and harmonious meeting. Nebraska elects but three state officers this fall, an associate justice of the supreme court and two regents of the University of Nebraska. There are six active aspirants for the nomination of supreme court justice—S. P. Davidson, S. H. Sedgwick, one of the present court commissioners; W. W. Keyser, C. T. Dickinson, J. B. Barnes and E. C. Calkin. District Judge H. M. Grimes of Lincoln county is also mentioned as a possible dark horse, and in the event of a deadlock over the six avowed candidates there is talk of bringing out the present chief justice, T. L. Norval, whose term expires, as a compromise candidate.

Fair Estate Settlement Costly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—Fees and commissions amounting to $402,517 have been awarded to attorneys and executors of the James G. Fair estate by Judge Troutt, in addition to the $30,000 given each of the executors by the New York probate court for the administration of the portion in that city. The total valuation on which the executors' commissions were computed is $17,871,645. Other heavy fees are yet to be paid, but it is estimated that $5,000,000 will remain for each of the senator's three children.

SHAMROCK IS SWIFT.

Lipton's Yacht Sails Well In Good Wind.

A LARGE SPREAD OF CANVAS.

The New Challenger Given a Long Spin Inside and Outside Sandy Hook With Sir Thomas on Board.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Shamrock II was given a good long spin yesterday both inside and outside the Hook. She was tried in windward work and broad and close reaching. In fact, the challenger was given everything except a spinnaker run in a breeze that sometimes piped up to 12 knots and at no time was under eight knots. The good opinion of her speed, merits and ability to carry lofty canvas was emphasized.

Many yachting experts who saw her performance call her a wonderful boat.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

All say she is the most dangerous proposition that has ever come over the waters hunting for the America's cup. She had life in her every minute. She gathers way with remarkable rapidity, is quick in stays, points very high and stands up under a tremendous spread of canvas like the proverbial steeple. At no time yesterday did she put her rail under, even when wearing around close hauled and taking a 12 knot breeze abeam. With all this she is a very beautiful boat under sail and taken altogether is a decided improvement over the old Shamrock.

The only new sail tried was her largest club topsail. It was a revelation to those who saw it and is certainly one of Ratsey's finest creations. It appears much larger than the topsails on the Columbia and Constitution. It extends farther out over the gaff and runs up higher above the topmast. It is said that the distance from the bottom of the mast to the top of the topsail club is over 190 feet. The sail sheets out very well, and there is less looseness along the head than on either of the American boats.

Sir Thomas Lipton was on board during the entire trial and when seen at Sandy Hook after the racer picked up her moorings seemed much pleased with her showing.

"This is the twentieth spin which the boat has had," said he, "including her races on the other side. She is improving all the time, and I am more pleased with her than ever before. At no time did we carry any water on deck. She had life every minute, and if she does not carry back the cup the American boat that beats her may well inspire pride in your people."

A notable feature of the day was the constant saluting which the challenger received from ocean steamers down to the smallest of launches.

The Shamrock covered the nine miles from the Southwest spit to Owl's head against the tide of three knots in 59 minutes. The run back over the same course, including six tacks, was done in 57 minutes.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 28.—Edward Mortimer, a miner, 68 years of age, is the center of a story emanating from Dawson, where he is said to have been kidnaped and lowered into a deep shaft on Thistle creek, 17 miles from Dawson. His captors demanded $600 as the price of release, but on being told that he had no money left him apparently to perish. After 12 hours of effort the old man succeeded in climbing to the surface of the shaft and after wandering eight miles found a canoe, which brought him to Dawson, where he claimed police protection.

Roosevelt's Western Trip.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Vice President Roosevelt will begin his western trip tomorrow, leaving on the Pennsylvania limited at 10:14 a. m. He left his home in Oyster Bay this morning and spent some time with his two children, who are rapidly convalescing in Roosevelt hospital, this city. He is due in Chicago at 9 a. m. Friday and is scheduled to leave the Union depot, at which he will arrive, 35 minutes later over the Chicago and Alton for Springfield, Ills., there to be the guest of Governor Yates and review the militia in the state camp.

CORNING, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Mrs. Dr. Nellie Poor and her two sons of Chicago have been found in the woods near here. Mrs. Poor is the woman who acted in an insane manner on an Erie railroad train last Thursday night and then mysteriously disappeared. She and her sons have been living in the woods for several days and are suffering from exposure. They are cared for in the home of W. H. Chamberlain of Kanona, N. Y., who is a relative of Mrs. Poor. The woman is laboring under the hallucination that a price has been put upon her head.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—It is understood at the navy yard that Surgeon John F. Urie, on duty at the United States marine recruiting office in Boston, will leave for Buckfield, Me., for a two weeks' professional visit with Secretary of the Navy Long. The nature of the secretary's illness is not known. Dr. Urie has been his physician for some time.

CORPORATION GAINS.

Tin Plate Company Takes a Positive Stand.

SETTLEMENT NEGOTIATIONS DENIED.

Trouble Seems to Be Brewing For Tube Workers Because of Their Hasty Action—President Shaffer Is Still Defiant.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—Practically the only significant event in the strike is the positive stand taken by the American Tin Plate company in reference to its course in the future. An official statement from this company denies that there are any negotiations on foot looking to a settlement of the strike and authorizes the statement that mills put into operation during the strike will be continued nonunion, and all men going to work now will be retained in their positions. This statement will have its effect because of the fact that the tin plate trade has always been considered as among the strongholds of the Amalgamated association, and the "defi" appears to have been brought about by the association declaring a strike against the tin plate company after the scale for the year had been signed. Notwithstanding the fact that the Amalgamated people claim justification on the ground that their constitution provides for such procedure, the officials of the tin plate company consider the action a breach of trust and say that henceforth they are determined to cut loose from union labor entirely.

The association officials treat the threat with indifference, their only reply being that the company cannot carry out its plan because nearly all of the skilled tin workers of the country are members of the association, and the plants cannot be run without them. The corporation, however, has started several of its plants in a way and claims to have all the men necessary within reach to operate them in full as soon as the machinery is in proper shape.

The developments of the day would appear to evidence slow but sure gains by the corporation.

According to the reports from the organized tube workers who are striking in sympathy with the Amalgamated association, there is a lot of trouble for the hasty action they took in walking out of the plants of the National Tube company without the formality of submitting their cause to the general officers of the American Federation of Labor. It has been discovered, so the men say, that they have violated the constitution of the federation, which provides that before going out on strike a local lodge receiving a charter direct from the American Federation of Labor must submit a list of grievances to the executive council of the federation for approval. Failure to do this cuts off the striking lodge from all strike benefits from the federation or from all other allied trades unions.

Most of the tube workers struck without this formality having been gone through with. To settle the strike now they have no general officers to act for them, and only the various lodge officers can act in matters pertaining to peace.

President Shaffer reiterates his positive statement that all efforts for peace that are being made by the Civic federation are without authority from him. He says that if official overtures are made by the combine they will be considered, but that was all. He denies that he knows any move that is being made in New York except what he has seen in the papers. Other officials of the Amalgamated association say there is no change in the strike. Everything is quiet, and the men are satisfied with the way things are going.

Reports from all the mills now partially operated with nonunion men are to the effect that the management is making gains in its force, and as a rule time is being given toward inducing the old men to return to their places. It is said that in most cases this work has been successful. Officials of the Demmler tin mills have announced their intention to start that plant during the present week. It is claimed that the men to operate the mill will come from the ranks of the former employees, and no men will be imported.

SCHWAB TAKES BETHLEHEM.

Big Deal For Steel Concern Closed by a $4,032,000 Check.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—The Bethlehem Steel company, which also includes the Bethlehem Iron company, has passed into the hands of Charles M. Schwab. A check for $4,032,000 was deposited with the Girard Trust company by Drexel & Co. in payment of 168,000 shares of the Bethlehem Steel stock. The total number of shares in the company is 300,000. Immediately after the receipt of the check a new board of directors and new officers were elected.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Bethlehem Steel company was called for 11 o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour a quorum of the board was present, but no word had been received from Mr. Schwab. The meeting was adjourned until 12:30 o'clock, and as Mr. Schwab's representative had not yet appeared a further adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock. When the directors finally met, Max Pam of New York was present, representing Mr. Schwab, and the stock and money were speedily transferred. Mr. Pam had arranged with Drexel & Co. to pay the required amount to the Girard Trust company, and when word was received that the stock on deposit had been delivered the new directors were elected. The new board is as follows: R. P. Linderman, E. T. Stotesbury, E. M. McIlvaine, Archibald Johnston, George F. Baer, J. P. Ord and Charles McVeagh. The officers are: E. M. McIlvaine, president; A. N. Borie, vice president; H. S. Snyder, secretary; A. N. Claver, treasurer; Archibald Johnston, general superintendent.

All of the directors are new with the exception of Mr. Linderman and Mr. Stotesbury, who served on the old board. George F. Baer is president of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway company. E. T. Stotesbury is a member of the firm of Drexel & Co. J. P. Ord and Charles McVeagh are said to be New York capitalists. Messrs. Linderman, McIlvaine and Johnston were connected with the old Bethlehem Steel company, the former as president.

President McIlvaine declined to state whether Mr. Schwab had purchased the stock for himself or for other persons. He said, however, that the company would remain independent, but would be more aggressive than it had been in the past.

READY TO SIGN.

Chinese Plenipotentiaries Will Put Their Names to the Protocol.

PEKING, Aug. 28.—Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching, the Chinese plenipotentiaries, have notified the foreign ministers that they are prepared to sign the protocol.

This means that a courier has arrived with the two edicts asked for in regard to the punishment of certain Chinese officials in the provincial list, which the ministers had allowed the Chinese to examine and decide upon the punishments, and the question of what examinations shall be prohibited as a punishment for the Boxer uprising.

A third edict was also received by telegraph in regard to the order for razing of certain forts by China. These three edicts cover all the points at variance between the ministers and the plenipotentiaries. The Chinese representatives asked for these edicts some time ago. The delay was probably due to the desire of the court to consult with the southern viceroys, Chang Chih Tung and Liu Kun Yi. The protocol will probably be signed tomorrow.

Boston Banks Sued.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—Acting under instructions from the treasury department, Assistant United States District Attorney John H. Casey has brought suit in the United States circuit court against six national banks of this city to recover on pension checks taken by them for collection. The sums for which the banks are sued range from $7,000 down a sliding scale, the banks affected being the National Exchange, the National Bank of Redemption, the First National, the National Bank of the Commonwealth, the National Bank of the Republic, the Merchants' National bank and the Atlantic National. The allegation is that the banks have paid fraudulent pension vouchers after having drawn upon the subtreasury in this city for the amount. The suits are the outcome of the arrest and conviction of W. A. Munson, who died recently in the Rhode Island state prison. Munson was sentenced to ten years for unlawfully making false certificates on pension vouchers and for fraudulent indorsements.

The Outlook In South Africa.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—"It is reported here," says a dispatch from Cape Town to The Daily Express, "that a portion of Scheeper's commando is close to Mossel Bay, midway between Cape Town and Port Elizabeth." The editorial in The Times today on the South African situation reflects the cold fit which has followed the optimistic hopes as to the effect of Lord Kitchener's proclamation. Commenting upon the meager news from the front, The Times says: "It is quite clear that if we want an end of the war we must strike hard and often. Proclamations and blockhouses are all very well and may be useful, but the experience of the Spaniards has shown that the most sonorous proclamation is of little good without plenty of men and horses. Everything depends upon vigor and persistence in pushing the Boers in the field. Are we providing those means for the warm season, which soon begins?"

Train Wrecked by a Washout.

DANVILLE, Va., Aug. 28.—A passenger train on the Southern railway ran into a washout ten miles from this city, injuring a number of people, but none seriously. The washout was caused by a little creek which had become swollen from a heavy rain Monday night. The engine and baggage car passed safely over the stream, and not until the day coaches reached it did it give way. The injured were brought to this city and cared for at the Home For the Sick.

Laxakola for Babies.—It is the best and most effective laxative for children. BEST because it is safe and made entirely of harmless ingredients. BEST because it is non-irritating and never gripes or causes pain or irritation. BEST because it is sure and never fails. BEST because "Children like it and ask for it." BEST because its tonic properties are so good and so strengthening that it keeps the little ones in fine, hearty condition.

It is a dangerous thing to give little babies violent cathartics that rack and rend their little bodies. DON'T DO IT—give them Laxakola. For constipation, coated tongue, simple colds and fevers it is invaluable.

Laxakola for Young Girls on the threshold of womanhood, has been found invaluable. When they become pale and languid, the eyes dull, aching head, feet and hands cold, appetite gone or abnormal, and their systems generally run down, they need building up, and their blood needs cleansing. Give them Laxakola, its gentle bowel action to cleanse and its tonic properties to build up the system, will show immediate and most beneficial results.

Laxakola for Mothers.—It is particularly valuable and useful to women, especially mothers, as it is a gentle and safe remedy to use during all conditions of health whenever their peculiar and delicate constitutions require a mild and efficient laxative and tonic, while to nursing mothers, worn out with the care of infants and whose systems therefore are particularly susceptible to disease Laxakola particularly appeals.

It clears the complexion, brightens the eye, sharpens the appetite, removes muddy and blotched condition of the skin and cures sick headache to a certainty by removing the cause.

To women suffering from chronic constipation, headaches, biliousness, dizziness, sallowness of the skin and dyspepsia, Laxakola will invariably bring relief.

Laxakola for Old Folks.—In the Autumn and Winter of Life, when the various organs through long years of action have become more or less sluggish, it becomes necessary to stimulate them by some remedy best adapted to that purpose. That Laxakola is such, has been proved beyond all question. Its gentle warming, soothing action on the bowels, liver and kidneys, stimulates them to increased activity, cleanses the blood, quickens the circulation, and puts the whole system in a condition of health and enables it to ward off disease, while its tonic properties tone up the system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It.

Laxakola is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical because it combines two medicines for one price, tonic and laxative. No other remedy gives so much for the money. All druggists, 25c. and 50c., or free sample of The LAXAKOLA CO., 132 Nassau St., N. Y., or 356 Dearborn St., Chicago.

SULTAN A PERJURER

France Severs Relations With Turkey.

TURKISH EMBASSADOR IS WARNED.

A Semiofficial Note Declares That Negotiations For a Settlement of Differences Is Now at an End.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—A semiofficial note just issued says:

"On Aug. 17 an arrangement concerning the various disputes between France and Turkey was effected with the porte. The terms were drafted by the Ottoman minister of foreign affairs, Tewfik Pasha, with the approval of the sultan, who promised M. Constans, the French embassador to Constantinople, that the full text would be handed to him on Aug. 18 M. Constans telegraphed on Aug. 19 that none of the porte's promises had been fulfilled.

"On Aug. 21 M. Constans, the minister of foreign affairs, telegraphed M. Constans that in view of the complete disregard of its undertakings by Turkey France was unable to continue the negotiations. M. Delcasse requested M. Constans to inform the porte that he had received orders to leave Constantinople.

"M. Constans communicated this to the ports on Aug. 23 and announced that he would depart on Aug. 26. As none of the porte's promises had been kept on that date M. Constans left Constantinople.

"With the departure of M. Constans from Constantinople the relations between France and Turkey may be regarded as having been broken off.

"Munir Bey, the Turkish embassador to France, who is absent from Paris, has been requested by telegraph not to return here, in order that the government may not be compelled to hand him his passports."

A newspaper here, announcing that M. Constans, French minister to Constantinople, has been recalled, adds that France is prepared to send a naval division to the Bosporus to repair the injury done by the sultan, who has thrice perjured himself. This news is discredited. The Journal des Debats declares that the French demands on Turkey have not been definitely accepted and adds that the previous reports of a settlement were too optimistic.

Chun's Delay Causes Comment.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—In view of the fact that the expiatory mission of Prince Chun, brother of the emperor of China, was one of the conditions of peace embodied in the demands of the powers the interruption of the journey of Prince Chun, who is now in Basel, Switzerland, has created considerable comment. The excuse of sickness is nowhere entertained seriously. Taken in conjunction with the sudden detention in Shanghai of the expiatory mission to Japan, it is believed to indicate fresh complications with reference to the signing of the protocol in Peking. The German papers, which comment in a guarded way, suggest that the delay of Prince Chun is due to an intimation from Emperor William as to certain matters of ceremony and etiquette with which Prince Chun is unable or unwilling to comply without permission from the Chinese court.

New York Pay Roll Increased.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—More than three columns of The City Record, just published, are taken up with the names and salaries of persons appointed to positions in city departments for about three months. This list contains several hundred names, and the amount of salary is $184,275. Besides this there is a sufficient sum in promotions to bring the total up to $200,000. The largest item of appointments is in the fire department, where 73 men were appointed at $800, making $58,400. There are also a number of men appointed to various positions at from $2.50 to $4 per day and a number of others at from $1,000 to $2,000 per annum.

Four Drowned In a Small Stream.

RUTHERFORDTON, N. C., Aug. 28.—William Mills, 50 years old, and his daughter-in-law, 30 years of age, and her two boys were drowned in a small stream in this town. Mr. Mills attempted to cross a swift branch which was about four feet deep, when the wagon struck a log, turning it over. He carried the two youngest children, a boy and a girl, 3 and 4 years old, to a fence near by and went back to get his daughter-in-law and the two other children, but they were all drowned. The bodies of the old gentleman and daughter were recovered. The bodies of the two boys have not been found.

Gambling House Robbed.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 28.—One of the most sensational robberies ever committed here has been brought to the attention of the police. A gambling house was the sufferer, and the stolen "roll" amounted to $4,200. A discharged volunteer soldier known only as Green was the robber. He held up the gambling house single handed with a brace of revolvers, cleaned out the safe and departed unmolested. The gamblers did not report the affair, which came to the ears of the police in another way, and it is believed Green has put himself beyond the reach of pursuit.

Severe Storm In Alabama.

EUFAULA, Ala., Aug. 28.—A heavy wind and rain storm swept over this city and section yesterday. A bolt of lightning struck a building under construction and did considerable damage. Trees were uprooted, and many fences were blown down. The damage to crops will be heavy. The storm was worst at Clayton, Ala. A drug store was flooded and the entire stock almost ruined.

Fatal Electric Storm.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Aug. 28.—Texarkana was visited by a most severe electrical and rain storm yesterday. Professor Gasby's son was struck by lightning and killed, his neck being broken. He was under an umbrella with a companion, who also was badly shocked. Two colored churches were struck and badly damaged. One residence was destroyed and others damaged.

Drowned While Surf Bathing.

OCEAN CITY, N. J., Aug. 28.—John M. Devlin, Jr., aged 14 years, of Philadelphia, was drowned while bathing in the surf. The lad was drowned just outside the inner line of breakers about four blocks north of the regular bathing grounds, which place is not patrolled by the city life guards.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS' CONCLAVE.

Thirty Thousand Uniformed Men March at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 28.—It is estimated that 300,000 people witnessed the parade of Knights Templars. Thirty thousand Knights in full uniform went in line, forming an imposing spectacle with which to begin the twenty-eighth triennial conclave. The march started at 9:40 a. m. and was finished at 1:30 p. m., after covering a distance of four miles. The course was protected by wires strung along the sidewalks to keep spectators in check. This innovation in handling holiday crowds was considered highly successful, although a few adventurous spectators dodged under the wire at various points along the route when the police were not watching. The weather early was clear and cool, but by noon the heat became somewhat oppressive, and there were 11 cases of prostration due to heat and exhaustion. Sir Knight Irwin Batnard of Greenville, Ind., was overcome while marching. His condition tonight was reported serious. A portion of the Y. M. C. A. reviewing stand at Fourth street and Broadway collapsed. Half a dozen people sustained bruises, and Mrs. James Carnarhan of Washington suffered a broken ankle.

The crack commanderies from Chicago, Pittsburg and San Francisco attracted special attention by their magnificent appearance. Columbia commandery, No. 2, of Washington came in for wild applause all along the route as Sir Knight Rear Admiral Schley is a member of it and had been expected to march with his comrades. Although he was absent, at every point in the course when the Washington men appeared the crowd took up the cry, "Schley, Schley, Schley—hurrah for Schley!"

Later, when the formal exercises to the Knights were extended by Judge Barker of Louisville, acting for Governor Beckham, and Former Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge, the mention of Schley's name elicited applause so enthusiastically that both speakers were compelled to stop for several minutes.

Colonel Breckinridge delivered the chief address. Grand Master Lloyd responded briefly. The key to the city was presented to him by Mayor Weaver.

Colored Knights In Session.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The eleventh annual convention of the Colored Knights of Pythias opened here, with delegates present from all parts of the United States, South and Central America, Australia and the Hawaiian Islands. Consideration of credentials and other preliminary matters occupied most of the day's session. At tomorrow's session an effort will be made to suppress the liquor traffic among members of the order. It appears that for several years past the liquor influence has been on the increase until now it is deemed by a large contingent that the good of the order can best be served by adopting a rule which shall tend to eliminate this influence.

Big Mining Strike Predicted.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—President Richardson and Secretary Gilmour of the United Mine Workers have returned from a trip to the various local unions of the Big Four mines and predict that at least 90 per cent of the 4,000 coal miners in the district will obey the strike order on Sept. 1. The miners are not fighting for an advance of wages, but to have the operators sign an agreement to employ only union men.

Pan-American Dog Show.

BUFFALO, Aug. 28.—The Pan-American dog show opened yesterday in the pavilions at the exposition grounds. There are more than 1,000 entries. Visitors thronged the pavilions from the moment the doors were opened. Dogs of almost every known variety are represented in the collection. Much attention is directed to the dogs owned by prominent people, and those of J. Frank Gould and Richard Harding Davis are the center of attraction.

Five Miners Rescued.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Five of the ten miners who were entombed at the Dunbristle colliery in Perthshire were rescued, when the sides of the mine again collapsed, entombing two of the rescuers. These, with the rescue party of four who have failed to return, make 11 in all whose fate is still doubtful.

Russian Beet Crop Injured.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—"The Russian beet crop has been seriously damaged by a plague of caterpillars," says a dispatch to The Standard from Moscow. "The loss is variously estimated at from 25 to 50 per cent."

Short Crops.

The seriousness of the great drought, which prevailed throughout the greater part of the country during June and July, is beginning to be felt. While the east escaped to some extent the loss suffered in the west from lack of rain, yet the crops here are far below the average. The soil had become fairly baked, and the rains during the fore part of this month came too late to afford any relief. The crops were dwarfed and in this condition they were harvested.

Right here in Union county the loss will be considerable. It is conservatively estimated that the annual crops of wheat, rye and oats will be reduced one-half. Reports emanating from other sections of the State reveal similar conditions. The result is that the prices of grain and vegetables are unusually high. Potatoes, for instance, are bringing $1 25 per bushel, wholesale, at present. At this time last year they brought sixty cents per bushel, wholesale, and that was the normal price. The contrast presented in the case of potatoes applies in general to all vegetables, and fruits as well.

It should be remembered in this connection that it is not the farmer that suffers the most. His crops are diminished but his prices are enhanced. It is the poor man who feels most keenly the condition. To him it is a special hardship. His income will remain the same, while the price of living advances. He is the man who can afford to stand it the least and yet must bear the brunt of the condition. It is well to bear this in mind, when there is so much talk of the poor farmer suffering from the small crops.

It may surprise some readers to learn that the foreign demand for many American machines and other industrial products is partly the result of extensive advertising in the leading newspapers of Europe, says the Philadelphia Record. The London agents of American establishments have considered newspaper advertising as the best entering wedge, and have reported that it has proved satisfactory.

Rumors to the contrary, notwithstanding, the municipal ownership committee of the North Plainfield Council is still performing the arduous task of solving the water question. It would be a welcome surprise should the committee forget to report "progress" and really present some material evidence of its labors at the ensuing meeting of the councilmanic body.

Another band concert is scheduled for Friday evening. These musical treats are greatly enjoyed by the people, and it is a matter of regret that the contributions for defraying the expenses have not been as large as desired. There is a considerable shortage at present, and the opportunity is presented for public spirited citizens to assist in making up the deficit.

There are some people in this city who can recall the time when there was much agitation in favor of a new opera house. Recently the subject has not been brought to the public's attention. Possibly for fear that something would really be done.

The resident 'across the brook' is the lucky one this year. The tax rate of the city and borough were the same last year. Now the rate for this municipality has been raised some points, while the rate for North Plainfield will undoubtedly be decreased.

The Paterson people are indignant because the letter addressed to "Hell, N. J.," was sent to their city. On the other hand, Justice Jerome and others of the metropolis seem bent on proving that New York and hades are synonimous.

The fact that some members of the Hillside Club played golf in the driving rain Saturday would lead one to believe that the game is fascinating when the players will not come in out of the rain.

The American College of Heraldry has been incorporated and is prepared to do business in New York. The Duke of Gloucester can now get his bearings on the armorial variety.

An exchange declares that "all the railroads must elevate if the deluges continue." Whether it means that the rates of transportation will be raised is not stated.

When the addition to Saengerbund Hall is completed, the citizens of the borough will have a public meeting place large enough to answer all requirements.

It's strange how many men with political ambitions suddenly become attacked with a desire to purify public morality just about campaign time.

The Jersey City authorities having been making a raid on immoral show posters. It would be better to make a raid on the men posting the bills.

The sharp shootere are in camp at Sea Girt. They should be put to work killing off some misguided gubernatorial ambitions.

Over 7,500,000 tons of coal were exported from this country last year, and the Americans had plenty "to burn" in addition.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The rule is judicially laid down in New Jersey that a railroad car seat cannot be "held for a friend" by force and arms without the would-be holder's being subjected to a round fine. That is as it should be. But now what are we to do with the boor who holds a seat not by force but by virtue of sheer hoggishness?—New York Tribune.

IT ASTONISHED HIM.

And It Must Be Said That His Astonishment Was Nothing More Than Natural.

Standing in front of a Locust street stable the other afternoon was a man in overalls, pulling bales of hay up into the loft with the aid of a rope and pulley. He looked the picture of health, and the exertion was as nothing to him, says the Philadelphia Record. Presently along came another man. He was fat and pudgy-looking, and his skin had an unhealthy color. His general appearance betokened the overfed club man. He was carefully groomed, and was evidently a man of leisure. He stood for perhaps a minute watching the other man at work, and then he said: "Would you mind letting me take your place for awhile? I am troubled with indigestion, and have been suffering all day. I think that would do me good."

The stableman's eyes seemed ready to pop out of his head. "Sure," he said; "sure." The pudgy dyspeptic carefully removed his gloves and grasped the rope. It was hard work, and it made him red in the face, but he finally landed the bale where another man in the loft could take it in. Then he tried another and another, and kept it up for about ten minutes. When he relinquished the rope to the stableman he slipped a coin into the latter's hand, saying: "Thank you, very much. That has done me more good than all the medicine in the world." As he disappeared around the corner the laborer was heard to mutter: "Well, I'll be d—d!" That was as near as his vocabulary could come to doing justice to the occasion.

IS IT A PLEASURE TO DIE?

A London Writer Combats the Idea That It Is Agonizing to Shuffle Off This Mortal Coil.

The popular idea that the act of dying is a painful process often causes a fear of death. But death from even the most painful mortal diseases is usually preceded by a period of cessation from suffering and partial or complete insensibility, resembling falling asleep or the pleasant gradual unconsciousness caused by an anaesthetic, according to a writer in the London Spectator.

The common phrase "death agony" is not warranted by what occurs in natural death, which is a complete relief from all pain. When death is owing to heart failure or syncope it is sudden and painless—perhaps pleasant. Death by hanging, there is reason to believe, is attended by a voluptuous spasm. Death by decapitation or electricity is only a momentary shock, hardly felt. Death by poisoning varies in painfulness according to the poison employed. Opium and other narcotics probably give a painless, perhaps a pleasant, dreamful death. Hemlock, as we know from the account of the death of Socrates, causes a gradual insensibility from below upward. On the other hand, arsenic, strychnine, carbolic and mineral acids, corrosive sublimate, tartar emetic, and other metallic poisons inflict slow and torturing death. Prussic acid and cyanide of potassium cause quick and painful death.

A FINE FIELD FOR WOMEN.

More Than 2,000 Employed at the Pan-American Exposition in Various Capacities.

Upwards of 2,000 women find daily employment at the exposition in all capacities, from weeding gardens and tending flowers and washing dishes up to managing exhibits. They earn wages that run from two dollars to $2.50 a week up to $60, with an average that is probably considerably below ten dollars. More are employed in the Midway than in any other section of the exposition. There they are ticket sellers, ticket takers, cashiers, waitresses, ballyhoos performers and managers. Nearly 500 of them are doing work of one sort or another in the Midway, says a Buffalo exchange.

In the main show outside of the Midway they are employed in greatest numbers as waitresses in the restaurants scattered about the grounds. These are nearly all in the low grade as far as salary is concerned. In the great Manufacturers' and Machinery buildings they find work to do that is much better paid. Some of the exhibits are in the sole charge of women—exhibits that depend very largely on the skill and cleverness of the attendants for their success and popularity. This is especially true of all the food exhibits.

Find New Varieties of Fish.

President David Starr Jordan has returned to Stanford university from his trip to the Hawaiian islands, where he has been for the past two months conducting a thorough and detailed study of the fisheries and fishes of the islands under the direction of the United States fish commission.

About 240 species of fish have thus far been collected and classified, 50 of which are new to science. A complete report of the laws and customs of the islanders relative to fishing is being made by J. N. Cobb, the statistician of the party. This information, together with the results of the scientific work by Dr. Jordan, will be embodied in an extensive report to the government.

"I am cashier in a large Philadelphia grocery store and taste everything that comes along," writes a young lady who requests that her name shall not be given. "I have suffered from dyspepsia," she adds, "for twelve years. I first had heartburn and afterward typhoid fever. Have suffered a living death, taking all kinds of medicine, and all for no good. I have been so bad that I would almost get out of my mind. Life was not really worth living. I bore it until I was taken with typhoid a second time. While in Cincinnati the doctor there said I had a fourteenth stomach. I could not keep medicine on my stomach, so I came home. I had been taking doctor's medicine ever since last June. Some weeks ago I saw the Ripans Tabule ad in the Philadelphia Record and determined to try them, 'ill or cure.' Now I am able to eat a great many things in moderation that I had not touched for years. With the distress there used to come a bunch of flesh that appeared just where the ribs come together. Nothing seemed to prevent its coming. It would burst: anything I put on, and it had a heavy, distressed, dull feeling for about thirty minutes, then disappear as quickly as it came. The inside of my stomach seemed like a big ulcer that gathered and broke and then gathered again. At times I would have a winding as the winding of a clock. I also had a very bad skin, which was of a mean color and I have been told I was of the color of a dead chicken. I am thirty-two years old and if I live to be a hundred I will always take Ripans Tabules as long as I can buy them. By using them I have gained twenty-two pounds since I recovered from the fever, and can fill my position just as well as any of the other cashiers."

HOW TO SERVE ICES.

Some Simple and Some Ornamental Ways.

At this time of the year when ices form the most popular desserts it is a good thing to know how to serve them attractively, particularly when there is company at dinner and the hostess wishes a rather fancy effect at a slight cost. One of the simplest ways is to put the ice cream in champagne glasses and to surmount it with a couple of spoonfuls of whipped cream sprinkled with grated almonds. Raspberry sherbet is particularly good when served this way. Another idea is to hollow out the individual cones of ice cream and fill them with crushed fruit of a color to correspond. For instance, a pink ice cream will contain crushed raspberries, a vanilla ice cream sliced pineapple, and so forth. The effect is very pretty when the ice served to each person is of a different color.

When something more elaborate is desired, serving the ices in flower cups will be found a good way. Again the color of the ices should match the flower. At a rose luncheon recently the ices were held in rose cups of different shades. These roses were made of crepe paper, and they were fastened to real rose stems with the natural foliage. They also rested on a little bed of rose leaves so that the effect was quite natural. These rose cups can easily be made at home by any woman who is clever with her fingers.

IN A ROSE CUP.

In the first place make the shell of heavy writing paper, cutting it out in a circle and shaping it by pressing it down over the bottom of an inverted tumbler. Next turn the shell upward and glue around the edges a row of small rose leaves. Make two rows of these, the lower having larger leaves than the upper. Place a third row of large inter petals on the lower edge of the shell. When the petals have dried sufficiently, curl them by running them between a knife blade and your thumb. Next fasten a long, handsome rose stem with the foliage and thorns to one side of the rose and your cup is finished, with the exception of the inner shell of oiled paper which holds the cream.

The ices served in these roses should be molded quite hard into pyramids by means of the little cones which can be procured at any confectioner's. This scheme of decoration can be carried out with almost any flowers, and it is also very dainty when the cups are concealed in bunches of artificial violets which are perfumed with Russian violet extract.

VEILS.

They Either Make or Mar a Woman's Complexion.

Many are the uses of veils. If the mere man were to be asked what they were for, he would no doubt answer, "To keep a woman's hat straight and hair in order on a windy day." But that is only one of the least things. Somewhere way back in the annals of time a passe woman saw the possibilities of a veil by way of improving her much worn complexion, and ever since it has been the great standby of the woman no longer young. Then take into consideration how convenient a fluffy mass of chiffon is to conceal some color in one's hat which does not go with the gown one is wearing or to give the hat renewed freshness when it has seen hard wear. Nowadays it is the style to wear almost continually a soft veil draped around the brim of one's hat, and this veil is changed to match one's different toilets. It is both a pretty and an economical style, as it saves expensive millinery from the dust and strong sunlight and, by changing its appearance, it makes one hat do the work of many.

"But I don't look well in a veil!" I hear some one say. That is because you don't make a discreet choice. Let me give you a few hints. In the first place leave all heavily barred and dotted effects alone. They would detract from the beauty of Venus herself. Leave those veils to women who are obliged to hide their complexions. You want something which will show yours off. Dark veils should be absolutely avoided by brunettes unless they are used simply on the hat. On the other hand there isn't one blond in ten who looks well in a white chiffon veil. The blond girl should adopt blue, green or black chiffon veils, a coarse black net with a saucy velvet dot or the thinnest of white illusion. Brown or red haired women look stunning in brown chiffon veils or in cream chiffon with white dots. The dark haired woman with a pale complexion looks best in a cream illusion with a black velvet dot set rather widely apart. She should not attempt white chiffon unless her hair is very dark or her complexion has some color. A gray veil requires vivid coloring and looks best on a red haired woman. The size and closeness of the dots should be according to the size of the features. A woman with a large face looks well in fewer dots, but of a larger size than those worn by her sister with delicate features. A plain cream illusion veil is almost universally becoming.

One brilliant afternoon, as she lay on the broad, cane-bottomed bedstead with its overhanging canopy of filmy netting, she drowsily heard the corporal posting the new sentinel in the marbled corridor below, and then marching the relief to the rear gate opening to the beach. Nita was already up and moving about in her room. Margaret heard the rustle of her skirts and the light patter of her tiny feet as she sped over the hardwood floor of the main salon. She heard her throwing back the sliding shutters that kept out the glare of the sun in the morning hours, and knew that she was gazing out over the tree-dotted lawn toward the gate where the guard lounged through the warm afternoon. All of a sudden, quick and stirring, a bugle sounded over on the Calle Nueva, where the North Dakotas had a strong detachment. The call was repeated, and, army woman though she was, she did not recognize it. She could not remember ever having heard it before. Then up the street, from the engineer barrack, there came thrilling echo, and there was a sound of movement and excitement along the dusty thoroughfare. She heard Nita calling her name, and then the child's quick, nervous step along the hallway toward the stairs. Then came a sudden stop, a gasping, wailing cry, and, springing from her bed and to the door, Margaret found her sister cowering before a tall slender man in the rough dress and field equipment of a private soldier. With a little packet—letters, apparently—held forth in one hand, while the other grasped her wrist, Rollin Latrobe stood sternly gazing at the girl shrinking at his feet.

The tableau was over in another second. Springing up the broad marble stairs came Billy Gray, the corporal of the guard at his heels, and Latrobe saw his danger in a flash. Throwing little Gray aside as he would a terrier, the young athlete whirled on the stalwart regular. There was the sound of a crashing blow, followed by a heavy fall. The corporal went rolling down the steps with Latrobe bounding over the tumbling form, and the next instant he had vaulted over the ledge of the open window on the lower floor, and vanished through the gateway to the beach. And now all along the Calle Real the bugles were sounding "To Arms!"

CHAPTER XVI.

That was a wild day in Manila. Far over near the Escolta somebody shot at a vagrant dog lapping water from a little pool under one of the many hydrants. The soldier police essayed an arrest; the culprit broke and ran; the guard fired; a lot of coolies, taking alarm, fled jabbering to the river side. The natives, looking for trouble any moment, rushed to their homes. Some soldiers on pass and unarmed tumbled over the tables and chairs in the Alhambra in their dash for the open street. A stampede sergeant told a bugler to sound to arms, and in the twinkling of an eye the call was taken up from barrack to barrack, and the news went flashing out by wire to the extreme front. The shopkeepers hastily put up their shutters and bolted their doors. Cabs, carts, quilez and carromattas—even the street cars—were instantly seized by the soldiery scattered all over town, and utilized to take them tearing back to join their regiments. In five minutes the business streets downtown were deserted. Chinese cowered within their crowded huts. The natives, men and women, either hid within the shelter of their homes or fled to the sanctuary of the many churches. All over the great city the alarm spread like wildfire. The battalions formed under arms, those nearest the outer lines being marched at once to their positions in support, those nearer the walled city waiting for orders. Foreign residents took matters more coolly than did the Asiatic; German phlegm, English impassiveness and Yankee devil-may-care-ishness preventing a panic. But those who had families and owned or could hire carriages and launches were not slow in seeking for their households the refuge of the fleet of transports lying placidly at anchor in the bay, where Dewey's bluejackets shifted their quids, went coolly to their stations and, grouped about their guns, quietly awaited further developments. In an agony of fear Col. Frost had bidden his driver to lash the ponies to a gallop and go like the wind to Malate; but the appearance of the long ranks of sturdy infantry resting on their arms and beginning to look bored, measurably reassured him before he reached his home. Once there, however, the sight of Nita, clinging hysterically to her sister and moaning on her bed, was sufficient to determine his first move, which was to wire for his launch to come around to the bay shore and take them off to the fleet. The next was to send and ask for an officer and 20 men from the Cuartel, on receiving which message the major commanding, standing on the dusty roadway in front of his men, grinned under his grizzled mustache and said: "Frost's got 'em again. Here, Gray, you go over and tell him to keep his hair on, that it's nothing but a fake alarm." And Gray, glad enough of the chance to go again into the presence of the woman who so fascinated him, sped on his mission. He was in a fury over his recent humiliation in her very sight—he, a commissioned officer, tossed aside like a child and outwitted by this daring intruder in the shape of a private soldier—he and his guard brushed away and derided by a young fellow in some strange regiment—who had easily escaped along the beach to an adjoining inclosure into which he darted and was no more seen. The streets were full of scurrying soldiers, and it was the simplest thing in the world for him to mingle with them and make his way to his own command. Of course, Gray well knew who the man must be—Nita's troublesome lover of whom Witchie had told him so much. There was his chance to recover the letters and claim the reward; but man and letters both had escaped his grasp; and when he pulled up, blown and exhausted after fruitless chase, he was brought to his senses by the sight of his own men falling in "for business," and he had to scamper for his sword and join them.

He held her wrist.

That was a miserable evening. Margaret Garrison was the only member of the household who seemed to have her wits about her and her nerves under control, for Frank, her liege lord, had his duty elsewhere, and not until hours later trotted slowly home. Margaret plainly let Gray understand how he had fallen in her estimation at being so easily tossed aside. A warning finger was laid upon her lip. "Not one word of what has happened while he is here," she muttered; and a nod of her fluffy head toward the perturbed colonel told plainly that the chief of the household really had no place in the family councils. To the sisters that alarm was a blessing in disguise. It was all sufficient to account for Nita's prostration. To the rash and reckless lad, who, claiming to be an orderly with a letter from the colonel, had been passed by the gate guard to the open stairway, it afforded ample cover for escape, when, alarmed by Nita's cry, Gray and the corporal came springing to her aid. To Gray himself it gave only a few minutes' forgetfulness of his trouble, for, smarting under the sting of a woman's only half-hidden disdain, he would have welcomed with almost savage joy some fierce battle with a skillful foe, some scene in which he could compel her respect and admiration. He was still smarting and stung when at last that opportunity came.

Long will Manila remember the night! It followed close upon the heels of warnings that for weeks held every officer and man to his post of duty. Day after day the strain increased. The insurgents, crowding upon our outposts in front of Santa Mesa on the north and of Santa Ana on the south side of the Pasig, had heaped insult and threats upon our silent sentries, compelled by orders to the very last to submit to anything but actual attack rather than bring on a battle. "The Americans are afraid," was the gleeful cry of Aguinaldo's officers, the jeer and taunt of his men. The regulars were soon to come and replace those volunteers, said the wiseacre of his cabinet, therefore strike now before the trained and disciplined troops arrive and sweep these big boors into the sea. And on the still, starlit night, sooner perhaps than his confederates within the walls intended, the rebel leader struck, and, long before the dawn of the lovely Sunday morn that followed, the fire flashed from 40,000 rifles in big semicircle around Manila, and the long-expected battle was on.

Hours after dawn, hours after the attack began, the —teenth were in extended battle order to the south of Malate confronted by thickets of bamboo that fairly swarmed with insurgents, yet, only by the incessant zip and "whiew" of their deadly missiles and the ceaseless crackle of rifle fire, could this be determined; for with their smokeless powder and their Indian-like skill in concealment nothing could be seen of their array. Over to the westward on the placid waters of the bay the huge Monadnock was driving shell after shell into the dense underbrush across the abandoned rice fields and the marshy flats that lined the shore. Over to the east resounding cheers and crashing volleys, punctuated by the sharp report of field guns, told that the comrade brigade was heavily engaged and, apparently, driving the enemy before them. To right and left their volunteer supports were banging into the brush with their heavy Springfields: and still there seemed no symptom or weakness along the immediate front, no sign of yielding. If anything the fury of the insurgent volleying increased as the sun climbed higher, and all along the blue-shirted line men grit their teeth and swore as they crouched or lay full length along the roadside, peering through the filmy veil that drifted slowly across their front—the smoke from the Springfields of the volunteers. To lie there longer with the bullets buzzing close overhead or biting deep into the low embankment, sometimes tearing a stinging path through human flesh and bone, was adding to the nerve strain of the hours gone by. To rush headlong across that intervening open space, through deep and muddy pools and stagnant ditch, and hurl themselves upon the lurking enemy in the bamboo copse beyond, had been the ardent longing of the line since daylight came to illumine the field before them. Yet stern orders withheld: Defend, but do not advance, said the general's message; and the whisper went along from man to man: "There is trouble in town behind us, and the chief may need us there."

But, as eight o'clock passed with no word of uprising in the rear, and the cheering over toward Santa Ana grew loud and louder, the nerve strain upon the —teenth became well-nigh intolerable. "For God's sake, can't we be doing something instead of lying here firing into a hornet's nest?" was the murmur that arose in more than one company along the impatient line; and the gruff voices of veteran sergeants could be heard ordering silence, while, moving up and down behind their men, the line officers cautioned against waste of ammunition and needless exposure. "Lie flat, men. Keep down!" were the words. "We won't have to stand this forever. You'll soon get your chance."

ITS AIMS ARE NOBLE.

Plan of the Christian Builders' Union of Chicago.

Would Restore Harmony Between Capital and Labor by Making the Golden Rule the Guide of Every Transaction.

If the Christian Builders' union succeeds in its purpose the time will come when there will be neither labor unions, strikes nor lock-outs. Every man in the building trades will be a teetotaler and a Christian gentleman. It is hardly expected that buildings will be erected in Chicago to an accompaniment of prayer and psalm singing, but there will certainly be praise and thanksgiving if the new organization accomplishes its aim. If employers and employes have differences they will apply the good old golden rule, and strive with good will and meditation to reach a just solution of their difficulties.

"I found I had to quit either my church or the union," said Henry P. Berck, a contracting carpenter at 1080 West Harrison street, Chicago, who has been the prime mover in the new organization. "At the union meetings many of the men cursed and flourished revolvers, and as a Christian man I concluded it was time for me to get out. I noticed also that the old unions worked against each other, and that many of the members were addicted to drink, which is the great curse of mankind. It seemed to me that it was time Christian workingmen got together to form an organization and do business on Christian principles.

"Our union started with 60 charter members, and we have many applications from men in all parts of Chicago, and even from other states. Our organization does not attempt to fix a scale of wages, and it is wholly different from the old unions. It takes in employers as well as wage workers. We also admit dealers in building material, and we shall take in honest real estate men, though it is hard to find honest men among them.

"In order to be admitted to full membership a man must be a Christian, but we will take others on probation. We shall have devotional meetings at the churches from time to time, and we purpose organizing a Catholic branch for the benefit of members of that church, several of whom have asked to join. As all members will be Christians, business will be done on the Christian policy of live and let live. There will be no strikes or lockouts, for if employer and employe can't agree they will go their separate ways. Every member must sign a pledge promising not to touch, taste or handle any intoxicating liquor while a member of the organization. We believe liquor to be the cause of many evils, especially among workingmen, and we intend to fight it all along the line. We shall also discourage the use of tobacco, and members are expected to abstain from profanity.

"You ask how our union is going to help its members in a material way? Well, here is a printed list of the members just issued. It contains all their names and addresses, classified by trades, and contractors are indicated by stars. This directory will be issued from time to time and will be an important feature of the organization. We expect members to help their fellows. Christian contractors will naturally prefer to employ Christian men. On the other hand, laboring men can apply to these contractors with the assurance of receiving Christian treatment. Members are expected to aid each other in finding employment. If one of them hears of an open job he will notify some friend in the union who may be in need of work. In other words, the union will run on the principle of cooperation and Christian helpfulness. When we are thoroughly organized we believe it will be possible to put up a building without the labor disturbances now so common.

Mr. Berck has been chosen president of the union. The vice president is C. D. Hill, a contracting painter at 274 Claremont avenue. The secretary is Frank Marshall, a carpenter at Harvey, and he has an assistant in the person of W. T. Hart, a cabinet maker at Wrightwood and Avers avenues. The treasurer is Richard Oates, a carpenter living at 295 Campbell avenue. President Berck's shop at 1080 West Harrison street is the headquarters of the union.

The Equal of Thirty Men.

A machine that will do the work of 30 expert mathematicians is being constructed by the government in its scientific instrument shop on Capitol hill in Washington. It is to be an improvement on an instrument in use in the bureau of the coast survey, in charge of calculating the tides.

JOSH BILLINGS SAYS:

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

SPORTING.

GOLF.

The next team match scheduled for the course at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course is between Hillside and Harbor Hill. The date is September 21.

It has been determined by the Golf Committee of the Park Golf Club that last Saturday's play on the course between W. R. Faber and Henry C. Wells does not count for the President's cup. It is necessary that four players compete, otherwise the scores do not count. This decision will throw out Saturday's scores and the standing for the cup will not be changed.

ROD AND GUN.

A party of well-known Plainfielders including A. Vanderbeek, T. S. Armstrong, H. C. Compton, S. B. Carson and Louis Moraller left yesterday for Barnegat, where they will spend several days fishing. They expect to return with enough fish for themselves and their friends.

NOT TO PAY CLAIM.

Colored Beneficial Association Meets and Decides Miss Watkins' Claim to be Invalid—Election Postponed.

The Plainfield and New Jersey Beneficial and Mutual Association met last evening at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, when Rev. E. E. Jackson gave an address on the progress of the association. He spoke of the good work being accomplished in all departments.

It was decided unanimously not to pay the claim of Miss Maria Watkins, of New York, as she had paid her dues when on a sick bed, which, according to the constitution, puts a member out of benefits. Rev. Mr. Smith, of Princeton, an agent for the association, was present and opposed strongly the payment of the benefits, but, at his request, the money paid into the association by Miss Watkins will be returned to her.

The members expected to elect officers last evening, but as the church was not considered the proper place to hold an election, this business was postponed until Wednesday evening of next week when a meeting will be held in the hall on West Second street.

Psalm and Song Meeting.

The prayer-meeting tonight in Trinity Reformed church will be a Psalm and song praise service, in which testimonies will be a feature of the meeting.

COUNCILMAN AS JUDGE.

Jan vanHerwerden Sits in City Court in Place of the Mayor.

Councilman Jan vanHerwerden, chairman of the finance committee, has been made Acting City Judge for the remainder of the week, on account of Mayor Jenking leaving yesterday for Buffalo. He sat as judge for the first time last evening, when Frank Schuck, Ben Eddy, Harry Lister, William Waglow and Fred Harold were arraigned before him. The defendants were charged by Gee Wah, a North avenue laundryman, with annoying him at midnight Monday. The young men are also said to have broken a window at Timbo's store at the same time. All pleaded not guilty to the charge, and at Chief Kiely's request the case was adjourned until September 3.

MAY LOSE BIG CONCERN.

LACK OF HELP MAY COMPEL HERZIG & KAPP TO REMOVE.

Firm Employes 120 Women in Shirt Factory—Wants at Least Seventy-Five More Women.

While the local Board of Trade and Plainfield citizens in general are making every effort to secure new industries for this city, there is a grave possibility that one might be lost. It is the Herzig & Kapp skirt factory which has been located in the rink building for the past year. For the very same reason that the company was forced to abandon its quarters at Dover, Morris county, and move to this city, it may again have to secure a new location, much as the officials regret it.

The difficulty has been in the inability to procure a sufficient number of female operators. During the past week girls from New York State have been given positions and there is still a demand for more. At present there are 120 young women employed at the factory. With the force increased to twice that amount, numerous machines now remaining idle could be operated with but a slight increase in the cost and the subsequent output of the factory doubled. Seventy-five girls could be placed at work at once, but despite the most liberal terms offered, it is practically impossible to secure one from this city.

Edwin Kapp, the senior member of the firm, said today that while he is perfectly satisfied with Plainfield in many particulars, the factory would in all probability be moved unless a larger working force is secured. The cost of moving would mean a large outlay of money and the subsequent teaching of new operators for some time. The firm will, however, make every effort to remain in Plainfield, provided the proper number of hands can be secured.

EXHIBIT OF THE PRUDENTIAL

Insurance Company, With the Strength of Gibraltar, Has Interesting Exhibits at Buffalo.

To the millions of Prudential policyholders that insurance company's exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition will undoubtedly prove one of considerable interest at the big fair. In particular will it be valuable to all who are interested in life insurance problems and results. Students of statistics and members of the medical profession will find the exhaustive exhibit of medical statistics of considerable scientific value. The exhibit is indicative of the high degree or care and skill with which the interests of policy-holders of the Prudential are protected.

An exhibit was made by the Prudential at Paris last year and met with such favor from the jury of awards that a gold medal was granted to the Prudential, the only gold medal awarded to an American life insurance company.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO HAVE STATE HOME

Institution Likely to be Decided Upon at Meeting of Grand Lodge.

HOMES IN OTHER STATES.

THE OHIO PYTHIAN HOME A MODEL INSTITUTION.

Jersey Can Afford to Build the House—What is Required—Arrangements Elsewhere.

The local Knights of Pythias are deeply interested in the establishment of a Pythian Home in New Jersey, similar to those in Ohio, New York and other States. When the Grand Lodge meets at Trenton next February, this will be one of the most important questions to come before that body. The local lodges which are in a flourishing and healthy condition and are numbered, it is understood, among the most influential in the State, are much interested in the establishment of a State home.

For some time past there has been a strong sentiment among Jersey Pythians that there should be such a home, but owing to the great cost, the scheme has been met with much opposition. Now this opposition is being overcome, and it is quite likely that this State will fall in line with other States. It is said that a majority of of the local Knights favor the plan and will lend their influence in adopting such measures as will make the home a reality.

At the Grand Lodge meeting last year, a committee, consisting of Past Grand Chancellor Somers T. Champion, of Atlantic Highlands, Lewis H. Schenck, of Newark, and Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, was appointed, and they will make a report in February.

The matter has been pretty thoroughly discussed in this State, and it is the wish of nearly every member that a home be established. They have inquired into the costs in other States, and contend that New Jersey can well afford one.

The Ohio Pythian Home consists at present of six buildings, the original central building, three cottages, a power house and a hospital. Exclusive of the hospital the five buildings cost in round numbers $60,000, the land upon which they stand being donated. The central building is devoted to office rooms, reception rooms, dining rooms, libraries, home for the superintendent and some of his assistants, and dormitory purposes. The three cottages are used exclusively for dormitory purposes.

The home is conducted by a superintendent and his wife, who is matron of the institution. In addition there are nine women employed. The employes all live and board at the home.

Where a large number are gathered together, as they are in the Ohio Home, the cost of subsistence is reduced to a minimum. There are 116 residents of the institution, and the total cost of maintenance for the last year was $11,833.

The general management of the home is vested in a board of directors elected by the Grand Lodge. Its members receive no salary.

The facts to be deducted from these exhibits are many, varied, interesting and important. There is no way of estimating how many indigent Knights or Pythian orphan children would be found to take advantage of the benefits of this home if established.

There must of necessity be a superintendent and a matron and cooks, and there must naturally be provided all the comforts of a personal home, or the institution would not be what it purports to be—a home. What will all these things cost, and from what source will be derived the revenue to meet this cost is the question that is now before the membership of this order.

Special Meeting Probable.

It is quite likely that President S. St. John McCutchen, of the Borough Board of Education, may call a special meeting of the Board before the schools open September 10. There are a few matters of importance to be considered.

Common Council Meeting.

The Common Council will hold the regular September meeting Tuesday evening. No small amount of municipal business will come before the body at this meeting.

Meeting of Relief Corps.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps tomorrow evening and a full attendance is desired.

MARTINE SAYS STATE ISSUES.

IN SPEECH AT DEMOCRATIC OUTING HE SHAPES PLATFORM.

Representative of Plainfield's Minority Party for Municipal Ownership—What Was Done at Whitestone.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, August 29—The outing of the Democratic committee of Union county, to Whitestone, L. I., yesterday, was a decided success. About 400 took the steamer Isabel from Elizabethport and after a most delightful sail up Long Island Sound, stopped at Whitestone, where a most sumptuous dinner was provided.

Colonel D. Collins presided at the spread. Upon the right sat Mayor Seymour, of Newark, and on his left, Mayor P. J. Ryan, of this city. After a short talk of welcome by the chairman, Mayor Ryan was introduced and pictured a glowing future for the Democracy. After this speech, Mayor Seymour spoke. His earnest talk was attentively listened to. He said he was not a speechmaker but a practical man a Democrat.

After this J. E. Martine, of Plainfield, was introduced. The "Farmer Orator" in a ringing speech declared that the campaign should be fought on State issues; that he hoped the Democratic candidate would be a layman, not a lawyer; that the platform should advocate lower taxation and municipal ownership. J. B. Matthews, of this city, scored the "Republican gerrymander in Elizabeth." The party reached home last evening at 10 o'clock.

CHILD AFFLICTED WITH RABIES.

INFANT SON OF JOHN KUHN IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

Bitten By a Dog—Means Like Whining Canine—Animal Owned by Boroughite.

What is thought to be a clear case of rabies, resulting from the bite of a dog, has just developed in a child that has been under the care of Dr. Jenkins for the past two weeks. The little victim is Jeremiah Kuhn, the one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kuhn, of East Front street. Five days ago the physician declared he would not live twenty four hours, but the child rallied. Now, however, he is hovering between life and death.

The child was bitten two weeks ago yesterday in the hallway of his parents' home by a water spaniel which entered the building with a visitor to another apartment. Mrs. Kuhn, on returning from a hurried trip to a nearby store, found her child with three ugly wounds in his right arm and one through the palm of the hand. Dr. Jenkins was summoned and the bites were cauterized immediately.

The little fellow soon after became sick and has since been in a comatose state most of the time. At night his moans are similar to those of a whining dog, and sometimes they distinctly resemble barking. Several times during his few conscious moments a canine was brought near him and he showed deadly fear. In this and other ways he gives unmistakable evidence that his illness has resulted from the dog's bite. It is said the animal which bit the boy belongs to a North Plainfield man, who refuses to allow it to be shot.

True Charity.

That some heart was touched by a "want ad" in Tuesday's Daily Press is evident. The wording of the ad was simply: "Lost by one who needs it, $2. Finder please return to Press office." Yesterday there came to this office a like some of money, enclosed in an envelope, for the poor woman, who lost the $2. There was nothing to show who the sender might be. The money has been turned over to the advertiser, who is profuse in her thanks for the generosity of an unknown friend.

Announcement of Approaching Nuptials.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Mina Ammerman, formerly of Craig place, but now of Springfield, N. J., to Hugh Aikman Gunning, of Providence, R. I. The wedding will be celebrated at the M. E. church, Springfield, Tuesday evening, September 10, at 7 o'clock. Miss Ammerman is the daughter of Isaac C. Ammerman, and has a host of friends in the borough and this city, who will be interested in the above announcement.

Excursions to Exposition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, August 29—More than 200 Newark people left this morning for Buffalo and the Pan-American Exposition with the Gottfried Krueger Association and another large party, consisting of about 150 members and friends of the three local Councils of the Knights of Columbus, will start on a similar trip Saturday.

MANY GATHERED AT BIER OF FRANCIS S. RUNYON

Funeral Services Held at His Late Home Yesterday Afternoon.

INTERMENT AT HILLSIDE.

TOUCHING SERMON PREACHED BY FORMER PASTOR.

Directors of First National Bank Acted as Pall Bearers—J. E. Runyon Sang—The Body Lay in State.

A large concourse of relatives and friends, including many business men, as well as neighbors, attended the funeral services of Francis Saurin Runyon, late cashier of the First National Bank, which were held from the late residence, 306 West Front street, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

A touching tribute to the memory of one so highly esteemed was the presence of a large number of business men at the services. All could well remember the departed for his many acts of kindness and wise counsel, and the universal expression was that Plainfield had lost one of her worthy citizens and that many people had lost their best friend.

It is seldom that the death of one causes such general sorrow and it was frequently stated that his place would be a difficult one to fill. The people of the city had the utmost confidence in Mr. Runyon, and his disposition was so genial that he made a host of friends. This was evident at the funeral.

During the hours from 11 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, a large number of people, who could not attend the funeral, called at the home and took a last look upon the form of their friend. It was especially notable that among those who called were persons in various walks of life, bearing still further testimony of the high esteem in which the departed was held.

The services were conducted by Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, formerly pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, but now of Lowell, Mass. Mr. Dilts is visiting his old home at Raritan, and the fact that Mr. Richardson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, is away, led the relatives to call upon Mr. Dilts. The latter has known Mr. Runyon for a number of years and could talk personally of him.

After E. E. Runyon sang "Nearer My Home Today," Mr. Dilts read, at some length, appropriate Scripture selections, after which Mr. Runyon sang "The Homeland." Mr. Dilts then spoke in part as follows:

"People have always regarded death with fear and dread, whereas they should welcome death as a friend. It means for every Christian a going out into a larger life. Two of our poets have caught this idea. Tennyson expresses it in 'Crossing the Bar,' a moving out from port and the pilot taking us far out into eternity. After all we need the Heavenly Pilot to guid us safely through. Bret Harte also expresses this thought of going out into a larger and better land.

"Still we shrink at death, and the question is, who will carry us over? The last request of a young soldier dying in a hospital was that Abraham Lincoln, who sat by his side, would 'see him through,' and all night the President sat by the young man's side until his spirit was released. When our brother was called away there was no earthly friend present to 'see him through,' but the Lord Jesus Christ was at the bedside of our brother, Frank Runyon, to 'see him through.' You know how faithful and true he was. He was faithful to his trust at the bank and to his fellowmen. He was a good man. He feared God at all times. Let us believe and know today that the spirit of our brother has gone to see the King."

While Mr. Dilts was speaking he related many incidents to impress the force of his remarks upon his hearers, and they were received with the most devout attention on the part of all. Following the discourse, Mr. Runyon sang "The Christian's Good Night."

There were many beautiful floral tributes coming from relatives and friends. There was a very large pillow of roses from the directors and officials of the First National Bank, a pillow from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of which he was a member, a pillow bearing the inscription "Brother Frank," from the sisters and brother, a cross and a wreath of galax leaves from friends.

President J. Wesley Johnson, together with Directors Wm. M. Stillman, Randolph M. Stelle, Newton B. Smalley and J. A. Smith, of the First National Bank, acted as honorary pallbearers. The other directors were out of town and could not attend the service. In addition to the directors present, there were the employes of the bank, as well as the officials of the City National Bank.

The interment took place at Hillside cemetery.

COMMUTERS TRAIN DELAYED

GREAT MIX UP AT NORTH AVENUE STATION THIS MORNING.

Engine of Club-Car Train Meets With Mishap and Blocks Traffic.

There was a great mix-up and blockade of trains on the Jersey Central at the North Avenue station this morning about 8:30 o'clock. The large number of commuters at the station had their choice of four trains, some express and others local, to carry them to New York. Affairs were puzzling for a short time, but fortunately there were no serious mishaps.

The trouble occurred at the Clinton Avenue Station, where the engine drawing the 8:30 club-car train, refused to be fired. It is believed that there was a break in the pipes on the engines, thus interfering with its boiler. The train was stalled for several minutes, until the eastbound B. & O. train, due in this city at 7:19, came along and pushed the commuters' train into Plainfield. When this city was reached, the disabled engine was side-tracked and drill engine No. 67, in charge of Engineer Stephen Brown, was attached to the train, and was given orders to take it into Jersey City.

Then followed further delay. The commuters' train had to be side-tracked to allow the B. and O. train to pass. After this was done, it was time for the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad train, which passes through this city at 8:45 o'clock, going east, to come along, and the other train was held until the express passed. In the meantime the 8:58 o'clock eastbound local came along. This train was held until the 8:30 train got out of the way, after which the trouble was cleared up.

One day last week an accident occurred to the engine which draws the 8:30 o'clock train and a delay was caused. The engine will probably be taken to the shops and given a general overhauling, which is evidently much needed.

MARRIED QUIETLY.

Ceremony Performed Nearly Three Months Ago, But No One Knew.

Percy Vail Was a Benedict.

After keeping the matter a secret for the past ten weeks, Percy W. Vail, of Washington street, and Miss Elna Jensen, of North avenue, yesterday announced to their friends that they have been man and wife for that length of time.

The wedding took place at Newark, June 15, at the home of Rev. H. A. Moore, of Broad street. There were no witnesses at the young people returned to this city, first resolving to keep the matter quiet for some time. They succeeded in doing so until yesterday when the secret leaked out.

Mr. Vail is the son of Adelbert Vail, of Washington street, and has been a valued employe of The Daily Press for several years. Mrs. Vail has been a resident of this city for three years. Her parents live in Denmark. The young people will take up their residence on North avenue.

MARRIED AT RECTORY.

Wedding of Miss Nettles and Harry Mattis Took Place Quietly Last Night at St. Mary's Rectory.

In a very quiet manner, Miss Georgianne Nettles and Harry Mattis, both of this city, were married last evening at the rectory of St. Mary's church. Rev. Father J. A. McGeary performed the ceremony.

Miss Nettles was attended by Miss Annie Schlick, while Edward Townley acted as best man. Both the bride and her attendant were attired in white organdie.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the groom's parents on Madison avenue, where a brief reception was held. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mattis are well known in this city. The groom is an employe at the Scott Press Works.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE TERMINATES FATALLY.

Mrs. Charlotte A. Gisser Dies From Self-Inflicted Injuries.

HEMORRHAGE CAUSES DEATH

PHYSICIANS' BATTLE TO SAVE LIFE PROVES FUTILE.

Body to Be Taken to New York—Services Saturday Afternoon at St. Alphonsus' Church.

Despite the constant attendance of two physicians Mrs. Charlotte A. Gisser, of Somerset street, passed away at her home this morning from the effects of a bullet wound, self inflicted yesterday morning. Drs. Pittis and Tomlinson remained with her until the end, keeping life in the almost pulseless body by frequent application of stimulants. Their efforts to rouse her to consciousness proved fruitless and death occurred at 1:30. It was directly due to an internal hemorrhage, produced by the effects from the bullet.

Undertaker Joseph Kennedy, of South Fifth avenue, New York, came to this city this morning for the purpose of taking charge of the body. To a reporter for The Press, Mr. Kennedy said that Mrs. Gisser had made all arrangements with him, even to the minutest detail, years ago and that he would carry them out to the letter. He was a lifelong friend of Mrs. Gisser, and he is of the opinion that acute melancholia led to her self-destruction.

This is also the reason assigned by Patrolman Nicholas Meyers, her son-in-law, and the dead woman's niece, who live in New York. During her residence at the former's home, she was continually brooding over imaginary troubles, mostly of a financial nature, and no amount of persuasion could induce her to alter her opinions. The property left her by her husband, Nicholas Gisser, was more than sufficient for her wants, but as stated yesterday, she thought relatives were seeking to deprive her of it and finally took the apartments on Somerset street where she would be away from them all. It is evident that the deed was long premeditated and coolly carried out. The bullet pierced the left breast, about one inch below the heart.

The Somerset county physician viewed the remains this morning and granted a burial permit. They will be taken to New York this afternoon where the funeral services will be held from St. Alphonsus' church, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot in Calvary cemetery.

BLOCKED TRAFFIC.

Derailed Car Delayed Freight Trains Yesterday Afternoon—Track Finally Cleared.

The east bound freight track of the Central Railroad was blocked for three hours yesterday afternoon and evening by an accident, which occurred at Washington street on the east end of the bridge. Drill engine 67 was pushing a string of coal and freight cars into the East Fourth street siding when one of the latter struck the point of the switch frog and was derailed. One set of trucks was taken off and the car, careening, narrowly escaped toppling into Washington street. The engineer reversed before any further damage was caused.

The accident occurred about 5 o'clock and it was an hour later before the wrecking crew arrived from Elizabethport. The track was cleared before 8 o'clock.

To Discuss Races.

Those in charge of the Labor Day race meet at the Gentlemen's Driving Park will hold an important meeting this evening to complete arrangements for the affair. The meeting will be held in the offices of Reed & Coddington. It is quite likely that there will be a special road race between Plainfield and Westfield horses, Labor Day, and other attractions will be arranged. Judging from the list of entries the meet promises to be one of the best ever held in this vicinity.

PLAY FOR THE HOOLEY CUP.

MISS DAISY ELSBERG AND MISS HARRIET SHREVE ARE TIE.

Large Entry List in This Week's Play—Miss Laura Long Won First Honors Tuesday.

The fact that Miss Daisy Elsberg won third honors in the weekly competition for the Hooley cup on the Park Golf Club course Tuesday last gives her a total of nine points and makes her tie with Miss Harriet Shreve for first place. Thus the competition is made more interesting.

There was a larger entry list in this week's play and fairly good scores were made. Miss Laura Long won first honors with a net score of 57, while Miss May Shreve finished second with a net score of 60. Miss Long now has a total of eight points which makes her tie with Miss Elsberg for second position. Miss Shreve in winning second honors is now very close to Miss Howell and Miss Wells, who are in third place.

The scores were:

	G.	H.	N.
Miss Laura Long	86	29	57
Miss May Shreve	100	40	60
Miss Daisy Elsberg	74	13	61
Miss Harriet Shreve	89	25	64
Miss Elsie Brokaw	128	40	88

Miss Saidee Mae Howell	6
Miss Mary Wells	6
Miss Mabel VanDeventer	2
Miss Elsie Brokaw	2

LOST LIFE IN HEROIC ACT.

JOHN L. DECAMP, FORMER PLAINFELDER, DEAD.

In Attempt to Rescue Woman in Burning House in Seattle, Wash.—It Was His Own Home.

The sad news has been received in this city of the death of John L. DeCamp, son of Hiram DeCamp, which occurred recently at his home in Seattle, Wash. Mr. DeCamp lost his life by being burned to death. One night his house caught fire and he was successful in rescuing his family before the flames worked destruction.

After the rescue of the family, Mr. DeCamp learned that a servant girl was in the burning house. He started back to get her, and while walking across a floor in one of the rooms, the flooring gave way and Mr. DeCamp was precipitated some distance below into a furnace of fire which was burning fiercely beneath the floor. It was beyond all possibility of rescuing him and his life was given up while making a heroic attempt to save the life of another.

Mr. DeCamp had a host of friends and acquaintances in Plainfield, where he formerly lived, while his father was manager at Laing's Hotel, and all will deeply regret his sudden and sad death. Mr. DeCamp was in Plainfield two years ago, when he called on many of his friends.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR GUESTS.

Dinner for Baseball Team at Hope Chapel Labor Day.

The Young Men's Association of Hope chapel is making extra preparations for the entertainment of the New Providence A. C., which is to play the Hope team on Labor Day. The young women friends of the members have volunteered their services, and the visitors will be provided with a sumptuous dinner in the reception room of the association's gymnasium. They will afterwards be given the full use of the building and its means of recreation.

Has Bright Future.

Miss Florence Wohlfert, of Watchung Lake Park, who is well and favorably known as a talented violinist, made her first appearance Monday evening at St. Nicholas Garden, New York, as a soloist with the Kaltenborn Orchestra. She was enthusiastically received by a very large audience and her renditions were pronounced by critics to be superb. Miss Wohlfert was originally a pupil of P. Ludwig Conde, but is now studying with Francis Kaltenborn, who predicts a most successful career for this young musician.

Pleasant Birthday Party.

A pleasant birthday party was given to John Bee by Mrs. James Scott, of 239 West Front street, last evening. There were thirty-five guests present, and the evening was passed in playing games and enjoying vocal and instrumental music. Mr. Bee received some handsome presents as a reminder of the occasion. During the evening a bountiful collation was served.

RANGOON GAZETTE A CURIOUS PAPER.

Printed in Burma, India, Where a Charge is Made For Publishing News.

SOME PECULIAR FEATURES.

HUMOR OF MR. MARTIN DOOLEY HAS REACHED THERE.

Advertisements Dull—News is Scarce—Business Announcements Funny—Subscription Price of Paper High.

A curious looking journal is the Rangoon Gazette, a newspaper published at Rangoon, Burma, India, a copy of which has recently been received by W. J. Rand, of Watchung avenue, from his aunt, who is engaged in missionary work in that dominion of Great Britain. Compared with an American daily it presents a wide contrast. In make up it is distinctly English, although the quality of the reading matter and typography is far below the usual English standard.

The paper on which the Gazette is printed is of a decidedly inferior grade, and as a whole the sheet is anything but attractive, that is judging it from an American standpoint. There is a large proportion of plate advertisements and a scarcity of local news. The absence of news can no doubt be accounted for by an announcement which appears on one of its pages. This is "The charge for publishing a domestic occurrence is Rs. 2 per insertion."

The Gazette resorts largely to filling its columns with reprints, some of which are well selected. In this connection, an American may be pleased to learn that the humor of Mr. Dooley is furnished to the Gazette readers through the handy shears of the editor, who has clipped an article by Mr. Dunne from an English paper. A lengthy New York letter is also among the reading matter.

The advertisements are noticeable. The matter in them is of the dull sort and such as would hardly be read by the average Yankee. There is nothing catchy about them. Four or five display ads of liquor dealers and an equal number of tobacconists ads placed at random among a quantity of steamship and banking notices form the major part of the advertisements.

Some of the advertisements are worth the comment. Currimbhoy Lalljee Sajun & Co. announce that Mr. Gangjeebhoy Mowjee will manage one of its branch offices, although the business of the firm is not stated. Issamy Lazarus is dead, because P. Ekambara Mudaliar, an attorney, gives notice that his estate is being settled. Ebrahim Mamoon Kaka and Ahmed Babar Mamen have discontinued business. The progressive Yankees have not failed to take advantage of its columns. Among the American advertisements is a notice that an agent of the American Bridge Company, of New York, is prepared to receive almost any kind of an order.

The daily edition of the Gazette sells for five cents per copy in Rangoon. The weekly edition brings twenty cents. It costs $16 per year approximately to be a subscriber of the daily paper. A six line "want ad" in the weekly costs $1.66 per month. What the charge of advertisements in the daily edition is cannot be found in the paper.

DARING BURGLARY THIS.

Intruders Held up a New Brunswick Woman and Ransack House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, August 29—Mrs. William Stamm, of this place, was awakened yesterday morning by a noise of some one moving about the room. She saw a man standing over her with a revolver. He held the weapon to her head and commanded her to keep still.

The armed burglar whistled to some one outside the room, and another man entered. While the first intruder kept Mrs. Stamm covered with the revolver the second ransacked the house and stole a large quantity of clothing and some jewelry and money.

After the burglars went away Mrs. Stamm was too frightened to give the alarm. She notified the police next morning, but was unable to give any detailed description of the men.

BOERS KILLED PRISONERS.

English Soldiers Shot After They Had Surrendered.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The correspondence between General Lord Kitchener and the secretary of war regarding the shooting of British prisoners and wounded at Graspan and Vlakfontein has been made public.

On Aug. 25 Kitchener cabled from Pretoria as follows:

"Sworn evidence has been brought to my notice by General Elliott that on June 6 Lieutenant Mair of the New South Wales artillery and Privates Harvey and Blunt were shot at Graspan after they had surrendered. I have forwarded Steyn and Botha copies of these statements."

Secretary Brodrick replied:

"We understand you have not yet received satisfactory assurances respecting the murder of wounded at Vlakfontein.

"In view of the occurances reported in your telegram of Aug. 25 we are of the opinion that you should give notice by proclamation that members of any commando committing such an outrage who are captured and after trial proved to have been present on such an occasion shall be held guilty whether they actually committed the deed or not, that the leader of the commando shall be sentenced to death and the others receive a death sentence or less according to the degree of their complicity."

Georgia Postoffice Robbed.

IRWINVILLE, Ga., Aug. 29.—Thieves broke into the postoffice at Mystic, a small station on the Tifton and Northeastern railroad, rifled the cash drawer and stole two money order books. When they left, they attempted to set fire to the building by taking the chimney from a lamp and setting the flame against a pile of papers. The papers were packed tight, and when the postmaster opened the office early in the morning they were still smoldering, but had not broken into flames. There is no clew to the identity of the thieves.

Schwab to Build In New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—If a rumor current in real estate circles is true, Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, has found time despite the mammoth strike on his hands to negotiate for the purchase of the site for a mansion in Riverside drive. It is understood that he is the purchaser of the New York Orphan asylum property, comprising the entire block bounded by Riverside drive, West End avenue, Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets, the sale of which for about $865,000 was reported.

Creed Revisers at Work.

SARATOGA, Aug. 29.—The committee on the revision of the Westminster Confession of Faith representing the general assembly of the Presbyterian church has convened here. Rev. Dr. Minton of San Francisco, who was the moderator of the last general assembly, will preside at the committee's deliberations.

STEAMER BLOWN UP.

Many Killed and Injured on the Delaware.

SEVEN BODIES ALREADY RECOVERED.

Boilers on the City of Trenton Exploded With Terrific Force, and the Boat Took Fire Immediately.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Seven persons, one woman and six men, are known positively to have perished as a result of the explosion on the steamboat City of Trenton in the Delaware river off Torresdale, and one woman is missing. More than a score of others were injured, two of them fatally. But two of the bodies have yet been identified. Three of the dead were brought to the morgue in this city on the police boat Edwin S. Stuart, and the other four were brought here later. The boat was burned to the water's edge and is now lying on the beach opposite Torresdale.

The City of Trenton belongs to the Philadelphia and Trenton line. She left this city with a crew of 12 men and a passenger list of about 40.

After the explosion the boat took fire and ran aground. She lies a wrecked and blackened hulk in the marshes of St. Torresdale, 16 miles above the city. Her hold is filled with water, and it is feared more of her passengers and crew may be found in the bottom of the boat when the water is pumped out.

A boat belonging to the police department is anchored a short distance from the stranded excursion steamer, pumping the water from the ill fated vessel, and members of the police force are on shore ready to send any bodies that may be recovered to the morgue in this city.

The City of Trenton made daily trips between Philadelphia and Trenton, stopping at Burlington, N. J.; Bristol, Pa., and other points on the way.

Her passenger list was lighter than usual, and she carried very little freight. The vessel was in charge of Captain W. A. Worrell. The other officers were: Edward Curry, pilot; J. W. Vanderveer, mate; Edward Murphy, chief engineer; J. D. Chew, assistant engineer, and Clayton Reybold, purser. There were about 12 firemen and deckhands aboard.

Nothing of moment occurred until the boat reached Torresdale. At a point opposite what is known as the Harrison mansion, a spacious building fronting the Delaware river at this suburban resort, the steam pipe connecting with the port boiler burst with a loud report. The forward portion of the upper deck was well filled with passengers, while many others were in the cabin. Before any of the passengers or employees had an opportunity of seeking places of safety another explosion occurred, and this time the port boiler was rent in twain. Scalding steam and water poured into the cabin, and sections of the woodwork of the boat were torn away by the force of the explosion. Those of the passengers who were not seamed and scarred by the scalding steam and boiling water were struck by the flying portions of the splintered cabin. Legs and arms were broken, and faces and bodies were parboiled. The screams of the injured could be heard on shore, and the cries of those who leaped and were blown into the river were heartrending.

So great was the force of the explosion that a piano in the upper drawing room of the boat was hurled many feet away from the boat into the river. This proved a fortunate circumstance for many of the injured passengers. Thrown into the water, scalded and otherwise injured so that they were rendered helpless, they clung to the piano, which had fallen into shallow water, until rescued.

World's End Predicted.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The annual camp meeting of the Seventh Day Adventists of New York state is in session here, with about 600 persons from all parts of the state in attendance. The camp is in charge of Elder J. B. Thompson of Rome. John S. Wightmore, a prominent Adventist, declared that the Franco-Turkish troubles were signs that the end of the world is approaching. He said that the difficulties between those two nations will result in a general European war, the destruction of the Turkish empire and worldwide suffering, ending with the second coming of Christ. He bases his belief in his prophecies in Daniel xii, 1, 2.

Mrs. Eddy Goes to the Fair.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 29.—Two personages of note had much to do with gathering 20,000 people at the Concord State fair, Governor Chester B. Jordan and Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy. It was Governor's day, and Governor Jordan and his military family came after dinner, being welcomed by Hon. Edward N. Pearson, first vice president of the Fair association. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Eddy visited the grounds accompanied by Judge William G. Ewing of Chicago and Mrs. Ewing. Mrs. Eddy drove upon the track in her handsome turnout and was welcomed by the fair officials.

Irish Marksmen Arrive.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Several members of the Ulster Rifle association of Belfast, Ireland, arrived on the steamship Servia to take part in the international rifle shooting contest, which will be a revival of the Ireland versus America matches that took place a quarter of a century ago, to be decided over the Sea Girt (N. J.) ranges on Friday, Sept. 6. The party, including several distinguished visitors, numbered 20 in all.

The Sultan Untruthful.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Daily Mail publishes a dispatch from its Vienna correspondent, who boarded the Orient express and interviewed M. Constans as to the Franco-Turkish diplomatic situation. "The French embassador declared," says the correspondent, "that even at the last hour the sultan tried to prevaricate. He asserted that the whole matter was now in the hands of the French government."

Scientists Get Brush Fortune.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The will of Helen C. Brush, who died July 7, 1900, was upheld by Surrogate Fitzgerald in a decision just handed down by him. By the terms of the will the testatrix left $90,000 to the First Church of Christ, Scientists, of this city.

A TERRIBLE NATION.

Kansas Saloon Smasher Invades New York City.

CALLS ON COMMISSIONER MURPHY.

The Colonel Gets Angry and Has the Woman Ejected From His Office—Attempt to See John L. Sullivan a Failure.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Carrie Nation came to town for a few hours and paid two visits, one on Police Commissioner Murphy, in which she completely laid out that public officer, and another on John L. Sullivan. The famous John L. for the second time in his life realized that, in his own parlance, he was up against it. John hid from the lady. Mr. Sullivan's saloon in West Forty-second street was recently closed on account of debts, and when Mrs. Nation's cab pulled up before the door the good woman found that the place looked as though she had previously called there with her hatchet. She sent an emissary to summon John L., who has a room in the building.

"He made some insulting remarks about me once," she cried, "and I want to have a talk with him. I'd like to see any man stand up against me when I've got a hatchet." The implement in question was in her pocket.

Sullivan failed to appear, and the saloon smasher drove away, saying:

"Humph! I ain't afraid! I'll see him when I come back to New York."

Previous to her visit to John L. Mrs. Nation had dropped in on Commissioner

MRS. CARRIE NATION.

Murphy at police headquarters and demanded that all saloons be closed on Sunday. When Murphy refused and told her she was crazy, she gave him a few words straight from the shoulder and finally had to be removed from his office by a big sergeant.

Mrs. Nation, with her manager, Robert Grau, and a big following, arrived at police headquarters about 11 o'clock and asked for Commissioner Murphy. At the door the Kansas joint smasher shook hands effusively with the officer on guard, who, when he recognized the familiar and dreaded features, seemed frightened and slyly slid his lit pipe into his trousers' pocket, doubtless preferring a possible conflagration to a physical attack.

After about five minutes' wait she was ushered into the commissioner's private office, where he sat at his desk with an expression of painful expectancy. There was an exchange of handshakes, cordial on the part of Mrs. Nation and suspicious on that of Commissioner Murphy. She sat close beside his desk and beamed at him over her gold rimmed spectacles in the midst of a pertentous silence.

"Mr. Murphy," she finally said, "we are fellow travelers to the grave—you and I. There's a time a-coming when we've got to give an account of our stewardship, and we ought to do as little harm here below as possible. And there's a great responsibility resting on you. Do you know it?"

Colonel Murphy looked as though something was resting heavily on him.

"What do you want to say to me, madam?" he asked sharply.

"Well," replied Mrs. Nation, "I want you to discuss the bad condition of New York."

Mr. Murphy bristled.

"There is no bad condition," said he, "and I will discuss nothing."

"You will not discuss the crime and murder shops of this great city?" cried Mrs. Nation in despairing amazement.

The commissioner faced her again.

"If I have any information to give you," he said, "I'll answer one or two short questions."

Mrs. Nation was glad of it and moved nearer.

"Why don't you shut the saloons on Sunday?" she asked suddenly.

"That's the governor's business!" answered Mr. Murphy very sharply.

"It's yours, too," said Mrs. Nation severely. "You have a chance to do good work. 'By their works ye shall know them' "—

Mr. Murphy raised his forefinger and shook it vigorously.

"Now, stop it," he cried. "Don't quote Scripture at me, madam. Go back to Kansas and get it off at your husband."

Mrs. Nation gave a little laugh.

"I have no husband," she said very simply. Colonel Murphy grunted angrily to himself and plowed among the papers on his desk.

"You talk about your law. Does your law protect hell holes such as you have in this city?"

Colonel Murphy motioned to the door.

"Sergeant," he cried, "escort Mrs. Nation out."

The officer advanced with great gallantry, and Mrs. Nation perceived that the interview was at an end. At the door she turned upon the commissioner and delivered a parting shot.

"You're doing the devil's dirty work!" she cried. "I'd be ashamed, commissioner, I'd be ashamed!"

She passed through the corridors lined with officers and down to her waiting carriage. In a moment she was inside.

"Drive to John L. Sullivan's!" she called. "I want to give him my picture and talk to him before I leave town."

Mrs. Nation left her hotel about 1 o'clock and was driven to the Grand Central depot, where she took a train for College Corner, O. She will lecture at a temperance gathering in that place tonight.

FIGHTING YELLOW JACK.

American Cleanliness and Energy Have Done Wonders In Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The war department, through the division of insular affairs, has published a statement indicating briefly what has been done by the military authorities in Cuba toward ridding the island of yellow fever.

Pointing out that in 1899 the death rate from the yellow fever epidemic was 20 per cent of all who had the disease, the report shows that now, after two years of American rule, Santiago is as clean as any American city, and there has been no yellow fever since Dec. 27, 1899. Its banishment from Santiago, its habitat for 400 years, was accomplished by American cleanliness and energy intelligently directed by the military authorities, and its absence has been no freak or accident.

The general sanitary condition of Havana is said to be excellent, the death rate for June last comparing favorably with many large cities, as, for instance, Mexico, with 65.62 per cent; Vera Cruz, 37.39, and Rouen, France, in April last, 28.43. The Havana death rate was 23.28. There was not a single case of yellow fever during June, although no previous June had passed with exemption from the disease. The repression of the disease is ascribed to the attack upon the mosquito, following the theory as to their being the means of transmission of the fever, originally laid down by Dr. Charles Finlay of Havana and since completely established by the yellow fever commission and the fourth month's experience of the military authorities.

It is believed that, pursuing the present methods, the island can be rid of yellow fever, and its spread may be prevented even when introduced from the outside. If this condition can be brought about, many of the restrictions now imposed upon commerce by quarantines can be done away with.

Nebraska Republicans Nominate.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 29.—The ticket nominated by the Republicans is as follows: Justice of the supreme court, Samuel H. Sedgewick of York county; regents of the university, Carl J. Ernst of Lancaster and H. L. Goold of Keith. Republicans of Nebraska in state convention, after a night of conflict and a morning of uncertainty, have chosen their standard bearers and adopted a platform in harmony with party politics and made a new record for industry in the disposal of business. The action of Governor Savage in paroling from the penitentiary Former State Treasurer Joseph S. Bartley furnished, as was expected, the only real excitement of the convention. An effort to dispose of the vexed question of an indorsement or disapproval of the governor's action outside the convention signally failed. Supporters of the governor did succeed in having all resolutions referred to the committee on platform without debate, but the committee itself reported in turn against the parole and, while not impugning the motives of the governor, demanded the return of the ex-treasurer to the penitentiary and was sustained by the convention.

Mammoth Whale Off Long Island.

EAST MORICHES, N. Y., Aug. 29.—It has often been stated by seafaring men that many of the vessels which go to sea and are never heard of are thought to be wrecked by whales or monsters of the deep which come into collision with the ill fated craft. Skeptical people have laughed at this assertion for a long time until today, when the body of a dead whale drifted ashore opposite Mastic, on Great South beach, with a large gash in its carcass, as though it had been cut by the prow of a passing vessel. Old seafaring men believe that it was this whale which was the object the schooner Eliza A. Scribner struck before she was beached last week off Fire island to save her from sinking. The dead mammal is nearly 50 feet long and is in good condition. A good sized sum will be realized from the sale of its oil, bone and remains when tried out. Old whalers have been summoned to undertake the job.

Shamrock's Fourth Spin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The fourth trial spin of the Shamrock II in these waters, sailed yesterday, was not attended with any exciting incidents. The yacht did not go outside Sandy Hook, as expected, but sailed from Southwest spit buoy to Staten Island twice during the four hours she was out, covering a distance of about 30 miles. Sir Thomas Lipton was not on board, nor was Designer Watson. The yacht's mainsail was hoisted by 10:40, and ten minutes later the same club topsail that was set yesterday was sent up. It only took eight minutes to set it, showing smartness on the part of the crew in handling the sail.

Lackawanna Employees to Federate.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—All the different organizations of employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road have voted in favor of a system of federation. A meeting is to be held here next week of representatives of the organizations to effect the federation. This will mean that hereafter the company can deal with all its employees as one body instead of having conferences with the grievance committees of the half dozen different branches of the service.

Plows Will Cost More.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Plow manufacturers of the United States, a large number of whom have been in conference at the Auditorium, have decided upon an advance of 10 per cent in the price of plows and all plow repairs during the coming year. The present strike of the steel workers is given as one cause. In addition the manufacturers claim that the cost of production is much greater.

Admiral Sampson Ill.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 29.—Rear Admiral Sampson is again a sick man, according to a dispatch to The Union from Burke Haven today. He is there quite ill, although he is gaining strength. He sees no visitors, however, and has held no consultation on the Schley court of inquiry.

Engineer Killed by Breaking Trestle

MARIETTA, Ga., Aug. 29.—A trestle on the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad near Ellijay, Ga., gave way as a freight train was passing over it. The engine of the train turned completely over, killing the engineer, Ben Smith, and injuring, perhaps fatally, Fireman King and a trainman.

WITNESSES FOR SCHLEY.

List of Those to Be Summoned In Admiral's Behalf.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Captain James Parker, associate counsel for Admiral Schley in the coming court of inquiry proceedings, last night made public the list of witnesses originally asked to be summoned on behalf of the admiral. They make a total of 37 persons in all, to which, however, will be added about six or seven more names, mostly from the navy, whose identity counsel for Admiral Schley do not care to disclose just now. The list as made public gives the rank of the officials as shown by the naval register of July, 1898, the period of the battle of Santiago.

Several of the witnesses summoned by the admiral also are in the list furnished by Judge Advocate General Lemly of those who probably will be called by the navy department. They include Captain Cook, Commander Mason, Lieutenant Commanders Hodgson and Sharp and Lieutenant Charles Webster, formerly a lieutenant in the junior grade. Some of the naval cadets mentioned in Admiral Schley's list as witnesses are now serving on the Asiatic squadron, and it may be decided not to call them unless developments in the case as it progresses makes this course necessary.

A Hog Controversy.

BUFFALO, Aug. 29.—The swine show at the exposition developed an interesting contest, the two judges in the Berkshire class being unable to agree, one of them supporting the merits of the Vanderbilt hogs from South Carolina and the other claiming that the Cox hogs from Ontario were the superior. A referee was appointed. After an hour's fruitless controversy he resigned. W. A. Alexander was then selected as referee. He decided in favor of the Vanderbilt hogs in the 6 month, 1 year and 2 year old classes and gave Cox first in the class for boars under 6 months and the four classes for sows. Among the other winners were J. J. Snyder of Paris, O.; F. P. and J. J. Hardin of West Chester, Pa., and Ashbridge and son of the same place.

State Treasurer Suspended.

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 29.—Governor Longino has ordered the suspension of State Treasurer J. R. Stowers and appointed G. W. Carlisle temporary treasurer. Stowers, in a statement given out last Friday, said the $107,000 missing and unaccounted for when the governor counted his cash Aug. 15 was deposited in banks under his direction, which is forbidden by law. All the banks of Jackson having denied that they had any of this money on deposit, the governor wrote Stowers for a complete statement as to where the deposits were made and all things connected with the transaction. The treasurer's answer has not been made public.

Colorado Commandery Won.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 29.—Colorado commandery, No. 1, of Denver, before a throng of 18,000 people and under the critical eyes of a board of judges, composed of three regular army officers and a representative of the Knights Templars, captured first prize in the competition of drill teams from commanderies of the knights. St. Bernard, No. 35, the favorite with the majority of the spectators, took second place, while Golden Gate, No. 16, of San Francisco and Hasselman, No. 15, of Cincinnati came in for third and fourth prizes respectively.

Vanderbilts Owed Her Half a Million

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—"I want $500,000 from the Vanderbilts, and I want it in bonds. It is due me, and I will not leave the house until I get it." This strange request from a well dressed woman who had been ushered into the reception room of the millionaire's home, Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, startled the servants who had admitted her. The woman was turned over to the police.

They were in deep water and moss after the subsidence.

Additions to Working Force of the Star Plant.

AMERICAN TIN PLATE NONUNION.

Trust Will Not Treat Again With the Union, but Will Take Back Men as Individuals—President Shaffer Claims Progress.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—The steel corporation continues making gains in this district and has added enough men to its force at the Star plant to insure the working of two mills double turn, night and day, from now on. The management claims that the entire plant will be on full before the week ends. The strikers say this claim cannot be made good and is being made merely as a bluff.

In pursuance of its announced plan to run all of its plants absolutely nonunion, the American Tin Plate company has commenced advertising for nonunion men to go to work. All applicants are offered the highest wages and permanent jobs, but in every case the application must be made personally and the applicant declare himself free from all union affiliations.

When asked what he thought of the tin plate company's avowed intention of breaking away from the union entirely, President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association said:

"Where will they get men to run their plants? If we thought the men could be secured, the threat might frighten us. Until we are assured they are forthcoming we will keep our nerve."

The latest official declaration from steel sources is that the strike can now be settled only by the men going back to the mills. The position the officials take, it is said, is that the strike is over so far as their dealing with the strikers as a body is concerned. They want workmen for their idle mills, and the men who want work can have it for the asking at wages paid before the shutdown. They may be union men or not, but the union can have no say as to their work or wages.

Notwithstanding the well defined position taken by the steel corporation as to a settlement, another arbitration scheme has been launched by Simon Burns, president of the Window Glass Workers' association.

Mr. Shaffer declares that the strike, in spite of the claims of the other side to the contrary, is proceeding satisfactorily, and his association is making such serious inroads on the corporation's business that it will be compelled sooner or later to come to terms. His men, he says, are firm all along the line and are determined to stand for their rights to the end. He says the few mills that have been started are doing but little effective work. The fact that the corporation is adding to its force daily does not worry the president because he believes them to be either unskilled or poor workmen who will be a drawback rather than a help to their employers.

The steel people have nothing to say, but point to the mills at work and the product turned out. Actions, they say, speak louder than words.

Grangers Made Good Showing.

BUFFALO, Aug. 29.—The New York state grangers may well be proud of the showing they made on their special day at the exposition. The Temple of Music was filled from the stage to the remotest balcony. When E. B. Norris, master of the New York state grange, called the assemblage to order, after prayer by Chaplain Dewey, Frank A. Converse, superintendent of agricultural products, extended a warm welcome to the grangers. He was followed by Mr. E. B. Norris, Daniel N. Lockwood, chairman of the New York state Pan-American commission; Mrs. J. J. Woodman of Michigan, a member of the national grange; Mrs. D. C. Lord and the state deputy of the New York state grange.

Jamaica Fruit Growers Excited.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 29.—The fruit situation on the north side of the island is becoming serious. A majority of the growers decline to sell at the reduced prices. Force is being used to prevent the minority taking bananas to the shipping centers. Thousands of bunches have been destroyed by machetes along the roadways. Extra police precautions have been taken and several people arrested on the charge of rioting. A representative of the United Fruit company has arrived from the United States to inquire into the situation. Great excitement prevails in the fruit districts.

Negro Desperado Still at Large.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29.—Bossie Francis, the negro who outraged and murdered Miss Mary Henderson at Columbus, Mo., Tuesday night, has not yet been captured, but 500 men are scouring the woods in the vicinity of the crime, and it is said Francis cannot possibly escape. It is not known whether he fled on horseback or on foot, but the pursuit was begun so soon after the discovery of the crime that every outlet from the country was closed promptly.

Secretary Gage Going West.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Secretary Gage will leave Washington next Wednesday for the west. He expects to be absent about a month and has given instructions directing that the purchase of short term bonds for the sinking fund continue during his absence on the same basis as heretofore. The assistant treasurer at New York will receive and pay for such bonds as are delivered there, and the department in Washington will continue the purchases here.

Fatally Stung by Wasps.

SYRACUSE, Aug. 29.—Two young sons of F. L. Gilmore of Massena were probably fatally stung by wasps. They ran upon the nest and were literally covered with the insects when their mother reached them. She was obliged to sweep the wasps off the lads' bodies with a broom.

Much Cotton Burned.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Twenty-five hundred bales of cotton have been destroyed by fire on the steamer Mincola. The vessel's holds have been flooded in the endeavor to extinguish the flames. Captain Dickens and his mate were nearly asphyxiated by the fumes.

A Healthy City.

That this city is a healthy place of residence is established beyond doubt. The statistics given by the Census Bureau show that the longevity of life in Plainfield is remarkable and furthermore it is steadily increasing. From the statistics it is gathered that out of the list of twenty-one cities in the State in only four is the death rate less. Last year there were but 242 deaths and the mortality rate was only 15.7 per cent. per thousand. The rate given by the census of 1890 for this city is 17.5 per cent. per thousand. In other words there has been a decrease of 1.8 per cent. per thousand in local deaths.

When it is known that New Jersey is classed as a healthy State, the importance of the fact noted is all the more remarkable. Long life is one of the features of the city. It furnishes reason why persons desiring to find a comfortable, attractive and healthy place to live should settle in Plainfield. Few cities can offer as many inducements. It is pleasantly situated in a beautiful section of the State. New York is within easy distance. The place is well laid out and the twenty-eight miles of macadamized streets are unsurpassed.

There are few cities in the country having so many really handsome residences surrounded by large lawns. The protection afforded by the municipal departments is excellent. The paid fire department having all modern appliances to fight flames and the police department render good service. Trolleys in and about the city as well as to Elizabeth are among the conveniences. Last but not least a desirable class of citizens are to be mentioned. Plainfield is truly a desirable city of residence.

Rear-Admiral Winfield S. Schley, whose demand for a court of inquiry to determine the real facts of the Battle of Santiago has caused the navy department to take action in the celebrated controversy, in which his name and Rear-Admiral Sampon's are mixed, will retire in October. He has reached the age limit and is now entitled to rest for the remainder of his years. Undoubtedly Schley shares with Dewey, popularly, the naval honors of the late war, and the outcome of the pending investigation is awaited with interest by the entire American public.

F. A. Stuart, of Marshal, Michigan, made his first $1,000,000 in six years by the sale of a remedy which he discovered, says the Philadelphia Record. When asked the chief cause of his success he replied: "Advertising in the daily newspapers." In his first year he spent all he had ($10,000) for advertising, and this year he will pay $400,000 to the newspapers. He uses only the leading daily newspapers, and never posters, circulars or any other method.

It is said that New Brunswick has raised a fund of $5,000 towards an amount to be used in an effort to induce the Ingersoll-Sergeant Drill Company to locate in that city. A concern with the standing of the Easton company is not likely to be influenced by such methods. What is wanted is a desirable site for its plant, and it is safe to say that the concern will pay for what it gets.

Arrangements have been made for a game of baseball to be played between the letter carriers and the policemen of this city. One in a position to know states that while the letter carriers do not understand the rules they will post themselves before the game. The coppers have polished themselves up and are bound to shine.

Notwithstanding that his income has been greatly decreased on account of blighted crops, the farmer of Somerset county is enjoying his annual outing. The picnic being held by the grangers at Chimney Rock is largely attended and for the time at least the farmers have forgotten their troubles.

A delegate to the convention of the weather bureau officials declares that meteorology is fast becoming an exact science. This is all well enough, but what the public wishes is that the weather forecasters would become exact scientists.

Orders have been issued from Washington directing that hereafter American coal be used at the Honolulu coaling station, to the exclusion of the Australian product. This is an instance where trade does follow the flag.

"Peace in the party beats reform within the party," says an exchange. This if the motto of a politician and not of one interested in good government. It is on a par with "Peace at Any Price."

Admiral Cervera announces that he will not discuss the Sampson-Schley controversy. It is refreshing to find a naval officer who has the good sense to keep his own counsel.

Suggestion has been made that a world's fair be held in New York in 1906. No mention has been made of the desirability of the bowery as a midway plaisance.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and its Citizens.

The New Jersey town that has been sold so many times may now have a chance to get off the auction block and grow.—Mail and Express.

* * * * *

Out in Seattle the Sheriff has just hanged a man who committed a murder almost ten years ago. Why didn't he let him die of old age? The law's delay are rarely cut short in our courts, except in New Jersey. That commonwealth sets an example to all her sister States. But in most instances the model is not copied as it should be.—New York Tribune.

* * * * *

Real estate values of all kinds are injured by the mosquito pest. Many thousands of residential properties that would rent readily and profitably go begging for tenants only because of the pest. People who locate for one summer in New Jersey go elsewhere the following year. The experience of summer visitors this year has been most discouraging. Abolish the mosquito pest and property values will appreciate to the extent of millions of dollars.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

Sophomoric.

Little Katherine sat at the breakfast table this morning, pondering the problems of school life. She aroused from her reverie to say:

"Well, next year Malcolm will be a lawnmower, won't he? I wonder why they will call him that."

"My dear," answered the mamma, "whoever told you that Malcolm will be a lawnmower?"

"You told me yourself," answered the child. "This year he was a freshman, next year he'll be a lawnmower, then a janitor and then a senior. And then he'll graduate."

"Oh, you mean sophomore," the mother explained. "I said that Malcolm would be a sophomore, not a lawnmower."

"I don't know that that makes any difference," was Katherine's comment. "One sounds just as well as the other, to be sure, but I know what a lawnmower is and I never heard that other word before."—Columbus Dispatch.

How French Girls Are Educated.

The children of the lower classes in the country, as well as in town, all go to public schools. Little girls of the better class have an English or German nursemaid or a resident governess. When they are sent to a boarding school they go to some convent, but in Paris courses which leave the young girl most of the time at home are preferred. The courses are weekly, semi-weekly or even daily classes. The government schools have hitherto been attended mostly by the free thinking element. Private schools are fast being transformed into day schools. Then there are private teachers for those arts called "accomplishments," which occupy a prominent place.—Th. Bentzon (Madame Blanc), in Ladies' Home Journal.

Singing Soldiers.

A London paper notes that during the recent Austrian maneuvers the general in command tried the original experiment of using the singing of songs as a means of ascertaining the whereabouts of the different companies of the corps d'armee. He commanded each battalion of a division to learn a certain song of war and sing it when attacked. In this way he was enabled to discover, when some distance off, which battalion was being attacked by the enemy. The songs consisted of old folk-songs familiar to the men. To each battalion was attached a few musicians and drummers, who assisted the singing soldiers.—Youth's Companion.

Animal Millinery.

Observers of nature are frequently struck with the singular resemblances of insects to leaves, dried sticks, and so forth, and these likenesses are supposed to have grown out of the necessity of protection against, or concealment from, enemies. An interesting example of this kind of resemblance was recently brought to the attention of the Entomological society in London by Dr. Chapman, who exhibited a spider found inhabiting some rocks near Cannes, on which were also fastened the cases of a species of moth. When at rest the spider exhibited almost precisely the same form and color as the moth cases surrounding it.—Nature.

He Knew How to Handle 'Em.

"Don't pick me up," growled the bad man from Siwash; "I'm a live wire!"

"Thanks for the warning," said the gentlemanly bartender, "but it's all safe enough when you have the nippers properly insulated."

Whereupon he seized the live wire by his left ear with the ice tongs and hustled him hastily through the outer exit.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Navy Department at the Pan-American

It Is One of the Most Complete of All the Different Government Features of the Fair

[Special Buffalo Correspondence.]

ON ENTERING the Government building at the Pan-American exposition by the door to the extreme right, the visitor is immediately confronted by an array of guns. Old-fashioned ordnance as well as the newest types of guns are here arranged so as to produce the best effect. The large cannon made in the machine shops of the navy yard at Washington immediately attract attention. The entire exhibit was prepared under the direction of Col. B. F. Peters, chief clerk, who is the department's representative on the government board. His idea has been to give a comprehensive presentation of the navy's development, from the frigate Constitution to the battleships of the class of the Pennsylvania and Maryland, as well as the marvelous progress in ordnance, which is illustrated by the old smooth-bore and the modern high-power rifled gun.

The exhibit of the Annapolis Naval academy is of especial interest. It is here the naval officers are educated. This has been done with so much success that the personnel of the American navy is said to be superior to that of any in the world. The handsome barracks and the other buildings soon to be erected will take the place of the old-fashioned ones long in use, are reproduced in very handsome pictures, which hang on the walls. Groups of cadets in their natty uniforms are placed about the grounds. Photographs of many of the more romantic views around Annapolis are also shown.

Probably one of the most interesting and instructive features in this exhibit consists of a great 8 by 20 foot map of the world, on which is designated in large, legible letters the names and location of the principal maritime ports of the world and of the United States navy yards and stations at home and abroad.

This map is drawn upon white canvas, the various divisions of land and water are appropriately colored, and the exposed surface treated to several coats of transparent varnish, the whole being mounted on linoleum, to prevent the canvas from buckling. Thus prepared, the map is placed on what might be designated a billiard table, enlarged twofold in length and breadth and especially designed for the purpose. The map covers the globe from the sixtieth parallel north to the sixtieth parallel south, and upon it is placed 307 miniature lead models, each representing a battleship, cruiser, monitor, gunboat, torpedo boat, submarine boat, sailing vessel, collier or tug of the United States navy, in commission, in ordinary, under repairs or under construction. The models of cruising vessels are painted white, the torpedo boats green, the colliers and sailing vessels black, and the tugs and yard boats orange. The largest of the models is not more than 1½ inches in length.

The position of each model upon the map shows the location each day of the corresponding vessel of the navy. Each model flies a pennant with its name printed on it in bold type. The display of a tiny flag on the model signifies that the corresponding vessel of the navy is in commission for service, and when no flag is displayed it signifies the vessel is laid up in ordinary, under repairs or under construction.

This exhibit is a twentieth century kindergarten lesson, descriptive of the navy as it is to-day; and to those persons who have had no opportunity to visit our various navy yards or to see our squadrons maneuvered a glance at it will probably give a more accurate idea of the composition of our navy than could be had in any other way.

A number of models of vessels of war are exhibited. Among these are the New York, Brooklyn, Oregon, Indiana, Texas, Olympia, Baltimore, Atlanta and Petrel.

There is also in this portion of the exhibit models of the illfated Maine and her namesake, the new battleship Maine, as well as models of some of the earlier vessels of the service; so that the growth of the new navy is very readily followed by taking up the models in their historical sequence.

For the most part these reproductions of our vessels are about one-forty-eighth of the size of the vessels which they represent, and their details are complete in all respects; in fact, are exact reproductions of our fighting vessels.

Most of the special classes of vessels are also represented among the models, for among them are found types of nearly all of the torpedo vessels which have been constructed for the navy and of the once much-talked of dynamite vessel Vesuvius. A well-executed and finely-fashioned model of the submarine vessel Holland is a part of the exhibit, which, in view of the results accomplished by that little vessel, is not the least interesting of the whole.

There are also models and plans of a number of the details entering into the construction of our modern fighting machines, and among these a model of the "Hichborn turret" (which has been especially well executed), will, doubtless, excite the attention and admiration of visitors to the naval section; as will also many of the full-sized fittings, such as self-illuminated life-buoys, etc., which are found a part of this section.

The exhibit is under the immediate supervision of Commodore Williamson, U. S. N. Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, U. S. N., will be here also during the exposition, being detailed by the navy department to do special scientific work in Buffalo as well as to assist looking after the exhibit of the navy department.

CHARLES EDWARD LLOYD.

MICHAEL ANGELO'S HOUSE.

Historic Dwelling Exists as a Landmark of Rome, But Is Soon to Disappear.

Little by little, as in all other modern cities, Rome is changing, and precious landmarks are disappearing, in many cases against the will of the inhabitants, but artistic considerations must sometimes give way to public convenience. At present it is the house of Michael Angelo which is in question, says the Pall Mall Gazette. The monument to Victor Emmanuel is now proceeding apace, and with it the consequent widening of the Corso, and in the way of this stands the historic house. The last 20 years—and among the most interesting—of the illustrious artist were spent here, and it was during that period that his charming friendship with the poetess Vittoria Colonna took place, and it was here he wrote his sonnets whose inspiration she was, and here that he made his last designs.

On a cold day in February, 1561, he died an old man, and was taken to the Church of the SS. Apostoli, not far off, which stands next the Colonna palace. In the church is still to be seen the statue of Michael Angelo on the tomb where it was intended to lay him. Modern criticism declares that it was not intended for him, but the features certainly answer to what we know, even to the nose broken by Torrigiano, before he went to pursue his heated career in England. The house was for long reverenced for its associations, but was eventually lost sight of, and only unearthed, so to speak, in 1866, to be later marked by a commemorative tablet. It is a sad pity that so authentic a relic of the glorious bygone days must disappear.

Place for the Root.

It is said that Sarah, duchess of Marlborough, one day remarked to her grandson, Jack Spencer: "Jack, you must marry, and I will give you a list of the ladies you may propose to." "Very well, grannie," he said, and he proposed to the first on the list. When he came back with his wife from their wedding tour, they went to pay their respects to the old lady. "Well, now," she said, "I am the root and you are only the branches, and therefore you must always pay me a great deal of deference." "That is very well," said Jack, impertinently, "but I think the branches would flourish a great deal better if the root was under ground."—Argonaut.

The New Woman

By... Eliza Archard Conner

It is well pleasing to note the increasing number of women going into newspaper work in the smaller cities of the Union. The daily papers in many of these smaller cities have really more genuine originality and scope than the great, many blanketed sheets, for all their fuss and feathers. On the journal of the small inland city there is more Americanism of sentiment, consequently less prejudice against women's occupying responsible places, than can be found in centers like New York and Chicago. Aspiring young women begin to find this out, and are knocking at the door of journalism in towns where it will be opened to them. It is pleasing, too, to note that many of these young women are college graduates, trained to write good English and to use their brains to think. To those who serve their apprenticeship faithfully in the country towns, if later they desire to hazard their fortunes in one of the great cities, the way will open. Portraits and sketches of the Misses Louise and Georgia Boynton, respectively editor in chief and business manager of a paper in Perth Amboy, N. J., have been widely published. The young ladies are both Vassar graduates. The paper was a weekly when they bought it. They changed it into a successful daily. In Titusville, Pa., a young lady—Miss Mary Lee—is city editor of a daily paper. She first duly worked her time as a general reporter, which is the natural road to newspaper promotion. Miss Lee watches every item of her local department till the paper goes to press at 2 in the morning. Many a time it is necessary for her to go out at night and get a hurried news story, which the nervy, brainy young woman does without the least hesitation and in perfect security.

A summer woods camp for girls has been suggested, where they may live in freedom and enjoy physical sports at will. Yes, but they will have a lot more fun to take fathers and brothers along—their own brothers, also some other girls' brothers.

A queer thing happened lately at Atlantic City. Miss Elsie Bernard, a strong and expert swimmer, was in the water off the pier. She was performing various water exploits, in one of which she threw up her hands. The life saver, who is always present to watch the swimmers, thought this motion of Miss Bernard was a signal for help. He snatched a buoy, and threw it toward her with such force that he threw himself along with it, and down he went into the sea, head first. He struck so hard that he was stunned and sank instantly. As quickly Miss Bernard, the magnificent girl swimmer, dived after him. She did not find him, came up to breathe and dived again. The second time she reached him, grasped him powerfully and brought him to the surface. There others relieved her of her burden and quickly restored the half drowned man. Thus a girl swimmer saved the life saver.

The acting secretary of the Boston Democratic committee is a woman, Miss Mary Meyer. She has been employed in the Democratic headquarters 13 years and knows more of the details of the office than any man does. In election times she has worked 48 hours without stopping. Yet probably not more than one in ten of all the men who know of her capability would be willing she should vote.

Mrs. Blank was a sweet, womanly, little woman who made lace and embroidery, studied the fashion of her gowns, adored her husband and leaned upon him and twined around him quite in the manner the novelists paint. Of her husband's real life, of his business affairs, she knew no more than a blind kitten. The husband died suddenly. His gentle, childish wife is being robbed right and left and losing, as fast as time can trot, the money that ought to support her abundantly, all through being a sweet, ideal, leaning creature who knows no more of business than a babe three days old. Don't go and do likewise.

And presently it came. The cheering that had died away, far over to the left beyond the wooded knolls that surrounded Singalon and Block House 12, was suddenly taken up nearer at hand. Then crashing volleys sounded along the narrow roadway toward the east, and a bugle rang out shrill and clear above the noise of battle; and then closer still, though unseen in the gloom of the dense thicket in which they lay, the men of the Second battalion, strung along a Filipino trail that led away to the rice fields, swung their big straw hats and yelled for joy. A young officer, his eyes flashing, his face flushing with excitement, came bounding out from the grove at the left of the crouching line and made straight to where the veteran battalion commander knelt in rear of his center. It was Billy Gray, adjutant of the Third battalion, acting that day as adjutant to the regimental commander. The bullets whistled by his head as he darted springingly along; and in their joy at sight of him even old hands forgot the reserve of the regular service and some man shouted: "Now we're off!" and the popular query: "What's the matter with Lieut. Gray?"

At any other time, under any other circumstances, both questioner and respondents who gleefully shouted: "He's all right," would have been promptly and sternly suppressed. But the senior captain at their head well knew the excitement tingling in the nerves of that long-suffering line, and only smiled and nodded sympathy. He saw, too, that Gray was quivering with pent-up feeling, as the boy halted short, saluted, and, striving to steady his eager voice, said:

"Captain, the colonel directs that you open sharp fire on the woods in your front and occupy the enemy there. He is about to charge with the Third battalion and drive them out of the trenches we've located over yonder;" and Billy pointed eagerly to the left front—the southeast.

The captain's grizzled face took on a look of keen disappointment. "You mean we've got to stay here and see you fellows go in?"

"Only for a few minutes, sir. The colonel says that for you to charge before he's got onto their flank would cost too many men. You'll get the word as soon as he's got the works."

"Well said, Billy boy! That sounds almost epigrammatic. Hullo! You hit? Stoop down here, man. Don't try to get perforated."

"My hat only," was the answer, as the boy stooped quickly to hide the irrepressible twitching about the muscles of his lip. A Remington had ripped from side to side, tearing a way through the curly hair at the top of his head and almost scoring the scalp. To save his soul he could not quite suppress the trembling of his knees; but, steadying himself by great effort, he continued: "The colonel says to commence firing by volley the moment our bugles sound the charge. Now I must get back."

"All right, youngster. Tell the colonel I savey, and we'll do our level best—only, let us into it as quick as you can."

But Gray heard only the first part of the sentence. He was panting when he reached his placid, gray-mustached chief, and could only gasp out: "The captain understands, sir." And then the regimental commander simply turned to the battalion leader, standing silent at his left in a little clump of timber—another veteran captain grown gray as himself in long, long years of service:

"Now's our time, old man! Pitch in! Gray, we'll go with him."

All along the line from right to left there ran the cross-country road connecting the broader highway, from Malate to San Rafael and Paranaque on the west, and from Paco by way of Singalon to Pasay. In front of the right wing all was swamp, morass or rice fields. In front of the left wing all was close, dense bamboo and jungle, save where the broad, straight roadway led on past Block House 13, or the narrower cart track stretched southward, overarched in places by spreading branches, and commanded at its narrowest path by the swarm of dusky fighters in Block House 14. A year before the blue shirts stormed these forest strongholds from the south, and took them from the troops of Spain. Now they were compelled to turn and storm them from the north; for, just as Stanley Armstrong said at San Francisco, the Filipinos had turned upon their ally and would-be friend. Aguinaldo had bearded Uncle Sam.

And while the volunteers and regulars to the right could only remain in support, it fell to the lot of the left wing of this brave brigade to assault in almost impenetrable position an enemy armed with magazine rifles or breech loaders, and entirely at home. The bugles rang the signal; the officers in silence took their station, and, stepping into the narrow pathways through the jungle, crouching along the roadways or crashing through the stiff bamboo, the blue shirts drove ahead. Two, three minutes and their purpose seemed undiscovered. Then suddenly Block House 14 blazed with fire and a storm of bullets swept the road. The earthworks in the thicket to the right and left seemed to be crowded with a running flame; and down on their faces fell the foremost soldiers, their gallant leader shot through and through, plunging headlong, yet in his dying agony waving his surviving men to get to cover. Vengefully now the "Krags" opened in reply to Remington and Mauser. The blue-shirts struggled inch by inch through the network of bamboo. Still the storm swept up the roadway, and no man could hope to face it and live. But, little by little, the low-aimed, steady volleys, driven in by squad and section through the canebreak, or by company and platoon across the westward swamps, told on the nerve and discipline of the little brown men in the bamboo. Their shots flew swift, but wild and higher. Then a daring lad, in the rough field uniform of a subaltern of infantry, sprang like a cat into the fire-flashing lane, and, revolver in hand and a squad of devoted fellows at his heels, dashed straight at the wooden walls ahead. In frantic haste the occupants blazed shot after shot upon him and his heroic followers. One after another three went down; but in another instant, the lieutenant leading, they reached the block house and darted through the open doorway, the last of its garrison fleeing before such unheard-of daring and determination. And then came the rush of comrades cheering down the lane, tumbling over the earthworks and the luckless gang that, still crouching there, held to their position, and all the southward leading road was ours.

But, over along the next lane, a parallel track through the timber, there had been as stern a check; and the fury of the fire from the trenches in the thickets forced brave men to cover and dropped others in their tracks. "By God, we must have it!" almost screamed a tall captain, pointing with his sword to the flashing block house half hidden in the trees. "Hear those fellows on the other road? Don't let them beat us. Come on, lads," and out he darted into the open, an instant target for a score of Mausers. Out, too, leaped half a dozen men, one a tall, lithe, superbly built young athlete, with a face aflame with resolution and rage of battle. Out leaped Billy Gray from the corner of the crossroad, and, cheering madly, called on others to follow. Down went the captain, shot through the knee. Down went the nearmost man, the tall youth who was first to follow. Down went a brawny sergeant, who had stopped to raise his fallen captain; but on swept a score of others while the bamboos blazed with the fierce volleying of the Krags. Forward in scores now, yelling like Apaches, rushed the regulars; and somehow, he never just knew how it happened, Gray found himself a moment later straddling an old field gun in a whirl of dust and dirt and smoke and cheers, was conscious of something wet and warm streaming down his side, and of being tenderly lifted from his perch by brawny, blue-sleeved arms, given a sip from a canteen, and then, half-led, half-supported back to where the surgeon was already kneeling by the tall young soldier on whose brow the last dew was settling, on whose fine, clear-cut face the shadow of the death angel's wings was already traced. The poor fellow's eyes opened wearily as he sipped the stimulant pressed upon him by eager, sympathetic hands, and glanced slowly about as though in search of some familiar face; and so they fell on those of Billy Gray, who, forgetful for the moment of his own hurt, threw himself by the stranger's side and seized his clammy hand. A half smile flitted over the pale face, the other hand groped at the breast of his blue shirt and slowly drew forth a packet, stained and dripping with the blood that welled slowly from a shothole in the broad white breast. "Give to —Gen. Drayton— Promise," he gasped, and pushed it painfully toward Billy Gray. Then the brave eyes closed, the weary head fell back; and Gray, staring as though in stupefaction into the placid face, found himself drooping, too, growing dizzy and faint and reeling, but still holding on to his trust.

"Don't some of you know him?" asked the surgeon. "He's past helping now, poor lad. Here, you drink this, Billy;" and he placed a little silver cup at Gray's pallid lips.

"He came a-runnin' from over at Block House 12 with a note from division headquarters just as we went in," said a veteran sergeant, drawing the back of a powder-stained hand across his dripping forehead, then respectfully stepping back as a young officer bent down and glanced at Gray.

"Much hurt, Billy, old man? No? Thank God for that! Look at who? Where? Why, God in Heaven, it's Pat Latrobe! Oh, Pat! Pat! dear old boy—has it come to this!"

Mrs. Margaret Revill, of 752 West Third street, says: "For a long time I was troubled with a lame and weak back, I never found anything which gave me any relief until I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills from L. W. Randolph's drug store and began to use them according to directions. It was only a short time before I felt the good effects and from that time on I improved steadily under the treatment. My back pained me and was so weak and sore that I dreaded to bend and when I had a cold or overexerted myself I suffered severely. I used several different kidney remedies, but got little if any relief. I give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for my improvement. I think they are a fine medicine for a lame back."

DAWES WILL RETIRE

Comptroller of Currency to Be a Candidate for Senator.

Wants to Succeed William E. Mason in the Upper House—Some of the Reforms Carried Out Under His Direction.

Charles G. Dawes, the controller of the currency, has tendered his resignation to the president, to take effect October 1 next. In answer to an inquiry, in explanation, Mr. Dawes said: "I have resigned because of my intention to be a candidate before the people of Illinois for the United States senate. It would not be possible for me during the next year to make a canvass for the senate and at the same administer to my own satisfaction the important and responsible office I now hold. I am influenced solely in this action by what seems to me the plain proprieties of the situation."

Mr. Dawes' term of office would not have expired until January 1, 1903.

Mr. Dawes entered the office of controller of the currency January 1, 1898, succeeding James H. Eckles, and was immediately confronted by the situation in the Chestnut Street national bank of Philadelphia, which was one of the most complicated ever confronting a controller. He found it necessary, in the interest of the creditors of the bank, to oppose the general plan of a reorganization committee formed of prominent citizens of Philadelphia, and for a time he was severely criticised therefor. His plan was followed, however, and it is now recognized as having saved to the creditors of the bank a lien upon other property which was not contemplated by the reorganization committee, from which they probably will realize over a million dollars.

The administration of the controller's office under Mr. Dawes has been conspicuously one of business, and this

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Manager Thompson, of the Hope team has completed arrangements with an outside nine for two games to take place in this city on Labor Day. They will be played on the Hope grounds commencing at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The letter carriers' challenge for a baseball game on Labor Day has been accepted by Captain Overbaugh, of the policemen's team and it will take place in the afternoon. Both teams are anxious to secure the St. Mary's grounds for the purpose but it is a question as to whether they can be had. Dan Shea will manage Uncle Sam's men and he has already appointed Carrier Daniel Mack pitcher. Mack is a brother of the famous shortstop of the St. Mary team and it is said by some that he can equal him in playing. At any rate he has a number of puzzling curves, which are guaranteed to put the bluecoats to sleep.

GOLF.

The rule that four or more players must compete to score for a cup, which prevails at the Park Golf Club, does not hold good at the Hillside course.

In the standing for the Mellick cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, Miss Daisy Eisberg holds second position, but she has 12½ points instead of 14½ as printed last Monday. A few weeks ago when Miss vanHerwerden was disqualified, the same fate befell Miss Eisberg, for the reason that she, too, forgot to post her name before playing.

If the weather is favorable there should be a large field of players on the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday and Labor Day. The members are now wending their way homeward and there will be much interest in the game from now on to the close of the season. There are several events scheduled for the remainder of the season, while the team will contest with well-known teams from other clubs in the meantime.

It is expected that the fall season at golf will be opened auspiciously Labor Day on the Park Golf Club, at which time most of the members are expected to be home from their summer outing. The course is in fine condition, the recent rains having no bad effect on it. If the weather continues to be clear the course should be materially improved by next Monday.

On Saturday there will be the regular weekly competition for the President's cup. The events for Labor Day include regular play for the Holiday cup in the morning at 9 o'clock. Considerable interest is evidenced in this competition, and there should be a large field of players out for the next play. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a bogey handicap play. This is always popular on the Park course, and it is expected that there will be a large entry list. In addition to the events on the course there is likely to be a tea at the clubhouse with the usual social features Altogether Labor Day should be an eventful one at the Park Golf Club.

WARREN CHAPEL OUTING.

Nine passenger coaches of the Central Railroad were found insufficient to hold the member of Warren chapel and their friends who took advantage of the last opportunity to visit Asbury Park and Ocean Grove this season. Three of the cars were crowded too much for comfort and hence two more had to be taken on at Roselle.

The scene about the Fourth street depot this morning previous to the train's departure was the usual one of bustle and activity. It was a noticeable fact that the young men were more in evidence than on previous excursions. Ordinarily the girls outnumber the boys three to one. It has been suggested that as this is the last one of the summer, the young men could no longer put off promises made earlier in the season and had to escort the young women to the Park.

The train was in charge of Conductor Knapp, of Newark, one of the popular employes of the Central. With an able corps of assistants there is no doubt but what the comfort of the Plainfielders will be looked after. The excursionists will arrive home this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

HIGGINS NOW A DOG CATCHER.

Patrolman After Much Difficulty Succeeds in Killing a Canine.

Patrolman Morris Higgins had an exciting chase after a dog yesterday, supposed to have been mad, ending in the animal's death. The canine was chased down Watchung avenue by William Phoebus, who sought to kill it with a club, but without success. Near the brook the patrolman joined in the pursuit and the dog realizing his danger, ran beneath one of the old building, originally facing on Stiger's alley. The blue coat was not to be cheated in this manner and without any hesitancy crawled in after him. Before getting in far, the dog emerged from the rear and ran down East Front street to the cellar of Powlison's furniture store, where it cowered in the corner.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR CONCERTS.

More Subscriptions to Fund For Free Music at Treat.

Benjamin LaVere wishes to announce the following additional contributions for tomorrow evening's band concert in the city park. These are: W. P. Smith, $5; Councilman G. P. Mellick, $5; Councilman Coriell, $1.50; T. Timbo, $1; Cash, $2.

In Memory of Mr. Runyon.

Through a chance remark of Rev. G. M. Shott, of Scotch Plains, who conducted the regular meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening, it took the form of a memorial service. Mr. Shott remarked that as the church had lost one of its most faithful workers and attendants in the death of Francis S. Runyon, those present wishing to speak of him in a reminiscent way would be at liberty to do so. A number availed themselves of the opportunity, among them being Theodore Runyon, who spent his boyhood days at Greenbrook with Mr. Runyon, and Seely Edsall, a life-long friend. Both spoke in a eulogistic manner.

The obsequies were attended by a large number of relatives and friends, among whom were many Plainfielders. Rev. G. A. Francis, pastor of the Westfield Baptist church, officiated. Interment was made in the family plot in Fairview cemetery.

Good Luck of Plainfield Fishermen.

A large box of fresh fish was received at The Daily Press this morning from Forked River, where T. S. Armstrong, A. Vanderbeek, H. C. Compton and Louis Moraller, Plainfield's veteran fishermen, are angling for the finy tribe. Their kind remembrance of friends at home is greatly appreciated and the employes of this office, as well as several outside friends, will thoroughly enjoy a fish dinner today.

WOUNDED IN BATTLE.

George A. Moncton, a Young Plainfielder, Hurt While Skirmishing in the Philippines.

Word has been received by friends in this city of the wounding in a battle of George A. Moncton, a young Plainfield man, who is one of Uncle Sam's fighters in the Philippines. He was shot on June 21 during a skirmish in the northern part of the Isle of Luzon, but whether he is seriously wounded or not is not known. The letter was written by an officer.

Moncton, who is but twenty-five years old, was born in this city and always lived here until the outbreak of the Spanish War. He was visiting in San Antonio, Texas, at the time war was declared and, instead of returning home, he enlisted in a cavalry regiment, assigned to Cuba.

After passing through several minor battles he was wounded in the famous charge up San Juan hill and returned to this city. On recovering he re-enlisted in the regular army and was placed in Company L, 22nd Infantry. The company has been actively engaged in the Philippines for the past two years and Moncton recently sent word that he expected to return to the United States.

Miss Crowther has been one of the teachers in the Borough Public High School, and held that position to the close of the last school year. Dr. French is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. CLAM BAKE POSTPONED.

In Compliance With Wish of The Governor, Date Has Been Changed.

Upon request of Governor Voorhees, Andrew McCardell, of this city, announces that the committee in charge of the affair has changed the date of the Union County Republican Committee clam bake at Recreation Park, from September 14 to the 21.

This was found necessary as New Jersey day at the Pan-American Exposition falls on September 19 and many prominent Jersey politicians would be at Buffalo. They would be unable to return the next day and for this reason the governor thought a postponement would result in a larger attendance.

THAT PESTY MOSQUITO CAUSES MUCH TROUBLE

State Entomologist Smith Has Something to Say Regarding the Insect.

IT DEPRECIATES PROPERTY.

WHAT IS BEING DONE TO GET RID OF THE ANNOYANCE.

Endeavoring to Get Get Co-operation From Local Boards of Health—Where Mosquito Spends the Winter—The Frozen Insect.

In his study of the mosquito, State Entomologist John B. Smith, has has learned many important facts. His mission is to rid the State of the pest, if it can possibly be done, and he has set about his work in a systematic manner.

Mr. Smith is now at New Brunswick and in leisure moments he has taken the trouble to set fourth his views in regard to the mosquito, in a letter, which he addresses to the Newark Daily Advertiser. His letter is of peculiar interest. In part it is as follows:

"It is not saying too much, I think, that, were it not for the mosquito along the shore, ocean property would be more than doubled in value; in some cases it would increase many times its present value.

"The number of people kept away each year certainly equals, if it does not exceed, the number that actually spends the season, or part of it, at our shore resorts. It goes without saying that most of these places claim that they have none or very few mosquitoes; but visitors tell a different story. It may be left for the impartial judge to decide which is right.

"Certain it is, that for some points, the importance of dealing with this problem has become apparent, and many thousands of dollars have been spent to improve the conditions—in general with success. The difficulty is, however, that the mosquito problem is not a local one. Let one shore point be ever so careful, and do away with breeding places completely, the first steady wind from an undrained marsh will fill the town with thousands of blood thirsty creatures.

I have tried to interest the local boards of health throughout the State and have communicated with each organized board. I have had a large number of replies and have gathered a very large amount of material; but the responses have not been universal by any means. The last annual report of the State Board enumerates thirty-six cities with organized local boards of health. Of that whole number, less than ten have shown any disposition to co-operate, and not one of the large cities is included in that small proportion.

"As to where the insects spend the the winter, there is no uniformity in habit. Perhaps most of the species winter in the adult form. The female mosquito finds a hiding place in the barn, the cellar or even in a pile of rubbish; some times under bark or in an old tree; wherever, indeed, there is shelter. There she remains quiet during the cold weather, and not always entirely quiet either. There are some hotels, that I could mention, where mosquitoes may be found throughout the winter.

'My experience includes a very broken night rest in mid January, caused by one or more of these little pests that had found comfortable quarters in the continually warm rooms and halls. As spring approaches they fly out doors and in convenient places the eggs are laid. The wrigglers that develop from these early eggs grow slowly; while the summer generation may develop in a week, these spring forms may require nearly or quite three times as long. So in the late fall, development is very much slower.

"Another series of species—just how many we cannot yet say—winter in the larval or wriggler stage. These may be frozen solid and may be thawed out and re-frozen several times in the course of the winter without losing vitality.

"Given a series of warm days in May, these wintering wrigglers will complete their transformation, and we will have our first crop of spring mosquitoes. Breeding as rapidly as they do, each individual female producing a large number of eggs, requiring little food, the immense swarms that come in the middle and late summer are easily accounted for."

—Employes of the Jersey Central Railroad Company are being measured for their winter uniforms.

COLORED CITIZENS REJOICE IN FREEDOM.

Hold Celebration to Commemorate the Signing of Emancipation Proclamation.

PROGRESS OF THE RACE.

SPEECHES IN AFTERNOON AND EVENING, INTERESTING TO NEGRO.

Hon Jesse Lawson Not Present—Addresses by Local Leaders—Vocal and Instrumental Music—Large Attendance.

Yesterday was a great day for the colored citizens of Plainfield. They marked one of the most important events in the history of their residence in the United States, the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation by Abraham Lincoln. They marked the freedom and beginning of a new existence of thousands of slaves who had been dragging their lives out in southern cotton fields beneath the cruel lash of the overseer's whip. For a long time it has been the desire of the local descendants of the men, freed by Lincoln's act, to properly observe its anniversary, but it remained until yesterday to be properly carried out.

Through the efforts of Rev. E. E Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and several other leading colored citizens, all arrangements were completed and they were carried out. The exercises took place in Vail's Grove and were attended by large crowds, including many white citizens. The attendance would have been much larger, no doubt, but for the fact that yesterday was one of the important colored salt water days at Florida Grove.

The exercises began at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with singing by a chorus of twenty-five children. Rev. Mr. Jackson, who presided, announced that the intended principal speaker, Jesse Lawson, had been unable to reach this city in time, and introduced in his stead, Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church. Mr. Smith gave a very interesting talk and was followed by Rev. E. J. Crudup, of the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church. The exercises concluded with a stirring speech delivered by Rev. Mr. Jackson. It dealt with the history of the black race in this country; its future prospects and its general condition in the north and south.

In the evening there was but one speaker, Rev. G. L P. Taliafero, of Philadelphia, and one of the influential colored men in the country. The attendance was much larger than that of the afternoon and Mr. Taliafero's remarks were listened to with considerable interest. He spoke at some length on the progress of his race, since the Emanciaption Proclamation was signed, and referred in particular to the development within the past few years. The condition of the negro in the south during the war, the educational advantages of the south, which is the home of the colored man, the prejudice against him and many other topics, of interest to all classes, were freely discussed by Mr. Taliafero. In closing he stated that the colored man would not be independent in America unless he took every advantage offered to educate himself and, by comparison with other races, elevate himself to a point where he would be respected.

After a few remarks by Mr. Jackson, the audience was entertained with the Martin Brothers quartette and the Zobo band, which furnished vocal and instrumental music. It was greatly enjoyed and both received numerous numerous encores. This concluded the day's celebration and those in attendance busied themselves afterward at the various booths which had been placed about the grounds.

Improving His Shop.

W. L. Smalley, Jr., the popular Somerset street butcher, is making extensive improvements at his market. The entire front is being remodeled, and in front of the old-fashioned front there will be a hansome up-to-date entrance. Instead of the worn-out wooden awning overhead there will be a new one of an attractive design. Another improvement will be the installation of two large plate glass windows and the woodwork is to be painted, thus making this market one of the most attractive in this vicinity.

Capt. March to Speak.

Staff Captain Emily C. March, who was formerly in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army, will address the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. Madame Cortada will sing.

SHAMPOOING CONTEST.

Affair Will be One of the Events at Butcher and Grocery Clerks' Outing on Labor Day.

A number of grocery and butcher clerks have arranged to hold a clambake and athletic contest at Dewey Park on Labor Day. There will also be dancing. Among the various games, which include a fat men's race, tug-of-war, running and jumping races, there will be a unique event called a "Shampooing" contest. A Chicago soap manufacturer has offered a large box of glycerine tar soap as a prize. Several persons will enter the contest and the one securing the greatest amount of lather on his head, will receive the box of soap. A photograph of the contest at the close will be taken and forwarded to Chicago. Louis Bennett is chairman of the committee in charge and a good time is promised all who attend the affair.

GRANGERS ENJOY A PICNIC.

ANNUAL AFFAIR AT CHIMNEY ROCK A BIG SUCCESS.

S. D. Drake One of the Speakers—"School Teacher" Potter's Talk.

Grangers to the number of 1,500 from all parts of Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties, were in attendance yesterday at the second and concluding day of the farmers' picnic at Chimney Rock. The affair was declared to be one of the most successful of this kind ever held in this vicinity.

In addition to the usual means of divertisement, the programme yesterday was lengthened by two speeches. The orators were S. D. Drake, of this city, and E. E. Potter, of Port Oram. Drake held the interest of his listeners for forty minutes, while he told of the material advancement of the three counties, represented at the picnic. He also offered some advice to the young people present in regard to attaining success in life. Mr. Potter's speech was entertaining and was in keeping with his reputation as an orator of merit.

It was decided by the management of the affair that next season the picnic will be held at Dewey Park, it being much more accessible than Chimney Rock.

There will be opened tomorrow at 139 East Front street, a first-class furniture store by N. Wolfson. This store was formerly occupied by the Plainfield Furniture Company. An entirely new and handsome stock of furniture will comprise the stock and prices will be reasonable. Mr. Wolfson invites the public to examine his stock and give him a share of the patronage. A glance through his advertisement in today's Press will give one an idea of the many bargains offered. All goods are first grade and the proprietor intends to give his customers full value.

Couple to Reside in This City—Wedding Announcements Are Issued—Groom in Business in New York.

The recent announcement of the marriage of John V. Beekman, of 216 West Eighth street, to Mrs. Amelia Beekman, formerly of Brooklyn, but for some time past a resident of Plainfield, has occasioned no little surprise among the many friends of the bride and groom.

The marriage was celebrated at Hoboken, where the bride's sister resides. It took place, Monday, August 12, and was performed by Rev. Mr. Mead, of that place. Cards, announcing the marriage, have just been issued to the friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was the wife of Edward Beekman, who is a son of the groom. For several years past the bride's first husband, who is the son of her present husband, has been in Scotland. About a year ago Mrs. Beekman was granted a decree of absolute divorce from her first husband. Since that time she has made her home in this city with her father-in-law. Mrs. Beekman is esteemed by all who know her, and she has a host of friends in this city. The elder Mr. Beekman has been a resident of this city for many years, where he has made many friends. He is a member of the Lidgerwood Manufacturing Company, with offices at 96 Liberty street, New York. He and his bride will continue their residence on West Eighth street. Since the announcement of the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Beekman have received many congratulations.

SERVICES AT CAMP WOOLFE.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH C. E. SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING.

George E. Hall Leads—Many Guests to Leave and Others to Come Today.

An impressive service, held last evening at Camp Woolfe, Westfield, was in charge of the Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church. The meeting was led by Miss Anna Wyckoff, president of the society, whose remarks, based upon the 14th chapter of John, were particularly helpful.

George E. Hall related several Bible stories and made an application of truths therein contained. Mr. Krause, of Cranford, also assisted in the meeting. A number of the mothers responded with earnest testimonies. At the close of the service the entire audience formed themselves into a large circle while they sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which D. E. Torrey led in earnest prayer.

This is the custom at the Camp on the eve of the departure of guests, and today a number of the mothers and children return to their homes in New York. This afternoon more guests will arrive at the Camp.

Members of Hope Chapel Presented an Umbrella to Rev. G. K. Newell, the Retiring Pastor.

At the conclusion of the Christian Endeavor meeting at Hope chapel, Wednesday evening, Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, who is soon to leave the pastorate, received a costly silver-handled umbrella, suitably engraved. The presentation speech was made by President Thompson. Mr. Newell, although taken completely by surprise, responded in a few well-chosen words.

The reception to be given Mr. Newell by the members of Hope Memorial chapel will take place Thursday evening. The proper committees have already been appointed and all arrangements are completed.

Bicycle Stolen.

Wishing to go on an errand about town Wednesday evening, John Philips, of Madison avenue, left his wheel standing at the corner of North and Watchung avenues. He was gone longer than he expected and when he returned the wheel was not to be found. Thinking it was a joke on the part of some of his friends he did not give it much concern, but a careful search yesterday failed to reveal its whereabouts. The police are now looking for it. The bicycle is described as a black enamelled Explorer, fitted with a Twentieth Century lamp.

GRAVE CRIME CHARGED BY THIS YOUNG WOMAN

Lillian Butts Thorn Accuses David Curtis, of This City, and Dr. Tubbs, Westfield.

BOTH MEN UNDER ARREST.

VAIN ENDEAVOR BY CURTIS' FRIENDS TO GET BAIL.

The Physician Bore Good Reputation—Counsel for Curtis Refuses to Talk—Parties are Well Known.

In the arrest of David L. Curtis, of East Third street, and Dr. William Ray Tubbs, of Westfield, which occurred last evening, the realistic side of a number of ugly rumors which have been rife for the past week were brought to the surface. Uncertainty as to the real facts led to every conceivable kind of story being noised about, the principal one being that Miss Lillian Butts Thorn, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Frank Thorn, of East Third street, had died from the effects of a criminal operation performed upon her. The former part was untrue but when Miss Thorn appeared before Justice Moffett yesterday and made complaint against the above mentioned men, the real story was told for the first.

In her complaint, Miss Thorn alleges that, on July 5, Curtis prescribed medicine for her, which is in direct violation of the laws of the State, and on August 5 he took her to the office of Dr. Tubbs, on Central avenue, Westfield, where a criminal operation, she alleges, was performed.

A warrant was immediately drawn up for the arrest of the men, and both were apprehended last night.

Curtis was arrested at 10 o'clock by Patrolman McCarthy while engaged in conversation with two young women on the porch of a Watchung avenue residence. Beyond objecting to being led to the police station he made no remonstrance.

He immediately retained Lawyer W. S. Angleman as his counsel, but, as yet, has not appeared for examination. The accused will be brought before Justice Moffett as soon as a suitable bondsman can be procured. Dr. Tubbs was arrested last evening, in Westfield, and was taken before Justice Tucey, of Westfield. He was held in $1,000 bail for appearance at the October term of the Court of Sessions. As both men are accused of a criminal offense, the matter will be taken in hand by County Prosecutor English.

Dr. Tubbs has alwas been regarded as a reputable physician and his arrest has caused a stir among Westfield residents. He resides on Central avenue in that place. With Curtis rumor is not so lenient. It is alleged that he has a wife and two children living in Florida, and that during a recent residence at Westfield, several escapades gave him an unenviable name.

He is twenty-nine years old and for some time past has been an employe at the local office of an insurance firm. He has a number of relatives in this city, one of whom who is reported to be wealthy. When approached this morning this person declined to furnish his bail.

The girl in the case is a very pretty brunette. She has a comely face, trim figure and a very winning manner. She has always lived with with her father and step-mother on East Third street, but it is said her home life has not been congenial.

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon Curtis' efforts to procure a bondsmen met with failure. His counsel refuses to discuss the matter and Curtis cannot be interviewed.

Drowned In Verona Lake.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, August 30—Harold K. Walker, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Walker, of 89 New street, was drowned here in Verona lake. In company with another lad, he got upon a raft despite the warnings of boatmen in the vicinity. When about thirty feet from the shore the raft upset and both boys were thrown in the water. Walker could not swim and sank immediately. His lifeless body was recovered shortly afterwards.

RICH FLOW OF WATER OF HIGH ORGANIC PURITY

Plainfielders Discover Springs in This Vicinity Free From Injurious Substances.

NOTED CHEMIST'S ANALYSIS.

BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE TO PUT WATER ON THE MARKET.

Have Opened Store on North Avenue—Water For Drinking and Medical Purposes—And Unlimited Supply.

On a crest of Watchung hill, on the old Cole farm, a natural spring of pure water has flowed, uninterruptedly, down through the meadow land to the Green brook, for centuries. Old resident Plainfielders, and those of that section embracing Scotch Plains, Springfield, Westfield and other places remember the copious water flow from these springs. The abundance of the never failing source has often been remarked when the water supply of the villages nearby had entirely ceased, through droughts caused by continued long spells of dry weather.

The springs are located on Mountain avenue, in the township of North Plainfield, Somerset county, near the village of Scotch Plains, and in a locality, which, in colonial days, was the camping place of Indians. The road, crossing the mountains, nearby, was one of the paths used by the Indians in their pilgrimages to the salt water near Perth Amboy and other points along the New Jersey coast.

A few business men of this city, some months ago, arranged to procure samples of the water from these springs and had the same sealed in glass carriers and shipped to the medical school of Yale University, for analytical investigation. There attention was drawn to the water from these springs by one of their number who was acquainted with the condition of the supply.

In the spring, arrangements were perfected with State Chemist of Connecticut Herbert E. Smith, of Yale Medical School, for a careful analysis of the samples submitted. Professor Smith forwarded a report to the promoters, of so convincing a nature that they lost no time in leasing the farm, whereon the springs are located, and began preparations to put the water to markable use.

The report of the chemist is as follows:

	Grains per U. S. gallon.
Sodium Chloride	.262
Sodium Sulphate	.067
Sodium Carbonate	.230
Sodium Nitrate	.024
Potassium Sulphate	.065
Calcium Carbonate	.704
Magnesium Carbonate	.547
Silica	1.337
Oxide of Iron and Alumina	.023
Total	3.249

These results show that the water contains only a small amount of mineral matter; that it is soft; that it is of the highest organic purity, and that it is entirely free from any injurious substances.

In my opinion this water is an excellent one for drinking and for medical purposes, where a pure water is indicated.

Herbert E. Smith,
Conn. State Chemist,
Yale College Laboratory.

The main spring was enclosed with a covering of mountain stone in a cone-shaped manner, a large washhouse and bottling building erected, wherein plain and areated water is bottled, and a general clean-up of the property gotten under way, so that now the place has a decidedly attractive appearance.

The careful observations of students of public health leave no doubt but that a number of epidemic diseases are contracted and spread by means of drinking water, contaminated with germs of disease. This impure water may be clear and may have been filtered through considerable distance of soil, and yet may contain these poisonous germs.

The Watchung Spring Water comes from the rock formation underneath the mountains and percolates through several hundred feet of gravel and sand before it becomes exposed. No contamination of any injurious nature is possible.

The anyiysis shows the Watchung spring water to be superior to any other spring water now on the market, and the efforts of the company will be concentrated in an endeavor to con-

LITERARY.

A typical number of McClure's—that is the brilliant September number in a nutshell. Which means, in the first place, that the articles are particularly timely. To begin with, the Okapi, the strange newly-discovered beast found alive in the forests of Central Africa, is described for the first time in America by its discoverer, Sir Harry H. Johnston, K. C. B., the Special Commissioner for Uganda, British East Africa. In fiction the September magazine lives up to the remarkably high standard set by the Midsummer Fiction Number. A delicious story, comically illustrated by Henry Mayer, is "The Man Who Gave No Tip," by Benjamin Ridgely; a story of real pathos is Kate M. Cleary's "The Stepmother," beautifully illustrated by Frank V. Dumand; Frank H. Spearman's story, "Of the Old Guard—Dave Hawk, Conductor; "Looter and Hero," with a fine picture of Dave by Jay Hambridge, is in that popular writers best vein. And there are other excellent stories. There is much to praise in "The Curate's Bump," illustrated with full-page pictures by Howard Chandler Christy, which is the last of Anthony Hope's More Daily Dialogues;" and in the "Stories from the Archives of the Royal Humane Society," illustrated bp Corwin Knapp Linson, which are true tales of remarkable heroism graphically told by Ray Stannard Baker. With all that has been said, the September number of McClure's still has something "up its sleeve."

PRESIDENT'S DAY.

Sept. 5 Promises to Be a Great Date In Pan-American History.

BUFFALO, Aug. 30.—President McKinley will pay his official visit to the exposition of all the Americas on Sept. 5. That day has been designated at the exposition as president's day. It will witness the most notable gathering of distinguished statesmen, jurists and diplomats which has occurred for some time, as the president will be accompanied by members of his cabinet, justices of the supreme court and many members of the diplomatic corps, who will gather at the Pan-American and meet the representatives there from pan-American countries.

Military pageants, banquets and receptions will mark the president's stay at the exposition. He will speak from the band stand in the west esplanade, addressing perhaps an audience of several hundred thousand persons, for the esplanade is capable of holding 250,000 people. President's day should therefore be in many respects the greatest day among all the great days of the exposition season.

The presidential party will leave Washington at 8 a. m. on Sept. 4 by special train over the Pennsylvania railroad. This train will arrive in Buffalo at 7 p. m. on Sept. 4. There will be no formal ceremonies that evening, and the president and his family, with Dr. and Mrs. Rixey, will simply be met at the station by a suitable escort and conducted to the home of the president of the Pan-American exposition, Hon. John G. Milburn.

THE DELAWARE RIVER DISASTER

Accident More Appalling Than at First Reported.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30.—It has developed that the result of the explosion of the boiler on the steamer City of Trenton while on her way up the Delaware river from this city to Trenton was more appalling than was at first supposed. Nine persons are known positively to be dead, at least 18 are missing, most of whom are believed to have been on the steamer, and two of the injured still in the hospital will probably die. In addition to these there are two charred bodies, believed to be those of females, in the morgue. They are beyond recognition and will be buried in potter's field. The list of missing will doubtless add many to the death roll.

As to the exact cause of the explosion nothing is yet known, but a rigid investigation is to be conducted at once. Many of the passengers who escaped injury maintain that the City of Trenton, which was late when she left her wharf in this city, was racing at her topmost speed and that if this had not been the case the accident would not have happened. This is partly borne out by a statement said to have been made by Assistant Engineer John D. Chew. Chew told his wife that he expected to be killed by an explosion on the steamer, as the company made the engineers keep up too high a pressure of steam.

Constitution Ready For Final Trials.

BRISTOL, R. I., Aug. 30.—With every detail put into the best trim possible and her hull smooth and shining in a new coat of oil, Constitution slid down the railway into the water at 5:30 o'clock last evening ready for the final tests, which commence Saturday off Newport. It was only a few moments afterward when the tender Mount Morris took her line aboard and towed slowly down the bay for Catport. When clear of the pier, the Constitution's topsail, which had been housed during the progress of repairs, was sent aloft. The crew were confident that the Constitution is in perfect condition, and all expressed the belief that she will make a creditable showing in the trial races.

Armenians Doomed.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Daily Mail publishes an article written by Ali Nouri Bey, former Turkish consul in Rotterdam, declaring that the massacre of Armenians by Kurds, which has just recommenced, is part of a regular system of extermination. He says: "The number of Armenians killed will depend upon the outcry raised in Europe and the pressure brought to bear upon the sultan. The same horrible process will be repeated year by year until all are killed."

COLOMBIA FOR PEACE

Strict Neutrality With Ecuador and Venezuela.

THESE COUNTRIES AIDING REBELS.

The Frontiers of Colombia Are Strongly Guarded, and All Foreign Invasion Will Be Promptly Repelled.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The following dispatch, dated Bogota, Aug. 24, is from a Colombian official of high rank:

"General Pedro D. Ospino, acting minister of war, who has prepared an excellent and extensive plan of campaign, confirms the reports that within the last 15 days he has destroyed nearly all of the Colombian guerrillas.

"The government of Colombia has maintained strict neutrality regarding Ecuador and Venezuela, notwithstanding the fact that the governments of the said countries have upheld and effectively aided the rebels of Colombia, thus prolonging the revolution in this country.

"Recently the revolutionary chiefs of Colombia have met on the frontier of Venezuela to organize new invasions of Colombia, using the munitions of war accumulated by the government of Venezuela on her frontiers.

"A party of Venezuelans, surrounded near Cucuta, are about to return to their country. They are commanded by Rangel Garbiras.

"The position taken by the government of Colombia is one of peace and neutrality. These are fundamental canons in her foreign policy. The frontiers of Colombia are sufficiently defended. Colombia feels certain that she can maintain her rights and repel whatever foreign invasions may offer."

Colombian Minister Hopes For Peace

COLON, Colombia, Aug. 30.—Dr. Luis Carlos Rico, Colombian minister to Venezuela, ere his departure for Bogota officially assured Senor Velez, governor of Cartagena, that he was going to inform his government with reference to the situation between Venezuela and Colombia. He expressed the opinion that peace would be preserved by and between both nations and that the existing difficulties would be overcome. The Colombian official newspaper in Cartagena declares that the entire province of Pachira, Venezuela, touching Colombia south of Maracaibo, is in the power of the Venezuelan insurgent leader, General Rangel Garbiras. It asserts also that the Colombian general Gonzales Valencia, until recently Colombian minister of war, is now on the frontier with no less than 10,000 Colombian troops disposed in the province of Santander and maintaining the sovereignty of Colombia there.

Murderer Francis Still at Large.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30.—"Bossie" Francis, the murderer of Miss Mary Henderson at Columbus, Mo., on Tuesday evening, has thus far eluded his pursuers, and the large posse that has been searching for him has partially disbanded, discouraged over the failure of their efforts after having been, as they supposed, at the point of capturing the negro. A pack of bloodhounds was obtained from Manhattan, Kan., and taken to the scene of the murder. They found the trail of Francis readily and followed it straight to the coal mine at Blackwater, owned by a negro, whose wife is an aunt of Francis. The posse of 200 men felt sure that Francis was hidden in the mine shaft, but as he was known to have two pistols none of the men ventured to go down. Finally A. W. Rice, owner of the bloodhounds, entered the mine, taking the dogs with him, but failed to find Francis. Late this afternoon the men decided to disperse for the night, leaving a few of their number on guard at important points. The search will be continued tomorrow.

Dog Prizes at the Exposition.

BUFFALO, Aug. 30.—The judges in the Pan-American dog show have nearly completed their work of awarding prizes. Twelve breeds were disposed of, including field spaniels, cocker spaniels, Irish water spaniels, collies, rough and smooth; old English sheep dogs, poodles, wire haired fox terriers, Scotch terriers, black and tan terriers and schipperkes. The Pan-American gold medal for the largest exhibit of dogs was won by the Vancroft kennels, and the gold medal for the handler in charge of the largest string was won by B. F. Lewis of Philadelphia. The Vancroft pitcher for the best exhibit from the United States went to the Swiss Mountain kennels. The same owner also won the E. M. Oldham silver trophy for the best kennel of four owned by a woman.

Prince Chun's Mission Hangs Fire.

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—The difficulty in connection with the expiatory mission to Germany headed by Prince Chun, brother of the emperor of China, is still unsolved. It is understood that the Chinese minister to Germany, Lu Hai Houan, who went to Basel to see Prince Chun, does not intend to return to Berlin, although he did not take formal leave of Emperor William. It looks as though matters might simmer for weeks. In the meantime German manufacturers are sending scores of invitations to Prince Chun to visit their factories with a view to securing orders.

No War, Says M. Constans.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—M. Constans, the French embassador to Turkey, arrived in Paris from Constantinople and had a conference with the foreign minister, M. Delcasse. In an interview afterward M. Constans said he would not return to Constantinople until the dispute was settled. The embassador did not think the sultan would hold out very long, while as to the possibility of war between France and Turkey, M. Constans said that was quite out of the question.

MANY SEEKING WORK

Steel Corporation Filling Up Its Mills.

LABOR LEADERS ARE UNDAUNTED.

They Claim the Ranks of the Strikers to Be Still Unbroken — A Carnegie Mill Has Been Started Up.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 30.—Officials of the mills of the United States Steel corporation that were closed by the strike of the Amalgamated association state that they are receiving many applications from former employees for work. The announcement that the company would start their mills nonunion has, the officials believe, caused a weakening in the ranks of the strikers, and many are seeking cover. The Amalgamated officials, however, claim that their ranks are unbroken and as strong as ever. One of the steel officials said that there was a general mistake being made regarding the time it would take to train inexperienced men and make them capable of operating mill machines. This has been believed to be the case so long that few have taken the trouble to prove it otherwise. It is now determined, he said, to have new men placed in positions that will give them a chance to learn the skilled work, and many of the men who held menial positions in the union mills are to be taught skilled work with which they are in a measure familiar through long association with the workings of the mills. It is confidently asserted that before many months pass it will be possible to produce many new men and plenty to man all the plants that are now idle and which union men have refused to take hold of. The strikers say it will take years to accomplish this.

Reports from all the mills of the corporation show that steady gains are being made in the force of nonunion men. The strikers claim to have induced six nonunion men to desert the Star mills and to have shipped them back to Chicago, whence they came. On the other hand, Superintendent Piper of the Star plant announces that he is nearly ready to start up the other mills in the plant, and the men now waiting for the improvements to be completed are in the mill. In the Painter mills the work is progressing smoothly, and no desertions are reported. New men are being secured, though the company officials say that on Sundays the strikers make an active canvass of the homes of the men at work and seek to induce them to remain away from the plant. The last two mills in the Painter plant were to have been started yesterday, but it was found impossible to have them ready, and the starting was postponed for a few days. Pickets about the Lindsay-McCutcheon plant in Allegheny claimed to have turned back a new man who was bound for the mills. Other than this there was no change in the Allegheny plant.

The only significant action in Lawrenceville was the successful starting of the Guide mill in the lower Union mills of the Carnegie company. The start was made, according to the officials, with a full crew, and the mill will be run without interruption.

There is little of interest about the headquarters of the Amalgamated association.

Strikers' Pickets May Be Arrested.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Union pickets may be arrested without warrants and held to the criminal court for unlawful interference if they touch a nonunion man and request the privilege of a conversation. This was the purport of a decision rendered here by Justice Doyle when he held to the criminal court James Brown and Herman Vogelsang, two of the strike committee of the Ironmolders' Union of North America, who on Aug. 12 pulled the sleeve of Anton Neilson, a molder, and said, "Can I speak with you?"

Injunction Against Strikers.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30. — United States Judge Francis J. Wing has granted an injunction to prevent the striking workmen at the American Steel company's plant at Canal Dover, O., from interfering with the company or its employees. The petition alleges that the union men have coerced and intimidated the employees of the company.

Mine Workers' Business Finished.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 30.—With the adoption of the report of the committee on resolutions the United Mine Workers practically finished their work. The convention adjourned at noon today. The resolutions recommend written instead of verbal agreements with all the coal companies, strict compliance with the present contract, continuation of the card inspection system as now conducted and instruct President Mitchell and the district presidents to confer with the coal companies regarding card inspection and violation of agreements and to arrange for a joint conference. These officers are vested with power to declare a strike if contracts now in force are not lived up to. The resolutions call attention to the advantage resulting to both miners and operatives by a written contract covering the wage rate for a stated period and specifying the conditions of labor.

Proposed Telephone Deal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Charles W. Morse, a director in the Garfield National bank and the Bank of New Amsterdam, has made a proposition to the board of directors of the Telephone, Telegraph and Cable Company of America to purchase that corporation outright for $2,000,000 in cash. This is the only formidable rival of the Bell Telephone company. Confidential circulars announcing the offer made by Mr. Morse were mailed to the stockholders of the company, in which the board of directors recommend the acceptance of the offer in view of the fact that "a large number of stockholders are not willing to advance additional funds."

Historic Mill Burned.

BALLSTON, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The old and historic frame grist mill in Milton Center, near here, has been destroyed by fire. According to tradition, the mill was built in 1775 by Colonel John Ball, a patriot officer of the Revolutionary war. Billings & Aldrich's sawmill adjoining, with barn and sawed lumber, was also destroyed by the fire.

THE YELLOW FEVER GERM.

Dr. Caldas' Theory Disproved and His Serum Useless.

HAVANA, Aug. 30.—Major Havard, chief surgeon, says that, as the yellow fever commission regards the experiments with the Caldas serum as demonstrations of its uselessness, the commission has definitely severed connection with the Brazilian expert and will not supervise any further experiments conducted by him.

"Dr. Caldas has all along maintained that he had found the yellow fever germ in the intestines," remarked Major Havard, "whereas all the experiments conducted here prove that the germ of the disease is in the blood, people having been directly inoculated by blood infection from a person suffering with yellow fever."

Major Gorgas, chief sanitary officer, made the following statement:

"Some confusion has arisen regarding the precise position of the sanitary department in connection with the yellow fever experiments. In March of this year the sanitary department established an inoculation station at Las Animas for the purpose of inoculating nonimmunes—that is to say, giving them yellow fever in order to make them immune. This was not an experimental station and is not such, the sole object being to effect immunization.

"The sanitary department has nothing to do with the recent experiments conducted by the yellow fever commission nor with those conducted by the officials sent by the war department to investigate the origin and propagation of yellow fever, although it did supply the Carroll commission with mosquitoes.

"The sanitary department stands ready to immunize any one who desires to undergo the treatment after the risk has been fully explained. It accepts the work of Surgeon Major Reed and his colleagues of the army commission as final and does not desire to make further experiments in this direction. No amount of evidence could make more positive the conclusion that yellow fever can be conveyed by the mosquito. The person who submits to mosquito infection, however, stands a better chance of recovery than one who contracts the disease accidentally, as the former has care from the beginning."

Knights Templars' Conclave Closed.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 30.—After electing officers and selecting San Francisco as the place of meeting the first Tuesday in September, 1904, the twenty-eighth triennial conclave of Knights Templars, which has been in progress here since Tuesday, adjourned. The festivities came to an end at a magnificent ball held at night at the horse show building. The election of officers occupied the greater part of the day's session. In the selection of the grand junior warden and the grand recorder occurred the only contests. In the contest for the grand wardenship W. H. Mayo of St. Louis, who held the office for six years, was pitted against John A. Gerrow of Detroit. Mr. Mayo led on the first ballot, but lost steadily thereafter, and the office went to the Detroiter on the fifth ballot. H. Wales Lines of Connecticut was re-elected grand treasurer practically without opposition.

Reindeer For Alaska.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The secretary of the interior has received from Lieutenant E. P. Bertholf of the revenue cutter service a report of purchases of reindeer made in Siberia for shipment to Alaska during the present summer. He says he has secured 450 young does and 50 bucks, all of the large Tunguses breed, and that he thinks a contract can be made for 1,500 reindeer for next summer. The deer were all bought in the vicinity of Orla, and they were to be shipped from that place to Port Clarence. The distance is 2,000 miles. Lieutenant Bertholf expressed some doubt as to the success of the experiment. The deer purchased cost 13 rubles per head in Orla, but the additional expense of keeping, shipping, etc., brings the total cost of the animals landed in Alaska to about $30 each.

Dr. Niccoll's section has made progress in outlining a statement supplementary to the confession respecting the love of God for the world and for missions.

A Western Railway Deal.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 30.—It is stated here on reliable authority that the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company has purchased the Kansas Southwestern railway, which runs from Arkansas City to Anthony, Kan., a distance of 60 miles. It is said that the Santa Fe desires the line to prevent opposition to its proposed road from Arkansas City in a southwesterly direction to Fort Smith, Ark. The deal is said to have been made at a meeting in President Ripley's office in Chicago.

Four thousand dollars are to be deposited to the credit of the firemen's pension fund and the other $1,000 to the police pension fund.

DEVERY DEFIED.

New York Police Headquarters Has an Exciting Case.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The whole corrupt system in the police department by which tribute is levied on patrolmen for transfers is soon to be exposed and by a policeman who dared to beard Deputy Commissioner Devery in his court and hurl defiance at him.

That such a system has been in force has long been known. It remained for Policeman Edward O'Neill of the Bathgate avenue station to declare it openly in the teeth of Devery and to go then before District Attorney Philbin and Justice Jerome and lay the whole notorious blackmailing scheme before them.

That policemen are forced to pay for transfers to desirable posts, that they have been sent from good details for no other reason than that they might be forced to pay money to get back again, is better known to the members of the force than any other rule of the department. It is the "shake down" game.

O'Neill's defiance of Devery was the most sensational scene ever witnessed at police headquarters. The outburst came like a thunderclap. No one had ever seen the "big chief" in such a rage as he was when the patrolman shook his fist in his face and said he would not "stand for a shake down."

Deputy Commissioner Devery had his words cast into his teeth. He had scarcely fined the man 30 days' pay when the patrolman, with his fist clinched and almost shaking toward Devery's face, cried:

"I won't stand for it. I'll go higher up. I've been transferred six times, and I suppose if I'd hand over $25 you'd stand for it. But I won't be shaken down again. I'll go higher up."

And he did. He had no sooner left the trialroom with Devery's threat to "break" him echoing in his ears than he went to District Attorney Philbin and told his story—told how he had been repeatedly transferred because he had made an excise arrest and that while in the Madison street station house he had been transferred after refusing to pay $25 to save himself from transfer.

RAILWAY TRAIN DITCHED.

One Killed and Twenty-eight Injured Near Newark, N. Y.

NEWARK, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The accommodation train leaving Sodus Point over the Northern Central railroad and which arrives in this village at 6 o'clock was last night derailed at the station at Fairville, about ten miles north of here. One was killed and 28 injured. Two and possibly more of the victims will probably die.

The train was made up at Sodus Point and consisted of four coaches, a baggage car and engine, with William Mosher at the throttle. Chester Flagler was fireman. Conductor H. S. Merriman of Sodus Point was in charge of the train.

The train was running at nearly 40 miles an hour. Approaching the station at Fairville there is a curve and gravel pit. For some unknown reason the engine jumped the track while passing the gravel pit. The force of the accident turned the engine completely around, throwing the five cars on their sides.

The train load of some 150 passengers was thrown into the ditch, and it is a wonder that the number of fatalities is not greater. The engine and all the cars were badly broken up, and the steam pipes running under the cars were broken in several places. This accounts for the large number of people scalded.

Help was quickly summoned from the neighboring houses, and all the assistance possible was rendered. Word was sent to Sodus and Newark for physicians, and a special containing five doctors left Newark at 6:45 o'clock. Upon it's arrival the Newark passengers were placed aboard and hastened to Newark. Five were sent to Rochester hospitals.

Tunnel Nuisance Must Be Abated.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The agitation concerning the tunnel of the New York Central railroad under Park avenue, in which hundreds of complaints have been made to the board of health, reached a culmination when President Sexton issued an order requiring radical improvements in the construction and the drainage of the tunnel. The demands are made to insure proper ventilation of the underground way, which is a source of torture to passengers in hot weather and at all seasons is uncomfortable.

PRAISE FOR ISLANDS

Congressman Hull Is Pleased With the Philippines.

HE MADE A TOUR WITH CHAFFEE.

Resources of the Country Are Wonderful, and a Bright Future Is Predicted For Our New Possessions.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Congressman J. A. Hull of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on military affairs, is back from his Philippines trip. He made a tour of the islands in company with General Chaffee. He is enthusiastic over the outlook and says his only regret is that every member of congress did not take advantage of the long congressional vacation to visit the islands. Congressman Hull said:

"I have great faith in the future of the Philippines. The islands are richer and capable of sustaining a much larger population than the islands of the Japanese group. The resources of the country are little short of wonderful and will prove means of greatly increasing our foreign trade. They tend naturally to strengthen our commercial position in the orient, of course. If European powers decide to cut up the Chinese empire, the Philippines will be less valuable to us than they would be should the open door policy in China become permanent and guaranteed, for the resources of the islands are such that a vast and profitable foreign trade could be built up soon after peace was permanently established.

"The islands are rich in coal and copper. Rice, hemp, sugar and copra are among the staple products of agriculture, while in Mindanao a good article of coffee that compares favorably with that which we consume in this country grows wild. Coffee culture could be developed into an important industry. Good Indian corn is also grown, but probably not more than enough for local consumption. The hard wood timber forests of the islands are widely known, and the islands also contain the most productive tobacco lands in all the world outside of Cuba.

"There has been no railroad development in the islands to speak of, and here is presented an excellent field for the investment of American capital. An American bank is needed in the Philippines, while American loan companies will find a fruitful field for operations when they begin to cast their eyes westward to our new possessions. A lot of plantations are paying 30 per cent interest on borrowed money. There is also an excellent opportunity for American capital and enterprise in the development of the interisland trade. You will thus see at a glance that the future of the Philippines is fraught with golden opportunities."

As to how soon peace would be restored in the islands Congressman Hull said:

"That depends on what you mean by peace. If you mean how soon ladrones will be brought into subjection, I can only say it will take a long time. The Filipino insurrection, so far as being an organized movement, is practically at an end. The ladrones, however, continue to be a menace to the peace of the provinces. They are pleased to call themselves insurgents, but they could be more correctly designated as brigands or bandits.

"The problem of the army in the Philippines now is to protect the Filipino against himself."

Our Horses In Africa.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The state department is in receipt of another interesting report from Mr. Stowe, who recently resigned his post as United States consul general at Cape Town, dated June 16, which calls attention to the demand for horses and mules, especially American animals, in South Africa. The size and strength of American horses and mules, he says, has made them hugely popular in the Transvaal not only in the armies, but with the farmers. Animals brought from other countries, Mr. Stowe says, stand the climate well, but they are not big and strong enough for farm and city use. The veldts of South Africa are dotted with the carcasses of horses that died of starvation, sickness and fatigue, and, notwithstanding the great number imported into Cape Colony, there will be need for many more by the time hostilities have ceased.

Preparing For Czar's Visit.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 30.—The city is full of Russian detectives in anticipation of the czar's visit. Two Russians were arrested here, and the authorities tried to keep the matter secret. The rough weather prevailing renders the czar's arrival before Monday improbable. A Liberal demonstration in honor of King Christian has been arranged for Sunday. It promises to be the greatest display of its kind witnessed here in years. Delegations from all sections of Denmark will pass in review before the palace, after which there will be a great meeting and banquet.

Terrific Hailstorm.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 30.—A hail and rain storm struck Winnipeg yesterday and continued with unparalleled violence for nearly an hour. Hailstones were piled nearly six inches deep in the streets, and the oldest "old timer" can recollect no previous hail as heavy. Basements in the city were flooded, and much damage was caused in wholesale warehouses. It is estimated that nearly 6,000 panes of glass were broken during the storm.

Municipal Ownership.

There never was a time at which the question of municipal ownership engaged the attention of the thinking public as at present. The subject appears to be ripe in all sections of the country. In many places the idea is being given a practical test. The theory is not a new one by any means. In this country as well as abroad municipal ownership has been given an ample trial. Scotland, in particular, is associated with the plan, and from all accounts the showing made there has given much encouragement to the supporters of the idea in this country.

In various municipalities of this State the plan is receiving no little amount of agitation. This city and the borough contain no inconsiderable number of public spirited citizens, who believe that the electric light and water plants as well as similar concerns should be controlled, by the people, as public institutions. The municipal ownership committee of North Plainfield at the present time is considering the feasibility of a public water works, and a report is awaited with interest. The expense in constructing the plant is large but the adherents of municipal ownership claim that in a short period the amount expended in this way would come back to the borough coffers, and the cheaper rates would save the citizens a considerable sum each year. Of course these are the contentions of those in hearty sympathy with the idea and their reliability can only be ascertained by an actual demonstration.

There is one feature of the subject which is frequently overlooked by the supporters of municipal ownership. This concerns the allowance made for the corrupt machinations of practical politicians in control of the municipality having public institutions of this sort. Frequently this has proven to be the greatest hindrance to the practical working of any particular plant. More men are employed than necessary in order to pay political debts. Higher prices are paid for necessary materials to confer favors on political friends. That these evils would have to be met with, provided municipal ownership be given a trial in this city or in the borough, we do not contend, but it is well to bear in mind the bad features of the question. The subject is one which should be weighed carefully.

Always Reaches Them.

The Philadelphia Record says: "The inventor of a food article has given his reason for putting his advertising money into the newspapers thus: 'When I sent out circulars to lists of names I was always haunted by the feeling that I had missed some whose patronage would insure my success. Now that I use the newspapers I know that every person whose interest is worth having will see my announcements.'"

It is nearly thirty-nine years since the Martyr-President issued the proclamation freeing the slaves, yet the negro race has not forgotten to give thanks for the blessings it obtained thereby. The celebration held in Vail's grove, yesterday, in remembrance of the famous war act, brought to mind the contrast of the negro's condition then and now. Both the negro and the country in which he lives are better off today by reason of that proclamation, and he can well afford to rejoice.

When the directors of the First National Bank meet to select a cashier to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frank S. Runyon, there is reason to believe that the name of David M. Runyon, the present assistant cashier, a nephew of the late incumbent, will receive first attention. Should he be chosen, as in all probability will be, the board of directors may congratulate itself that a trustworthy and efficient officer will occupy the position.

The association controlling the new Rosedale and Linden Park cemeteries has invited four hundred undertakers to inspect the grounds tomorrow. Jas. E. Martine, of this city, has been invited to be present. Probably the undertakers wish to experiment by burying the Democratic gubernatorial ambitions of the "Farmer Orator." Mr. Martine should beg to be excused.

Much space is being devoted in reputable newspapers to the antics of the fanatical Carrie Nation. The notoriety gained in this manner only tends to give her an abnormal idea of her own importance. The charitable thing to be done in her case is to have a mental examination made and if necessary follow it up by a commitment.

A merry laugh is being had at the expense of the dominie, who paid cash for a degree from a bogus college. The minister evidently did not wish to delay by proceeding in the manner resorted to by many richer men. He had no money to endow an institution of learning. Hence, he resorted to the speedier method.

An exchange remarks that "every politician declares his respect for the voice of the people." True, but the hearing of the average politician seems to become seriously impaired after the elections are over.

That there is a hell, has been decided by a conference of ministers held in Indiana. This is an important announcement coming as it does at the beginning of the twentieth century.

"Five prisoners lonely in this great building," says the Newark Daily Advertiser in referring to the State Reformatory at Rahway. This is a crying shame.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Superintendent Hall, of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school in Plainfield, finds that a judicious mixture of ice cream soda with religion has the effect of keeping up the attendance at his Sunday-school during the summer. Everybody who was present last Sunday got a check entitling him to a glass of soda free. The attendance was gratifyingly large. —Passaic Daily News.

Says the Unionist-Gazette: "The annual meeting of the State Liquor Dealers' Association, and the Democratic State Convention, will take place about the same date in Trenton this year. There seems to be an affinity." In its effort to be funny our neighbor is obliged to sacrifice the truth. Recent election returns show that where the liquor men are the most rampant, there are found the largest Republican majorities—in Atlantic, Camden, Mercer and Monmouth counties, for instance.—Somerset Messenger.

New Jersey is noted for its ancient landmarks, and other things of historical interest. But one hesitates to accept the truth of the statement of a South Plainfield man that a Plymouth Rock hen owned by him, has just died a natural death, aged 14 years. It's a mystery how he kept the fowl so long, when boarding-houses were not far off. If the hen had been a rooster, as the Irishman would say, there might have been a shade of truth in the statement; for the "crow" in chanticleer might have been accepted as an indication of long life. Plainfield may go up head!—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 1—"Spiritual Acquaintance." Text, Job xxii, 21-23.

"Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace. Receive, I pray thee, the law from His mouth."

This sentiment is a gem in a heap of rubbish. It is a thread of truth in a weaving of false reasoning. The argument of the chapter is utterly unsound and unredeemed from condemnation by this one passage of truth. Eliphaz the Temanite is talking. He uses the old philosophy that disaster in business and sickness in the family are proof positive of wickedness of life and a sinful heart. Denial of this by the unfortunate only adds hypocrisy to transgression. Loss of property and children and a body tormented by boils were absolute certainty to him that Job was a consummate villain and all his previous professions of piety a mere mask of pretension, which God had now stripped away. So he exhorted Job to repent and get acquainted with God. The exhortation was all right if taken in a proper sense, but the promises of Eliphaz had no warrant from God. He asserted: "If thou return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up; thou shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacle. Then shalt thou lay up gold as dust and the gold of Ophir as the stones of the brook, and thou shalt have plenty of silver."

This is equivalent to saying now, "If you become a Christian, you shall be rich." There is no warrant from divine inspiration or facts for a man to say this. Beyond all question, a pure religious life does help every one in temporal as well as in spiritual affairs. A converted drunkard will become sober, industrious, frugal and save money, so that from rags and filth he may come to comfort and a competency.

In numberless ways true piety quickens a person's powers of body and brain as well as of soul and aids in developing all talents, so that one becomes a better artist, artisan, citizen and worker in every way. But all this does not insure wealth irrespective of the laws of trade and industry. It is not fact now or ever that the wicked never succeed in business and the religious always prosper in trade and manufacturing solely because of their religious conditions. However pleasing such a condition of things would be, this world is not run on those lines, and there is no gain in following the company of Eliphaz.

True piety will aid any and every person to the highest place possible for him and the utmost happiness and perfection attainable in this life. That is fundamental truth. But whoever professes religion, expecting by that means alone to become rich or healthy or learned or even happy, is doomed to disappointment.

If he would be free from boils, he must observe the conditions of physical health and not rely upon prayer and gospel songs merely. If he would succeed in business, he must study and apply the laws of trade and not rely upon his moral integrity alone to bring profit. Good intentions do not insure the security of investments. Not a few people of purest Christian character have found to their dismay and great discomfort that even ministerial indorsement of mining stocks and farm mortgages and other investments, with prayer and faith, will not make worthless investments pay dividends, nor even return the money invested.

But God's peace goes deeper than bonds and mortgages and stocks and touches bedrock of the soul's needs. Rightly understood, "Godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life which now is and of that which is to come." "Acquaint yourself with Him and be at peace." Love God and trust Him and you shall have the salvation of the soul from sin. "Commit all your ways unto Him and He shall direct thy path."

He may not give wealth, but He will give what is best for you. He may not give health or beauty or honors of men, but He will give all that is best for you, and, best of all, will give His own presence and companionship.

Patience.

Patience is the truest sign of courage. Ask old soldiers who have seen real war, and they will tell you that the bravest men, the men who endured best not in mere fighting, but in standing for hours to be mowed down by cannon shot; who were most cheerful and patient in shipwreck and starvation and defeat—all those things ten times worse than fighting—ask old soldiers, I say, and they will tell you that the men who showed best in such miseries were generally the stillest, meekest men in the whole regiment. That is true fortitude; that is Christ's image—the meekest of men and the bravest too.—Rev. Charles Kingsley.

Best, Truest and Most Useful.

That man who loves his own family better than he does his neighbor's family, and his own country better than any other country, and his own church more than any other church is the best father and husband, the truest patriot and the most useful Christian.—Presbyterian Banner.

Hurting Others.

It needs, therefore, in us infinite carefulness and watchfulness as we walk ever amid other lives lest by some word or look or act or disposition or influence of ours we hurt them irreparably.—Dr. J. R. Miller.

Be Cheery.

The way is weary,
The day is dreary;
Still, still be cherry—
All bravely face!

This life thou'rt spending
Will have an ending;
Meanwhile God's lending
All needed grace.

—New York Observer.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 1—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Spiritual acquaintance.—Job xxii, 21-23.

The three friends of Job, the afflicted patriarch—Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar—went upon the false assumption that the afflictions of Job had come upon him as a result of some grievous sin against God. This was the Jewish conception of affliction. It was expressed in their question to Christ, "Who did sin that this man was born blind?" Going on this assumption, they appealed to Job to acknowledge his sin, to repent of it and to return unto God, and assured him of God's forgiveness and favor. This is the spirit of the appeal of Eliphaz in the topical reference. He says to Job, "Acquaint now thyself with Him" (with God), and shows him how to acquaint himself with God and the results of doing so.

The exhortation of Eliphaz to Job to acquaint himself with God is one that may be applied to us all. The man who does not know God should certainly seek His acquaintance. Those who know God best do not know Him so well but what they could become better acquainted with Him. God is our Father, and children should learn to know and to love their parents. God is our friend, and the beauty and blessing of friendship lie in acquaintanceship. To know a true friend is to make his friendship valuable and appreciable. Acquaintance with God includes acquaintance with all that is God's. It embraces all that is contained in the spiritual realm of life and may be looked upon as spiritual acquaintance.

Looking upon Job as a sinner, separated from God by sin, Eliphaz sets forth how such a one may have acquaintance with God. (1) God's law must be received and laid up in the heart. "Receive, I pray thee, the law from His mouth and lay up His words in thy heart." No one can know God without accepting and applying His revelation of Himself. (2) Sin must be repented of and return made to God. "If thou wilt return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up." The sin that makes acquaintance with God impossible must be repented of. The sinner must turn from sin unto God. (3) Today we know God best through His Son, Jesus Christ. Through Him we gain an acquaintance that can be obtained in no other way.

The benefits of spiritual acquaintance are many. Eliphaz suggests two—peace and prosperity. "Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace, thereby good shall come unto thee." Acquaintance with God brings peace—peace with oneself, peace with the world and peace with God Himself. Prosperity follows peace, for when at peace with God we are always content, and contentment is the best kind of prosperity.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a voluntary discussion of the topic.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. lv, 13, 14; Math. xii, 46-50; John viii, 19; xiv, 1-11; Acts ii, 41-47; Rom. viii, 14-17; I Cor. xiii, 12; II Cor. vi, 14-18; Eph. ii, 11-22; I John iii, 14.

Love For the Friendless.

If one really loves his friends, he will seek opportunities to serve them for love's sweet sake, and his highest satisfaction will be to prove himself really useful and helpful to them. But to love one's friends is not enough. Surely it must be right to give our heart's best to these, but there are the unlovely and the unfriendly, the lonely and desolate, who are really starving, though they may not know it, for the sunshine of some one's compassion, some one's pitying love. What right have we, who are so rich in friends, to deny them this solace? The Christian name is not ours if we are satisfied to love those who love us, to serve those who minister to us. Selfishness is our master, and not the Saviour, who has loved us with a perfect love, and whom we have promised to love and serve.—Universalist Leader.

Sympathy.

Sympathy is a form of Christian service. It is not a favor granted by one and received by another; it is that action by which one life enters into another's life, takes up a portion of the burden, shares the joy or success, becomes for the time being a part of that life and contributes to it some of its own strength. It does not weaken the individuality of the life it helps; it rather strengthens it. It does not lessen its responsibilities; it helps to bear them. By relieving the tension it gives opportunity for development, by companionship gives new courage and fresh ability for advance when the assisting presence is withdrawn.—Independent.

Stick to Your Tasks.

It is hard to work when the body is sick or weak, and harder still when the mind is dejected and depressed. But the fact, nevertheless, remains that a great deal of the best work in the world has been done by persons in poor health or in grievous mental distress. To quit your tasks simply because you do not feel like keeping at them is sheer folly. Whatever your condition may be, the only right and wise course is to discharge all your duties as well as you can, leaving the consequences to God. You will often be surprised to discover that your capacities are really far greater than you had supposed.—Nashville Christian Advocate.

Some Gift of Sanctity.

It was in His parting sorrow that Jesus asked His disciples to remember Him, and never was entreaty of affection answered so, for ever since has His name been breathed in morning and evening prayers that none can count and has brought down some gift of sanctity and peace on the anguish of bereavement and the remorse of sin.—J. Martineau.

FLATULENCE
Flatulence means a collection of wind and gases in the stomach and intestines and is an unpleasant and annoying condition. The statement from a salesman living at Edgewater, Ill., which follows, proves that Ripans Tabules relieve it entirely. "I have taken Ripans Tabules for nearly three years with extremely satisfactory results," says the gentleman. "I used to be constantly troubled with flatulency and biliousness, but now rarely have an attack even when I neglect taking the Tabules. Being an Englishman I am naturally fond of good strong tea and this used to cause me a great deal of flatulency. Now I can take several cups without fear, as a Ripans Tabule will take care of all the tea I can drink; in fact, I need no longer be careful as to what I eat, providing I take a Tabule afterward. I can partake of the richest dishes without fear, whereas formerly I frequently had to diet myself. I always carry a supply in my vest pocket in one of the small glass vials which I replenish from the large bottles you sell."

BOLEROS.

Made of Lace and Embroidery They Are Ever Popular.

Pompadour lace embroidered boleros will be among the most fetching novelties of the winter. Boleros of all shapes will continue in popularity. Those of lace and mousseline de soie embroidered or appliqued with lace will be much seen on dinner gowns.

At present in the raised embroidery on batiste and linen used for wide collars soft pastel shades, royal blues and rich reds vie with each other for chief place in the smart dressmaker's favor.

A dainty petticoat is a necessity to the well dressed woman, and many are the devices used to ornament this portion of her wardrobe. Though nothing will ever supersede the silk petticoat, many pretty ones are being worn of luster cloth and mercerized goods. The flouncings are of every description. The vandyke accordion plaited flounce edged with ruching and falling over three rows of gathered ruffles is one of the most fascinating. The plaited ruffle is sometimes finished at the top with rows of strapped seams, or the plaitings may be alternated with gathered ruffles. In any case extreme fullness at the bottom is the quality desired.

The illustration shows a neat child's frock made of blue and white plaid. The little skirt is made of two wide ruffles gathered in clusters of three tucks and edged with a broad band of the red. These same clusters of tucks hold the fullness of the waist in place and appear in the sleeves, which are composed of two puffs, ending at the elbow. The double sailor collar is made of the red cloth, and the little chemisette is of ecru lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

BLACK DRESSES.

They Can Be Made to Perform a Multitude of Services.

Black is now being so much worn that it is possible to be well dressed with only two or three gowns. A black bolero and skirt for morning and general wear are most useful. The tucked silk coats are smart with fancy collars and are certainly smarter than cloth coats to wear with separate skirts and dresses. A loose muslin front and a linen skirt, look quite smart with a silk coat for country or seashore wear, but they require a smart hat, a parasol and gloves.

The skirt of a thin black gown of some crapy material over glace silk is useful with blouses in black and white or transparent muslin or lace. Unlined blouses are invaluable in black. They must have transparent yokes, and it is advisable to have one underbodice of white and another of black silk.

A thoroughly up to date black evening gown is made of black chantilly lace over white taffeta. The gown is so simple it hardly needs description. It is made with elbow sleeves, which terminate with big puffs of chiffon. The odd part consists in a collarless yoke of tucked white chiffon, which reaches well over the shoulders and gives a quaint, old fashioned effect.

The hat is of black mousseline de soie trimmed with a flat bow and two long ostrich tips. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHAPTER XVII.

In the fortnight of incessant action that followed the mad attack of that starlit Sunday morning, there was no place for Billy Gray. Sorely wounded, yet envied by many a fellow soldier for the glowing words in which the brigade commander praised his conduct and urged his brevet, the boy had been carried back to the great reserve hospital at Malate. The breezy wards were filled with sick and wounded, and certain of the rooms of the old convent once used for study and recitation had been set apart for officers. There were three cots in the one to which they bore him, and two were already occupied. Even in his pain and weakness he could hardly suppress a cry of dismay; for there, with his arm bandaged and in splints, his face white from loss of blood, lay Stanley Armstrong. Time and again the boy's heart and conscience had rebuked him for the estrangement that had arisen between him and this man who had proved his best friend. Time and again he had promised himself that he would strive to win back that friendship; but well he knew that first he must reinstate himself in Armstrong's respect; and how could he hope for that so long as he surrendered to the fascinations that kept him dangling about the dainty skirts of Witchie Garrison? Oddly enough, the boy had hardly bothered his head with any thought of what Frank Garrison might think of his attentions or devotions, whatever they could be called, to this very captivating and capricious helpmate. When a husband is so overwhelmed with other cares or considerations that he never sees his wife from morn till night, society seems to correspondingly lose sight of him. Down in the depths of his heart the boy was ashamed of himself. He never heard Armstrong mentioned that he did not wince. He knew and she knew that, coming suddenly upon them as Armstrong had that tropic night on the Queen, he must have heard her words, must have realized that some compact or understanding existed between them, which neither Gray nor Mrs. Frank could palliate or explain. It had not needed that episode to tell her that Armstrong held her in contempt; and yet, when they chanced to meet, she could smile up into his eyes as beamingly, as guilelessly, as though no shadow of sin had ever darkened her winsome face. But not so Gray. He moaned in secret over the loss of a strong man's confidence and esteem. He longed to find a way to win it back. He had even thought to go to the colonel with his trouble, make a clean breast of it, tell him the truth—that he had fallen deeply, as it was possible for him to fall, in love with Amy Lawrence; had hoped his love was returned; had found it was not—that she had only a frank, friendly, kindly interest in him; and that, wounded and stung, he had fretted himself into a fever at Honolulu, aided by Canker's aspersions, and then—well—any man is liable, said Billy to himself, to get smitten with a woman who tenderly and skillfully nurses him day after day; and that's just what Witchie Garrison did. But somehow the opportunity to tell him never seemed to come; and now, now that Armstrong and himself were thus thrown together with the prospect of being in the same room day and night for the best of the month, a third officer, a stranger, lay there, too, and in his presence or hearing any confidences would be impossible, even if Armstrong encouraged them, which he probably would not. In this embarrassment Billy's wish was that the colonel were fifty miles away. It was fate and a hard one, thought he, that brought him there—an ever-present reproach. It was luck of the worst kind that they should be confronted under such circumstances, since neither could retreat. He submitted in anxious silence to the keen, quick examination of the skillful surgeon in charge and to the redressing of his wound. He could have been proud and happy but for that shadow on his life, of which Armstrong's presence would so constantly remind him. He could not even think how his dear old dragoon daddy would rejoice in the congratulations that would surely greet him when the story of the brave dash of the —teenth, Billy among the foremost, should reach the states. He could not even dream how it might affect her—Amy Lawrence. He was beginning to be ashamed now in this presence to think how that other—how Margaret Garrison might be impressed, forgetting that, to the army girl who has lived long years on the frontier, tales of heroism are the rule, not the exception. He wondered how long it could be before she would come to him to bring him comfort. Surely by this time she knew that he had been seriously, painfully wounded. He did not know, however, that at the very first sound of battle Frost had bundled the sisters aboard his launch and steamed away to the transports. Yet, what comfort could her visit bring to him with that stern censor lying there, seeing and hearing all? Billy Gray that Monday night could almost have wished that Armstrong's slumber might be eternal, never dreaming that before a second Monday should come he would thank heaven with grateful heart for Armstrong's presence, vigilance and intervention.

In three days the colonel was able to sit up. Within the week he was permitted to take air and exercise in the spacious court of the old college, his sword arm in its sling. But Gray and the young officer of volunteers were too seriously wounded to leave their pillows. The —teenth had occupied a new line far south of the old one; but, at one time, several of Billy's brother officers had dropped in to see him and tell him regimental news; and one of them, the young West Pointer who had broken down at sight of the dying face that stirring Sunday morning, told him of Latrobe's soldier funeral and of Gen. Drayton's presence and speechless grief; and Billy's hand groped beneath the pillow for that little blood-stained packet still undelivered. He had promptly caused the information to be conveyed to the veteran commander that it was his own lost nephew who had died his soldier death in front of the firing line; but the packet still remained in his hands; and even before the tiny thermometer confirmed his views, the keen eye of the surgeon saw that something had heightened Billy's fever that day; and so, when just at sunset there came driving into the court the most stylish equipage in all Manila, and Mrs. Garrison fluttered up the broad stairway and confidently asked to be announced to Mr. Gray, the steward in charge of the door was very, very sorry, but—the doctor had given instructions that no more visitors should see the young gentleman that day. Mrs. Frank smiled indulgently, and asked for the doctor himself, and beamed on him with all her witchery and begged for just a few words; but the suave, placid, yet impenetrable doctor said he, too, was sorry—sorry that Mr. Gray was not able to see anyone else, but such was the case. Mrs. Garrison said she thought if Mr. Gray knew that it was—but perhaps Dr. Frank didn't know it was she who had nursed Mr. Gray so assiduously at Honolulu. Dr. Frank did know that and more; but he did not say so; neither did he yield. There were tears in her eyes as she sprang into her carriage again; but they were tears of anger and defeat. She dashed them away the very next instant and smiled joy and congratulation, even adulation, at sight of the tall, stalwart officer, his arm in a sling, who stood the center of a staring group as her carriage flashed by. She would have ordered stop; but while the rest of the party had gazed as they lifted their caps, Armstrong's uninjured hand performed its duty, his cap had been lifted with the others, but not so much as a glance went her way; and Margaret Garrison, bitter in spirit, drove on down past the old cuartel to her luxurious quarters where Nita, a piteous shadow of the "sweet girl graduate" of the year before, was awaiting her coming. With the insurgents' retreat and the advance of the American lines there had been a gradual return of the refugees among the transports; and Frost had finally brought his birdling back to shore; but Nita dare not drive, she said, for fear of again seeing those stern, reproachful eyes. The guard at the gate had received orders to admit no more of the rank and file, even when they came as messengers; and so the child was safe, said Margaret. As for herself, she must drive, she must see Will Gray.

But the instant she reentered the house Mrs. Garrison knew that during her brief absence some new trouble had come. Good heavens, could she never leave Nita's side that harm did not befall her! At the head of the broad flight of stairs stood her brother-in-law, a black frown on his brow.

"Go in and do what you can for her," he briefly said. "I thought—she'd be glad to know that—that—fellow would trouble her no more."

"That fellow?" she gasped. "You mean—"

"I mean—Yes—Latrobe—killed and buried a whole week ago."

"And you told her!" she cried clinching her little hands in impotent wrath. "You—brute!"

THE KAISER'S MOTHER.

Result of Her Efforts to "Reform" Germany According to the English Model.

Empress Frederick did not have a happy life in Germany. She went over to Germany from England with a notion that the Germans were a trifle uncivilized, that they needed to be improved, and that it was her duty to apply to them a curative dose of English civilizaion. In a way this was Mr. Gladstone's view of Germany. He knew both France and Italy well, and for him the French and Italians were the two European nations in which a high civilization prevailed, says the Hartford Courant.

As a matter of course the German women, and particularly the Berlin women, did not agree that they needed to be reformed according to the English model. Empress Frederick, however, was certain that she could not be mistaken, and she took her self-imposed duty in all seriousness. It is probable that she did enlarge somewhat the sphere of activity of the Berlin women; got them to doing things they had not done before; made them understand the functions of a president, secretary and treasurer. But the process was not pleasant for her. Bismarck believed, too, that she mixed in serious politics too much for Germany's good. Then her husband died and she was left without a foothold.

By a not uncommon twist of the conscientious feminine mind, she decided from the first to regard herself as a missionary sojourner in Germany; and this is the position she always held among the German people, down to her last days of illness and pain.

AS A LAST RESORT.

Another Addition to the Yarns Told About the Wicked Conductor.

"There has been considerable said about the per cent. of fare the conductor thinks belongs to him over and above his salary, and some very witty things have been said about it. Even the Broadway back platform philosopher has his digs at them," said a Cleveland professional man the other day to a Plain Dealer reporter.

"I once heard of a fellow, much under the influence of liquor, who got on the train to go home after enjoying himself at a picnic. He slipped into a seat and fell asleep. After the train pulled out the conductor came into the car and called 'Tickets!' The picnicker was too weary to respond, and so the conductor poked him up a little. The fellow roused up, fumbled in one pocket, then another, till finally he pulled out a very ragged bill and handed it to the conductor. After examining it carefully the latter said: 'Say, my friend, see here. I can't use this.'

"The passenger pushed himself up on his elbow and remarked: 'What's (hic) that you shay?'

"'I can't use this,' the conductor replied.

"'Well, give it (hic) to the comp'ny zen,' remarked the weary but generous-hearted man, dropping back into the seat, confident he would be put off at his destination."

HAS PECULIAR POWER.

Young Man of Cleveland, When He Wills It, None Can Lift Him from the Floor.

A young man at Cleveland who weighs only 120 pounds and whom no strong man can lift unless he chooses to be lifted is furnishing entertainment just now. The hard-to-lift man is named Mack. The strongest men have tried it and have invariably failed to raise Mack from the floor against his will, although they can do it easily when he consents to be lifted. This peculiar power, which few possess, is very much of a mystery. Some say it is a trick which can be learned from an instructor and acquired by practice. But this is not consistent with the fact that only five or six persons are known to have practiced it. The performance is so interesting that more would undoubtedly give exhibitions if they were able to learn how.

Persons who make themselves unliftable invariably profess ignorance of how they do it, and physicians and scientists have been unable to account for their power. Possibly learned men will be able to explain it some time, but as yet it seems to come under some law of nature that has thus far eluded the searchlight of investigation.

MOSQUITO SAVED HIS LIFE.

Industrious Biting of the Troublesome Insect Aroused a Sleeper to Deadly Peril.

Mosquitoes have been known to kill people, but here is a story of one that saved a man's life. A Castle Valley man tells the tale in the following manner, says the Philadelphia Record.

"On Thursday night of last week I went to bed very late, undressing and putting out the gas in a kind of dream, for I had been drinking heavily. A mosquito awakened me with its maddening buzz and I lay in a stupor for a little while, asking myself what the overpowering odor was that filled the room and what was the cause of my feeling of dizziness and faintness. Then I tried to get to sleep again, but the mosquito wouldn't let me. It buzzed and bit and at last it roused me thoroughly.

"'What a smell of gas,' I said to myself, and I got up and staggered to the chandelier, to find one burner turned on full. I would have died of asphyxiation if I had not been aroused, and it was a mosquito that awakened me. I may truly say

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

ON THE DIAMOND.

It is not expected that the make up of the team will be as good as last year's so far as strength is concerned.

vince the public of that fact.

The company today opened a store at 138 North avenue, with Clarence Teal, of this city in charge, where everybody will be welcomed to call, sample the water and procure and information that may be desired regarding the same.

A handsome delivery wagon with an artistic Indian head and the name of the Watchung Spring Water Company painted thereon made its appearance on our streets today.

It is the intention of the Watchung Spring Water Company to quietly introduce the water during the remainder of the season and prepare itself so as to be able to take an active and energectic business place in that field next year.

Enterprising, hustling business methods with persistent and liberal advertising will be followed as soon as the Watchung Water Company is in a position to supply large quantities of water to the public. Orders for the aerated water are being filled as rapidly as bottles can be procured.

The package containing the water is a neat and attractively labeled one, with a highly colored artistic Indian head in the centre, with embossed letters of the name of the company and two raised arrowheads on either side of the centre-piece. The background is of blue and the effect is rather pleasing.

Parkman, two summer visitors whose homes are in Plainfield, are supposed to be lost in the woods, north of Kingfield. Diligent inquiry fails to disclose the identity of the young men in this city. Their names do not appear in the directory and no one seems to know who they are.

Another Sun Dial.

ROBERT WHITTAKER A GREAT EQUESTRIAN.

Story of a Plainfielder, Who Has Become Famous as a Circus Performer.

DAHLMAN, TRAINED EQUINE.

IN YOUTH RAN AWAY FROM HOME TO JOIN CIRCUS.

Traveled All Over the World—Showed With Barnum and With Forepaugh—Now Starts on Season's Tour.

While the fact is not generally known by Plainfielders, it is true, nevertheless, that in Robert Whittaker, the famous equestrian, and his trained equine, Dahlman, this city possesses two of the foremost performers of their class. Their exhibition has been witnessed by people in nearly every city in the United States, while large audiences in many foreign countries have marveled at the agility in one and the intelligence of the other. Managers of large traveling show organizations and promoters of society circuses alike have eagerly sought their services, in making up a programme to furnish a half hour's entertainment.

Mr. Whittaker, who resides on Putnam avenue, is, in every sense of the word, a professional performer. Nearly all his life has been spent within the shadow of canvas walls amid the tan bark and sawdust, or upon the stage of a modern playhouse. From the time he was a boy in knicker bockers, peering beneath the tents for a coveted glance at the bespangled actors, he had an inclination, as all young Americans do, to be one of the men in pink who jump about on the backs of speckled horses. In "Bob" Whittaker the desire was more than a passing fancy and when the opportunity offered to join a circus he was quick to grasp it, although doing so under difficulties. In 1878 the old Dean & Pell circus visited Jersey City, where he lived with his parents, and he climbed out of a rear window at midnight to go with the show when it left the city. The show traversed New Jersey and New York State playing one day stands and for six months Whittaker was in his element.

The awakening came at the end of the season when the show disbanded at Syracuse, leaving him without a cent, but a great sense of his importance as a performer. During the course of his mingling with the talent in Dean & Pell's dressing tent he learned to turn a few flip-flops which greatly amused a steamboat captain at Albany, to which place he walked from Syracuse. The captain agreed to give him his passage to New York in return for his performance.

The boy afterward came in contact with Colonel Goshen, of Barnum's aggregation, who took a liking to him and placed him in the care of the Nathan family, the great bareback riders of that time. They put him through a thorough course of instruction, and when he emerged a few years later, a full-fledged bareback rider, his professional career had commenced in earnest.

Since then he has been constantly before the public, delighting thousands nightly. At various times he has owned a number of fine horses, which he trained himself, and which shared honors with him. He toured this country numerous times with Barnum's, Forepaugh's and other large circuses and also traveled through Germany, Brazil and Costa Rica. His experiences form a most entertaining narrative and contain enough spice of danger especially in Brazil, to satisfy the cravings of most sensation loving boys.

He always returns to this city when he has a little spare time, bringing his intelligent horse Dahlman with him. The equine has a pure white coat and is possessed of intelligence seldom seen in a dumb animal. Of late Mr. Whittaker has been exhibiting him as a trick horse, in which he excels equally as well as a ring performer and which shows the careful training which has been brought to bear upon him.

Mr. Whittaker and Dahlman, accompanied by the latter's faithful groom, Fred Stevens, left Plainfield, Thursday, for Cincinnati, to begin his season's engagements. They will not return until early in the spring.

Communion Service

The Lord's Supper will be celebrated at Hope Memorial chapel tomorrow evening. At the morning service, Rev. G. Kennedy Newell will preach his farewell sermon.

MANY ATTRACTIONS SET FOR LABOR DAY.

Plainfielders Will Find No Dearth of Entertainment for Monday.

GENERAL HOLIDAY FOR ALL.

BASEBALL, HORSE RACES, GOLF AND EXCURSIONS AMONG EVENTS.

Shops to Close—No Paper to Be Issued—Much Enjoyment, But No Business to be Transacted.

Although the fall season does not begin until almost the last of September, the first of September is considered as the end of summer. This is so regarded in Plainfield and vicinity, and especially so, as on the first Monday in the month, which is a holiday. The occasion is known as Labor Day, and is set apart by the Legislature of the State It is a time when the majority of people are home from their vacations and summer outings, and when all can devote one day to real enjoyment.

This year will be no exception to the general rule and Labor Day will be celebrated as it has been in this city in the past. A liberal programme of attractions has been arranged, including all kinds of sports, and Plainfield will have plenty of events to keep the people interested. There will be picnics at the various groves and parks, baseball, golf, horse trotting, excursions and the like, all of which are sure to attract a goodly number of citizens.

So far as baseball is concerned there will be three games in this city. The Hope chapel team will play two games with the New Providence team on the Hope grounds. The morning contest will be called at 10 o'clock and the afternoon one at 3:30 o'clock. At noon the Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel will give the two teams a dinner and a good time will be had in the gymnasium. The third game for the day and one surely to attract a large crowd, will be the contest between the letter-carriers and policemen, or, as some call it, between the blue and the gray. The game will be played on St. Mary's grounds and will be called at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

For those who do not care to remain in town Monday, the Jersey Central has arranged to run an excursion to Mauch Chunk, the Switzerland of America. This is always a delightful trip and is well managed.

There will be plenty of golf. A large field of players is anticipated on both of the local courses. At the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course there will be the regular play for the Holiday cup and, no doubt, there will be a bogey handicap. Besides there is likely to be some social features at the clubhouse. At the Park Golf Club course there will be the play for the Holiday cup in the morning at 9 o'clock and a bogey handicap in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, while social features in the clubhouse will not be neglected.

A strong attraction for the afternoon will be the trotting on the track at the Plainfield Driving Club's Park. The association has arranged to give some very fine races. The entry list is a large one, comprising some of the best horses in the State. The races will begin at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and every arrangement will be made to comfortably provide for the large crowd, which is expected to attend. Refreshments will be on sale and an enjoyable time is promised to everyone present.

In the afternoon and evening another attraction will be the picnic and games to be held under the auspices of the grocery and butcher clerks at Dewey Park. Many attractions are being arranged, including dancing.

The attractions at the Hotel Netherwood and Mountain Park Inn are sure to attract many guests, while there will be a number of smaller social events of interest. If the day should prove fair and cool it will afford untold pleasures to thousands of people.

As all the banks, as well as the stores, will be closed on Labor Day, the clerks and proprietors will have an opportunity to thoroughly enjoy the recreation. On account of the stores being closed it will be necessary for householders to make preparations today for a few days in advance.

Will Act as Organist.

Mrs. Wm. L. Patton, of West Fifth street, who has acted as organist at Grace P. E. church during the absence of Mrs. W. A. Freeman, has consented to continue her services tomorrow.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO WILBUR CHAMBERLIN.

Funeral of Newspaper Man at Crescent Avenue Church This Morning.

INTERMENT AT HILLSIDE.

ATTACHES OF SUN, TRIBUNE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS PRESENT.

He Died Abroad While Serving His Paper—Eulogy of Rev. Dr. J. L. Haribut—Many Floral Offerings.

The funeral services of the late Wilbur J. Chamberlin were held this morning at 11:15 o'clock at the Crescent Avenue church. Mr. Chamberlin died at Carlsbad August 14, where he went for his health. Arrangements were made at once to have the remains brought to this country. They arrived Wednesday, on the steamship Deutschland, and were brought to this city the same day.

Besides the relatives and friends from this city, who attended the service, a company of thirty newspaper men representing the New York Sun, Associated Press and The New York Tribune, came from New York in a body and were present at the obsequies.

The display of floral tributes was beautiful. The handsome black casket was completely covered with hundreds of roses, while at either end were large roses.

Rev. Dr. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church, conducted the services, during which William E. MacClymont presided at the organ and rendered softly appropriate selections. Dr. Hurlbut read extensively from the Scriptures, after which he spoke regarding one's labor not being in vain. In part he said:

"I rejoice today in those words, 'Your labor is not in vain in the Lord.' Our attention is often called to a life of promise that is taken away; a life not completed. That is the early view of death. The heavenly view is that our labor is not in vain and that no life is without a purpose. We live to a purpose and there is a reward. I sometimes think that we make too much of death. 'I would not have you sorrow,' says Paul the Apostle.

"Death seems a sad and terrible thing, but we should train ourselves to look at it with a Divine relation. The memory of three brothers, who have passed away within a comparatively short time, is before us. I saw them as boys in their early days. This one, whose death we mourn today, and whose ashes, and nothing but his ashes, thank God, are before us, was accustomed in his early days to meet in a literary circle, in which I was interested. He had a fondness for study, and, though the youngest in the circle, he was perhaps one of the most studious.

"Early he gave himself up to that life of strange fascination, journalism, with its unlimited hours. Those in the profession may be called upon to work all of the twenty-four hours. It is a work of the highest self-sacrifice.

"Who dare say that he, who has just passed away, fell before such temptation; that he was not faithful to his work, which was well and faithfully done under the 'Great Task Masters' Eye,' No life is wasted that is well wrought. A man's work is his best monument, after all, although it is not always seen. Following Dr. Hurlbut's remarks, he offered a fervent prayer.

The interment took place in the family plot in Hillside Cemetery, and representatives from the corps of newspaper men accompanied the remains to the last resting place.

"STONEWALL JACKSON" IN TROUBLE.

Locked Up by Marshal Campbell For Annoying Children.

"Stonewall Jackson" Coles, of Plainfield avenue, is sojourning in the borough lockup. He is charged with disorderly conduct in having annoyed the children of Michael McCarthy, of Lee place.

Coles was locked up in the city police headquarters from which he was taken by Chief Marshal Campbell.

At the hearing last night Recorder Doud reserved his decision, and Coles is still in the lockup.

Divorce Proceedings.

Through his counsel, J. P. D. Kirch Philip Zimmer, of this city, has brought an action for divorce against his wife, Lizzie Zimmer, charging her with desertion. The couple were married in 1890, but five years later Mrs. Zimmer, it is said, left her husband and has since been living at Fanwood. The case will be heard September 27.

CONCERT AT CITY PARK DRAWS LARGE CROWD

LaVere's Band Renders An Elaborate Programme of Varied Selections.

AL. SWEET'S CORNET SOLO

FIVE THOUSAND PEOPLE GATHER TO LISTEN TO MUSICAL TREAT.

Eighteen Pieces in Band—Meets With Popular Approval—One More Concert Will Be Given This Season.

When one considers the conditions under which last evening's band concert took place in the City Park, it ceases to be a wonder as to why it proved such a decided success.

If mortals had the choosing of their weather, a more perfect evening could not have been selected, the silvery moon making the scene almost as bright as day. Added to this, the cool depths of the park seemed bidding all to enter and its many convenient places for spending two hours were taken advantage of. Then, lastly, the music, which is always popular, completed the favorable auspices which were the means of drawing 5,000 persons from every part of the city and borough. There were at least 100 carriages drawn to the curb the entire distance of the park.

It would be a difficult matter to describe the delighted crowd which surged about the stand where LaVere's Band of eighteen pieces was seated. Every section of Plainfield was represented as well as many of the smaller places on the outskirts. There was no limit as to age, sedate elders being as numerous as the romantic young couples, who were in raptures with the surroundings, the moonlight and the dreamy waltzes. Then the occasion afforded the ubiquitious small boy and his little sister a chance to make themselves acquainted, which they were not slow to grasp.

As Mr. LaVere had promised, the programme would be one of the best he has ever prepared. Hardly a selection was rendered but what it would be longly applauded, until an encore was forthcoming. For this reason the concert was much longer than ordinary. The medleys and marches struck the popular vein, but it was noticeable that the sextette, from Lucia, and the romance, "Love's Declaration," were greatly enjoyed by all. The perfect rythm maintained by the musicians was responsible for their success. Al C. Sweet was the soloist and his cornet selection, "Beyond the Gates," did not suffice for his listeners, and their applause led him to respond with a second solo.

Great credit is due Mr. LaVere for his efforts to provide the entertainment and to those who contributed to the cost. If any of the latter were present last evening, they will never regret the donation. While the aid extended Mr. LaVere has been insufficient for the expense, he decided to give the concert last evening, as he would not have another opportunity for some time, and rely upon the liberality of the citizens to reimburse him. If the conditions warrant it, Mr. LaVere may provide another evening's diversion before the season closes.

FINE COLLECTION OF BUTTERFLIES.

Won By Chief Marshal Campbell, of the Borough.

Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough, has just received a collection of butterflies in a handsome case. It was contested for last February at the firemen's fair held in the borough, and Chief Campbell held the lucky number. The delay in awarding the prize was caused by the inability of the committee to dispose of all the tickets at the time of the fair. The collection is valued at $40, and was a gift from Henry Bummel, of the borough.

Services at Trinity.

There will be Sunday-school and preaching by Rev. Daniel Bapalje, in the morning, in Trinity Reformed church, tomorrow. No evening service. Dr. Schenck will occupy the pulpit next Sunday, both morning and evening.

To Preach at Warren Chapel.

Rev. Mr. Irvine, of Connecticut, will preach tomorrow morning at Warren chapel, and not at the Grace M. E. church as was first announced.

—If you intend to can Bartlett pears you should make your purchase from the choice supply that Neuman Bros. will have next Tuesday. The supply this season is limited and the early purchaser is the wise one.

SOME FAST TROTTERS.

Races at Driving Park Monday Afternoon Promise to Attract the Crowd—Well Worth Seeing.

Everything is now in readiness for the race meet to be held at the track of the Plainfield Driving Club Monday afternoon. The races will be called at 2 o'clock sharp. Stages will meet the trolley cars on Park avenue.

There should be a large attendance at this meet. During the season the association has been giving free matinee races every Saturday, and those who have attended them will no doubt appreciate the courtesy extended by being present Monday afternoon and helping to make this meet a success. The track is in superb condition. The recent rains have helped to make it very fast and it would not be surprising if some records are broken.

The association has secured as judges Robert A. Fairbairn, of Westfield; Nathan Robins, of Metuchen, and O. T. Waring, of this city. They are all excellent judges and will see that the races are properly conducted.

No intoxicating liquors will be sold on the grounds, but refreshments and soft drinks will be on sale under the direction of competent people.

CURTIS NOW IN COUNTY JAIL.

COULD NOT PROCURE BAIL AND WAS TAKEN TO ELIZABETH.

Hearing Before Justice Moffett Tuesday Afternoon—Prescribed Penalty For Offence—Not Downcast.

All efforts to procure bail for David L. Curtis, the young man accused by Miss Lillian Thorn, proved fruitless and yesterday afternoon he was arraigned before Justice Moffett. He waived examination and was committed to Elizabeth in default of $1,000 bonds. He will be given a hearing in this city Tuesday afternoon.

Ever since Curtis has been deprived of his freedom, he has maintained a monchalant manner, at times almost jocular. In making the trip to Elizabeth yesterday, he joked with Constable Weaver, and arriving at the station, asked to be allowed to take a cab to the jail three blocks away. His request was not complied with.

The crime of which Curtis is accused, is classified as a high misdemeanor and is included in section 119, of the revision criminal act of 1898. The penalty prescribed is a fine not exceeding $2,000 or imprisonment for seven years with or without hard labor, as the court may direct, or both. The charge against Dr. William Ray Tubbs, of Westfield, is of a different nature for which a different penalty is imposed.

Curtis' relatives state that he has a wife living in New York and not in Florida as was mentioned yesterday, and also that he has no children.

THREE WANT TO JOIN.

Benevolent Council, American Mechanics, Receives Some Propositions.

Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met last evening and received three propositions for membership. The members decided to meet again Friday evening. The fact that the council has joined the Essex County Funeral Benefit Association was announced at the meeting.

Miss Bowen a Bridemaid.

Miss Marion Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Bowen, of Watchung avenue, was one of a number of bridemaids at the wedding of Miss Grace Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Holt, of New York, and Ralph Duryea Reed, of South Weymouth, Mass., which took place in the Congregational church, Woodstock, Conn., Wednesday at highnoon. A number of the bridal party, including the bride, were grandchildren of Mrs. Henry C. Bowen, whose summer home is in Roseland, where the reception was held. The white-spired church was decorated with maiden-hair fern and white hydrangeas, the scheme of white marking the whole wedding.

Can't Loose Him.

In the noon edition of the Indianapolis, (Ind.,) News, of Wednesday, there appears a picture of the Nation's fire fighters, now in session at that place. Although there are several hundred persons in the picture the features of Chief T. C. Doane, of the local department, may easily be recognized.

IT IS NOT THE GRIP BUT 'TIS THE HAY FEVER

In Muffled Tones, Between Sneezes the Plainfielder Says He's Afflicted.

CAUSES OF THE TROUBLE.

MAY CONTRACT IT WHERE HAY IS BEING HARVESTED.

Hurts Victim but Helps Physician and Druggist — What a Doctor Says — Quinine Not Effective.

The old adage, "It's an ill wind which blows nobody good," seems to be exemplified by a zephyr, in fact several of them, which at present are cavorting about the city. They are the hay fever laden breezes which are generally prevalent at this time of the year. The lucky individuals are the local druggists, into whose stores a steady stream of unfortunates, with red noses and watery eyes, continue to pour, vainly endeavoring to secure relief from colds in the head. Within the past few weeks the stock of patent cough and cold medicines on the druggists' shelves have declined steadily.

While hay fever is generally encountered at this season of the year, there is at present an unusual prevalence of the trouble among Plainfielders, amounting almost to an epidemic. The local physicians are besieged, daily, by many victims, who make their wants known in muffled tones, while a continual sneezing and snuffling prevails in public places. Fortunately, however, the trouble seldom proves serious and the sufferer is relieved at the first approach of cold weather.

The presence of the trouble is generally attributed to its being carried about by breezes blowing from weed-laden fields. Many of those subject to it catch it in this way. In speaking of the trouble a prominent physician says:

"There has been in the last few days an alarming increase of hay fever. Many cases are brought here by persons who are returning from vacations in parts of the country where hay is being harvested. Then the odors of different kinds of fruit are likely to induce the fever.

One of my acquaintances contracts the disease every time he gets a whiff of pineapple. We always suggest a change of residence, which frequently gives more relief than all the medicine we recommend. But it is expensive and inconvenient for many people to move, and they must bear with the disease until it runs its course.

"I have seen no evidences of influenza. People have a habit of calling any kind of cold influenza. It is too early now for grip. Some years we get the grip as early as October, but usually not until December. A good deal depends on the climatic conditions that exist up to that time.

"Colds contracted in the summer are hard to shake off. They are stubborn and do not respond to medical treatment. Quinine, the most effective remedy, cannot be used, as it induces perspiration, which is likely to aggravate the cold rather than cure it."

FIRE AT DUNELLEN.

Oil Stove Causes Damage to the Amount of $800 at the Home of Mrs. Isaac Giddis.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, August 31—The interior of the two-story frame house owned and occupied by Mrs. Isaac Giddis, of North avenue, was damaged by fire and water yesterday afternoon, as was stated in yesterday's issue of The Press, to the amount of $800.

The fire broke out in the kitchen and was caused by an oil stove which Mrs. Giddis was about to use in heating some irons. The discovery was made by W. Apgar, who saw smoke issuing from under the eaves. He gave the alarm and the fire apparatus was soon at work, playing two streams of water on the burning building. After a hard fight the flames were subdued in less than an hour. The building was fully insured as were the contents.

MIDWAY RED STAR ROUTE.

Baby Culture, as Practically Demonstrated, An Exhibition at the Pan-American Exposition.

Visitors at the Pan-American Exposition are especially glad to ascertain where their time can be spent to the most advantage. Of course the main part of the fair is what brings the people to Buffalo, but none go away without seeing the famous Midway Red Star Route. The attractions of this route are many. One going among the various buildings will see a handsome brick Venetian edifice, which contains the greatest wonders of the Exposition—Baby Culture, as practically demonstrated by the Obata Company, of London, Berlin and New York.

It is a separate and distinct exhibition of the infant incubators, from the London and Berlin institutes and has for its object the saving of the lives of the poor little unfortunate babies, who happen to have been prematurely born. Here, surrounded with everything sweet and dainty, you see the little cherubs, nestled in the aluminum and glass cabinet incubators, just like little chicks being coaxed into sturdy life by the aid of science. Don't fail to visit the building while in Buffalo.

LITERARY.

The leading article in the September Forum deals with "The Commercial Position of the British Empire." Its author, Benjamin Taylor, urges that computations of British trade should not be confined to the British Isles, but should include the colonies also. Another fiscal article is that by Jacob Schsenhof on "The German Tariff Proposals," which he considers likely to inflict a more serious injury upon Germany than upon any other Nrtion. Sir John G. Bourinot contributes a historical retrospect of previous "Royal Visits to Canada." President G. Stanley Hall outlines the programme of "The Ideal School as Based on Child Study," while F. W. Clark traces the record of "The Evolution of the American University." Karl Blind criticises "English Neglect of Old Indian Poetry." "Finland's Plight," by Eugene Limedorfer, is a strong indictment of the recent policy of Russia toward her weaker neighbor. Prof. Peter T. Austen relates a large number of recent illustrations of "The Utilization of Waste" in various scientific processes. "The Essay as Mood and Form" is the subject of a critical paper by Prof. Richard Burton. Other articles in the September number are "England, Portugal, and the South African Republics," by Lt. Gen. HERO OF THREE WARS

General Ludlow the Victim of Consumption.

AN IDEAL AND ABLE OFFICER.

Deceased Was Third on List of Brigadier Generals and Had Superintended Many Engineering Operations.

CONVENT, N. J., Aug. 31.—Brigadier General William Ludlow, U. S. A., is dead of consumption. He had been ill at the home of his son-in-law, C. A. Griscom, Jr., since his arrival from the Philippines in May last.

It had been expected that the return to American climate would lead to a complete recovery.

General Ludlow commanded a brigade at Santiago and was military governor of Havana. His health failed after transfer to the Philippines.

Before the Cuban campaign he was for some time in charge of military engineering operations in the east, with offices at the army building in this city.

General Ludlow went to Cuba as an engineer officer, but asked for a command in the field and was assigned to a brigade in General Lawton's division. At Caney he commanded the left wing, and for distinguished services in that battle he was promoted to major general of volunteers.

He was reckoned before his illness "the handsomest man in the army."

General Ludlow was one of the best known officers in the army. He entered the Military academy from New York in 1860 and graduated before the close of the civil war, entered the corps of engineers and rendered conspicuous services in the south, for which he was brevetted lieutenant colonel.

Many important works of coast defense and river and harbor improvements have been under his charge, and he was a member of the Nicaragua canal commission which made a report upon that project just before the present commission was appointed. In May, 1898, he was made a brigadier general of volunteers and took an important part in the operations around Santiago. He was promoted to major general of volunteers in recognition of his services. Upon the rearrangement of the volunteer officers after the close of the Spanish war he became a brigadier general of volunteers and retained that position until appointed a brigadier in the regular army last January. Soon after his appointment he went to the Philippines, but a short service there developed tuberculosis, and he was invalided home.

His friends have known for some time that his death was but a question of time. While he was serving as brigadier general of volunteers he was military governor of Havana and instituted many reforms in the government of that city. He was the ideal soldier in appearance and was a man of great ability. He was third in rank on the list of brigadier generals and had he lived was destined soon to become a major general and perhaps ultimately to command the army. He was a brother of Rear Admiral Nicoll Ludlow, retired. General Ludlow at one time was engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia and afterward was military attache at London.

Devery Beaten.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Policeman Edward O'Neill, who defied Deputy Police Commissioner Devery at the police trials, thereby stirring up such a storm of excitement as the department has seldom seen, was subjected to an inquisition by his superiors at headquarters in the presence of the newspaper men. Both Commissioner Murphy and Deputy Commissioner Devery questioned him, and the result of their inquiries was that O'Neill stuck to his declaration that some one had approached him for money for a transfer. O'Neill went so far as to say that that some one was a police officer, but absolutely refused to give his name, although both Commissioner Murphy and Devery told him it was his duty to do so. After the conference with the commissioner and Devery O'Neill was sent back to his old post in Tremont, where his home is and where he wanted to be.

Miners' Convention Ended.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 31.—The miners' convention adjourned sine die at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. President Mitchell will go to Minersville to deliver an address. He will than tour the coal region for about ten days. The convention authorized the executive officers to engage counsel to assist Attorney General Elkin in defending the constitutionality of the new company store law, against which objections have been filed by counsel on behalf of several coal companies. This is one of the laws which was passed by the last legislature on request of the mine workers.

Mine Explosion Injures Six.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 31.—An explosion of gas occurred at the Silverton colliery, about four miles west of this place, late yesterday, in which six men were badly burned. Two of them are now lying at the Pottsville hospital in a critical condition. The explosion occurred in the Black mine slope on the tunnel vein, third lift, about 1,000 feet below the surface.

Senator Fairbanks' Condition.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 31.—Senator Fairbanks, who was thrown from a carriage at Minneapolis Aug. 17, is still suffering from his painful injuries. His left leg and arm are in bandages, as is also his right hand, and he probably will not be able to leave his home for several days.

SHAFFER ARRAIGNED

Scathing Denunciation by a Labor Organ.

WANTS STRIKE LEADER IMPEACHED.

Paper Edited by Prominent Labor Officials Says That the Strike Is Lost—President Burns Is Still Working For Arbitration.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—The Pittsburg Labor World in an editorial demands the impeachment of President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association.

The significance of the editorial may be appreciated when it is known that the members of the board of control of The Labor World are George Powell, president of the Tin Plate Workers' International Protective Association of America; L. R. Thomas, president of the Pattern Makers' National league, and Patrick Dolan, president of district No. 5 of the United Mine Workers of America.

While there is no actual change in the strike situation, much has transpired calculated to produce results in the near future. The conference between the Bayview committee and the Amalgamated officials, the continued efforts of President Burns of the Window Glass Workers' association to bring about arbitration or conciliation, the scathing editorial in The Labor World calling for the impeachment of President Shaffer, the march of the strikers of McKeesport to Duquesne and the decided effect of the injunction proceedings at Canal Dover, O., all indicate that the crisis is approaching and that an important change in affairs is not far distant. What the outcome will be no man can tell.

The details of the conference of the Bayview committee and the Amalgamated officials have not yet been divulged by either party, but the fact that the committee is here at all would indicate that the Bayview strikers are uneasy. J. D. Hickey and J. F. Cooper of the committee have been here since Monday, but their presence has not been generally known. The general belief is that the main object of the committee's visit was for the purpose of arranging some compromise by which the Bayview plant may resume. President Shaffer, on the contrary, says the two men did not come here as representatives of the Bayview lodge. They were simply here as individual members of the Amalgamated association to explain in person the reason for their action in regard to the general strike order and the reversal of that decision after Tighe's visit to Milwaukee. "The lodge did not send them, nor did it send to me any request to be allowed to go to work," said President Shaffer.

PRESIDENT SHAFFER.

The two gentlemen left for home last night, and it is said a meeting of their lodge will be held upon their return to take action on their report. What that report will be cannot be learned here.

Notwithstanding the report from New York that no conference had been held or arranged for between C. M. Schwab and Simon Burns looking to arbitration, the latter has not relaxed his efforts in this direction and seems determined to bring about some sort of a compromise.

"I am interested in this matter," said President Burns last night, "as the big strike is affecting all lines of business, including the window glass trade. My purpose is to get the two sides together and start the mills."

The editorial in the current issue of The Labor World, the organ of the International Tin Workers' Protective association and the mouthpiece of Pittsburg district of the Mine Workers' union and the Pattern Makers' association, is a long and bitter attack on President Shaffer and demands his impeachment for calling the present strike. The demand for the impeachment is made because, it is charged, Shaffer compelled the steel workers to violate contracts, because he expelled the Chicago men and revoked their charter without constitutional hearing and because the whole strike is unconstitutional and has brought ruin and wreck to men who have made the Amalgamated association. The editorial gives 24 reasons why President Shaffer should be impeached.

Steel Strikers Enjoined.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31.—Judge Clark of the United States court has issued an injunction against 450 men formerly employed in the steel mills at Ironton, O. The injunction restrains the defendants, who are on strike, from picketing the plant or interfering in any way with the company.

Married Amid Coffins.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—A young man and a young woman called at Matthew Boylan's undertaking shop, on Grove street, Jersey City, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning and asked the undertaker, who was working on an emergency case and had his place open later than usual, if he could direct them to a justice of the peace who would marry them. Boylan told the pair to wait in his office while he went for a justice of the peace. He found Justice Charles Sweeney at his home, 209 Ninth street, and routed him out of bed. The marriage was performed in the undertaker's shop amid surroundings of crape and coffins.

A Severe Hailstorm.

ESCANABA, Mich., Aug. 31.—This city was visited by a terrific wind, hail and rain storm. The storm lasted but 15 minutes, but in that time more than an inch of rain fell, and the wind did considerable damage to property, while the hailstones seriously injured crops in the surrounding farming districts.

THE LAND OFFICE.

Report Shows Greatly Increased Amount of Business.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The report of Commissioner Herman of the general land office embraces tabulated statements showing the business done in the land offices and at Washington.

Referring to the increase of business shown by the report Mr. Herman says:

"When in my last annual report I called attention to the remarkable showing made in the tabulated statements of work then done in this office—of lands disposed of and cash received for that year—and which far exceeded the record for many years preceding, I confidently believed a maximum had been reached. The cash receipts were then $4,379,758, an increase of $1,309,621 over the previous year and an increase of $2,101,763 over that of 1898. The land disposals, it was shown, were then 13,453,887 acres in 1900 as against 9,182,413 acres for 1899. Of homestead entries 8,478,409 acres were shown in that report as against 6,177,587 acres for the year before.

"The present report for the fiscal year just closed greatly surpasses prior exhibits. There were 9,488 more final homestead entries made during the year just closed and covering 1,180,528 more acres than for any one year since the passage of the homestead act in 1862. Nearly one-fourth as many final entries of homesteads and acres in the year just closed were made as in the entire 19 years following that law. The record of original homestead entries made by settlers on the public domain the past year is almost as great a surprise. These entries numbered 68,648 and covered 9,497,275 acres, an increase over the great year before of 7,378 entries and of 1,018,866 acres."

All told, the commissioner says, the year just closed has been the best in ten years, both in point of money receipts and amount of land disposed of. There was a surplus of $3,158,441 after paying all the expenses of the land and forest administration of the government.

The patents on account of railroad grants covered 2,470,804 acres.

HUNT FOR GOVERNOR.

Appointed to Succeed Allen In Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The president has appointed William H. Hunt of Montana governor of Porto Rico as the successor of Charles H. Allen.

Mr. Hunt's appointment was decided on several days ago, Governor Allen being one of those who warmly indorsed his candidacy. He will enter upon the duties of his office at an early date.

Mr. Hunt was secretary under Governor Allen's administration and his right hand man in the organization of the island's government. Since Governor Allen left the island in June Secretary Hunt has been acting governor. His appointment as governor had been generally predicted.

Michael Broke Record.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Jimmy Michael broke the indoor cycle record behind motor pace for two miles at the Madison Square Garden track and also defeated "Major" Taylor in two straight heats in their match race. Michael covered the two miles in 3m. 10 3-5s. In the first heat of the race, at a distance of a mile, Michael won by almost a lap. The second heat, at two miles, Michael finished over a lap ahead of Taylor. Henri Fournier, winner of the automobile race from Paris to Berlin, rode an exhibition mile against time on a motor bicycle. His time for the mile was 1m. 38s.

Cresceus Fails Again.

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 31.—Cresceus failed to lower the world's trotting record in his start against time at Narragansett park. His time was 2:05 flat. The attempt to break the record was not made until after 6 o'clock, when the wind had died down. The track was smoothed over and was in the best of shape for the champion's footing.

SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

Late Dispatches Throw New Light on the Situation.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Some interesting side lights are thrown on the South African war by advices published today. A dispatch from Cape Town to The Daily Mail indicates that Scheeper's commando has now moved to the southwest and invaded a part of Cape Colony previously undisturbed by the Boers, while more severe restrictions have been imposed, with the object of preventing communication between Cape Town and the newly disturbed areas.

The Cologne Gazette's correspondent in Cape Town declares that the entire Cape Colony is a "seething mass of disorder and alarm." He asserts also that the Boers are receiving support from all sides.

Edgar Wallace, writing to The Daily Mail, expresses a decided opinion that Lord Kitchener's banishment proclamation will not result in the surrender of a single important commandant and that much severer penalties are needed, the only useful policy being vigorous military measures.

In the early part of August a correspondent of The Morning Post had a long talk with Lord Kitchener, from which he gathered that "it is not Lord Kitchener, but the government that is to blame for many of the present evils." Lord Kitchener, it seems, complained that the home government continually worried him about trivial details, "merely to reply to parliamentary heckling," and that this compelled him to enforce a strict censorship over telegrams, although personally he objected to the present system. He said he thought correspondents ought to be given greater liberty and to be made responsible for their statements. He avoided expressing any opinion about the "approaching end of the war" and dissuaded the correspondent from speaking concerning it.

Both The Morning Post and The Standard give information as to the concentration camps and confirm the reports of very heavy mortality there, especially among the children in July. This is said to be "largely due to the ignorance and insanitary habits of the Boers," but conditions are rapidly improving. At the beginning of August there were 100,000 persons in the concentration camps.

A correspondent of The Morning Post asserts that the Boer refugees get 18 pounds in rations per head as against 12 pounds per head given to British loyalists, and he recommends as politically and economically advisable that the Boers be removed to the coast.

Fatal Quarrel Over Napkins.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31.—The consideration of a few table napkins was the incentive for the murder of Mrs. Caroline Klein in her home, 916 East avenue, this city. George Klein, whose first wife was the murdered woman's stepdaughter, committed the deed. Klein had been on bad terms with the murdered woman since his second marriage several months ago. He went to the East avenue house and began to abuse Mrs. Klein for not sending him some napkins which belonged to him. A quarrel ensued, during which Klein seized the woman and pushed her against the stairway. A daughter-in-law ran out to summon assistance, and during her absence Klein threw the elder Mrs. Klein to the floor and kicked her repeatedly with his heavy boots. He then went to his own home, where he was arrested shortly afterward.

Noted Philanthropist Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—John D. Lankenau, the well known philanthropist and member of the Drexel family, who was stricken with paralysis last Wednesday, is dead at his residence in this city. Mr. Lankenau was 84 years of age. Early in the summer he was stricken with paralysis at his summer home at Cape May, but recovered sufficiently to return to this city at the end of July. John D. Lankenau was born in the free city of Bremen. He completed his education in the Bremen Business college and came to this city at the age of 19 years to accept a position with a firm of dry goods importers, by whom he had been employed in his native town. He afterward became a member of the firm and retired in 1865 with a handsome fortune.

Heavy Canal Tonnage.

ALBANY, Aug. 31.—A statement of the tonnage of the canals for the week ended Aug. 22 compared with the tonnage of the corresponding week of last year, as given out by Colonel John N. Partridge, superintendent of public works, shows that the increased business on the canals which began with the opening of the season continues. The total of tons carried last year was 111,316. That for 1901 is 117,325, the increase being 6,009 tons. The actual increase in eastern shipments for the week is nearly 12,000 tons. This increased shipment consists largely of wheat, the total tons being 16,791 as against only 240 tons last year.

Americans to Fight With Boers.

HOLYOKE, Mass., Aug. 31.—Arrangements are being made by Fred Labelle of this city to head a company of recruits to go to South Africa within a short time to fight in the interests of the Boers. He has received more than 60 requests for places in the company, but he desires only 52 men. Labelle said, "I have been conceded a good round sum for organizing the company, and the individuals themselves are to be handsomely compensated for their trip and for a year's service."

Negroes Appeal to President.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., Aug. 31.—An appeal to President McKinley for protection for the negroes who are being lynched for their crimes was formulated and indorsed by the negro territorial Baptist Sunday school convention in session in this city. The convention does not attempt to excuse their offenses, but asks the president to use his executive power in securing for them a fair trial in the courts before punishment is meted out.

Fatal Tenement Fire.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Four persons were killed and seven seriously injured in a tenement fire in Brooklyn last night. An explosion of a kerosene oil stove started the fire. Nets were spread to catch those who jumped from the windows. Mrs. Rothgiser missed the net spread for her, struck on the sidewalk and was instantly killed.

Eleven Victims Dead.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 31.—The roll of dead resulting from the disastrous wreck of the south bound passenger train on the Pennsylvania railway, Sodus Bay division, at Fairville, has been increased to eleven.

YACHTS' FINAL TEST

Columbia and Constitution Again Try For Supremacy.

CUP DEFENDER IS STILL IN DOUBT.

Each Boat Has Eight Out of Sixteen Previous Trial Races to Her Credit—Both Racers In Fine Trim.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 31.—The final series of races between the Constitution and Columbia will begin over the Newport course today. Of all the contests that have taken place between the American boats this season these are the most important, for on their result depends the selection of the defender to sail against the Shamrock II in the great races for the America's cup off Sandy Hook. No challenge committee of the New York Yacht club has ever had so much difficulty in selecting the American boat. Out of 16 races already finished each has now eight, and so close are the two boats in the matter of speed that many good yachtsmen say that whatever the outcome of the trials it will still be a hard tax to choose between them. The challenge committee is now composed of Commodore Lewis Cass Ledyard, chairman; Rear Commodore C. L. F. Robinson, secretary; J. V. S. Odie, C. Oliver Iselin, J. Malcolm Forbes, J. Pierpont Morgan, S. Nicholson Kane, Edward M. Brown and Archibald Rogers.

It is understood that Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who is one of the owners of the Columbia, will either resign from the committee or take no part in the selection of the defender. Mr. E. D. Morgan, the Columbia's managing owner, has already resigned, and his place was filled by the appointment of Mr. Archibald Rogers. At the finish of the trial races next Wednesday the regatta committee, consisting of former Commodore S. Nicholson Kane, Mr. Chester Griswold and Mr. Newbury Lawton, will turn over to the challenge committee the data regarding all the races between the Constitution and the Columbia. Thus they will take into consideration all the previous races as well as the three trials and make up their opinion. But inasmuch as the two boats are now even more depends on the coming races than on all the others.

Both racers are fit for the fray. The Constitution has been put in the best possible trim by none other than her designer, Nat Herreshoff, whose illness has hitherto prevented him from devoting much time to the boat.

Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the cup challenger, will be a spectator of the race on Monday. He has accepted an invitation to be the guest of Commodore Ledyard at dinner on that day, and the event will be made the first official welcome to the British yachtsman by the officers of the New York Yacht club. Other guests will be the owners of the Constitution and Columbia.

English Money on Lipton's Yacht.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Walter J. Kingsley, a correspondent of the London Express, confirms the report that he has completed arrangements for the wagering of $150,000 English money against $250,000 American money that the Shamrock II would win the international yacht race. The American parties place their money and pin their faith on the Constitution.

Shamrock II Out Again.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Shamrock II went farther to sea than on any of her previous trials in these waters, but she did not sail over one of the America's cup courses, as expected, chiefly because there was not enough wind and incidentally because Mr. Jameson, who is to be the yacht's manager, had not arrived.

The Irrepressible Whitman.

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—On the charge of swindling two firms of stockbrokers in this city a former mayor of Duluth, Alonzo J. Whitman, familiarly known as "Lon" Whitman, has been arrested here. Whitman has been sentenced in New York for swindling, and while waiting for a certificate of reasonable doubt, which he hoped to secure as to the justice of the sentence, he was out on bail and came to this city. It is alleged that he secured a loan of $487.50 early this week from William Hunt & Co., brokers, to use in speculating, representing that he had $2,000 on deposit in the Brookline bank and giving his name as Carl G. Burdick of Brookline. On Tuesday, it is claimed, he passed a check for $3,000, afterward found to be bogus, drawn on the Brookline bank, Armstrong, Schrimer & Co., another brokerage firm, being the victim this time.

Salisbury to Retire.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Pall Mall Gazette, which seven years ago announced Mr. Gladstone's retirement as prime minister, gives prominence to an article stating, what has often been said of late, that the Marquis of Salisbury will retire as premier after the coronation ceremonies. It says the deciding factor in this matter has been the success of Lord Lansdowne in the foreign office, which has removed one of Lord Salisbury's heaviest solicitudes.

Boy Robbers In Jail.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 31.—John Pettit and Frank Toy, boys of 10, have been committed to jail by Justice Slackhouse for highway robbery. They caught 12-year-old Eva Gaunt as she was on her way to a doctor, choked her and took her money. They will be sent to the reform school. They admitted their guilt and simply explained that they wanted the money.

Professor Breckinridge Now.

DANVILLE, Ky., Aug. 31.—Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, former member of congress, has accepted a professorship in the law department of Central university, located at Danville, Ky. He will assume his duties at the beginning of the session in September.

Ex-President Cleveland to Speak.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 31.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland has consented to deliver the oration at founders' day of the Carnegie institute on Thursday, Nov. 7. This information was conveyed by a cablegram from Skibo to the committee of arrangements.

The Czar Starts For Copenhagen.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—The czar, czarina and the imperial children have sailed for Copenhagen on board the yacht Standart. They will remain a few days in Denmark before proceeding to Kiel and Dantzic.

Constitutional Amendments.

The proposed amendments to the State Constitution, have caused considerable discussion, principally in the newspapers. Naturally most of the agitation has been of a political sort, that is, from a party standpoint. It is a duty owed to the voter to inform him, from a purely non-partisan standpoint, of the intent of these proposed constitutional amendments. He is to cast his ballot and should have an intelligent understanding of the purpose of the proposition.

The idea is to change the term of office from three to four years and to render the incumbent ineligible to succeed himself; the assemblyman's term to be lengthened from one to two years, and the senator's from two to three years. The amendments also provide for biennial sessions of the legislature, instead of annual meetings as is now the case. As can readily be seen these are changes of no little consequence.

It has often been felt that those elected to office do not have time to thoroughly become acquainted with their duties, and thus be enabled to demonstrate their usefulness, before their term expire. This of course is in many cases an unjustice to themselves and likewise to their constituents. Much of the people's money is expended by the State in conducting the elections, and much is spent subsequently by reason of the change. These expenses are needful, but they would be considerably decreased, provided the elections were not so frequent. The short term of office has another disadvantage, when the incumbent must engage assistance. The assistants need to be broken in, and, inasmuch they only hold office during the incumbency of their superior, the effort is detrimental to the interests of the people.

There is, however, another side of the question. Constant agitation of political ideas and theories is necessary in order to keep the people informed on the many problems which they must decide. If elections are far between this discussion will naturally lag for considerable intervals, and in the meanwhile the citizens will lose interest in the affairs of state. Threshing out political questions will ever have a tendency of increasing the voter's knowledge on these matters. Frequent elections, it is argued by many, will prevent a corrupt officeholder from carrying on his nefarious practices for a lengthy period. There are indeed many things to consider before the question is passed upon.

The London Saturday Review declares, "It is a source of irritation to the United States to be reminded that the Dominion territory is greater than that of the Republic, and that Canada contains within her borders everything that can tend to make a great nation." This statement contains the essence of truth and the editor unwittingly pays a deserving compliment to this country. We are great because we have developed our resources; the Canadians are not because, under English rule, they have failed to grasp the opportunities presented.

A New York clothing man, who has tried all kinds of publicity methods, has reached the conclusion that the best and cheapest is persistent advertising in the daily newspaper, says the Philadelphia Record. He says: "Advertising pursued methodically day by day, week by week, month by month, is in the end less expensive than advertising occasionally, in fits and starts, by seasons."

Superintendent W. W. Wentz, of the Jersey Central Railroad, has hurt the feelings of the Bound Brook Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, because he has failed to respond to a request concerning the erection of a public fountain in that borough. Evidently the "heirlooms" believe that the Plainfielder is not alive to the spirit of '76.

Over a century ago, some Englishmen were surprised by a memorable tea party. Now, Sir Thomas Lipton, the famous tea merchant, is here, with his little boat, prepared to capture a cup. Here's hoping that there will not be a repetition of the party, with the tables turned the other way.

Parliament intends to allow King Edward VII to choose his own title. The Boers are sure to claim that there will be a flaw in it if their country is included in the title.

A newly wedded man in Bloomfield is struggling with an acute attack of indigestion. He protests that it is not the fault of his wife's cooking. Who wrote, "Love is Blind?"

A despatch says that a noted politician is suffering from a cinder in his eye. This relieves the monotony; most of them have bees in their bonnets.

A learned judge in this State has decided that "A man's salary is his income." Embezzlers will please step forward and file dissenting opinions.

A Washington, N. J., man has been fined for swearing. Hereafter if he wants to cuss he had better resort to wireless telegraphy.

An exchange says in bold type "Now a High School Gas Engine Must Go." It has reference to a machine and not a teacher.

Monday being a legal holiday The Daily Press will not be issued.

RARE BANK NOTE.

Issued by "The Plainfield Bank" in 1843 and Now on Exhibition.

J. Wesley Johnson, president of the First National Bank, has loaned to J. Hervey Doane, for exhibition in the latter's window, a curiosity in the shape of a $2 bill. It was issued in 1843 and bears the name of "The Plainfield Bank." The names of Nathan Vail as president, and A. Beach as cashier, appear on the note. This was before the institution became a National Bank and there are very few of the bills now in existence. There is no printing whatever on the back of the note. Considering its age, the bill is exceeding well preserved. Many old residents will be interested in this bill, which has much value as a souvenir.

Can While You Can.

Several new electric lights have been added to the circuit on the east side of town. This is an improvement which has been needed for some time. The advent of the trolley brought a great deal of travel to the side streets in this end of town, and the light will do much toward lighting up the dark places.

The advantages to be obtained by those desiring to engage in agriculture or general business, as well as those who wish to live in retirement, are elaborately detailed. WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The season for farmers' picnics is about over, but the harvest of political clambakes has just begun. There are several points of similitude between a clam and a politician and also some points of difference. One of the latter is that while a clam opens its mouth when it gets into hot water, a politician frequently gets in hot water when he opens his mouth.—Newark Evening News.

* * * * *

A Sunday-school superintendent at Plainfield secures a full attendance during the hot weather by giving every boy or girl present a check entitling the holder to a glass of ice cream soda at a local drug store. Thus far the plan has been very effective, but the superintendent will have to devise some other form of bribery to bridge over the period between soda water time and the date when anticipations of the coming Christmas entertainment stimulates the reluctant pupil to steady attendance at Sunday-school.—Newark Evening News.

* * * * *

A Plainfield exchange, The Press, says that "if a Plainfielder wishes to go to Easton on a Sunday, by way of the Central, he must arise before 5 o'clock and catch the paper train, else he cannot leave the city until 3 o'clock in the afternoon." If Plainfielders can convince Mr. Burt, the genial passenger agent of the Central (who, by the way, is to become a resident of their city), that there is a demand for additional Sunday trains for Easton, they will not be long without them, we imagine.—Somerset Messenger.

* * * * *

There was a romance in the life of General Robert Williams, who died at Plainfield last Sunday. General Williams was a Virginia cadet at West Point. While a cadet he fell in love with Adele Cutts, a beautiful and accomplished girl, in Washington, D. C. Miss Cutts afterward married Stephen A. Douglas, the "little giant" of the Democratic party, Senator from Illinois and candidate for President in 1860. Douglas died in 1861. Some years afterward General Williams, then a captain, renewed the courtship and married the widow, and there was a happy union for thirty years, the wife dying two years ago. Two sons are officers in the army, and one son is a lieutenant in the navy. The great drama of life is full of these unsuspected romances.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Month of August Shows Good Business In Spite of Dark Beginning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

August opened with the commercial sky overcast by stormclouds that threatened serious injury to the steel industry, while drought in the southwest aroused pessimistic predictions that business was on the verge of a severe setback. Thousands of idle strikers, together with a profitless season in agricultural regions, meant inactivity in manufacturing, trade and transportation, according to the prophets of evil. Instead of these calamitous conditions, however, the month ends with a horizon that is almost clear, and each day resumption of work at an idle mill adds to the productive capacity, while canceled orders for merchandise from dealers in the drought section are rapidly reinstated.

Quotations of steel products are still nominal, owing to the difficulty experienced in securing prompt delivery. Where consumers are in need of immediate shipments they are ready to pay premiums, but on distant contracts conditions are unchanged.

Somewhat lower quotations for wheat are not surprising in view of the general tendency to increase estimates of the crop far beyond the quantity indicated by official figures, of condition. Another weakening influence is the slight decline of exports below the record breaking movement in the first two weeks of August. Shipments for the week, however, were still phenomenal, aggregating 6,307,302 bushels, compared with 2,804,567 last year and 3,179,917 in 1899.

TROUBLE AT PEKING.

Members of the Governor's Household Under Arrest.

PEKING, Aug. 31.—In order to facilitate justice an American missionary, who has greatly assisted the police in maintaining order in his locality since it was transferred to the Chinese, was instrumental in causing the arrest of several members of the official household of Hu Yu Fen, the military governor of the province of Chi-li and civil governor of Peking. These men had organized an assault on a Chinese shop.

Afterward, on complaint of Hu Yu Fen, the missionary, who was accused by the governor of molestation and interference, was reprimanded by Mr. Conger, the American minister.

Owing to the activity of brigands Hu Yu Fen is permitted to patrol the country with Chinese soldiers within the seven mile limit. A band of 28 brigands was captured at West City. An expedition has started for the same locality.

Twenty-eight Perished.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—It is now reasonably certain that at least 28 persons perished as a result of the explosion of one of the boilers of the steamer City of Trenton on the Delaware river above this city on Wednesday afternoon. This conclusion is reached by the police authorities through the fact that 17 persons who are reported by their relatives or friends to have been on the steamer have not yet been found. These missing persons, with 11 bodies already recovered, makes a total of 28. Ten persons are still in a serious condition as a result of the disaster, of whom four are in a critical condition and may die. The work of searching for the victims has been kept up incessantly since the explosion occurred. Two bodies were recovered from the river yesterday.

Killed by Lightning.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 31.—During a thunderstorm D. L. Marks, aged 23, was struck by lightning and killed. With four companions Marks sought shelter in a pavilion on the top of a hill on the golf grounds. The building was struck, and all of the men were rendered unconscious. When assistance arrived, Marks was dead, having been badly burned on the upper portion of the body. His companions were all revived.

New York Central Blocked.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 31.—The entire New York Central railroad system of four tracks was wholly blocked by the derailment of four cars of a west bound freight train half a mile west of Lincoln Park at 2:04 o'clock yesterday morning. Several passenger trains were stopped by the wreck and held up several hours. The Lake Shore limited escaped being wrecked by the accident by only a few moments.

New Hot Spring In Michigan.

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., Aug. 31.—Foreman Gallagher of the city waterworks has reported the discovery of a hot spring near the sower house. Several men visited the spring and, tasting the water, found it had a temperature of 104 degrees F.

MILLINERY TRIMMINGS.

Flat Hat Still In Favor—The Latest Flower the Hydrangea.

All sorts of flowers appear to be used in millinery. Roses, in spite of their being so common, are still the favorites, from the tiny Banksia specimens to the full blown La France varieties. The latest flower, however, is the hydrangea in various colorings.

The toreador hat has been revived for traveling, but it shows very little trimming indeed—in fact, nothing more than a rosette of very soft satin and a couple of quills. This shape is almost universally becoming, and it is really smart when properly adjusted.

The newest shape is the double brimmed hat simply trimmed with a wreath of flowers between the two crowns and a flat velvet bow at the back resting on the hair. The flat shapes continue to be as popular as ever.

A stunning traveling cloak is shown in today's cut. It is made of fawn colored cloth trimmed with pipings of a deeper shade. The garment is cut without a high standing collar, and it has a shoulder ornament composed of three little capes, which surmount the long, capellike effect which hides the sleeves proper. This gives an arrangement similar to the old fashioned dolman. A broad line of strapping runs around the collar and the edges of the garment. The coat is cut three-quarter length in front, but with a decided dip in the back to follow the lines of the long skirt.

The continental hat is of rough yellow straw trimmed with liberty satin ribbon.

SMALL NOVELTIES.

Tulle Ruffles, Wreaths of Roses and Striped Bands.

Now that tulle ruffles may be bought for a mere song many of the more conservative leaders of fashion are returning to the feather boa. One thing is sure—one should never attempt to make these ruffled boas at home when they can be obtained so cheaply already made.

There is no doubt that sleeves are becoming much larger. This style is much more suitable for thin frocks, where plain tight effects are decidedly out of place.

Wreaths of little Banskia roses in soft pink and yellow are most becoming on black hats, especially when they are half hidden in folds of soft tulle. Wreaths of foliage are pretty in the modiste's window, but they are usually unbecoming to any but young girls with fresh complexions.

Dainty hats of tuscan straw are trimmed very simply with a flat spreading bow of turquoise ribbon velvet and underneath a crushed bow of yellow lace.

A jaunty little French gown shows a novel striped trimming. It is composed of two shades of tan cloth. The lighter one, almost cream, is disposed in a broad band down the front of the skirt and around the bottom. Tiny black velvet ribbons are sewed on this in such a manner as to form stripes. The short bolero jacket is trimmed in the same manner, except that the broad directoire lapels are left partly uncovered. A soft blouse of pongee is worn underneath the bolero. The belt is of the light cloth banded with narrow black velvet ribbons.

Another week rolled by. The tide of battle had swept inland and northward; and all eyes were on the plucky advance of MacArthur's strong division, while far out to the south and east the thinned and depleted lines of Anderson held an insurgent force that forever menaced but dare not attack. The Primeval Dudes, sorely missing their calmly energetic colonel, had drifted into a war of words with their nearest neighbors on the firing line, a far western regiment gifted with great command of language and small regard for style. The latter had crowed mightily over their more rigorously disciplined comrades because of the compliments bestowed on them in an official report, wherein the Dudes received only honorable mention. It was Capt. Stricker of the volunteers who had led the dash on the rebel works across the Tripa to the left of Blockhouse 12. It was their Sergt. Finney who whacked a Filipino major with the butt of his Springfield, and tumbled out of him the batch of reports and records that gave the numbers and positions of every unit of Pilar's division on the southward zone. It was their Corporal Norton who got the Mauser through the shoulder just as, foremost in the rush, he bayoneted the last Tagal at the Krupp guns in the river redoubt. It was his devoted bunky, Private Latrobe, who volunteered to carry the division commander's dispatch across the open rice field and the yawning ditches that separated the staff from the rest of the charging —teenth, and who died gloriously in the rush on the rebel works. Man after man of the woolly westerners had been referred to by name, while the Dudes had nothing to show but their wounded colonel's modest report that "where every officer and man appeared to do his whole duty it would be unjust to make especial mention of even a limited few." The Dudes were getting hot over the taunts of the "Toughs," as some one had misnamed their neighbors; and one night when there was more or less interchange of pointed chaff in lieu of a fight with a common foe there was heard a shrill voice from the flank of the rifle pit nearest the westerners, and what it said was repeated in wonderment over the brigade before the Dudes were another day older.

"Well, dash your thievin' gang! We made our record for ourselves, anyhow. We didn't have to rely on any dashed deserters from the regulars—as you did."

And that was why Sergt. Sterne, of the Dudes, was sent for by the field officers of both regiments the following morning and bidden to explain, which he did in a few words. He was ready to answer that the wounded Corporal Norton was the very same young man he saw in the adjutant's office of the —teenth regulars at Camp Merritt, and was then called Morton. And that evening the veteran sergeant major of the —teenth was bidden to report at the reserve hospital in Ermita, close to the Malate line, was conducted to the bedside of a pallid young soldier whose ticket bore the name of Norton, and was asked to tell whether he had ever seen him before.

"I have, sir," said the veteran, sadly and gravely. "He is a deserter from the —teenth. His name on our rolls was Morton." And that night Col. Armstrong cabled to "Primate," New York, the single word "Found." Nor was it likely the lad would soon be lost again, for a sentry with fixed bayonet stood within ten feet of his bed with orders not to let him out of his sight a second.

Mrs. Garrison appeared at the hospital that very evening and heard of the episode, and reached Billy Gray's bedside looking harassed, even haggard. During the past three days she had been accorded admission, for Gray was so much improved there was no reason to longer forbid; but on each occasion the wounded volunteer officer and the brace of attendants present had precluded all possibility of confidential talk. She must bide her time. Gray would be up in a few days, said the doctor; and then nothing would do, said Mrs. Garrison, but he must be moved to their big, roomy, lovely house on the bay side, and be made strong and well again—made to give up those letters, too, thought she; for she had wormed it out of a bystander that a packet of some kind had been given by the dying soldier to the lieutenant, and she well knew what it must be. She had even penned him a little note, since not a whisper could be safely exchanged, and headed it: "Give this back to me the moment you have read it." In it she reminded him of his promise, and—did he need to be reminded of hers? She knew that packet of Nita's letters had been intrusted to his care. She assured him she had it straight from the surgeon who attended both Latrobe and himself, and they must reach the hands of no man on earth, but must come to her. Would he not give them at once or tell her where she could find them?

He gave back the note, but closed his eyes and turned away. In the presence of Armstrong day after day, and in the recollection of Latrobe's dying face and the last parting touch of his stricken hand, Gray's eyes were opening to his own deplorable weakness. She plainly saw her power was going, if not gone. He had wrapped a silk handkerchief about the packet and still kept it, with his watch and purse, beneath his pillow. He would not tell her where it lay. She smiled archly for the benefit of the attendant; but her eyes again eagerly claimed a look from his, her lips framed the word "to-morrow."

But neither on that morrow nor yet the next day came her opportunity. The gallant fellow who had lain there for days, dumb and patient, but a barrier to her plans, had taken a turn for the worse, and she was again denied admission. Then came the tidings that the barrier was removed, the long fight was over; and the heartless woman actually rejoiced. Now at last she could talk to Will Gray; and when midnight came she knew that now at last she must, for Frank Garrison, worn and weary, returning late from the front, briefly announced that Gen. Drayton purposed visiting the hospital the following afternoon, and long before noon—long before visiting hours, in fact, she was there with flowers as winsome as her smile, and some jelly as dainty as her own fair hands. She was there, and the instant the hour sounded was ushered in, and Billy Gray, propped on his pillows, was writing to his father, and alone. No time was to be lost. Any moment the attendant might return. She threw herself on her knees beside the homely, narrow cot, seized his hand in hers, and looked him in the face. "Where are they, Will?" she pleaded. "Quick! I must have them now!" But well she realized that the spell was broken—that the old fascination had died its death. Then it was useless to hint at love; and in a torrent of impassioned words she bade him think of all he owed her, appealed to his sense of gratitude and honor, and there, too, failed, for, admitting all she claimed, he clumsily, haltingly, yet honestly told her he saw now that it was all for an object, all done in the hope that he might become her instrument for the recovery of those compromising letters; and now the fate had delivered them into his hands he was bound by honor and his promise—unheard, unspoken perhaps, but all the same his promise—to the dead to give them to Gen. Drayton.

"Quick, I must have them now!"

Then rising in fury and denunciation, she played her last trump. Trembling from head to foot, pale with baffled purpose and with growing dread, she bent over him, both hands clinched.

"You mad fool!" she cried. "Do you know what I can do—will do—unless you give them to me here and now? As God hears me, Will Gray, I will give that other packet to Gen. Drayton myself and swear that Col. Canker was right—that you were the thief he thought you, and that I got those letters from you."

For a moment she stood there, menacing, at his bedside, looking down in almost malignant triumph on his amazed and incredulous face; and then, with an awful fear checking the beat of her heart and turning her veins to ice, she grasped at the flimsy framework that supported the netting over the cot, and stood swaying and staggering, her eyes fixed in terror on the man in the uniform of a colonel, who, quietly entering, stood between her and the door, two papers in his half-extended hand—a man whose voice, long and too well known, cut her to the very quick as she heard, in calm and measured tone, the words:

"Mrs. Garrison, here are two reasons why you will do nothing of the kind. Shall I hand these to Gen. Drayton—or to your husband?"

LIFE-SAVING DEVICE.

It Is Simply a Compressed Air Mattress Made Rigid by Four Planks of Wood.

A practical and easily constructed life-saving device has now been invented. It consists of a compressed air mattress which is made rigid by means of four planks of wood, one along each side, and which is further strengthened by copper fastenings that hold the planks in place. Into the interior of the mattress the necessary material for bedding is introduced, and to prevent it from being displaced light ashen laths cross the mattress at regular intervals, and the whole is kept rigid by a strong bamboo rod.

Though really simple, a raft of this kind requires to be constructed with care, for there are certain technical details which are sure to bewilder a landsman and the necessity of which only a sailor can apreciate.

THE MATTRESS BOAT.
(New Live-Saving Device That Has Stood Severe Tests.)

"This mattress boat," says the inventor, "can be used in place of the ordinary mattress on transatlantic or other vessels. In this way passengers can immediately lay their hands on rafts which will prove of infinite service to them in case of shipwreck. It can also be used by explorers as an ordinary sleeping couch, and, furthermore, it has for them the additional advantage that it can be easily raised above the ground and thus enable them to avoid coming in contact at any time with the damp earth. In such cases, however, the space between the mattress and the earth should be filled with dry leaves or small branches of trees. Moreover, as a boat of this kind cannot sink, explorers would find it extremely useful in crossing rapid rivers or other streams."

The inventor has made several tests of this novel craft, and all of them have proved successful.

CLOCK WITH HISTORY.

It Was Used During the Wars of the French Republic to Send Telegraph Messages.

One of the most curious clocks in the world represents a square tower ornamented with a dial, and it is surmounted by an aerial telegraph. At the base is a fountain, and while this flows the arms of the telegraph are also in motion giving regular signals. This primitive method of telegraphing was definitely adopted by the national convention, in Paris, on July 25, 1793. During the wars of the French republic and empire it rendered great service and did not fall into disuse until the close of the Crimean war.

The mechanism of the clock, says the New York Herald, moves the telegraph and the fountain. It is placed in the lower part of the tower and consists of a toothed barrel, four wheels and a fly wheel. It can run for 12 hours without being wound, and a small bolt suffices to stop it and set it in motion. The large arm of the telegraph, known as the regulator, turns now in one direction, now in another, and so forms various signals. The small wings, or indicators, are moved by wires which are connected with pulleys. Only four different figures can be produced by the mechanism, but each of these can be so modified that it becomes quite easy to make no less than 196 telegraphic signals.

(Old French Clock Surmounted by Aerial Telegraph.)

This old clock is still in perfect working order, and several old persons in France say they remember seeing telegraph instruments of this kind in their youth, and that they worked well, except when there was a mist or a fog, for then their signals were entirely invisible.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

One of the most entertaining features of the Labor Day programme of sports in this city will take place in the afternoon on the St. Mary baseball grounds, commencing at 3 o'clock. At that time the local letter carriers' and policemen's baseball teams will contest in a friendly game, which promises to be well worth seeing. There is some excellent material among the "blue and the gray" forces worthy of exploiting the fine points of the national pastime to good effect. The bluecoats will retain the batting order used in the Elizabeth game, while the carriers will play as follows: Sharp, 1b; Reville, 2b; Burns, 3b; J. J. Heines, ss; Mack, p; Shea (captain), c; Thorn, lf; Pierson, cf; Clarkson, rf.

ROD AND GUN.

The veteran fishermen, T. S. Armstrong, A. Vanderbeek, Louis Moraller and H. C. Compton, returned to Plainfield Wednesday evening after a successful fishing trip to Forked River, near Baregat. In all, over two hundred fish were caught. Mr. Moraller captured the prize weakfish, the largest of the catch.

A Hard Bunk.

Samuel Whitly, a young boy who claimed Newark as his home, was found sleeping in a coal car at the freight house yards at 12:15 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Gamo. He was locked up, but this morning was released by Chief Kiely.

"My son, observe the postage stamp. It's usefulness is in sticking to one thing."

If there is any virtue in sticking to one thing, my efforts to convince the people of Plainfield that, first, they should use ice as a matter of economy, and, second, use Hygeia ice, must in time be rewarded. Haven't my arguments been clear and logical? I think they have. So much so that every home in this town should be using Hygeia ice. A large majority of them are, but there are that few yet who have not come to the conclusion that I am right about this ice business. I am expecting to see every family in town a user of Hygeia ice. If not this year, next year—anyhow some time. Come and join the great majority now.

Record of Company K.

This is the view taken by the Somerset Messenger in yesterday's issue, of the record made by Co. K, to date: "The members of Co. K, of Plainfield, may truly be dubbed raw recruits, as they retreat at the first sign of opposition. First, they were going to have a field day, but some opposition developed, and they gave it up. Then a clambake was planned, and this, being opposed by some who did not like clams, also was abandoned. If Co. K is going to be so timid under skirmish fire it will never distinguish itself when it comes to real hard fighting."

Awaiting Requisition Papers.

Mrs. M. E. Pierce, of 35 Fairview avenue, was arrested yesterday by Potrolman McCarthy on a warrant issued by the Court of General Sessions of New York, which indicted her for grand larceny. She was arraigned before Justice Nash and was held in $500 bail to await requisition papers. In the meantime she will have to appear at the local police station every day.

Miss Smalley to Wed.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. G. Hauser at the future home of the young couple in the McIntyre flats.

May Have Left Money.

Intimate friends of the late Mrs. Charlotte A. Gisser, who shot and killed herself, believe that she was possessed of considerable money. It is said she made a will a short time ago and a search is being instituted for it. Mrs. Gisser leaves a number of nieces who will in all probability inherit it.

Too Many Freight Stations.

After being conducted at a loss for the past year the Grant avenue freight station of the Central Railroad will be closed today. The station has in reality been abandoned for nearly two years, as during that time it has been used simply as a delivery point.

No Books Monday.

There will be no books given out at the Public Library, Labor Day. The reading room and art gallery will be open during the usual holiday hours, that is, from 2 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon.
